Advise Temporary Bridge To Delay Creek Project

Officials Talk Span At Parley

Whaton Calling InArmyEngineers

Building of a temporary bridge to replace that which collapsed Tuesday under weight of a trailer truck would delay the Esopus Creek Bridge-Washington Avenue viaduct project some four months Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, Mayor John J. Schwenk and others were told at an Albany meeting today.

An announcement today, however, before start of the meeting at 10:30 a. m., noted that through efforts by Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, a representative of the New York City office of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, was due to meet with Mayor Schwenk this afternoon to consider possible temporary solution of the bridge problem.

Today's Developments

Developments at today's meeting in the Albany office of R. W. Sweet, chief engineer of the state public works department included:

1. Assurance that a temporary "pedestrian connection" would be built as soon as possible.

2. That the Public Service Commission has never condemned the Washington Avenue viaduct, but had ordered it removed as of Aug. 28 in response to a request from the state public works department.

3. That the city has approved plans for a construction contract. That right-of-way procedure is due to start during the week of Sept. 10. That some minor revisions of plans are needed to cover traffic maintenance, that the letting date depends upon clearance of right-of-way, and that a special emergency letting will be scheduled when the department is assured of the date of clearance on the right-of-way.

4. State Public Works Department engineers are to study immediately interchange traffic control in cooperation of city authorities at the city end of the arterial route spur, and the DPW will provide closure barriers on the Town of Ulster side of the bridge site and prepare

Bid Civilians Bar Ben Bella Troops

ALGIERS (AP)—The rebellious guerrillas holding Algiers called on unarmed civilians today to bar the roads to the capital to motorized columns of troops advancing from western Algeria.

The guerrilla commanders of Wilaya No. 4 in Algiers sent out a call to the population to form human barricades against the regular army troops supporting Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's quest for power.

Some Answer Call

Newsmen who drove as far as Affreville, 80 miles southwest of Algiers, saw half a dozen armed guerrilla roadblocks and groups of civilians answering the mobilization call.

There was no word of the advancing army columns. Thursday night they were reported about 150 miles from Algiers.

The entire area within an 80--mile radius of Algiers appeared firmly under control of the Wilaya 4 command.

Haul Communist Weapons

Telephone and telegraph connections were cut Thursday night shortly after European settlers reported by telephone that heavy convoys of Algerian troops, armed with Soviet and Chinese weapons, were moving along three highways toward Algiers and were about 150 miles from the capital.

It was not known if they halted for the night.

The army's chief of staff, Col. Houari Boumedienne, dispatched the units in obedience to an order from Ben Bella's Political Bureau to bring Algiers under the bureau's authority.

The motorized units apparently were part of the 12,000 men of the Algerian army stationed in Morocco during the war with France. The army is armed with Soviet and Chinese weapons, including cannon and some armor.

Pledge Resistance

In the capital, guerrilla units of the rebellious Wilayas (zones) 3 and 4 vowed to resist.

They called on the population to pour into the streets "despite machine guns" and oppose Ben Bella and his followers.

Politicians issued appeal after appeal for reason and conciliation to avert civil war. Some assured foreign diplomats "everything will blow over." French military sources said they believed a major armed conflict was not imminent. The French Army kept carefully to the sidelines.

There were few signs of tension in Algiers. There was no evidence of preparations to repel an attack.

The capital's garrison numbered about 4,000 guerrillas, but forces throughout the two zones total about 35,000 men. Ben Bella and Boumedienne have 45,000 men in the army and some 25,000 guerrillas of the four other wilayas whose commanders have pledged allegiance to the deputy premier and his Political Bureau.

Chicken Pox Is Report on Scare At N. Y. Airport

NEW YORK (AP) — Two suspected cases of smallpox which caused a quarantine of 200 persons at Idlewild Airport early today were diagnosed later as "most likely" chicken pox.

Extensive tests were continued at Bellevue Hospital, however.

The diagnosis by U.S. Public Health Service officials was reported by Dr. Stanley Goldstein, night supervisor at Bellevue, a few minutes after the victims arrived there.

200 Quarantined

The 200 at Idlewild Airport were quarantined for periods up to five hours during investigation of the suspected smallpox cases.

Goldstein said the Public Health Service officials gave him the "working diagnosis" of likely chickenpox while a Philadelphia woman and her three children—two of them with heavy rashes—were en route from the airport to the hospital.

Goldstein said he could not tell how long it would take the hospital to make a definite diagnosis.

The Public Health Service officials ordered the quarantine after they discovered what they considered "bad rashes" on the children.

The Philadelphia family was among a planeload of 132 persons who arrived at Idlewild from Brazil.

Baggage Fumigated

The quanrantine order covered the 122 passengers, 10 plane crew members and many airport employes who had contact with those on the plane.

Doctors gave vaccinations at the airport as those quarantined lined up.

All the passengers were released from quarantine by 6 a.m. They had to wait at the field until their baggage was fumigated. The Pan American World Airways jet on which they arrived also was fumigated.

The quarantine was the second smallpox investigation in the city this month. The first came after a 15-year-old boy with smallpox arrived at Idlewild Airport Aug. 11 en route from Brazil to canada.

Migrants Are Subject at Kiwanis Here

The plight of the migrant worker was told to the members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by C. Kenneth Tabor, manager of the Farm Credit Association of Kingston, and Robert Olmstead of Oakland, California, representing the New York Conference of the Methodist Church in the Hudson Valley migrant area.

The migrant laborer was pictured as unusually a southern Negro who, with his family, begins in Florida to follow the various harvests north in search of work. Approximately 3,000 of these laborers and their families are employed in southern Ulster County for fruit picking.

"This is a blaek picture of under-privileged people," said Tabor, who told of the housing and educational problems of these people.

Average $944 a Year

"They are unskilled laborers whose average wage is $944 per year because of the seasonal work. Their housing is usually inadequate, they have little education, and thus trouble comes from bad crops, lack of work, and lack of understanding," said Robert Olmstead. Housing in Ulster County was represented as the best in the country, and Olmstead also underscored the idea that "the farmer is not to blame for these conditions locally."

The Methodist Conference representative further pointed out that "this is a problem of complete personality disintegration—there is little to talk about between themselves and emotions are too great."

Stresses Lack of Education

He further emphasized the lack of education and the feeling of frustration and loneliness on the part of the migrant worker as the source of troubles and the cause of the plight in which these people find themselves.

In conclusion, both Olmstead and Tabor pointed towards education of the youth of these workers as the "hope for their future," and indicated that within the past several years some progress has been made along educational lines in southern Ulster County.

Hoover Continues Satsifactory Gain

NEW YORK (AP) —Former President Herbert Hoover continued to recuperate satisfactorily today after undergoing a three-hour operation Tuesday for removal of an intestinal tumor.

A hospital spokesman in the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center said the 88-year-old former Republican president's condition was unchanged from Thursday night. At that time the hospital said Hoover had spent a much better day.

Prize-Winning Horse, Two Others Perish in Dutchess

Three horses including a prize winner perished and another was saved Thursday afternoon as flames swept a large frame barn at the Dutchess County fair grounds, Rhinebeck.

State Police and fire underwriters immediately started an investigation in an effort to determine the origin of the fire which also damaged a nearby stable The loss was estimated by troopers at upwards of $10,000.

Trooper Frank Jennings, Rhinebeck, told The Freeman the fire broke out at about noon yesterday and 10 minutes later the 24-stall barn had burned to the ground.

Rhinebeck firemen in command of Chief Fred Kilmer were dispatched to the scene and through mutual aid fire companies from Hillside, Red Hook and Rhinecliff were sent to the fairgrounds to assist in battling the flames.

When firemen arrived the horse stable owned by the Springbrook Riding Club, was enveloped in flames. One horse, which troopers said was to be destroyed next week, was rescued.

Trooper Jennings said the horses were owned by Nancy Brownell, Paul Van Auken and Eleanor Ambrose, all of Rhinebeck. The Brownell horse was a prize winner.

The trooper said two children were questioned, but they gave no information that might determine the origin of the fire.

Rail Pact Hope Dim: Conferees

Walkout by 1,000 Has Idled 16,500

CHICAGO (AP) — Leaders of the strike-bound Chicago and North Western Railway and the striking Order of Railroad Telegraphers met today in a third floor hotel dining room to discuss their dispute at a federal mediator's urging.

The management and union executives sat down with pokerfaces for the closed door meeting with Francis A. O'Neill Jr., of the National Mediation Board.

Cites Obligation

Before the session, O'Neill commented to newsmen, "Both sides have an obligation to settle this strike." He said a lengthy strike would hurt both sides because the public is the only client, and can place much of its business elsewhere.

However, conferees indicated little hope that the walkout of some 1,000 telegraphers and idling of 16,500 North Western employes could be ended before next week.

The stoppage Friday made a ghost carrier of the big Midwestern rail system, third largest in the nation.

The strike halted all trains on the 10,600 miles of tracks used by the railroad in nine Midwestern states. Members of other rail unions, refused to cross the telegraphers' picket lines.

180 Commuter Trains Out

Twenty daily long-run trains and 180 commuter runs were stopped. Some 35,000 daily commuters in the Chicago area who rode the trains from suburbs to and from work scrambled for other means of transportation.

There were jams on buses, other rail lines and expressways. Car pools and even helicopters helped get the commuters on their way.

About 40,000 freight cars, 417 passenger cars and 750 diesel locomotives stood idle.

The railroad estimated its loss of revenue at $600,000 a day of the strike and the loss of payroll to employes at $2,375,000 a week.

The normally bustling North Western station, the carrier's general headquarters, was a cavern. Lights were dimmed and restaurants, snack shops and news stands were closed. One ticket window remained open—for persons wishing to cash in tickets.

On a Milwaukee Railroad train from nearby Elgin, a conductor gave up trying to collect fares when he was unable to push through crowded aisles.

Threatens Shipments

The strike threatened grain shipments from the Great Plains to flour mills in Minneapolis. Manufacturers served only by North Western rail facilities moved their must-shipments by truck to and from plants. Much of the normal movement of in-

Smiling Rocky Is Taken for Auto Salesman at Fair

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brunner were looking over an automobile exhibit at the State Exposition Thursday when a man greeted them with a broad smile.

The stranger moved along quickly, however, and Mrs. Brunner said to her husband, "You didn't know who that was, did you?"

"I thought it was a fella trying to sell me a car," said Brunner, 70.

The man was Gov. Rockefeller, touring the grounds on the exposition's annual Governor's Day.

2 Local Men Favored by DeathRuling

Findings of a Rensselaer County coroner Thursday favored two Kingston men who are being held upstate on charges resulting of the investigation of the recent death of an Albany hospital orderly whose body, police said, had been dumped into a Troy parking lot Aug. 21.

Authorities said Robert Frederick Harvey, 21, of 114 O'Neil Street, and Thomas Sauer, 21, of 7 Wiltwyck Avenue, admitted dragging the body of Robert Seymour Rush, 47, of 337 Madison Avenue, Albany, from a car believing him to be only "stone drunk" at the time.

Going to Court Sept. 6

Rensselaer County Coroner Anthony E. Matera, ruled Thursday that Rush had died of a heart attack. This precludes the need of lodging more serious charges.

Harvey and Sauer remained in Rensselaer County jail pending hearing on misdemeanor charges dealing with their alleged outraging of public decency. A Sept. 6 court appearance was set.

A report Aug. 24 said detainers had been filed with Rensselaer County authorities by those in Albany County charging the two with larceny. State police reported finding a wallet, shoe and other articles belonging to Rush in the Town of Colonie, Albany County.

Seen Riding Away

Troy police claim that Harvey had told them he and his friend had met Rush on an Albany Street at about 3 a. m. Aug. 21. Police said they were told that the two had asked Rush where there was "some action," and Rush was seen riding away with them.

Harvey gave himself up at Kingston police headquarters Aug. 22 and Sauer was picked up later on Clinton Avenue near Main Street.

JFK Signs, Hails Telstar Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed the communications satellite bill today, setting up the legal framework for a privately owned corporation to handle this country's part in a global network for messages and pictures.

He said the space system will provide benefits for all people and "contribute to world peace and understanding."

A large group of top officials and congressmen surrounded the President as he used 15 pens to sign the bill.

No Single Domination

Kennedy said the new law, cause of a long controversy in Congress, provides "many safeguards to protect the public interest."

"No single company or group will have the power to dominate the corporation," he said in a statement.

"The general public, the communications industry, and the federal government all will have a voice. All will contribute their resources and all may reasonably hope to benefit."

Outlining benefits expected from the satellite system, Kennedy said there will be "vastly increased capacity to exchange information cheaply and reliably with all parts of the world by telephone, telegraph radio and television."

Boon to All

"The ultimate result," he said, "will be to encourage and facilitate world trade, travel education, entertainment and the many kinds of professional, political and personal discourse which are essential to healthy human relationships and international understanding."

The controversial bill, which tied up the Senate for weeks in a filibuster by liberals who called it a giveaway, landed on the

$2-Million Shopping Plaza Is To Be Ready in Summer of '63

The new shopping plaza at the foot of Fair Street for which ground was broken Thursday afternoon will be a boon to the economy of the community and its tax structure.

This was the sentiment of speakers attending the ceremonies on the great flatlands of which 35 acres will be used for the shopping center and parking space for 3,000 automobiles.

Among those interested in the project and guests were civic leaders, businessmen, bankers, real estate men, political leaders of both major parties, and members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Those called upon by Attorney Frederick H. Stang, who was master of ceremonies, all welcomed the shopping plaza as a boon to uptown business for the future.

Completion is scheduled for the summer of 1963.

Thomas Muradian of Whitinsville, Mass., president of Muradian Realty Corp., project promoters, said the shopping center will be most modern in construction and the stores are to offer merchandise in demand at the best department stores.

Augustus S. Brinnier of the firm of Brinnier and Larios, consulting engineers, said the plaza will contain approximately 40 acres, of which 35 will be developed according to present plans. Exits and entrance roads will be constructed from Clinton Avenue at the head of John Street, with a crossing at the end of Fair Street at the Kingston Lumber Co. property and a connection will be provided to Washington Avenue along the old O. and W. railroad bed, Brinnier said. The developers of the property are now negotiating with several contractors for the grading and clearing work. Drainage will be extended to the Esopus Creek.

Augustus R. Schrowang, of A. R. Schrowang Associates, architects, said the buildings at the Kingston Shopping Plaza probably will be completed about the middle of 1963, and possibly sooner, depending on the weather this coming winter. Measurements of the Britt Department Store are 300 by 280 feet, and the Grand Union-Empire Store will be 150 by 122 feet. The plaza buildings will cover a tract 135,000 square feet.

Schrowang said in addition to those two stores, 18 smaller stores will be constructed. The buildings will be constructed of brick, all steel frame and reenforced concrete foundations. Part of the Britt store will be two stories, the remainder of the

$5 Million Saving Seen on Insurance For Home Owners

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Insurance Department has ordered downward adjustments in certain types of home-owners insurance premiums and an increase in others—all effective Sept. 21.

The insurance companies involed contend the rates should be even lower to make them more in line with policy rates offered by other companies selling in the state.

Affects Three Types

The adjustments were ordered Thursday for 250 of the state's home owner insurance firms.

The following three basic types of coverage will be affected under the revisions:

The basic home owner's "A" policy covering fire, burglary and other coverages on a dwelling, with added extended coverage, available under a policy designated as "B".

Home owners "C" offers the same extended coverage and is available for houses valued at more than $15,000.

Rates will be reduced for "A" and "B" coverage, and increased for "C".

The new rate scheduled will drop "A" coverage costs about 20 per cent and "B" coverage about 21 per cent. Coverage for "C" will mean premium boosts of about 52 per cent.

The companies said the new rates would save customers about $5 million a year. They said, however, they would prefer a new breakdown of policies providing for additional savings to customers of $2 million a year.

Handle 85 PC in State

The insurance firms affected handle about 85 per cent of property insurance for New York State home owners.

The companies involved are members of the New York Fire Insurance Rating Organization, National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters, and Inland Marine Insurance Bureau—all rating organizations.

Chorus Not Good Enough for Aid Wins First Place

WASHINGTON (AP)—The story of how the University of Arkansas' mixed chorus went to Europe and won first place in an international competition in Italy came out Thursday.

The chorus financed its trip on a "do-it-yourself" basis after being turned down by a State Department screening agency as "not good enough" to warrant federal assistance.

To make the victory sweeter, the Schola Cantorum was publicly congratulated by President Kennedy in his news conference Wednesday and next Tuesday will sing for him in the White House Rose Garden—just a loud holler, so to speak, from the State Department.

The "not good enough" finding was made by the American National Theater and Academy (ANTA), which acts as adviser to the State Department on providing aid to such groups going abroad.

Telling the story today, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said the chorus began planning the trip early this year and contacted him to learn if State Department aid, through the Bureau of Cultural and Educational Affairs, might be forthcoming. A tape was submitted to ANTA which said it was sorry but the chorus failed to meet necessary standards.

After that the chorus embarked on a statewide fund-raising drive, giving concerts and seeking alumni assistance.

The chorus raised the money, made the trip and won the prize, snatching it from 26 other groups.

Now the 40-voice chorus is directed by Richard Brothers.

A huge reservoir lake created by the dam will cover more than 950 square miles and take seven to eight years to fill.

SHOKAN NEWS

Morton Hendrickson, Franklin Square, L. I., resident who for several years owned and operated the one-time Willis Everett farm in the Coons District of Shokan, called on some of his local friends last Sunday.

Also in town Sunday were the following relatives of Mr. and Mrs. William Secor whose home in the village was the present George Hauser place on Route 28: Helena Marcy, Danbury, Conn., and Lottie Mackey and Mrs. Robert Secor of Poughkeepsie. The three women visited graves of members of the Secor family in the Lennox burying ground on the Ashokan Mountain Road, and they were greatly pleased to find that the cemetery is being kept in excellent condition.

One of the big oil companies is reported to have begun preparatory work for drilling an exploratory well on an abandoned farm in Terry Clove, only a couple of miles from New York City's new Pepacton Reservoir in Delaware County. The company has secured thousands of leases for gas and oil rights in the Catskills. The 16-inch drill hole will go down nearly two miles. Similar drilling at Fox Hollow in Ulster County seven years ago produced 50,000 cubic feet of gas at 6,000 feet but this was reckoned not enough for commercial production and the hole was capped up.

Walter and Carolyn Naughton, Vt. Vernon couple who built a summer home along the west side of the Ridge Road about 20 years ago and later sold the property to Abraham and Eve Schultz, were callers in the village last Wednesday. They had been up to St. Lawrence County, home of Mrs. Naughton's maternal grandparents, where the couple's younger son is entering the university. Another son has enlisted in the Army. Naughton is art supervisor in a New York City school| His parents, Police Lieut. Thomas Naughton and wife, who also became well known here, died several years ago.

The water in the two basins of the Ashokan reportedly was 16 feet below the normal flowline as of last week, or pretty good for this time of year.

Bruce Wiederspiel of the Mountain Road is on a vacation trip to Puerto Rico.

A good shower during Monday night brought one-third of an inch of rain to the Shokan area. Some of the maple trees here have begun to shed leaves as a result of the recent drought.

Amelia Friedlander who has a summer place at neighboring Woodstock, was a caller in the village recently. She was accompanied by her guests, Jeanne Marks and Blanche Hoodes of New York City.

Polly Puzzano of the Silver Hollow summer bungalow colony called here last week.

Ann McCalco of Columbia County reportedly has been engaged as a chemist-biologist down at New York City's Ashokan Reservoir laboratory. Albert Feldman, who held the position for several years, has been named to the post of assistant professor of biology at the Dutchess Community College

Favors New Products

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A state committee created to help promote milk sales says the New York State dairy industry should look for new products to meet demands of consumers.

The Committee for the Increased Use of Milk said Thursday in a report to Gov. Rockefeller that a demand apparently exists for such products as multiple-vitamin milk and modified skim milk.

Milk sales have lagged for such reasons as concern over radioactivity and cholesterol.

The report was presented to Rockefeller at the State Exposition by Clarence Johncox of Corfu, Genesee County.

Ulster Library Extends Thanks For Summer Aid

Edward Crosby, president of the Town of Ulster Library Association, recently mailed letters of commendation to the young people who assisted in staffing the library for the summer months.

Those who received the letters of commendation for their work are:

Nancy Palen, Janet Burger, Ann Bream, Nancy Nicoletti, Myra Musialkiewicz, John Burger, Patricia J. Crego, John Crego, Kathy O'Connor, Debra Quick, Suzanne Barten, Patricia Murphy, Roseanne O'Reilly, Suzanne O'Reilly, Althea Stahl, Elizabeth Maxon, Nancy Sweeney and Linda Wynkoop. These young people were trained at a workshop conducted by Mrs. Walter Burger and Mrs. Edmund Frawley early in June.

The library board will be holding its second annual election Thursday, Sept. 13, in Chambers School library. Bruce Burger, chairman of the nominating committee, has submitted the following slate: Edward Crosby, Mrs. Michael Maxon and Robert Ohlson for three-year directorship; Mrs. Gerald Woodvine and Mrs. O. L. Sande for two-year directorships and William Williams for a one-year term. The board is hoping a goodly number of citizens of the town attend the session and vote to express their confidence in the board and to pledge their interest and help in its future undertakings.

Effective Friday, Sept. 7, the new schedule of library hours will be in effect. The hours are: Tuesdays 7-8:30 p. m.; Wednesdays 3 to 4 p. m.; Fridays 3 to 4 p. m., and Saturdays 10 to 12 p. m.

On Saturday, Sept. 8, the library will hold its first "Story Hour" for children in the primary grades.

Brinckerhoff May ReturntoDutchess

PAWCATUCK, Conn. (AP)—Negotiations to return the old ferry Brinckerhoff to Poughkeepsie, N.Y., are under way, the ferry's owner, Alexander Whewell of Pawcatuck, says.

He said Wednesday that Richard Martin of Poughkeepsie wants to install the ferry in a transportation museum he is establishing there. Martin, contacted in Poughkeepsie, said he was "shaken" at Whewell's price of $9,700 for the ferry, but he added: "We're going to do our best to raise it."

He said Captain Herbert Baker and a crew of three men who ran the ferry between Poughkeepsie and Highland, N.Y., and later from Bridgeport to Pleasure Beach, Conn., have agreed to attempt to run the ferry to Poughkeepsie under her own power if the vessel is purchased.

Killed Girl Just To See What It Felt Like: Youth

NEW YORK (AP)—Pretty 14-year-old Suzanne Grskovic is dead, the boy she had a crush on told police, because he "just wanted to see what if felt like to kill someone."

The ravished body of brown-eyed, blonde Suzanne was found Thursday in shrubbery off a dirt road in Queens, about five blocks from her home.

She had been strangled with her brassiere and strips from her dress. On her abdomen were carved an "S" and an "X"—made with a beer can opener.

Walter Tjunin, 17, on probation after spending a year at a state reform school, led police to the scene of the crime after a 6-hour grilling. He was charged with homicide and rape.

"I strangled her with her clothes," he told detectives. "I just wanted to see what it felt like to kill someone."

A search began for Suzanne when she failed to return Wednesday night from a dance. Later it was learned that Tjunin had left with her to walk her home.

Suzanne cared little for boys, but she did like Tjunin. Near her body was her charm necklace. It bore the inscription "Sue and Walter."

Monkey Is Costly Visitor to Tavern

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Marguerite McConnell, a tavern operator just south of here in the town of Southport, has found out that "monkey business" can be costly, especially if the culprit is a monkey.

Only two customers and Mrs. McConnell were in the tavern Thursday when a small monkey entered through the back door.

The monkey leaped on a pinball machine, and then to the bar, knocking over and breaking several bottles of high-priced liquor.

Then it sampled a bag of peanuts, a chocolate bar and a cigarette-lighter flint, discarding each quickly.

Mrs. McConnell filled a bowl with corn flakes, and the monkey quickly devoured them and smashed a full water glass she had put near the bowl.

The next move was Mrs. McConnell's. She called the Elmira Animal Shelter and asked that some of its personnel pick up the monkey.

After she hung up, the monkey entertained itself for a while by looking at its image in a big mirror behind the bar, and then tore into a box of cigars.

Two men from the animal shelter arrived, gave Mrs. McConnell a net, and she placed it over the monkey without any resistance from the animal.

The monkey is now in the animal shelter. Where it came from has not been determined.

Talks on Expansion Without Plant Name

PULTNEYVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller listed a new plan of the Kordite Division of the National Distillers and Chemical Corp. as an example of business expansion under his administration in a speech prepared for delivery to the Wayne County Republican Committee Thursday night.

However, the governor, who spoke more than half an hour, never mentioned the Kordite plant

The president of Kordite is Howard J. Samuels, a candidate for the Democratic nomination to oppose Rockefeller in the November election.

2 Debate Causes Of Railroad Ills

WASHINGTON (AP)—A union lawyer says railroads could have solved some of their money troubles without resorting to mergers if they had used improved, modern equipment to stave off the challenge of other carriers.

"They have not used the technology that has been given them," said Albert D. Brandon, counsel for the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO. He said improved equipment would have enabled railroads to meet competition from truckers.

But Alfred E. Perlman, president of the New York Central Railroad. declared "the trucking industry has made greater technological advances, but at government expense."

He said superhighway construction, plus development of electronic cargo sorters and bigger truck bodies, all have helped make truck competition tougher on the railroads.

Brandon and Perlman debated the causes of railroad revenue declines Thursday in a sometimes heated exchange before two Interstate Commerce commissioners considering the merger bid of the Central and Pennsylvania railroads.

Brandon said the railroads incorrectly diagnosed their financial ills, and chose the wrong cure when they turned to mergers.

Perlman accused Brandon of trying "to trap me" into saying that truck competition was the only reason for financial troubles facing the railroads.

Report on Farming

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Agriculture Department report showed today the extent to which farming is becoming a big money enterprise.

At the beginning of this year, production assets per farm averaged $47,632. This was an increase of 8 per cent or $3,504 over the average at the beginning of 1961, and 19 per cent or $7,430 over the beginning of 1959. The average 10 years ago was less than $17,000.

Mrs. Florence Roosa of Hurley and aunt, Mrs. Stella Palisi of Kingston, were visitors in town on Sunday.

Miss Arlene Bernard is enjoying a second week of vacation from her employment at Grant's Department Store at Vails Gate.

Word has been received here from Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt Sr., of New Hurley formerly of Modena, who were enjoying a vacation trip in the New England states.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON WARNS US ABOUT AFRICA

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 31—During my many years in business, the only bad investment I have made was in the lobster business. This I am now selling out at a loss, although the company has paid all debts and has some money in the bank to distribute to stockholders. This company was the largest distributor of live lobsters in the world, selling at one time about five million live lobsters annually.

Competing With Africa

Suddenly "lobster tails" began being imported from Southern Africa. I visited there three years ago to learn about Africa. Last year over fifteen million 'lobster tails" came to the United States. It was too much for our company to compete against, with our antiquated plant and high labor costs and heavy overhead, and with vessels operating from Newfoundland and Nova Scotia. Live lobsters will always be in demand and small operators can trap lobsters near shore here at home and make good money; but expenses must be kept low.

If you eat at the very best hotel in any city and order boiled or stuffed lobster, it must come from the East Coast of New England or Canada and not from Africa; but if you order a lobster salad in many parts of the United States, chances are it will be made of lobster meat imported from Africa. So much for that!

Lobsters Are an Interesting Study

Lobsters are wonderful, biologically and chemically. If a lobster loses a "leg," it can grow another—which is something you cannot do. Lobsters go into hiding and climb out of their shell once a year in a most remarkable manner. During this time the mother lobster lays 10,000 eggs.

(2) Thus far no profitable way has been found to dehydrate lobsters or to stop their spoiling by any process . . . while preserving their delectable flavor. The housewife is content to buy dead fish — in fact this is the only kind she can buy — but she will not buy dead whole lobsters! People will be watching live lobsters which have been dropped into hot water turn from green to red 100 or more years from now, as the New England legislators will try to protect the industry by fixing big fines for selling "short lobsters."

What Africa Has Done to Me, It Can Do to You

However, the purpose of this column is not to "cry on the shoulders" of readers because I have lost money from lobster imports. Rather, I want to warn manufacturers all over the U.S. that they may suffer the same from African imports. Africa has over 200,000,000 native Negroes who are just waking up — against only 2,000,000 whites. The Africans have a very low cost of living, wanting almost no clothes and being content with a mud hut to live in.

Africa is rich in natural resources — gold, copper, iron, and all the metals, including mountains of uranium. Africa has the greatest undeveloped waterpowers in the world. Italy, which now leads the world in the manufacture of plastics and synthetics, is teaching the African natives to manufacture textiles and other products to compete with what we are making here in the United States.

African Negroes May Control The United Nations

What Africa has done to me in forcing me out of the lobster business it could do to many readers of this column in every state of our union. Remember, too, that Cecil Rhodes said the Negroes would some day control the world. This becomes an even more realistic possibility when it is recognized that, as the United Nations Council is now set up, each one of these new small African "republics" — 95% black — has the same vote on the Council as does the United States or any other great nation of the world.

Russia does not fear us and will not go to war over Berlin. It is China and Africa which Russia fears. President Kennedy is wise in backing the Negroes of this country in their struggle for equal rights. And surely with the growth of Negro power in the United States, our President cannot help but be sympathetic with the struggle of the 200,000,000 blacks in Africa.

CLEAR THOSE CABINETS

One of the most expensive and risky "economies" is saving old prescription drugs.

Go to your medicine cabinet and see if it contains half empty bottles which carry little identification as to content except a prescription number. If you're average, it does.

Doctors say the safe thing to do is to get rid of all such therapeutic relics in a safe manner—such as flushing them down the drain. Part of the reason is that some of these drugs lose their efficacy when held overlong. Another part is that they should be taken only as originally administered.

And finally — along with these useless pills in the nation's medicine cabinets, says the Food and Drug Administration, are large quantities of the baby-deforming drug Thalidomide.

These Thalidomide tablets were originally given to patients by their doctors to test their effectiveness as a sedative. Now we know all too well of their dangerous side effects. But weeks after the Thalidomide scandal broke one-fourth of the doctors surveyed by the FDA said they had made no effort to contact and warn patients to whom they had given the pills.

How about clearing up YOUR medicine cabinet NOW?

TIGER AT THE TILLER

Something about being at the helm of a power boat brings out the tiger in a man. There is temptation in the surge and swing of such a craft, and in the expanse of water that doesn't confine the driver as a road does. So the driver, too often, is inclined to pour on the coal and show those other clods what his boat can do.

Sometimes it develops that what the boat can do is toss out a passenger, or maybe even the man at the wheel or tiller, on a turn done too sharply. Sometimes what the boat can do is hit a wave at the wrong angle and flip over. Sometimes a boat can hit a swimmer before a speed-intoxicated driver spots him.

Other things can happen. The point is that keeping safety in mind on the water is almost as vital as doing that on the highway. The importance of this grows steadily as the number of small boats increases.

DEATH BY STRANGULATION —

A private nursing home described by state authorities as a "shining example" shut down the other day.

Twenty-four rooms badly needed to care for old folks were closed.

What closed this "shining example?"

Not lack of need.

Neither fire nor natural disaster.

It fell victim of the creeping plague of modern times—excessive paper work.

The proprietress simply couldn't keep up with all the papers from 18 different federal and state agencies.

"It was just one darned thing after another," she said.

Anyone who runs even a small business these days knows what she means.

THE TALL MAN

In this era of the all-too-common man, there's unusual cause for celebration when a living legend escapes the assassin's bullet.

Charles de Gaulle adds to his legend with every day that passes in strife-ridden but generally admiring France

The other day after terrorists voted against his Algerian policy with machine guns, puncturing his limousine and grazing a motorcycle trooper and a passing motorist, DeGaulle cooly commented: "These people really aim very badly."

Even De Gaulle's comments on the weather are phrased as if written to be carved on his monument.

MONROE THE POPULAR

If popularity determines the rank of our presidents, James Monroe belongs at the very top. Upon his re-election in 1820 he was so generally acceptable that no opponent appeared, and he got every electoral vote but one.

The story goes that the one nonconformist said that he did not want any president to stand in Washington's shoes. This referred to Washington's unanimous elections. The real reason is now thought to have been a personal grudge.

Monroe was not as great as his overwhelming endorsement might be taken to indicate. Yet he was one of our abler presidents. His name will grace the newest Polaris submarine. And there is no doubt at all that his name will long endure in connection with his famous and far-reaching doctrine for the Western Hemisphere.

'These Days'

POLITICS BY POLLS

It has, for some years, been customary for politicians to have polls taken by professional pollsters to discover whether they are worthy of holding particular public offices. Presumably they do not themselves know whether they are good or bad or indifferent but they require a poll to give them a clue to themselves. One of the first and most persistent poll-users was Thomas E. Dewey, who did not, of course, succeed in his aspirations.

Prior to the invention of the polls, a man appeared before his fellow-citizens as a candidate for office, willing to take his chances as a man should. Nowadays, what with elections so costly, many candidates would like to know something about what their chances are.

I have before me a poll taken by Louis Harris and Associates, Inc., dated August 22, 1962, which is designed to establish that James A. Farley cannot defeat Nelson Rockefeller for Governor.

The word, designed, will be objected to as representing a premeditated result. Not being a psychiatrist, I cannot determine anyone's motives. However, this poll is represented to be a cross-section of 802 voters in every part of New York State, which has a population of 15,000,000 persons and in the 1958 gubernatorial election showed a vote of 5,712,482 for all parties. If a sample of 802 votes is representative of a population of 15,000,000 in a state which consists of 49,576 square miles, why hold an election at all? Why not send out Louis Harris and his associates to take a sample and call it a day. Surely, Harris costs less than an Election, and takes less energy of less persons.

I look at the tail of this report and find a subhead, "by Religious Groups." This has become a curse upon our body politic. It used to be that Americans voted as Americans. They did not vote on the basis of religious groupings or ethnological groupings. Harris puts under this heading: White Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, Negro.

Apparently in the sample of 802 voters, these are represented. I have never before known that the Negroes were a "Religious Group," although the followers of Elijah Muhammed so claim. But what shocked me was that Harris and Associates, Inc. show in this poll that James Farley gets a maximum of 60 percent of the Catholic vote. This is taken on the sample of 802 voters, but there is no statement as to how many of them were Roman Catholics. Farley's maximum of Jewish voters is 57 percent, which no pollster can know to be true because Jews usually do not vote as a bloc, appearing in both parties, depending on various situations.

The poll which gives the Democratic Party a 54 percent Catholic vote and a 72 percent Jewish vote does not say that that was so in any Election, but rather I assume that this refers to the 802 voters used as a sample. Obviously, a large part of the Democratic vote in New York City is among the Irish and Italian Catholics and in Buffalo among the Polish Catholics and 54 percent looks mighty small to me. Also, the 72 percent for Jews in the Democratic Party does not look right as Nelson Rockefeller's greatest support in 1958 came in those areas where more Jews than Christians or atheists live.

In a word, I find this poll of 802 voters too selective to be informative and unless I saw the list of names and addresses of those polled, it would be hard for me to accept it as more than a response of 802 persons. As a guide to how 5,712,482 voters would vote on Election Day, I think so small a sample is meaningless.

The pollsters say that they can learn much from these samples. And some politicians go by these polls until they are retired to silence and memories. A strong man depends rather on his ability to attract the voters, to state his case and to prove able and competent. Strong men take risks.

When a politician says of any Election that this year the candidate must be a Protestant or a Catholic or a Jew, I am tempted to reply that I hope that this year the American voter will vote for an American. If this is impractical politics, let us be impractical for a change and do the right thing.

Think Twice About Working Pounds Off

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Those of us who have to struggle with the weight problem concentrate almost exclusively on food intake. Rarely do we concern ourselves with variations in energy output. And, on the few occasions when the relationship between weight and physical activity is brought to our attention, we are apt to be treated to exaggerated claims made by trainers, exercisers, masseurs and others of the "strong-arm" set.

A new book by an Australian authority ("Food for Better Performance") is particularly welcome for its valuable table of caloric expenditures. Here, in brief, are some of the surprising figures on hourly caloric loss:

Less than 50 calories—sweeping floors, washing small clothes, typing (electric or mechanical) and watch repairing.

100—walking at a rate of 2 m.p.h.

100 to 200—canoeing at a 2½ m.p.h., riding a walking horse, walking 3 m.p.h. or working as a machine fitter, joiner or fitter.

200 to 300—bicycling at a rate of 5½ m.p.h., dancing foxtrot or waltz, golfing, swimming breast or back stroke, making beds, pushing a wheelbarrow hold 22 pounds or loading a chemical mixer.

300 to 400—canoeing at a rate of 4 m.p.h., dancing the rhumba, playing tennis, walking 4 m.p.h. if body weight is 200 pounds or scrubbing on hands and knees.

400 to 600—climbing slopes, bicycling at a rate of 13 m.p.h., riding a horse that is trotting or galloping, running 4 to 7 miles or cross country, skiing on hard snow at moderate speed, swimming side stroke or digging with a pick or shovel.

As an example of the average daily expenditure of calories made by a sedentary worker (typist), Dr. R. C. Hutchinson gives an estimate of but 700 calories. Or about the amount of energy expended in just one hour in climbing, bicycling at a rate of 13 m.p.h., running 7½ miles, skiing or swimming side stroke.

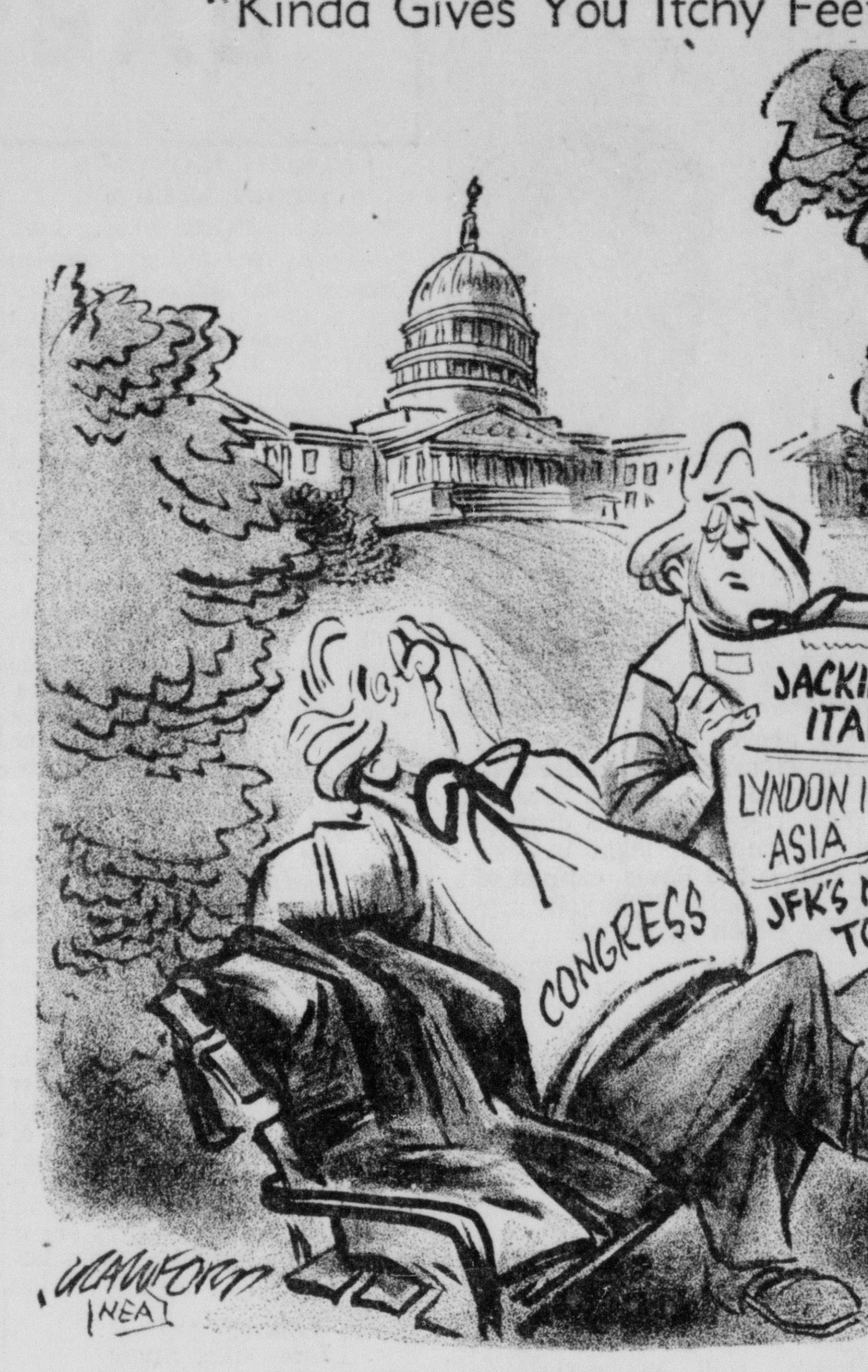
"Kinda Gives You Itchy Feet, Eh?"



Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — President Kennedy's Council on Youth Fitness, which has taken a good bit of kidding and kicking around, is beginning its second school year operations with considerably different ideas.

THE EMPHASIS last year was all on physical culture — the ability to do push-ups, pull-ups, sit-ups and squat-thrusts.

The new emphasis is going to be on physical education. This is a much broader approach, covering general health, hygiene, proper diet, first aid and safety first.

Also, Charles B. "Bud" Wilkinson, famed Oklahoma head coach who is also President Kennedy's special consultant on youth fitness, has decided that his organization should pay more attention to selling school boards, service clubs, civic associations and parents on the advantages of well-rounded physical education courses. This would leave the actual training to professional teachers.

LAST YEAR the council began by issuing its Blue Book, a blue-covered pamphlet titled, "Youth Physical Fitness." Part One outlined a few simple tests to determine who was physically fit or unfit. Part two gave a whole series of complicated exercises, with diagrams, intended to develop a breed of big, strong, American boys and girls.

The exercises were sheer drudgery, and though 110,000 copies of the book have been sold by Government Printing Office at 40 cents apiece, the acceptance by American youth has been less than enthusiastic.

The reaction of professional physical education people — the doctors, health officers, nutritionists and social science people was positively disapproving.

Too much overemphasis on one thing, they said. A youngster can lose physical development in six weeks if he doesn't keep everlastingly at it. Not enough attention to proper diet, hygiene, group play, games and all-around outdoor recreation.

TO QUIET ITS CRITICS and keep them happy, the council is now preparing a new "Gold Book." The exact title hasn't been decided on, but the cover will be gold in color. It will emphasize how to be healthy without being muscle-bound.

It won't be anything for general circulation. It will be a guide for schools and physical education teachers in setting standards on what school children of 6, 9, 12, 15 and 18 years of age should know about taking care of themselves.

Richard Snider, former Topeka newspaperman, now executive director of the President's council of six not-too-athletic cabinet members, says the book won't be ready for a couple of months. It has to be cleared by all the experts. The text is being reviewed by some 40 of the state directors of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation in their annual meeting at Gull Lake, Mich., this month.

A final draft will be put together under the supervision of AAHPER president, Dr. Anita Aldrich of Kansas City, in September. It now looks like it will be a pamphlet of about 50 pages that will sell for 35 or 40 cents from GPO.

ALL THIS HUULLABALOO over youth fitness grew out of the high rates of rejection for physical disability among young men called for military service.

Last year AAPHER spent $40,000 making sample tests on this physical fitness of American children as compared with British, German, Japanese and other youngsters. In every comparison, the foreign children had better scores.

Recent retests have shown American standards are rising. So the publicity stirred up by the council has probably done much good says Louis Means, Washington headquarters director for AAPHER. The association has 200,000 members, over 30,000 of them supervisors or athletic coaches.

But United States physical education is still spotty, California is supposed to have the best state system; its youngsters score highest. Places like Cincinnati, with a long tradition of German Turnverein training, also score well.

But in too many places physical education courses are optional. Classes are held only once or twice a week. In some places they just study the rules of games in order to pass written tests. And in places where there is overemphasis on inter-school athletics, the athletes who make the teams get all the exercise.

Goldberg's Appointment And Political Advantage

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—If President Kennedy had selected to be Justice of the Supreme Court a man who had just been serving for many years as chief counsel of the U. S. Steel Corporation or as a general counsel of the National Association of Manufacturers, what would people say?

If the President had selected to be chief of staff of any one of the armed services a man who had never been an officer in any armed service in his life, what would people say?

Yet Mr. Kennedy has just appointed as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court a man who has never been on the bench—Federal, state or local. He has picked for the post a man who has served as a partisan of the labor movement. As chief counsel for the national Steelworkers Union, he took an active part in its controversial negotiations with management in recent years, and for a long time was also general counsel for the AFL-CIO.

Even though there are today on the bench in the Federal, state and local courts several hundred men who have given many years of their lives to judicial service, not one of them was found fit by President Kennedy to serve on the Supreme Court of the United States.

Obviously, the appointment of Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg was dictated by politics and political considerations. The motive was hardly concealed. Mr. Goldberg is a good lawyer, and in the course of the next several years he may learn how to be an able judge, perhaps even develop conservative leanings. This happened during the 23 years of service by Justice Felix Frankfurter—originally considered a radical but referred to in recent years as the leader of the "conservative" bloc on the Supreme Court.

Mind Made Up

But how much inspiration can it be to men who conscientiously serve on the bench throughout the country, either as district judges or judges on the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals or on state supreme courts, to find not a single one of their number given consideration for the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Frankfurter from the high court?

President Kennedy himself revealed that he learned on Tuesday of the retirement of Justice Frankfurter and within a few hours selected Secretary Goldberg as successor. His mind was made up in advance. No time or opportunity was given for consultation with leaders of the bar or of the Congress.

Why did Mr. Kennedy act so quickly? Because the political requirements had narrowed his field of choice, and the political advantages were obvious. Since Justice Frankfurter happened to be the only member of the Jewish faith on the court, Mr. Kennedy considered it important to nominate a successor of the same religion. At stake supposedly are the votes of members of a religious group, who presumably are made happy by the choice. Also, many millions of labor-union members and their political leaders who collect campaign funds are expected to become even more beholden to the Kennedy administration because, for the first time in history, a man identified with a big labor organization is being placed upon the Supreme Court.

This line of reasoning is so much taken for granted in politics that, when President Truman failed to appoint a Catholic to succeed a Catholic after the death of Justice Frank Murphy, there was criticism. But Mr. Truman said frankly to friends that he was appointing the successor because he would make a good judge, and for no other reason. President Eisenhower also was urged by his political advisers to select a Catholic. He did so in 1956, but he picked a man who was an outstanding judge on New Jersey's highest court — Justice William J. Brennan Jr.

Bigger Advantage

Shortly after President Kennedy was inaugurated, it was assumed in political circles that, because of his Jewish faith, Abraham Ribicoff, who had been named Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, would be appointed to the Supreme Court when Justice Frankfurter retired. But apparently the President saw a bigger political advantage in appointing Mr. Goldberg, because he not only is of the Jewish faith, but also has been a tremendous influence among the labor unions of the country.

Mr. Frankfurter and other Justices have disclaimed any feeling of loyalty to the interest of any religious faith when passing judgment in cases before the High Court. But politicians still feel they can play games with the American voters and mislead them into thinking that it's important to have all religious faiths "represented" on the High Court.

Mr. Goldberg may make a good judge and so may Byron White — both of whom have been appointed by President Kennedy. But today, out of the nine Justices presently serving, there are only three—Stewart, Harlan and Brennan — who served on the bench before going to the Supreme Court. What an "inspiration" to the jurists of America! What a shiver of apprehension passes through the country this week as the President says, in effect, in a public speech that these same Supreme Court Justices can and should rewrite our Constitution to conform to ideological considerations.

MADRID, Spain—The breeze in the car was cool and steady but the heat shimmered in waves above the road ahead and distorted the orange tile roofs and the young trees. The sun was high and the white light burned the eyes. Only the Guadarramas, lofty and blue, seemed to be immune from the heat.

Between the car and the mountains were 20 miles of barren fields and little villages which grew from specks of color on the windshield to houses and narrow streets and shops and disappeared behind the car like nameless nothings out of nowhere.

We were going to El Escorial. It is a gray eminence on the side of the Guadarramas, a building over 1,000 feet long built by Phillip II in the 16th century as a combination palace and monastery. He was a holy Hapsburg and he wanted rule and religion under a single roof.

It required 21 years to build the Escorial and he had a stone chair in front, overlooking the swan lake, and there Phillip sat and watched the Spaniards make his monument. When it was done, he was old and tired and he tottered through the huge cathedral in the middle of Escorial, and decreed that his bedroom would be behind a small door on the right side of the main altar. His three daughters had rooms on the left side.

He was a good king, a humorless man with a long solemn face, the chin playing host to a scraggly beard, and the eyes, large and dark and sad, staring at eternity. He died at 71, the door of his little bedroom open to the high altar. He was old then, but Escorial, with its gray stone and its towers, is still young and vigorous.

It is only an hour's ride from Madrid and we were halfway and more when the car topped a rise and there, off to the left, was a Chinese city. The black and gold pagodas, the moats, the Tartar wall, were either real or a heat mirage. The car kept moving and the city came closer. "Chinese?" I said. "In the heart of Spain?" Kelly shrugged. "It may be a Spanish Disneyland." I decided to stop. There was an unhinged gate and, up the dirt path, a Spaniard crouched under the cool of a tree.

I do not speak Spanish. He does not speak English. Still, he pointed behind him and I saw a sign. "55 Days at Peking." A great light dawned. This is a motion picture of the Boxer Rebellion of 1900, when the Empress Dowager of China laid outside the Forbidden City and tried to kill the Americans, the Germans, the British, French, Spanish, Italians and Japanese.

We remembered. Last year I had met Samuel Bronston in New York. He had made "King of Kings" and "El Cid" in Spain, and he said, at the time, that his next movie would be about the Boxer Rebellion. We asked the guard to let us through. He held his stick up. We could not pass. We made friendly gestures, but he sat again at the base of the tree, shaking his head.

So we waited. In time, a small foreign car came up the road and a tall man who speaks English like David Niven paused at the tree.

I told him that I had met Bronston and, in Spanish, he told the guard to let us pass. The guard shrugged. The Briton said: "There's a story for you if you're looking for one. The guard is a retired matador. Once, he was very popular. Now he keeps people off the set."

We drove up to the set for a quick look. In my time, I have seen many and all of them look real from the front, and resemble broken corsets from the back. This one is built exactly to scale. The Empress Dowager used to boast that her walls were so wide that four chariots could race abreast.

The walls are that broad. The streets are identical with those of old Peking, even to the shallow stream which ran down the middle of the legation sector. The apothecary shops, the legation buildings, the Chinese temples—even the dragons—are lifelike. Only the actors are unreal.

It is not a papier mache set. It is a huge city spreading over acres of Spanish plain. An American on the set told me that it cost one million dollars to build the structures and the wall and the shallow river. In Hollywood, it would have cost three million.

The trend toward filming motion pictures anywhere but in Hollywood continues. Spanish labor is low-priced and efficient. The "55 Days at Peking" will cost $9,000,000, including the talents of Ava Gardner and Charlton Heston. It would cost $15,000,000 in the United States.

"What do you say?" I said to Kelly. She got back in the car. "I would rather see Ava Gardner than El Escorial," she said. Maybe later in the week, I said. "We are going to see what Phillip II did," I said. She smiled faintly. "He should see what Sam Bronston did," she said.

Completes Basic

Rosalie Slovak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Slovak, of RD 1, Stuyvesant, has just completed 10 weeks of basic training at Recruit Training—Women, United States Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md., and was graduated during a military review held recently. The local WAVE, a high school graduate from Ichabod Crane Central School, has spent a 14-day leave with her family before reporting to United States Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, for Yeoman School. Seaman Apprentice Slovak received instruction in Naval Orientation; Naval History, Citizenship and Current Events; Naval Ships, Aircraft and Armament; Navy Jobs and Training; Self Improvement; First Aid; Physical Training; and Military Bearing and Drill during her indoctrination period. The Stuyvesant WAVE enlisted at the US Naval Recruiting Station in Kingston for three years, and was sworn in at the Recruiting Station in Albany. She was formerly employed by the Department of Agriculture in Hudson. She enlisted on June 8.

Producer Is Sure Perry Mason Will Draw on Thursday

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Indomitable Perry Mason, who has been defending the innocent every Saturday night for the past five years will soon be moving lock, stock, Della, Paul and Hamilton to Thursday nights.

And of all the shifting of programs the new television season, the switch on Sept. 27 of "Perry Mason" will be watched with the greatest interest. When the show was launched, Saturday night generally was regarded as a sort of television siberia, a time when only the very young and the infirm were home watching their sets.

Denies Rigid Format

Either the premise was wrong or "Perry Mason" persuaded a lot of people Saturday was a good night to stay home. The show—and the ones which followed it on CBS—invariably have rolled up enormous audiences.

The big question is whether the invincible attorney and his acting family will be able to carry that audience into another day and a new hour.

"None of us is nervous," insists producer Gail Patrick Jackson. "It's like moving to a new neighborhood. You may make new friends but you'll still keep your old ones, too."

Mrs. Jackson gets a bit annoyed with those who complain about the "rigid format" of the series.

"No one has ever said we must have a rigid form and we don't feel that it is," she explained. "All we have tried to do is keep the characters and the stories as compatible as possible with the books. After all, Erle Stanley Gardner is still writing Mason books and they are enormously popular."

Powell Follows Pattern

Dick Powell must be superstitious. Last season he premiered his new anthology series with a whodunit containing so many stars in "Cameo" (that means short and smallish) roles that he had to list them alphabetically. The series was a hit. This year, although his opening show of the season on Sept. 25 isn't exactly a mystery show, his alphabetical list of stars—eight—ranges from Allyson (June) to Stanwyck (Barbara).

NBC's news special earlier this week seemed like a quickie tossed together for a lean season. It was a bunch of now-familiar clips from old newsreels and—obviously—battle scenes from World War I movies glued together by a marine disaster. The "Riddle of the Lusitania" — whether it was carrying arms and explosives when torpedoed during the First World War remains unanswered.

Wallkill

Court Rules New Party Must Get Required Signers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Conservative Party must obtain signatures from voters in every county in the state on its nominating petitions for candidates seeking state-wide office.

The party lost its fight Thursday before the state's highest tribunal, the State Court of Appeals, against the law requiring representation of all counties on such petitions.

The Conservatives challenged a state law that requires new parties to obtain 12,000 signatures, with at least 50 from each county, on the nominating petitions of candidates for state office. Fulton and Hamilton are considered as one county under the law.

David H. Jaquith, the Conservative Party's gubernatorial candidate, and his running mates on the party's ticket brought the suit. Jaquith said obtaining signatures from each county would be "most difficult, but not impossible."

James Leff, the party's attorney, argued before the court that the law "impairs independent voters' rights to participate in the selection of candidates."

His argument was countered by Paxton Blair, state solicitor general, who said the provision was "entirely reasonable." He said the law was designed "to prevent nominations by a small, very active clique operating in a densely populated area."

The State Supreme Court dismissed the party's challenge of the law Aug. 18 and the Conservatives appealed it to the high tribunal, where yesterday's decision was unanimous. There was no opinion.

The Conservative Party was organized last February to fight what it said it considered the ultra-liberal views of Gov. Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, both Republicans seeking re-election.

Soblen Loses Again

LONDON (AP) —The British Court of Appeal today refused to free fugitive spy Robert A. Soblen and upheld an order to deport him to the United States.

The court dismissed his appeal for a writ of habeas corpus.

The ruling—fourth adverse decision Soblen has met in the British courts—means he may be deported to serve a life sentence in the United States for disclosing wartime secrets to the Soviet Union.

One last resort still lies open. Soblen can seek leave to appeal to the House of Lords, highest tribunal in the land. Only the nation's top law lords can now reverse the ruling given today. Soblen's lawyers have said they would carry the case to the lords.

JFK Signs

President's desk Monday when the House passed it 371-10.

The bill, which was the version finally passed by the Senate and concurred in by the house, was very close to what the President asked for.

First of Its Kind

The corporation, first of its kind in the history of American private enterprise, eventually will put into orbit a network of satellite relay stations that can send messages and televisions pictures instantly to any point on the globe.

These satellites will be the descendents of the experimental Telstar, which already has showed it is possible to send clear television pictures across the Atlantic.

The Kennedy administration, after many months of backstage talks, decided that the corporation to control this operation should be a private one, with half the stock owned by existing communications companies and half owned by the general public at $100 a share.

The President will appoint organizers of the company to get it started, and therein lies the unique quality of this corporate setup. It is the first time the government has set out to organize a company that will be privately owned and return a profit to its owners.

To Have 15 Directors

Thereafter, 15 directors will be named, six by the communications companies, six by the public stockholders and three by the President.

Liberals charged that the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., one of the largest in the world, would dominate the satellite corporation. Backers of the bill argued that it contained many safeguards and government controls to prevent this.

U. S. Copters Downed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Communist guerrillas have shot down two more U.S. Army helicopters, wounding four Americans serving as advisers to Vietnamese forces.

A U.S. military spokesman said the Americans were evacuated after their copters were downed Thursday. They were not seriously wounded. Their names were not made public.

The helicopters were shot down as they airlifted troops into South Viet Nam's central highlands.

Smith Avenue Store To Continue Business

The manager of Sunray store at 83 Smith Avenue today stressed that an advertisement on page 13 of The Freeman tonight is a good indication that the discount department establishment is remaining in business.

Louis Leone said his desire is to dispel rumors that the store may discontinue at the address where it has been doing business for five years. There are three other stores in the chain at Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Beacon.

Mohawk Resumes Dutchess Flights

All flights to the Dutchess County Airport were canceled Thursday by Mohawk Airlines because of a shortage of pilots, but local flights were scheduled to be resumed today and Saturday.

A company spokesman at Utica said all Mohawk flights have been canceled for Sunday because of the "Operation Sky Shield III" exercise which the North American Air Defense command is going to conduct. For a five and a half hour period, regular air traffic will be cleared from the skies over continental United States.

The Mohawk flights will sesume on Monday.

Asked by Mayor

Congressman Wharton's arrangement with the U. S. Army Engineer Corps came after he had been asked for assistance by Mayor Schwenk. Engineer A. A. DePietro, of the New York office, headed by Col. M. M. Miletich, was due to meet with Mayor Schwenk at 3:30 p. m. today.

The purpose of his visit to the city, it was noted, was to determine if the engineer corps can be of assistance, and if not, to offer advice as to what might be done toward solving the bridge problem.

Workmen of Contractor John Arborio, Inc., Poughkeepsie, today were removing rubble of the broken bridge deck from the creek bed All of the buckled steel of the truss had been removed by Thursday.

The bridge went down Tuesday morning as a trailer truck owned by Provan Petroleum Transportation Co. of Newburgh, driven by Claude T. Helton, 44, of RD 1, Box 324, Walden, passed over the span with a reported total weight of 33½ tons. He is due for hearing Sept. 7 on a charge dealing with laxity in observing a posted six-ton limit warning.

John Bouton, 58, of 61 Marius Street, driver of a car behind the trailer truck, who was injured as it went down with the bridge, was discharged from Kingston Hospital, today. He was under treatment for head, shoulder and hip injuries.

Faculty to Hear StateManTuesday

Superintendent of Kingston City schools Earl F. Soper, announced today that Dr. Dexter G. Tilroe, supervisor of secondary education, New York State Education Department, will be the speaker at the general faculty meeting scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 4, 9:30 a. m.

Dr. Tilroe is a native of New York State and a graduate of Syracuse University and New York University. He has taught in Albany County and Freeport, L. I. He served as elementary principal in Rockland County and as district principal in Wallkill.

Between 1944 and 1948, Dr. Tilroe served as education officer and specialist in secondary education with the Allied Council in Italy and the United States Forces in Austria.

Since 1948, Dr. Tilroe has served as Supervisor of Secondary Education in the New York State Education Department. In this capacity he has worked on the program for readjustment of high school education. He has served on school surveys in Buffalo, Yonkers and New York City. No Peter Pan

STEVENAGE, England (AP)— Two-year old Catherine Burton watched birds swoop around her nursery window and decided to try flying for herself.

She plunged 18 feet to a concrete path Thursday, but a clothesline broke her fall. Cathy told her mother: "I only wanted to fly like the pigeons."

The hospital reported Cathy had minor internal injuries.

dustrial and farm supplies was delayed or halted.

George E. Leighty, president of the telegraphers, said there is not "a Chinaman's chance" of a quick settlement.

The union and railroad have been in dispute over the job elimination issues since 1957. The union has demanded that none of its jobs as station agents or communications operators be abolished without an agreement. The North Western said the union sought "an absolute veto over technological improvements and other modernization and increases in efficiency."

Governor Strong For Meditation To Start School

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says he is strongly in favor of a period of silent meditation to open the day in public schools.

The governor commented Thursday on a ruling by State Education Commissioner James E. Allen, who said there was nothing illegal about such a practice.

"It would be a wonderful idea," Rockefeller said.

Allen ruled Wednesday that use of a verse of the Star Spangled Banner as a classroom prayer was a violation of a U.S. Supreme Court decision that official prayers in public schools were unconstitutional.

Rockefeller expressed his views at a news conference at the end of a 7½-hour visit to the State Exposition, formerly known as the State Fair.

The governor toured the grounds in traditional campaign style, posing for pictures with children, shaking hands and talking with visitors. He drank several glasses of milk, one of the state's leading agricultural products.

He took off his coat and loosened his tie as the temperature climbed into the 80s.

At his news conference, the governor:

1. Praised U.S. Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg as "an outstanding man of great ability" who would "make an excellent Supreme Court judge." Goldberg was named to the high court Wednesday by President Kennedy.

2. Said he had no plans to appoint Democratic Assemblywoman Bessie Buchanan of Manhattan to the State Commission for Human Rights. There was speculation this week that Mrs. Buchanan was in line for such an appointment after she announced she would campaign for the Republican governor in his bid for re-election.

3. Said he did not know U.S. Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau, now the leading candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. "I never met him," Rockefeller said.

4. Indicated there was little chance that the State University would gain more autonomy. He said that the governor and the Legislature would have to retain some controls over how money for the University is spent as long as they have the responsibility for raising the funds.

Police to Boost Holiday Patrols

Highway patrols in the area will be increased by area authorities during the three-day Labor Day weekend beginning tonight, to cope with anticipted heavy traffic.

Sheriff Claude Bell said the regular highway patrol assigned by his office will have additional deputies on duty during the holiday, when authorities anticipate heavier traffic than normal on area streets and main highways.

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy said the regular patrols will be on duty throughout the weekend, and patrolmen will be assigned to traffic duty at points where traffic might be exceptionally heavy.

"We all urge the public to drive carefully and have a safe weekend," Chief Murphy said.

State Police said additional patrols will be assigned to cover main highways throughout the area beginning today to cope with the anticipated heavy traffic the next three or four days.

Authorities noted this will be the first and only three-day weekend of the summer.

In Dutchess County, Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan plans to strengthen the highway patrols, and also maintain his usual boat patrol on lakes in the county and on the Hudson River.

Police officials throughout the area urged motorists to comply with all rules of the road and motor vehicle regulations, and do everything possible to avoid mishaps during the long holiday weekend.

Third Installment Due on Income Tax

Taxpayers paying estimated income tax are, according to the local district director, James A. O'Hara, required to pay their third installment of tax due on 1962 estimated income by September 17.

If the income expected to be earned during 1962 has changed, taxpayers should file an amended declaration of estimated tax. A blank form for use as an amended return is printed on the back of the bill which taxpayers receive for an installment of estimated tax, the district director pointed out.

If you have any questions on estimated tax, telephone your nearest internal revenue office, O'Hara advises. Telephone numbers are listed in telephone directories under U. S. Government - Treasury Department.

Two Court Cases

Howard Brown, 39, who, police said has no home, waived examination in city court today and was held for grand jury action on an attempted burglary charge. Police said he had attempted to enter Stone's Liquor Store, 24 Broadway several days ago. A third degree assault charge against Wade Page, 29, of Mt. Marion, was dismissed. He was booked July 30 on complaint of Everett Banks, of Port Ewen.

Loss Is Feared Of Troopers by Hyde Park Force

Commenting on a proposal for creation of a Town of Hyde Park police force, Supervisor William P. Schryver of that township, said Thursday a town police department might result in the loss of the State Police barracks at Hyde Park.

Schryver noted that the Dutchess County sheriff's office also has a patrol going through the township and he added, "there certainly is no need in the town for three police agencies." The supervisor said that police agencies are doing a good job, and in his opinion the town of Hyde Park cannot offord its own police department.

At a special meeting of the Town Council Wednesday night, a request from Patrolman Bruce Berrian, head of the town's special police force seeking authority for the seven-man force to apprehend law violators, was discussed.

Supervisor Schryver was authorized to make a study to determine whether special policemen, as peace officers, had the power to issue traffic tickets and make criminal arrests under state law, and if policemen would have insurance coverage while making arrests.

Pleads Innocent In Thruway Fatal

Accused of driving an automobile while intoxicated after a fatal crash on the State Thruway Wednesday night, Jacob Kaplan, 57, a plasterer, of 1576-19th Street, Brooklyn, pleaded innocent Thursday afternoon before Town of New Paltz Justice of the Peace John B. Tenaglia.

Kaplan was released in custody of a Middletown attorney. Hearing was adjourned until Sept. 21.

According to Thruway State Police at Newburgh, Kaplan stopped his automobile on a northbound driving lane Wednesday night, and the car was struck in the rear by a 1962 vehicle owned and operated by James Thomas Ryan, 27, of 6523 Amboy Place, Staten Island. Ryan was killed instantly, authorities said.

Hurt at Cement Plant

John J. Cecelia, 37, of 319 Fourth Avenue is reported in apparently fair condition today at Kingston Hospital following a mishap Thursday night at Hudson Cement Corp., plant on North Street. Mrs. Cecelia said a boulder fell on her husband's foot and he was taken to the hospital in Fatum's ambulance. This mishap occurred shortly before 8 p. m.

Albany Man Named To Civil Service Post

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — James M. Gallagher of Albany will become personnel officer for the State Civil Service Department on Sept. 10.

The department announced Thursday his appointment to the $9,840-a-year post to succeed John Wynne of Altamont, who resigned to accept a similar position with the State Judicial Conference in New York City.

Savannah Has Near Miss

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The nuclear merchant ship Savannah narrowly avoided a collision with a Navy destroyer Thursday as she entered Hampton Roads on return from her maiden voyage.

The destroyer Stickell reportedly missed ramming the Savannah by two feet.

A Navy spokesman said the Stickell, one of seven destroyers which entered the narrow channel at the same time as the nuclear ship, sounded emergency signals and backed down.

Stripped Down Wedding

BOURNE, England (AP) — The City Council apologized today for seven beautiful girls who stripped down to bathing suits to form an honor guard at a church wedding.

The girls are swimmers in an aqua show with the bride, Eileen Hart, 22.

At Eileen's wedding in a local Anglican church, the seven sat demurely and fully clad in their pew through the half-hour service.

After the service, the dresses came off in the churchyard outside, revealing swimsuits embellished by filmy trains of white lace.

The council apologized because it sponsors the show.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Perhaps the most comfort businessmen can derive from this week's presidential news conference is that for the first time in a long spell there weren't any questions about the state of the economy.

All hands seem willing to let lie, for the moment at least, all of the summer's built-up fears about whither are we going.

May Help Business

And business could be the better for it. Industry and trade have problems enough of their own without everyone getting in on the guessing game. Also the publicized fears tend to feed the very trends some have direly predicted.

Even the stock market has stopped being a barometer, this week at least. It appears to be waiting for everyone to come back from vacation full of vinegar, if not big new ideas.

Business traditionally picks up after Labor Day. And stock traders seem to feel there'll be time enough to wait and see if tradition is followed rather than trying to guess ahead of time.

But the momentary truce in the talk about the economy's parlous future is about the only uncertainty that isn't still around.

What Congress will do is the most immediate. In the final weeks of a session many business plans are held up to see if specific proposals are accepted or rejected. Congress can change its mind quickly and frequently in the final days.

And business has a big stake in many of the questions President Kennedy did discuss at his news conference—foreign trade appropriations, the Cuban and Berlin problems, the atomic race, and even the makeup of the Supreme Court, which passes on a number of business problems each year.

American business has become so involved in political decisions, domestic and international, that any swift change in any of these fields can have a bearing on the business cycle.

Bear on Consumers

Many factors outside of the economic trend itself affect tax policies and a great array of business regulations.

These same factors bear on consumer psychology. The results show up in stores, the home mortgage market, the balance between total spending and total saving.

The moves the government may take—or propose to take—in guiding the money market, counteracting a business slowdown or braking a speculative boom, financially aiding or retraining the unemployed, riding herd on price or wage increases — all affect the business cycle.

But the very act of making the proposals, and all the talk about their wisdom or necessity, can hold up or stimulate business planning, and to a lesser degree influence consumer thinking.

So the pre-Labor Day truce in heated discussions about whither we are going and why, even if the truce is fleeting, can be welcomed by many who would rather wait and see how business acts on its own and what consumers do about spending for the traditional fall goods and services.

Heavy Local Casualties Reported

Reviews Action of Ulster Guard On 100th Anniversary of Battle

Edit. Note: (The following are excerpts from a book, Banners and Bugles written by Will Plank of Marlboro, local historian, on the role of Ulster County residents in the Civil War.)

One hundred years ago, August 30, 1862, Ulster County's 20th Regiment, officially known as the 80th New York State Volunteer Infantry, went into action for the first time in a major engagement, the second Battle of Bull Run. Also known as the Battle of Groveton or the Second Manassas, it cost the local men heavier losses than any other battle in which they were engaged except Antietam, Sept. 17, '62 or Gettysburg which followed it July 1, 2 and 3, 1863.

The 80th suffered casualties of 52 men that hot August day a century ago, as compared with 170 in the three days at Gettysburg. It seemed more terrible to the Ulster soldiers because they had never faced any such concentrated enemy fire before. They faced some of the best veteran troops of Stonewall Jackson and Gen. Longstreet, flushed with success in a series of victories and contemptuous of the comparatively green troops from New York State. The battle-scarred Confederates must have been surprised, indeed, to see the former militia men from Ulster charge their strong position, recoil, and reforming charge again and again until recalled.

Gray Coats Had Advantage

The Confederates had the advantage of position at this second Bull Run battle. They occupied a wood where their troops were protected by an embankment of an incompleted railroad. From behind this shelter they poured a most destructive fire of artillery and musketry into the Union lines advancing through fields and open timber. It was impossible to flank Jackson's men who were entrenched on the right of Gen. Pope's federal army and able to form a junction with Longstreet's corps of Lee's force striking Pope's front. Jackson's line must be broken and driven back in order to protect the Union army from a terrible cross fire and give it a chance to beat the two Confederate forces in detail. If the enemy lines should join the federals would be seriously outnumbered and driven from the field.

On August 29th, the day before, different divisions of Pope's army had attacked Jackson's line behind the railroad embankment at several points and had been repulsed with heavy loss. This engagement, the battle of Groveton, had cost the 80th some wounded, but it was as nothing compared with their losses on the 30th. Col. George W. Pratt led the Ulster regiment in its desperate effort to pierce the enemy lines and fell wounded. He was carried to a field hospital and Lieut. Col. Gates of Kingston took command.

Every effort to reach the Confederate line proved futile and when the assault was given up the ground was covered with dead and wounded from Ulster and Greene Counties.

First Lieutenant John Ross Horner of Company K, was killed and Capt. James Tallmadge Hendricks of Co. G, Saugerties, and Capt. Peletiah Ward, Co. E, Ellenville, were mortally wounded. Col. Pratt died as result of wounds Sept 11th, Hendricks died in Washington hospital Sept. 17 and Ward at Alexandria, Va., Sept. 3rd.

The following officers also fell wounded:

John Vernon Bouvier, 2nd lieut, Co. E, wounded at the battle of Groveton.

Henry Carr, sergeant, Co. B, later 2nd lieut Co. D, wounded at Second Bull Run.

Philip Dietz, first sergeant Co. D, later lieutenant Co. B, wounded.

Demetrius J. France, 2nd lieut. Co. 1, wounded.

Nicholas Hoysradt, 1st lieut., Co. F, wounded.

George G. Masten, private Co. C, later 2nd lieut., Co. C, wounded.

Capt. Abram S. Smith, Kingston, Co. H, wounded.

James Smith, 1st sergt, Co. G, Saugerties, wounded.

Capt. John Rudolph Tappen, Co. C, wounded.

James M. VanValkenbergh, 2nd lieut, Co. G, of Saugerties, wounded.

Capt. Dan McMahon, Shandaken, Co. D, wounded at Battle of Chantilly, Sept. 1st.

Prepared as Tribute

A brief description of the battle of Groveton followed by Second Bull Run and the engagement at Chantilly two days later is given below. It is from the book "Banners and Bugles" which is entirely devoted to Ulster County and its people during the Civil War. The book, written by Will Plank of Marlboro, a historian who has devoted over 30 years to the study of the great conflict which so nearly wrecked the future of the United States, is being prepared as a tribute to the men and women of this county who helped to preserve the Union.

The excerpts that follow relate to the efforts of the great Confederate General Lee to break up the Virginia campaign of General John Pope who had pushed south into the heart of that state in July 1862 and in August was being pushed back toward Washington.

The fighting mentioned took place on the Warrenton Turnpike some 30 miles southwest of the capitol, a road which is still one of the principal highways of Virginia. Most of the country where our soldiers fought is now part of the Manassas National Battlefield Park and is easy to reach and most interesting. Pope had been defending the line of the Rappahannock River when Lee moved against him with a greatly superior force. He had divided his army and sent Stonewall Jackson around to Pope's rear where he cut the Union supply line on the railroad. While Jackson threatened Pope's flank the rest of Lee's veteran force pushed the Federals steadily from the rear until the Southern armies united and won a decisive victory.

Battles of Generals

Finding it difficult to cross under fire Lee marched up the Rappahannock and while making feints of attack detached Jackson with over half the Confederate army to get in the rear of his adversary. Jackson moved around Pope's right flank, crossed the river where there were unprotected fords and with lightning, man-killing marches, struck the railroad far north of the Union army and burned its supply depot at Manassas Junction. Not waiting for Pope to strike him in an unprotected position old Jack, as his soldiers affectionately called him, drew back to a naturally strong position in the woods behind an abandoned railroad cut and embankments.

Faced with a shortage of food and supplies which Jackson had destroyed, Pope was forced to fall back to the neighborhood of the Junction and gathered in his widely spread forces to strike Jackson. At first he could not find the wily Confederate; it was not until King's division with Ulster's regiment in its first brigade was fired on as it marched up the Warrenton Turnpike towarn Manassas that Jackson's force was revealed.

King's men fought back Gibbon's brigade with its Michigan and Wisconsin men covered itself with glory but suffered heavy losses. Patrick's New York brigade was not on the flank which was attacked and took little part in the battle but the division was badly mauled and after driving the enemy back into the sheltering woods, retreated after dark.

Railroad Cut at Groveton

Now Pope knew where his famous antagonist was, and he bent every effort to defeat and surround him before Lee came to his rescue. He knew the Southern leader would be pressing his rear, but his outnumbered army was now being reenforced. Some of McClellan's troops which had been sent back to Fredericksburg and Alexandria after the Peninsula failure were joining him and more were expected quickly.

Pope flung division after division against Jackson's protected line. Sigel of Pea Ridge fame, Hooker, soon to be known as "fighting Joe" and Phil Keaney, one of the best leaders in the Union army, struck the Confederates with their divisions. Desperate charges finally beat back the enemy's left where the first Bull Run battle started the previous year. Jackson was compelled to make changes in his line which Pope construed as a retreat. But the Confederate center and right near the last night's battle held. At one point in the railroad cut where the grey-clad soldiers ran out of ammunition they threw stones at the federals charging across open fields.

One northern officer mounted on a great black stallion led the charge again and again directly into the fire-belching muzzles of Confederates behind the embankment. His heroism aroused their admiration, and they cried "Don't shoot! Don't shoot!" Others failed to hear them in the noise and fury of battle and horse and rider fell directly in front of their lines.

Gallant but Futile

When night fell Jackson still held his embattled position where his right could be joined by Longstreet's corps of Lee's army next day. During the morning of the 30th, which was to be another black day on the Union calendar, the whole of Lee's army was brought up and deployed for an offensive. The fighting had subsided when Patrick's brigade with Ulster's soldiers was formed to charge the Confederate lines.

At three in the afternoon the order was given to advance and the brigade moved across the fields in two lines to attack Jackson's position behind the railroad embankment. The enemy allowed the brigade to advance 200 yards into the woods within pointblank range before he opened a murderous fire. The first line fairly melted away and the second with our 80th met a deluge of lead. With Col. Pratt on the left of the regiment and Lt. Col. Gates on the right, the men tried to reach the enemy lines, but in vain. Musket fire from behind the embankment, supplemented by artillery fire from the higher ground beyond made it impossible to go forward.

Col. Pratt fell, mortally wounded, and the men after trying three times to reach their well-protected foe, fell back. Orders came to retire and the brigade did so in fairly good order. Organizations were naturally mixed up but the men still had a fighting spirit. When the enemy followed into the fields the men of the brigade turned and delivered a galling fire. This, supported by a destructive artillery fire, forced them to seek the shelter of the woods.

Heavy Toll for the 80th

The Southern riflemen had taken a heavy toll. One officer and 30 men of the 80th were left dead on the field. Three officers and 18 men were mortally wounded. Col. Pratt, wounded early in the battle, was carried to the rear and sent to a federal hospital in Washington. Later removed to Albany, it was hoped that he would recover, but he died September 11th. Thus our first regimental commander gave his all for his country in the first serious battle in which he was engaged.

While the brigade was thus being repulsed Longstreet's veterans had been steadily pushing the federals back on the right side of the road.

Frequently the Northern troops would take a determined stand on rising ground or the shelter of woods but a rebel charge or a flanking move would force them back again. This continued to the heights of the Chinn farm and the Henry house hill where the first battle of Bull Run was decided. Now the second battle of that name was to go into history as another federal defeat.

Considered One of the Best

The Ulster Guard retired to Bull Run with the rest of the Union army and at the stone bridge across the stream was fortunate enough to find a commissary issuing fresh meat. It was the first it had received in a week and when cooked over the camp fire beyond the creek was the first food the men had that day. Although the army had been ordered to retreat to Centerville for a stand on the heights the road was so filled with artillery and men the 80th filed to the left at Cub Run, and bivouacked for the night on that stream.

Next morning it marched on to Centerville and soon was called out again to meet Jackson at Chantilly. Here the famous Southerner was again trying to get in the rear of Pope's army by marching over a road that paralleled the line of retreat. He was foiled in his effort when he ran up against the forces of Hooker, Reno, McDowell, Stevens and Kearney. The local men participated when Gen. Hooker asked Gen. Patrick for one of his best regiments. Patrick selected the 80th and it took a position in a wood which Hooker told Col. Gates was "to be held at all hazards."

It was. Despite an infantry attack which was repulsed and severe artillery fire that followed to support further attempted advances, the enemy was always held at bay. Capt. McMahon and nine men were wounded in this engagement September 1st.

Fighting was heavy elsewhere on the field. General Stevens was killed, as was General Phil Kearney. The latter who had lost an arm in the war with Mexico, carried his sword and guided his charger in many battles since then, was to lose his life during a violent thunderstorm which ended the battle and repulse of Jackson at Chantilly.

Although Pope and his army might better have been left confronting the foe from his strong position at Centerville, the shock of defeat led to recall within the defenses of Washington.

The 80th folowed the retreating army to its old training camp on Upton's hill, its ranks depleted by well over 200 men. Four days were spent at the camp which now seemed too large for the regiment. It did picket duty while there and beat off an attack of rebel skirmishers, emboldened by recent successes.

September 7th a night march was made to Washington through part of the City to Leesboro, Maryland. The Army of the Potomac was being reorganized with the inclusion of Pope's army and Burnside's corps.

Devoted to County Men

While the major portion of "Banners and Bugles" is devoted to the history of the three regiments that went out from Ulster County to defend the Union, it also deals with activties at home to further the war effort.

Campaigns to stimulate enlistments, bounties, the draft, letters from soldiers an explanation of the different types of service and equipment in use, the flags used, the cavalry and the navy all come in for attention. Interesting incidents, and accounts of what the homefolk were doing and what the county was like at the time help to provide fascinating reading.

The story of the 20th Militia or Ulster Guard, one of the first units in the state to respond to Lincoln's call for volunteers after Ft. Sumter was fired upon is told in detail. The history of the 80th regiment of infantry which grew out of the 20th and carried its name in the desperate battles of the Second Bull Run, Antietam and Gettysburg until it took up provost guard duty and policed Richmond after its capture, is reviewed.

The 120th, one of the 300 best fighting regiments in the entire Union army is given careful attention from its formation at Kingston in 1862 to its participation in the Grand Review at Washington after the war was won. The battles of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, the Wilderness, Spotsylvania, Cold Harbor, the Petersburg and Appomattox campaigns and the service in them by this regiment are also described.

For the first time the history of the 156th regiment which left the county in 1862, was shipwrecked as it was enroute to New Orleans, its service on the Mississippi, later in the defense of Washington and in the battles of the Shenandoah valley, to its transfer to North Carolina where it saw the surrender of Johnson to end the war, is presented in full.

The much neglected regiment is given its full due for the service it performed before it was mustered out in faraway Georgia seven months after the war ended.

To Be Published Soon

Leaders and casualties of these regiments which included men from every town in the county are given in each instance. Tribute is also paid to Ulster's men who fought in regiments from other counties and in the war on the water. Lists of the men in service from the different towns of the county are also published.

The book, which is designed to preserve for posterity the record of what Ulster County did in America's bloodiest war, is scheduled to be brought out in November. It is being prepared in conjunction with the New York Civil War centennial.

"Banners and Bugles" will offer the most complete coverage of the Civil War activities of any county history in New York State. Will Plank, its author and publisher, is a former newspaper man prominent in Chicago and New York Civil War Round Table organizations, having served two terms on the board of directors of the latter organization. He was appointed Ulster County chairman of the New York State Civil War Centennial Commission by Bruce Caton, its chairman.

Mr. Plank has visited and made a study of over 200 battlefields of this great war from the Gulf coast of Texas to Gettysburg and from the fields of Kansas to the sands of Florida.

In his museum in Marlboro is the most complete collection of Civil War relics to be found in this country with exhibits from over 175 different sites of battles and skirmishes. He takes pleasure in showing them to any one interested in an effort to promote a better understanding of the war and what it meant to the people of the United States.

Jackie Due Back In U. S. Tonight

RAVELLO, Italy (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy and her daughter Caroline said goodby to the Amalfi coast and their 11th century holiday villa today and started home to spend the Labor Day weekend with the President.

They left Rome aboard a Pan American World Airways jetliner for New York at 7:31 a.m. EST.

The Kennedy family plane, the Caroline, is to fly them on to the Quonset Point Naval Station in Rhode Island. The White House announced that President Kennedy would time his departure from Washington this afternoon to reach Quonset Point about the time his wife and daughter arrived. The family will spend the holiday weekend at Hammersmith Farm, the Newport home of Mrs. Kennedy's stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss.

The American First Lady and daughter had spent 23 days on the beautiful Amalfi coast, swimming, water skiing, yachting and mingling with the local folk. They enjoyed it so much, Mrs. Kennedy extended the visit a week.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market firmed early this afternoon, with motors rising. Preholiday trading was slack.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 223.6 with industrials up 1.1, rails off .1, and utilities up .2.

The gain was irregular and came as many Wall Streeters departed for a long weekend. The market will be closed Monday, Labor Day.

Trading was at the slowest rate of the week. The advance, though slight, was the best of the week. Caution has prevailed over prospects for business and the market after the Labor Day milestone.

Brokers attributed some of the improvement to the fact that many of the pre-Labor Day offerings had already been absorbed.

A reported rise of factory orders to a new record in July was an encouraging note. Favorable reports about the 1963 auto models and a good outlook for profits in the auto industry were credited for the buying in motors.

Steels continued ragged, with some recoveries here and there, as steel company executives failed to comply with Senate subpoenas.

DuPont Manager Reports

Nearly $6,000,000 in direct buying power in the Newburgh-Beacon area was generated last year by the DuPont Company's Newburgh coated fabrics plant and research laboratory, according to Fred E. Walter, plant manager. The plant and laboratory had a combined payroll of $5,435,000 and purchased $561,000 worth of materials and services from 166 suppliers in the Newburgh-Beacon area.

Woman Files New Suit On Gable's Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A new $100,000 suit has been filed against the estate of the late film actor Clark Gable by a woman who withdrew an identical suit a year ago.

Mrs. Jill Winkler Rath, 41, charges Gable broke an agreement to will her the amount.

Mrs. Rath is the widow of Hollywood press agent Otto Winkler, who was killed in a 1942 Nevada plane crash in which Gable's third wife, actress Carole Lombard, also died.

Mrs. Rath contends Gable agreed to will her $100,000 because the actor had induced her husband to accompany Miss Lombard and because Gable also persuaded Mrs. Rath to accept a small settlement from the airline.

Order Four Steel Giants to Appear For Senate Quiz

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief executives of four big steel companies were ordered to appear before the Senate Antitrust subcommittee today in a battle over disclosure of production costs.

Chairman Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said that although he had received word Thursday that the steel officials would not show up, the subcommittee was going ahead with its hearing.

He wired executives of the four companies—Bethlehem, Republic, National and Armco—that he would consider their failure to appear as contempt under the subpoenas served on them.

Contempt of Congress is punishable by a $1,000 fine or a year's imprisonment, or both.

The companies, unlike eight other major steel producers, have declined so far to submit detailed unit cost figures in response to subpoenas issued by the subcommittee.

Kefauver said he would seek to have them cited for contempt if they persisted in their refusal.

Subpoenas were issued last April after major steel producers announced a short-lived $6-a-ton price increase that was rescinded after President Kennedy threw the full weight of the government against it.

Kefauver said at the time that production cost figures were essential to an intelligent evaluation of the need for price increases.

The steel companies contend disclosure of their unit costs would damage them competitively, both at home and abroad.

Alertness Averts Crash

Alertness of a Kinderhook man in stopping a driverless car in motion at a busy Hudson intersection, on Thursday, averted what could have resulted in a serious accident. Richard Roosa, Kinderhook, was driving a truck on Warren Street, Hudson, when he saw a driverless car rolling across the intersection at Park Place. Roosa leaped from his truck, climbed behind the wheel of the car and steered it to a parking space in the next block. The car belonged to the Rev. Benjamin Hoffman, pastor of the First Reformed Church, Hudson, who had parked the vehicle on Warren Street while he went for a newspaper.

Critical of GOP Booth

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The state Conservative Party charges that the Republicans are using a booth at the State Exposition here for "blatant political promotion of the Rockefeller ticket."

David H. Jaquith, Syracuse businessman running for governor on the Conservative ticket, said his party had been denied use of a booth for political purposes.

He demanded Thursday night that officials of the fair explain what he called "partisan exploitation of the taxpayer-financed fair" and "failure to deal fairly and frankly with the Conservative Party representative."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Investment Advisor and Analyst

ROGER E. SPEAR

Older Man Tempted To Get Out of Market

Q) "My father, aged 74, has owned shares in Sears, Roebuck and Standard Oil of New Jersey for several years. He has realized good returns from these stocks. Less than a year ago, he invested in Revlon, which has been dropping ever since. Discouraged by this and the recent decline in the stock market, he is considering selling all his holdings and depositing the money in the bank at 4 per cent interest. What do you advise him to do?" W. H.

A) It is good of you to look out for your father's interests. His discouragement is very natural in view of the 1962 decline, which has had no parallel since 1946. Although there is as yet no conclusive evidence that the decline has fully bottomed out, I think your father would be unwise to sell all his stocks at present levels. I would sell Revlon, which still looks high, but I would hold Sears, Roebuck and Jersey Standard which are strong stocks that should ultimately sell higher.

Q) "I have been advised by my son to switch my U. S. savings bonds into Studebaker. I would hate to cash my bonds and take this chance unless I knew it was safe. Do you think this move would be wise?" G. B.

A) Absolutely not. Your son undoubtedly has your best interests at heart and would like to see you increase your capital. What he is advising you to do, however, is contrary to all the rules of investment and of hard business sense. You now own the strongest security in the world. If you positively required more income, it would be possible to switch your governments into higher paying securities that would be relatively safe.

Studebaker is a non-dividend, risk situation, a speculation that an able new management will perform a near-miracle and put the company on a firm footing. There is some chance that they will do so, but you can't afford to take that chance. By all means, keep your governments.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Judge Says Philly Probe to Go On

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Judge Eugene V. Alessandroni, who ordered a grand jury investigation into alleged corruption in City Hall, says the probe will continue regardless of how another Common Pleas Court rules on a taxpayer's suit seeking to block it.

"It is clearly my duty to see that the order of this court is carried out until the final word is spoken by the Supreme Court," Alessandroni said Thursday night several hours after the taxpayers' suit was heard by a special panel of common pleas court judges.

The three judges took the suit under advisement. Their decision is expected to be announced next Wednesday or Thursday. The grand jury is scheduled to begin hearing testimony Tuesday.

Some of the questioning by the special panel of judges indicated judicial doubt of Alessandroni's authority to convene the jury and to name a special prosecutor.

Report Allies Are Paying Some Heed About Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. sources said today American appeals to NATO allies to discourage Communist bloc shipments to Cuba have met with limited but generally satisfactory response.

The United States brought up the Cuban question at North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council meetings in Paris. It intends to do so again soon, in view of the new wave of Russian shipments.

A larger number of Western vessels reportedly are carrying cargoes to Cuba for the Russians. President Kennedy said Wednesday NATO should consider steps to discourage this.

Warn Motorists To Watch Lights Of School Buses

Motorists were cautioned today to watch for the flashing red lights of school buses which will be on the highways again next week when school opens.

Transportation Supervisor Orrie R. Riehl of Kingston Schools, Consolidated said approximately 65 school buses including plainly marked nine passenger station wagons will transport district pupils to school. He urged motorists to use extreme caution.

The law clearly states that cars must not pass a halted school bus from either direction, and school bus drivers have been instructed to turn in license numbers of vehicles that fail to heed the flashing red lights, Riehl said.

Bus schedules will operate over the some routes as last year. Further information regarding changes or general transportation information is available by calling the principal of the school.

Parents are asked to have pupils out early for the first few days and allow the drivers time to get acquainted with their bus routes.

City buses will cary pupils as before, and a week's supply of tickets will be given each student entitled to such transportation. Parochial schools will be handled in the same manner as public schools.

STATE OF NEW YORK
Department of State
Albany, July 30, 1962.

PURSUANT to the provisions of section one of article nineteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section seventy-one of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendments numbers one to fifteen inclusive to the Constitution of the State of New York is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of Members of Assembly in this State to be held on the sixth day of November, nineteen hundred sixty-two.

CAROLINE K. SIMON,
Secretary of State.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER ONE
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing amendments to sections one, two, four, six and the powers of the legislature in aid of housing, urban renewal ten of article eighteen of the constitution, in relation to programs, and rehabilitation and improvement of substandard dwellings and in relation to the contracting of municipal indebtedness for such purposes

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That sections one, two, four, six and ten of article eighteen of the constitution be amended to read, respectively, as follows:

Section 1. Subject to the provisions of this article, the legislature may provide in such manner, by such means and upon such terms and conditions as it may prescribe for (1) [low rent] housing for persons [of low income as defined by law, or for the clearance, replanning, reconstruction and rehabilitation of substandard and insanitary areas] whose housing needs cannot be met by the unaided operations of private enterprise, as determined by law; or (2) urban renewal programs, as defined by law, including clearance, replanning, reconstruction, rehabilitation, renewal, redevelopment, conservation or improvement of slum, blighted, deteriorated or deteriorating areas, or any combination thereof; or (3) rehabilitation and improvement of substandard dwellings where it has been determined by law that such rehabilitation and improvement cannot be accomplished by the unaided operations of private enterprise, or for [both] any one or more of such purposes, and for recreational and other facilities incidental or appurtenant thereto.

§ 2. For and in aid of such purposes, notwithstanding any provision in any other article of this constitution, but subject to the limitations contained in this article, the legislature may: make or contract to make or authorize to be made or contracted capital or periodic subsidies by the state to any city, town, village, or public corporation, payable only with moneys appropriated therefor from the general fund of the state; authorize any city, town or village to make or contract to make such subsidies to any public corporation, payable only with moneys locally appropriated therefor from the general or other fund available for current expenses of such municipality; authorize the contracting of indebtedness for the purpose of providing moneys out of which it may make or contract to make or authorize to be made or contracted loans by the state to any city, town, village or public corporation; authorize any city, town or village to make or contract to make loans to any public corporation; authorize any city, town or village to guarantee the principal of and interest on, or only the interest on, indebtedness contracted by a public corporation; authorize and provide for loans by the state and authorize loans by any city, town or village to or in aid of (a) corporations regulated by law as to rents, profits, dividends and disposition of their property or franchises and engaged in providing housing facilities[; authorize any city, town or village to make loans to] and (b) the owners of [existing multiple] substandard dwellings for the rehabilitation and improvement thereof [for occupancy by persons of low income as defined by law]; grant or authorize tax exemptions in whole or in part, except that no such exemption may be granted or authorized for a period of more than sixty years; authorize cooperation with and the acceptance of aid from the United States; grant the power of eminent domain to any city, town or village, to any public corporation and to any corporation regulated by law as to rents, profits, divdends and disposition of its property or franchises and engaged in providing housing facilities.

As used in this article, the term "public corporation" shall mean any corporate governmental agency (except a county or municipal corporation) organized pursuant to law to accomplish any or all of the purposes specified in this article.

§ 4. The provisions of article VIII, not inconsistent with this article, shall apply to certificates or other evidences of indebtedness issued by a city, town or village to effectuate the purposes of this article, except that (a) the period of probable usefulness of any object or purpose authorized by or pursuant to this article may be determined to be not exceeding fifty-five years, (b) the first annual installment of all such indebtedness and of each portion thereof from time to time contracted, including any refunding thereof, shall be paid not more than ten years after such indebtedness or portion thereof shall have been contracted, (c) the amounts of annual installments shall be determined subject to such limitations as may be prescribed by the legislature, and (d) certificates or other evidences of indebtedness issued in anticipation of the receipt of moneys in connection with any urban renewal program or part thereof, or renewals thereof, from (1) the sale of real property, or any interest therein, acquired for or incidental to such urban renewal program or part thereof, or (2) from the United States government, or (3) from the state of New York, or from any or all of such sources, to the extent that such moneys are not received within ten years after their date of original issue, may be refunded subject to such limitations as may be prescribed by the legislature, provided no such refunding shall extend beyond fifty-five years computed from such date of original issue.

To effectuate any of the purposes of this article, the legislature may authorize any city, town or village to contract indebtedness to an amount which shall not exceed two per centum of the average [assesed] full valuation of the taxable real estate of such city, town or village [subject to taxation], as determined [by the last completed assessment roll and the four preceding assesment rolls of such city, town or village, for city, town or village taxes prior to the contracting of such indebtedness] in the manner prescribed in article eight of this constitution. In ascertaining the power of a city, town or village [having a population of five thousand or more as determined by the last federal census,] to contract indebtedness pursuant to this article there may be excluded (a) any such indebtedness if the project or projects aided by guarantees representing such indebtednes or by loans for which such indebtednes was contracted shall have yielded during the preceding year net revenue to be determined annually by deducting from the gross revenues, including periodic subsidies therefor, received from such project or projects, all costs of operation, maintenance, repairs and replacements, and the interest on such indebtedness and the amounts required in such year for the payment of such indebtedness; provided that in the case of guarantees such interest and such amounts shall have been paid, and in the case of loans an amount equal to such interest and such amounts shall have been paid to such city, town or village; and (b) certificates or other evidences of such indebtedness issued in anticipation of the receipt of moneys in connection with any urban renewal program or part thereof (1) from the sale of real property, or any interest therein, acquired for or incidental to an urban renewal program, or (2) from the United States government, or (3) from the state of New York, or from any or all of such sources; excepting any such certificates or other evidences of indebtedness or renewals thereof which are not retired within ten years after their date of original issue. The legislature shall prescribe the method of which the amount of any [such] indebtedness to be excluded under (a) above shall be determined, and no [such] indebtedness shall be excluded thereunder except in accordance with such determination[. The]; and the legislature may confer appropriate jurisdiction on the state comptroller, or the appellate division of the supreme court in the judicial departments in which such cities, towns or villages are located, for the purpose of determining the amount of any [such] indebtedness to be [so] excluded thereunder.

The liability of a city, town of village on account of any contract for capital or periodic subsidies to be paid subsequent to the then current year shall, for the purpose of ascertaining the power of such city, town or village to contract indebtedness, be deemed indebtedness in the amount of the commuted value of the total of such capital or periodic subsidies remaining unpaid, calcuated on the basis of an annual interest rate of four per centum. Such periodic subsidies shall not be contracted for a period longer than the life of the projects assisted thereby, and in no event for more than sixty years. Indebtedness contracted pursuant to this article shall be excluded in ascertaining the power of a city, town or [such] village otherwise to create indebtedness under any other section of this constitution. Nothwithstanding the foregoing the legislature shall not authorize any city, town or village [having a population of five thousand or more] to contract indebtedness hereunder in excess of the limitations prescribed by any other article of this constitution unless at the same time it shall by law require such city, town or village to levy annually a tax or taxes other than an ad valorem tax on real estate to an extent sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on any such indebtedness. Nothing herein contained, however, shall be construed to prevent such city, town or village from pledging its faith and credit for the payment of such principal and interest nor shall any such law prevent recourse to an ad valorem tax on real estate to the extent that revenue derived from such other tax or taxes in any year, together with revenues from the project or projects aided by the proceeds of such indebtedness, shall become insufficient to provide fully for payment of such principal and interest in that year.

§ 6 No loan or subsidy shall be made by the state to aid any housing or urban renewal project unless such project is in conformity with a plan or undertaking [for the clearance, replanning and reconstruction or rehabilitation of a substandard and insanitary area or areas and for recreational and other facilities incidental or appurtenant thereto] consistent with the purposes set forth in this article. The legislature may provide additional conditions to the making of such loans or subsidies consistent with [the] such purposes [of this article]. The occupancy of any such housing project constructed, acquired or operated pursuant to the provisions of clause (1) of section one of this article shall be restricted [to persons of low income as defined by law] to persons whose housing needs cannot be met by the unaided operations of private enterprise and preference in occupancy thereof shall be given to persons who live or shall have lived in [in such] the project area [or areas].

§ 10. The legislature is empowered to make all laws which it shall deem necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers. This article shall be construed as extending powers which otherwise might be limited by other articles of this constitution and shall not be construed as imposing additional limitations; but nothing in this article contained shall be deemed to authorize or empower the state, or any city, town, village or public corporation, to engage in any private business or enterprise other than [the building and operation of low rent dwelling houses for persons of low income as defined by law, or the loaning of money to owners of existing multiple dwellings as herein provided] as authorized by or pursuant to this article.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER TWO
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, in relation to absentee voting and a new section nine to article two of the constitution, in relation to the qualification of voters for the election of presidential and vice-presidential electors.

Section 1. Resolved if (the Senate concur), That section two of article two of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 2. The legislature may, by general law, provide a manner in which, and the time and place at which, qualified voters who, on the occurrence of any election, may be [unavoidably] absent from the [place] county of their residence or, if residents of the city of New York, from such city [because they are inmates of a soldiers' and sailors' home or of a United State veterans' bureau hospital, or because their duties, occupation or business, or those of members of their families, require them to be elsewhere], and qualified voters who, on the occurrence of any election, may be unable to appear personally at the polling place because of illness or physical or disability, may vote and for the return and canvass of their votes.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article two of the constitution be amended by adding thereto at the end thereof a new section, to be section nine, to read as follows:

§ 9. Notwithstanding the residence requirements imposed by section one of this article, the legislature may, by general law, provide special procedures whereby every person who shall have moved from another state to this state or from one county, city or village within this state to another county, city or village within this state and who shall have been an inhabitant of this state in any event for thirty days next preceding an election at which electors are to be chosen for the office of president and vice president of the United States shall be entitled to vote in this state solely for such electors, provided such person is otherwise qualified to vote in this state and is not able to qualify to vote for such electors in any other state. The legislature may also, by general law, prescribe special procedures whereby every person who is registered and would be qualified to vote in this state but for his removal from this state to another state within one year next preceding such election shall be entitled to vote in this state solely for such electors, provided such person is not able to qualify to vote for such electors in any other state.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER THREE
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, in relation to absentee voting.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section two of article two of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 2. The legislature may, by general law, provide a manner in which, and the time and place at which, qualified voters who, on the occurrence of any election, may be [unavoidably] absent from the [place] county of their residence or, if residents of the city of New York, from the city [because they are inmates of a soldiers' and sailors' home or of a United States veterans' bureau hospital, or because their duties, occupation or business, or those of members of their families, require them to be elsewhere], and qualified voters who, on the occurrence of any election, may be unable to appear personally at the polling place because of illness or physical disability, may vote and for the return and canvass of their votes.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That article two of the constitution be amended by adding thereto at the end thereof a new section, to be section nine, to read as follows:

§ 9. Notwithstanding the residence requirements imposed by section one of this article, the legislative may, by general law, provide special procedures whereby every person who shall have moved from another state to this state or from one county, city or village within this state to another county, city or village within this state and who shall have been an inhabitant of this state in any event for ninety days next preceding an election at which electors are to be chosen for the office of president and vice president of the United States shall be entitled to vote in this state solely for such electors, provided such person is otherwise qualified to vote in this state and is not able to qualify to vote for such electors in any other state. The legislative may also, by general law, prescribe special procedures whereby every person who is registered and would be qualified to vote in this state but for his removal from this state to another state within one year next preceding such election shall be entitled to vote in this state solely for such electors, provided such person is not able to qualify to vote for such electors in any other state.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER FOUR
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing amendments to sections three, five and six of article four, to section nine of article three, and to section twelve of article thirteen, of the constitution, in relation to the compensation of the governor and the lieutenant-governor, when the lieutenant-governor shall act as or become governor, the devolution of the duty of acting as governor and the choice of a speaker of the assembly.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section three of article four of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows.

§ 3. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state. He shall have power to convene the legislature, or the senate only, on extraordinary occasions. At extraordinary sessions no subject shall be acted upon, except such as the governor may recommend for consideration. He shall communicate by message to the legislature at every session the condition of the state, and recommend such matters to it as he shall judge expedient. He shall expediate all such measures as may be resolved upon by the legislature, and shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed. He shall receive for his services an annual salary [of not more than fifty thousand dollars,] to be fixed by joint resolution of the senate and assembly, and there shall be provided for his use a suitable and furnished executive residence.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section five of such article of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 5. [In case the person elected governor shall die after his election but before he shall have qualified as and assumed the office of governor, the powers and duties of the office of governor shall devolve upon the person elected lieutenant-governor at the same election and he shall serve as governor for the term for which the deceased governor-elect was elected. In case of the impeachment of the governor, or his removal from office, death, inability to discharge the powers and duties of the office, resignation, or absence from the state, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the lieutenant-governor for the residue of the term, or until the disability shall cease. But when the governor shall, with the consent of the legislature, be out of the state, in time of war, at the head of a military force thereof, he shall continue commander-in-chief of all the military force of the state.] In case of the removal of the governor from office or of his death or resignation, the lieutenant-governor shall become governor for the remainder of the term.

In case the governor-elect shall decline to serve or shall die, the lieutenant-governor-elect shall become governor for the full term.

In case the governor is impeached, is absent from the state or is otherwise unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the lieutenant-governor shall act as governor until the inability shall cease or until the term of the governor shall expire.

In case of the failure of the governor-elect to take the oath of office at the commencement of his term, the lieutenant-governor-elect shall act as governor until the governor shall take the oath.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section six of such article of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 6. [The lieutenant-governor shall possess the same qualifications of eligibility for office as the governor. He shall be president of the senate, but shall have only a casting vote therein. The lieutenant-governor shall receive for his services an annual salary of not more than twenty thousand dollars, to be fixed by joint resolution of the senate and assembly.

If the office of governor become vacant and there be no lieutenant-governor, the offices of governor and lieutenant-governor shall be filled for the remainder of the terms at the next general election happening not less than three months after the vacancy in the office of governor occurs. No election of a lieutenant-governor shall be had in any event except at the time of electing a governor. Until the vacancies in the offices of the governor and lieutenant-governor be filled by election, the temporary president of the senate then in office or his successor as such temporary president shall perform all the duties of lieutenant-governor and shall act as governor.

If the office of lieutenant-governor alone be vacant, or in case the lieutenant-governor be under impeachment, unable to discharge the powers and duties of the office of governor or shall be absent from the state, the temporary president of the senate then in office or his successor as such temporary president shall perform all the duties of lieutenant-governor, including the duty of acting as governor when necessary, during such vacancy, inability, absence or the pendency of such impeachment.

If, when the duty of acting as governor devolves upon the temporary president of the senate, he be unable to discharge the powers and duties of such office or be absent from the state, the speaker of the assembly shall act as governor during such inability or absence.] The lieutenant-governor shall posses the same qualifications of eligibility for office as the governor. He shall be the president of the senate but shall have only a casting vote therein. The lieutenant-governor shall receive for his services an annual salary to be fixed by joint resolution of the senate and assembly.

In case of vacancy in the offices of both governor and lieutenant-governor, a governor and lieutenant-governor shall be elected for the remainder of the term at the next general election happening not less than three months after both offices shall have become vacant. No election of a lieutenant-governor shall be had in any event except at the time of electing a governor.

In case of vacancy in the offices of both governor and lieutenant-governor or if both of them shall be impeached, absent from the state or otherwise unable to discharge the powers and duties of the office of governor, the temporary president of the senate shall act as governor until the inability shall cease or until a governor shall be elected.

In case of vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor alone, or if the lieutenant-governor shall be impeached, absent from the state or otherwise unable to discharge the duties of his office, the temporary president of the senate shall perform all the duties of lieutenant-governor during such vacancy or inability.

If, when the duty of acting as governor devolves upon the temporary president of the senate, there be a vacancy in such office or the temporary president of the senate shall be absent from the state or otherwise unable to discharge the duties of governor, the speaker of the assembly shall act as governor during such vacancy or inability.

The legislature may provide for the devolution of the duty of acting as governor in any case not provided for in this article.

§ 4. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section nine of article three of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 9. A majority of each house shall constitute a quorum to do business. Each house shall determine the rules of its own proceedings, and be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members; shall choose its own officers; and the senate shall choose a temporary president [to preside in case of the absence or impeachment of the lieutenant-governor, or when he shall refuse to act as president, or shall act as governor] and the assembly shall choose a speaker.

§ 5. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section twelve of article thirteen of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 12. [No officer whose salary is fixed by this constitution shall receive any additional compensation.] Each of the [other] state officers named in this constitution shall, during his continuance in office, receive a compensation, to be fixed by law, which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which he shall have been elected or appointed; nor shall he receive to his use any fees or perquisites of office or other compensation.

§ 6. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding regular election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER FIVE
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section one of article eight of the constitution, in relation to increase of pension benefits payable to retired members of a village police or fire department or to widows of members or retired members of a village police or fire department.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate cnocur), That section one of article eight of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. No county, city, town, village or school district shall give or loan any money or property to or in aid of any individual, or private corporation or association, or private undertaking, or become directly or indirectly the owner of stock in, or bonds of, any private corporation or association; nor shall any county, city, town, village or school district give or loan its credit to or in aid of any individual, or public or private corporation or association, or private undertaking, except that two or more such units may join together pursuant to law in providing any municipal facility, service, activity or undertaking which each of such units has the power to provide separately. Each such unit may be authorized by the legislature to contract joint or several indebtedness, pledge its or their faith and credit for the payment of such indebtedness for such joint undertaking and levy real estate or other authorized taxes or impose charges therefor subject to the provisions of this constitution otherwise restricting the power of such units to contract indebtedness or to levy taxes on real estate. The legislature shall have power to provide by law for the manner and the proportion in which indebtedness arising out of such joint undertaking shall be incurred by such units and shall have power to provide a method by which such indebtedness shall be determined, allocated and apportioned among such units and such indebtedness treated for purposes of exclusion from applicable constitutional limitations, provided that in no event shall more than the total amount of indebtedness incurred for such joint undertaking be included in ascertaining the power of all such participating units to incur indebtedness. Such law may provide that such determination, allocation and apportionment shall be conclusive if made or approved by the comptroller. This provision shall not prevent a county from contracting indebtedness for the purpose of advanoing to a town or school district, pursuant to law, the amount of unpaid taxes returned to it.

Subject to the limitations on indebtedness and taxation applying to any county, city [or], town[,] or village nothing in this constitution contained shall prevent a county, city or town from making such provision for the aid, care and support of the needy as may be authorized by law, nor prevent any such county, city or town from providing for the care, support, maintenance and secular education of inmates of orphan asylums, homes for dependent children or correctional institutions and of children placed in family homes by authorized agencies, whether under public or private control, or from providing health and welfare services for all children, nor shall anything in this constitution contained prevent a county, city, town or village from increasing the pension benefits payable to retired members of a police department or fire department or to widows, dependent children or dependent parents of members or retired members of a police department or fire department. Payments by counties, cities or towns to charitable, eleemosynary, correctional and reformatory institutions and agencies, wholly or partly under private control, for care, support and maintenance, may be authorized, but shall not be required, by the legislature. No such payment shall be made for any person cared for by any such institution or agency, nor for a child placed in a family home, who is not received and retained therein pursuant to rules established by the state board of social welfare or other state department having the power of inspection thereof.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER SIX
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing the repeal of subsection (b) of section seven of article one of the constitution, in relation to ascertainment of compensation when private property is taken for public use; amendments to sections six, seventeen and nineteen of article three of the constitution, in relation to the salaries of members of the legislature, street railroads and claims against the state, respectively; and amendments to section six of article five of the constitution, in relation to civil service

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That subsection (b) of section seven of article one of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section six of article three of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 6. Each member of the legislature shall receive for his services a like annual salary, to be fixed by law. He shall also be reimbursed for his actual traveling expenses in going to and returning from the place in which the legislature meets, not more than once each week while the legislature is in session. Senators, when the senate alone is convened in extraordinary session, or when serving as members of the court for the trial of impeachments, and such members of the assembly, not exceeding nine in number, as shall be appointed managers of an impeachment, shall receive an additional per diem allowance, to be fixed by law. Any member, while serving as an officer of his house or in any other special capacity therein or directly connected therewith not hereinbefore in this section specified, may also be paid and receive, in addition, any allowance which may be fixed by law for the particular and additional services appertaining to or entailed by such office or special capacity. Neither the salary of any member nor any other allowance so fixed may be increased or diminished during, and with respect to, the term for which he shall have been elected, [except once by law enacted prior to April first, nineteen hundred forty-eight, and relating only to service after its enactment;] nor shall he be paid or receive any other extra compensation. The provisions of this section and laws enacted in compliance therewith shall govern and be exclusively controlling, according to their terms. Members shall continue to receive [the same] such salary and additional allowance as heretofore fixed and provided in this section, until changed by law pursuant to this section.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seventeen of article three of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 17. The legislature shall not pass a private or local bill in any of the following cases:

Changing the names of persons.

Laying out, opening, altering, working or discontinuing roads, highways or alleys, or for draining swamps or other low lands.

Locating or changing county seats.

Providing for changes of venue in civil or criminal cases.

Incorporating villages.

Providing for election of members of boards of supervisors.

Selecting, drawing, summoning or empaneling grand or petit jurors.

Regulating the rate of interest on money.

The opening and conducting of elections or designating places of voting.

Creating, increasing or decreasing fees, percentages or allowances of public officers, during the term for which said officers are elected or appointed.

Granting to any corporation, association or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks.

Granting to any private corporation, association or individual any exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever.

Granting to any person, association, firm or corporation, an exemption from taxation on real or personal property.

Providing for the building of bridges, except over the waters forming a part of the boundaries of the state, by other than a municipal or other public corporation or a public agency of the state.

[The legislature shall pass general laws providing for the cases enumerated in this section, and for all other cases which in its judgment, may be provided for by general laws. But no law shall authorize the construction or operation of a street railroad except upon the condition that the consent of the owners of one-half in value of the property bounded on, and the consent also of the local authorities, having the control of that portion of a street or highway upon which it is proposed to construct or operate such railroad, be first obtained, or in case the consent of such property owners cannot be obtained, the appellate division of the supereme court, in the department in which it is proposed to be constructed, may, upon application, appoint three commissioners who shall determine, after a hearing of all parties interested, whether such railroad ought to be constructed or operated, and their determination, confirmed by the court, may be taken in lieu of the consent of the property owners.]

§ 4. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section nineteen of article three of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 19. The legislature shall neither audit nor allow any private claim or account against the state, but may appropriate money to pay such claims as shall have been audited and allowed according to law.

No claim against the state shall be audited, allowed or paid which, as between citizens of the state, would be barred by lapse of time. [This provision shall not be constructed to repeal any statute fixing the time within which claims shall be presented or allowed, nor shall it extend to any claims duly presented within the time allowed by law, and prosecuted with due diligence from the time of such presentment.] But if the claimant shall be under legal disability, the claim may be presented within two years after such disability is removed.

§ 5. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section six of article five of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 6. Appointments and promotions in the civil service of the state and all of the civil divisions thereof, including cities and villages, shall be made according to merit and fitness to be ascertained, as far as practicable, by examination which, as far as practicable, shall be competitive; provided, however, that [until January first, nineteen hundred fifty-one,] any member of the armed forces of the United States who served therein in time of war, who is a citizen and resident of this state and was a resident at the time of his [or her] entrance into the armed forces of the United States and was honorably discharged or released under honorable circumstances from such service, shall be entitled to [the preferences granted by the provisions of former section six of this article, which shall continue in effect until such date, notwithstanding its repeal by the concurrent resolution of the senate and assembly adding this section, and provided, further, that on and after such date, any such member shall, in lieu of such preferences, be entitled to] receive five points additional credit in a competitive examination for original appointment and two and one-half points additional credit in an examination for promotion or, if such member was disabled in the actual performance of duty in any war, is receiving disability payments therefor from the United States veterans administration, and his [or her] disability is certified by such administration to be in existence at the time of his [or her] application for appointment or promotion, he [or she] shall be entitled to receive ten points additional credit in a competitive examination for original appointment and five points additional credit in an examination for promotion. Such additional credit shall be added to the final earned rating of such member after he [or she] has qualified in an examination and shall be granted only at the time of establishment of an eligible list[, except that eligible lists in existence on January first, nineteen hundred fifty-one shall be revised by adding the applicable credits provided herein for such members of the armed forces]. No such member shall receive the additional credit granted by this section after he has received one appointment, either original entrance or promotion, from an eligible list on which he was allowed the additional credit granted by this section. [The legislature may provide by law for preference in retention of such members in case of the abolition or elimination of positions in the civil service. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the enforcement of this section.]

§ 6. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER SEVEN
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to article three of the constitution, in relation to granting power to the legislature to insure continuity of state and local governmental operations in periods of emergency resulting from disaster caused by enemy attack

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article three of the constitution be amended by adding thereto a new section, to be section twenty-five, to read as follows:

§ 25. Notwithstanding any other provision of this constitution, the legislature, in order to insure continuity of state and local governmental operations in periods of emergency caused by enemy attack or by disasters (natural or otherwise), shall have the power and the immediate duty (1) to provide for prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public offices, of whatever nature and whether filled by election or appointment, the incumbents of which may become unavailable for carrying on the powers and duties of such offices, and (2) to adopt such other measures as may be necessary and proper for insuring the continuity of governmental operations.

Nothing in this article shall be construed to limit in any way the power of the state to deal with emergencies arising from any cause.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER EIGHT
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing a new article nine of the constitution, in relation to a bill of rights and home rule powers for local governments and repeal, renumbering and amendment of provisions of the constitution presently in force to conform thereto

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That article nine of the constitution as presently in force, except sections five, six and eight thereof, is hereby repealed and replaced by a new article nine of the constitution, to read as follows:

ARTICLE IX
LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

Bill of rights for local governments.

Section 1. Effective local self-government and intergovernmental cooperation are purposes of the people of the state. In furtherance thereof, local governments shall have the following rights, powers, privileges and immunities in addition to those granted by other provisions of this constitution:

(a) Every local government, except a county wholly included within a city, shall have a legislative body elective by the people thereof. Every local government shall have power to adopt local laws as provided by this article.

(b) All officers of every local government whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution shall be elected by the people of the local government, or of some division thereof, or appointed by such officers of the local government as may be provided by law.

(c) Local governments shall have power to agree, as authorized by act of the legislature, with the federal government, a state or one or more other governments within or without the state, to provide cooperatively, jointly or by contract any facility, service, activity ..or ..undertaking which each participating local government has the power to provide separately. Each such local government shall have power to apportion its share of the cost thereof upon such portion of its area as may be authorized by act of the legislature.

(d) No local government or any part of the territory thereof shall be annexed to another until the people, if any, of the territory proposed to be annexed shall have consented thereto by majority vote on a referendum and until the governing board of each local government, the area of which is affected, shall have consented thereto upon the basis of a determination that the annexation is in the over-all public interest. The consent of the governing board of a county shall be required only where a boundary of the county is affected. On or before July first, nineteen hundred sixty-four, the legislature shall provide, where such consent of a governing board is not granted, for adjudication and determination, on the law and the facts, in a proceeding initiated in the supreme court, of the issue of whether the annexation is in the over-all public interest.

(e) Local governments shall have power to take by eminent domain private property within their boundaries for public use together with excess land or property but no more than is sufficient to provide for appropriate disposition or use of land or property which abuts on that necessary for such public use, and to sell or lease that not devoted to such use. The legislature may authorize and regulate the exercise of the power of eminent domain and excess condemnation by a local government outside its boundaries.

(f) No local government shall be prohibited by the legislature (1) from making a fair return on the value of the property used and useful in its operation of a gas, electric or water public utility service, over and above costs of operation and maintenance and necessary and proper reserves, in addition to an amount equivalent to taxes which such service, if privately owned, would pay to such local government, or (2) from using such profits for payments of refunds to consumers or for any other lawful purpose.

(g) A local government shall have power to apportion its cost of a governmental service or function upon any portion of its area, as authorized by act of the legislature.

(h) (1) Counties, other than those wholly included within city, shall be empowered by general law, or by special law enacted upon county request pursuant to section two of this article, to adopt, amend or repeal alternative forms of county government provided by the legislature or to prepare, adopt, amend or repeal alternative forms of their own. Any such form of government or any amendment thereof, by act of the legislature or by local law, may transfer one or more functions or duties of the county or of the cities, towns, villages, districts or other units of government wholly contained in such county to each other or when authorized by the legislature to the state, or may abolish one or more offices, departments, agencies or units of government provided, however, that no such form or amendment, except as provided in paragraph (2) of this subdivision, shall become effective unless approved on a referendum by a majority of the votes cast thereon in the area of the county outside of cities, and in the cities of the county, if any, considered as one unit. Where an alternative form of county government or any amendment thereof, by act of the legislature or by local law, provides for the transfer of any function or duty to or from any village or the abolition of any office, department, agency or unit of government of a village wholly contained in such county, such formor amendment shall not become effective unless it shall also be approved on the referendum by a majority of the votes cast thereon in all the villages so affected considered as one unit.

(2) After the adoption of an alternative form of county government by a county, any amendment thereof by act of the legislature or by local law which abolishes or creates an elective county office, changes the voting or veto power of or the method of removing an elective county officer during his term of office, abolishes, curtails or transfers to another county officer or agency any power of an elective county officer or changes the form or composition of the county legislative body shall be subject to a permissive referendum as provided by the legislature.

Powers and duties of legislature; home rule powers of local governments; statute of local governments.

§ 2. (a) The legislature shall provide for the creation and organization of local governments in such manner as shall secure to them the rights, powers, privileges and immunities granted to them by this constitution.

(b) Subject to the bill of rights of local governments and other applicable provisions of this constitution, the legislature:

(1) shall enact, and may from time to time amend, a statute of local governments granting to local government powers including but not limited to those of local legislation and administration in addtion to the powers vested in them by this article. A power granted in such statute may be repealed, diminished, impaired or suspended only by enactment of a statute by the legislature with the approval of the governor at its regular session in one calendar year and the re-enactment and approval of such statute in the following calendar year.

(2) Shall have the power to act in relation to the property, affairs or government of any local government only by general law, or by special law only (a) on request of two-thirds of the total membership of its legislative body or on request of its chief executive officer concurred in by a majority of such membership, or (b), except in the case of the city of New York, on certificate of necessity from the governor reciting facts which in his judgment constitute an emergency requiring enactment of such law and, in such latter case, with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature.

(3) Shall have the power to confer on local governments powers not relating to their property, affairs or government including but not limited to those of local legislation and administration, in addition to those otherwise granted by or pursuant to this article, and to withdraw or restrict such additional powers.

(c) In addition to powers granted in the statute of local governments or in any other law, (i) every local government shall have power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution or any general law relating to its property, affairs or government and, (ii) every local government shall have power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the provision of this constitution or any general law relating to the following subjects, whether or not they relate to the property, affairs or government of such local government, except to the extent that the legislature shall restrict the adoption of such a local law relating to other than the property, affairs or government of such local government:

(1) The powers, duties, qualifications, number, mode of selection and removal, terms of office, compensation, hours of work, protection, welfare and safety of its officers and employees, except that cities and towns shall not have such power with respect to members of the legislative body of the county in their capacities as county officers.

(2) In the case of a city, town or village, the membership and composition of its legislative body.

(3) The transaction of its business.

(4) The incurring of its obligations, except that local laws relating to financing by the issuance of evidences of indebtedness by such local government shall be consistent with laws enacted by the legislature.

(5) The presentation, ascertainment and discharge of claims against it.

(6) The acquisition, care, management and use of its highways, roads, streets, avenues and property.

(7) The acquisition of its transit facilities and the ownership and operation thereof.

(8) The levy, collection and administration of local taxes authorized by the legislature and of assessments for local improvements, consistent with laws enacted by the legislature.

(9) The wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by any contractor or sub-contractor performing work, labor or services for it.

(10) The government, protection, order, conduct, safety, health and well-being of persons or property therein.

(d) Except in the case of a transfer of functions under an alternative form of county government, a local government shall not have power to adopt local laws which impair the powers of any other local government.

(e) The rights and powers of local governments specified in this section insofar as applicable to any county within the city of New York shall be vested in such city.

Existing laws to remain applicable; construction; definitions.

§ 3. (a) Except as expressly provided, nothing in this article shall restrict or impair any power of the legislature in relation to:

(1) The maintenance, support or administration of the public school system, as required or provided by article XI of this constitution, or any retirement system pertaining to such public school system.

(2) The courts as required or provided by article VI of this constitution, and

(3) Matters other than the property, affairs or government of a local government.

(b) The provisions of this article shall not affect any existing valid provisions of acts of the legislature or of local legislation and such provisions shall continue in force until repealed, amended, modified or superseded in accordance with the provisions of this constitution.

(c) Rights, powers, privileges and immunities granted to local governments by this article shall be liberally construed.

(d) Whenever used in this article the following terms shall mean or include:

(1) "General law." A law which in terms and in effect applies alike to all counties, all counties other than those wholly included within a city, all cities, all towns or all villages.

(2) "Local government." A county, city, town or village.

(3) "People." Persons entitled to vote as provided in section one of article two of this constitution.

(4) "Special law." A law which in terms and in effect applies to one or more, but not all, counties, counties other than those wholly included within a city, cities, towns or villages.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That subdivision (e) of section seven of article one of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section eighteen of article three of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 4. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section twelve of article eight of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 12. It shall be the duty of the legislature, subject to the provisions of this constitution, to restrict the power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting indebtedness, and loaning the credit of counties, cities, towns and villages, so as to prevent abuses in taxation and assessments and in contracting of indebtedness by them. Nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent the legislature from further restricting the powers herein specified of any county, city, town, vilage or school district to contract indebtedness or to levy taxes on real estate. The legislature shall not, however, restrict the power to levy taxes on real estate for the payment of interest on or principal of indebtedness theretofore contracted.

§ 5. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That sections five, six and eight of article nine of the constitution are hereby renumbered to be subdivisions (a), (b) and (c), respectively, of a new section thirteen which is hereby added to article thirteen of the constitution and amended to read as follows:

Law enforcement and other officers.

§ [5]13. (a) Except in counties in the city of New York and except as authorized in section [two] one of [this] article nine of this constitution, sheriffs, clerks of counties, district attorneys, and registers in counties having registers, shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties once in every three years and whenever the occurring of vacancies shall require. Sheriffs shall hold no other office. They may be required by law to renew their security, from time to time; and in default of giving such new security, their offices shall be deemed vacant. But the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any elective sheriff, county clerk, district attorney or register within the term for which he shall have been elected; but before so doing he shall give to such officer a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. In each county in the city of New York a district attorney shall be chosen by the electors once in every two or four years as the legislature shall direct. The clerk of each county in the city of New York shall be appointed, and be subject to removal, by the appellate division of the supreme court in the judicial department in which the county is located. In addition to his powers and duties as clerk of the supreme court, he shall have power to select, draw, summon and empanel grand and petit jurors in the manner and under the conditions now or hereafter prescribed by law, and shall have such other powers and duties as shall be prescribed by the city from time to time by local law.

[§ 6.] (b) Any district attorney who shall fail faithfully to prosecute a person charged with the violation in his county of any provision of this article [XIII of this constitution] which may come to his knowledge, shall be removed from office by the governor, after due notice and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. The expenses which shall be incurred by any county, in investigating and prosecuting any charge of bribery or attempting to bribe any person holding office under the laws of this state, within such county, or of receiving bribes by any such person in said county, shall be a charge against the state, and their payment by the state shall be provided for by law.

[§ 8.] (c) The city of New York is hereby vested with power from time to time to abolish by local law, as defined by the legislature, the office of any county officer within the city other than judges, clerks of counties and district attorneys, and to assign any or all functions of such officers to city officers, courts or clerks of counties, and to prescribe the powers, duties, qualifications, number, mode of selection and removal, terms of office and compensation of the persons holding such offices and the employees therein, and to assign to city officers any powers or duties of clerks of counties not assigned by this constitution. The legislature shall not pass any law affecting any such matters in relation to such offices within the city of New York except on message from the governor declaring that an emergency exists and the concurrent action of two-thirds of the members of each house, except that existing laws regarding each such office shall continue in force, and may be amended or repealed by the legislature as heretofore, until the power herein granted to the city has been exercised with respect to that office. The provisions of [this] article nine shall not prevent the legislature from passing general or special laws prescribing or affecting powers and duties of such city officers or such courts or clerks to whom or which functions of such county officers shall have been so assigned, in so far as such powers or duties embrace subjects not relating to property, affairs or government of such city.

§ 6. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That article thirteen of the constitution is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section, to be section thirteen, to read as follows:

§ 13. The legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries and the hours of work or labor, and make provisions for the protection, welfare and safety, of persons employed by the state or by any county, city, town, village or other civil division of the state, or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work, labor or services for the state or for any county, city, town, village or other civil division thereof.

§ 7. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding regular election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER NINE
CONCURRRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing a new article nine of the constitution, in relation to a bill of rights and home rule powers for local governments and repeal, renumbering and amendment of provisions of the constitution presently in force to conform thereto.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article nine of the constitution as presently in force, except sections five, six and eight thereof, is hereby repealed and replaced by a new article nine of the constitution, to read as follows:

ARTICLE IX
LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

Bill of rights for local governments.

Section 1. Effective local self-government and intergovernmental cooperation are purposes of the people of the state. In furtherance thereof, local governments shall have the following rights, powers, privileges and immunities in addition to those granted by other provisions of this constitution:

(a) Every local government, except a county wholly included within a city, shall have a legislative body elective by the people thereof. Every local government shall have power to adopt local laws as provided by this article.

(b) All officers of every local government whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution shall be elected by the people of the local government, or of some division thereof, or appointed by such officers of the local government as may be provided by law.

(c) Local governments shall have power to agree, as authorized by act of the legislature, with the federal government, a state or one or more other governments within or without the state, to provide cooperatively, jointly or by contract any facility, service, activity or undertaking which each participating local government has the power to provide separately. Each such local government shall have power to apportion its share of the cost thereof upon such portion of its area as may be authorized by act of the legislature.

(d) No provision of this article shall impair the authority of the legislature to create cities or annex territory to cities by special act or to provide for the annexation of territory to cities or villages by general act nor shall any action to obtain any consent from a local government be necessary as a prerequisite to such action by the legislature, provided, however, that in no event shall any part of the territory of any local government be annexed to another until the people, if any, residing within the territory proposed to be annexed shall have consented thereto by a majority vote on a referendum.

(e) Local government shall have power to take by eminent domain private property within their boundaries for public use together with excess land or property but no more than is sufficient to provide for appropriate disposition or use of land or property which abuts on that necessary for such public use, and to sell or lease that not devoted to such use. The legislature may authorize and regulate the exercise of the power of eminent domain and excess condemnation by a local government outside its boundaries.

(f) No local government shall be prohibited by the legislature (1) from making a fair return on the value of the property used and useful in its operation of a gas, electric or water public utility service, over and above costs of operation and maintenance and necessary and proper reserves, in addition to an amount equivalent to taxes which such service, if privately owned, would pay to such local government, or (2) from using such profits for payment of refunds to consumers or for any other lawful purpose.

(g) A local government shall have power to apportion its cost of a governmental service or function upon any portion of its area, as authorized by act of the legislature.

(h) (1) Counties, other than those wholly included within a city, shall be empowered by general law, or by special law enacted upon county request pursuant to section two of this article, to adopt, amend or repeal alternative forms of county government provided by the legislature or to prepare, adopt, amend or repeal alternative forms of their own. Any such form of government or any amendment thereof, by act of the legislature or by local law, may transfer one or more functions or duties of the county or of the cities, towns, villages, districts or other units of government wholly contained in such county to each other or when authorized by the legislature to the state, or may abolish one or more offices, departments, agencies or units of government provided, however, that no such form or amendment, except as provided in paragraph (2) of this subdivision, shall become effective unless approved on a referendum by a majority of the votes cast thereon in the area of the county outside of cities, and in the cities of the county, if any, considered as one unit. Where an alternative form of county government or any amendment therof, by act of the legislature or by local law, provides for the transfer of any function or duty to or from any village or the abolition of any office, department, agency or unit of government of a village wholly contained in such county, such form or amendement shall not become effective unless it shall also be approved on the referendum by a majority of the votes cast thereon in all the villages so affected considered as one unit.

(2) After the adoption of an alternative form of county government by a county, any amendment thereof by act of the legislature or by local law which abolishes or creates an elective county office, changes the voting or veto power of or the method of removing an elective county officer during his term of office, abolishes, curtails or transfers to another county officer or agency any power of an elective county officer or changes the form or composition of the county legislative body shall be subject to a permissive referendum as provided by the legislature.

Powers and duties of legislature; home rule powers of local governments; statute of local governments.

§ 2. (a) The legislature shall provide for the creation and organization of local governments in such manner as shall secure to them the rights, powers, privileges and immunities granted to them by this constitution.

(b) Subject to the bill of rights of local governments and other applicable provisions of this constitution, the legislature:

(1) shall enact, and may from time to time amend, a statute of local governments granting to local governments powers including but not limited to those of local legislation and administration in addition to the powers vested in them by this article. A power granted in such statute may be repealed, diminished, impaired or suspended only by enactment of a statute by the legislature with the approval of the governor at its regular session in one calendar years and the re-enactment and approval of such statute in the following calendar year.

(2) Shall have the power to act in relation to the property, affairs or government of any local government only by general law, or by special law only (a) on request of two-thirds of the total membership of its legislative body or on request of its chief executive officer concurred in by a majority of such membership, or (b), except in the case of the city of New York, on certificate of necessity from the governor reciting facts which in his judgment constitute an emergency requiring enactment of such law and, in such latter case, with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature.

(3) Shall have the power to confer on local governments powers not relating to their property, affairs or government including but not limited to those of local legislation and administration, in addition to those otherwise granted by or pursuant to this article, and to withdraw or restrict such additional powers.

(c) In addition to powers granted in the statute of local governments or in any other law, (i) every local government shall have power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution or any general law relating to its property, affairs or government and, (ii) every local government shall have power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution or any general law relating to the following subjects, whether or not they relate to the property, affairs or government of such local government, except to the extent that the legislature shall restrict the adoption of such a local law relating to other than the property, affairs or government of such local government:

(1) The powers, duties, qualifications, number, mode of selection and removal, terms of office, compensation, hours of work, protection, welfare and safety of its officers and employees, except that cities and towns shall not have such power with respect to members of the legislative body of the county in their capacities as county officers.

(2) In the case of a city, town or village, the membership and composition of its legislative body.

(3) The transaction of its business.

(4) The incurring of its obligations, except that local laws relating to financing by the issuance of evidences of indebtedness by such local government shall be consistent with laws enacted by the legislature.

(5) The presentation, ascertainment and discharge of claims against it.

(6) The acquisition, care, management and use of its highways, roads, streets, avenues and property.

(7) The acquisition of its transit facilities and the ownership and operation thereof.

(8) The levy, collection and administration of local taxes authorized by the legislature and of assessments for local improvements, consistent with laws enacted by the legislature.

(9) The wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by any contractor or sub-contractor preforming work, labor or services for it.

(10) The government, protection, order, conduct, safety, health and well-being of persons or property therein.

(d) Except in the case of a transfer of functions under an alternative form of county government, a local government shall not have power to adopt local laws which impair the powers of any other local government.

(e) The rights and powers of local governments specified in this section insofar as applicable to any county within the city of New York shall be vested in such city.

Existing laws to remain applicable; construction; definitions.

§ 3. (a) Except as expressly provided, nothing in this article shall restrict or impair any power of the legislature in relation to:

(1) The maintenance, support or administration of the public school system, as required or provided by article XI of this constitution, or any retirement system pertaining to such public school system,

(2) The courts as required or provided by article VI of this constitution, and

(3) Matters other than the property, affairs or government of a local government.

(b) The provisions of this article shall not effect any existing valid provisions of acts of the legislature or of local legislation and such provisions shall continue in force until repealed, amended, modified or superseded in accordance with the provisions of this constitution.

(c) Rights, powers, privileges and immunities granted to local governments by this article shall be liberally construed.

(d) Whenever used in this article the folowing terms shall mean or include:

(1) "General law." A law which in terms and in effect applies alike to all counties, all counties other than those wholly included within a city, all cities, all towns or all villages.

(2) "Local goevrnment." A county, city, town or village.

(3) "People." Persons entitled to vote as provided in section one of article two of this constitution.

(4) "Special law." A law which in terms and in effect applies to one or more, but not all, counties, counties other than those wholly included within a city, cities, towns or villages.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That subdivision (e) of section seven of article one of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section eighteen of article three of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 4. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section twelve of article eight of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 12. It shall be the duty of the legislature, subject to the provisions of this constitution, to restrict the power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting indebtedness, and loaning the credit of counties, cities, towns and villages, so as to prevent abuses in taxation and assessments and in contracting of indebtedness by them. Nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent the legislature from further restricting the powers herein specified of any county, city, town, village or school district to contract indebtedness or to levy taxes on real estate. The legislature shall not, however, restrict the power to levy taxes on real estate for the payment of interest on or principal of indebtedness theretofore contracted.

§ 5. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That sections five, six and eight of article nine of the constitution are hereby renumbered to be subdivisions (a), (b) and (c), respectively, of a new section thirteen which is hereby added to article thirteen of the constitution and amended to read as follows:

Law enforcement and other officers.

§ [5]13. (a) Except in counties in the city of New York and except as authorized in section [two] one of [this] article nine of this constitution, sheriffs, clerks of counties, district attorneys, and registers in counties having registers, shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties once in every three years and whenever the occurring of vacancies shall require. Sheriffs shall hold no other office. They may be required by law to renew their security, from time to time; and in default of giving such new security, their offices shall be deemed vacant. But the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any elective sheriff, county clerk, district attorney or register within the term for which he shall have been elected; but before so doing he shall give to such officer a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. In each county in the city of New York a district attorney shall be chosen by the electors once in every two or four years as the legislature shall direct. The clerk of each county in the city of New York shall be appointed, and be subject to removal, by the appellate division of the supreme court in the judicial department in which the county is located. In addition to his powers and duties as clerk of the supreme court, he shall have power to select, draw, summon and empanel grand and petit jurors in the manner and under the conditions now or hereafter prescribed by law, and shall have such other powers and duties as shall be prescribed by the city from time to time by local law.

[§ 6.] (b) Any district attorney who shall fail faithfully to prosecute a person charged with the violation in his county of any provision of this article [XIII of this constitution] which may come to his knowledge, shall be removed from office by the governor, after due notice and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. The expenses which shall be incurred by any county, in investigating and prosecuting any charge of bribery or attempting to bribe any person holding office under the laws of this state, within such county, or of receiving bribes by any such person in said county, shall be a charge against the state, and their payment by the state shall be provided for by law.

[§ 8.] (c) The city of New York is hereby vested with power from time to time to abolish by local law, as defined by the legislature, the office of any county officer within the city other than judges, clerks of counties and district attorneys, and to assign any or all functions of such officers to city officers, courts or clerks of counties, and to prescribe the powers, duties, qualifications, number, mode of selection and removal, terms of office and compensation of the persons holding such offices and the employees therein, and to assign to city officers any powers or duties of clerks of counties not assigned by this constitution. The legislature shall not pass any law affecting any such matters in relation to such offices within the city of New York except on message from the governor declaring that an emergency exists and the concurrent action of two-thirds of the members of each house, except that existing laws regarding each such office shall continue in force, and may be amended or repealed by the legislature as heretofore, until the power herein granted to the city has been exercised with respect to that office. The provisions of [this] article nine shall not prevent the legislature from passing general or special laws prescribing or affecting powers and duties of such city officers or such courts or clerks to whom or which functions of such county officers shall have been so assigned, in so far as such powers or duties embrace subjects not relating to property, affairs or government of such city.

§ 6. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article thirteen of the constitution is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section, to be section thirteen, to read as follows:

§ 13. The legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries and the hours of work or labor, and make provisions for the protection, welfare and safety, of persons employed by the state or by any county, city, town, village or other civil divisions of the state, or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work, labor or services for the state or for any county, city, town, village or other civil division thereof.

§ 7. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding regular election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER TEN
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing a new article nine of the constitution, in relation to a bill of rights and home rule powers for local governments and repeal, re-numbering and amendment of provisions of the constitution presently in force to conform thereto

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article nine of the constitution as presently in force, except sections five, six and eight thereof, is hereby repealed and replaced by a new article nine of the constitution, to read as follows:

ARTICLE IX
LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

Bill of rights for local governments.

Section 1. Effective local self-government and intergovernmental cooperation are purposes of the people of the state. In furtherance thereof, local governments shall have the following rights, powers, privileges and immunities in addition to those granted by other provisions of this constitution:

(a) Every local government, except a county wholly included within a city, shall have a legislative body elective by the people thereof. Every local government shall have power to adopt local laws as provided by this article.

(b) All officers of every local government whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution shall be elected by the people of the local government, or of some division thereof, or appointed by such officers of the local government as may be provided by law.

(c) Local governments shall have power to agree, as authorized by act of the legislature, with the federal government, a state or one or more other governments within or without the state, to provide cooperatively, jointly or by contract any facility, service, activity or undertaking which each participating local government has the power to provide separately. Each such local government shall have power to apportion its share of the cost thereof upon such portion of its area as may be authorized by act of the legislature.

(d) No provision of this article shall impair the authority of the legislature to create cities or annex territory to cities by special act or to provide for the annexation of territory to cities or villages by general act nor shall any action to obtain any consent from a local government be necessary as a prerequisite to such action by the legislature, provided, however, that in no event shall any part of the territory of any local government be annexed to a city until the people, if any, residing within the territory proposed to be annexed shall have consented thereto by a majority vote on a referendum.

(e) Local governments shall have power to take by eminent domain private property within their boundaries for public use together with excess land or property but no more than is sufficient to provide for appropriate disposition or use of land or property which abuts on that necessary for such public use, and to sell or lease that not devoted to such use. The legislature may authorize and regulate the exercise of the power of eminent domain and excess condemnation by a local government outside its boundaries.

(f) No local government shall be prohibited by the legislature (1) from making a fair return on the value of the property used and useful in its operation of a gas, electric or water public utility service, over and above costs of operation and maintenance and necessary and proper reserves, in addition to an amount equivalent to taxes which such service, if privately owned, would pay to such local government, or (2) from using such profits for payment of refunds to consumers or for any other lawful purpose.

(g) A local government shall have power to apportion its cost of a governmental service or function upon any portion of its area, as authorized by act of the legislature.

(h) (1) Counties, other than those wholly included within a city, shall be empowered by general law, or by special law enacted upon county request pursuant to section two of this article, to adopt, amend or repeal alternative forms of county government provided by the legislature or to prepare, adopt, amend or repeal alternative forms of their own. Any such form of government or any amendment thereof, by act of the legislature or by local law, may transfer one or more functions or duties of the county or of the cities, towns, villages, districts or other units of government wholly contained in such county to each other or when authorized by the legislature to the state, or may abolish one or more offices, departments, agencies or units of government provided, however, that no such form or amendment, except as provided in paragraph (2) of this subdivision, shall become effective unless approved on a referendum by a majority of the votes cast thereon in the area of the county outside of cities, and in the cities of the county, if any, considered as one unit. Where an alternative form of county government or any amendment thereof, by act of the legislature or by local law, provides for the transfer of any function or duty to or from any village or the abolition of any office, department, agency or unit of government of a village wholly contained in such county, such form or amendment shall not become effective unless it shall also be approved on the referendum by a majority of the votes cast thereon in all the villages so affected considered as one unit.

(2) After the adoption of an alternative form of county government by a county, any amendment thereof by act of the legislature or by local law which abolishes or creates an elective county office, changes the voting or veto power of or the method of removing an elective county officer during his term of office, abolishes, curtails or transfers to another county officer or agency any power of an elective county officer or changes the form or composition of the county legislative body shall be subject to a permissive referendum as provided by the legislature.

Powers and duties of legislature; home rule powers of local governments; statute or local governments.

§ 2. (a) The legislature shall provide for the creation and organization of local governments in such manner as shall secure to them the rights, powers, privileges and immunities granted to them by this constitution.

(b) Subject to the bill of rights of local governments and other applicable provisions of this constitution, the legislature:

(1) Shall enact, and may from time to time amend, a statute of local governments granting to local governments powers including but not limited to those of local legislation and administration in addition to the powers vested in them by this article. A power granted in such statute may be repealed, diminished, impaired or suspended only by enactment of a statute by the legislature with the approval of the governor at its regular session in one calendar year and the re-enactment and approval of such statute in the following calendar year.

(2) Shall have the power to act in relation to the property, affairs or government of any local government only by general law, or by special law only (a) on request of two-thirds of the total membership of its legislative body or on request of its chief executive officer concurred in by a majority of such membership or (b), except in the case of the city of New York, on certificate of necessity from the governor reciting facts which in his judgment constitute an emergency requiring enactment of such law and, in such latter case, with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature.

(3) Shall have the power to confer on local governments powers not relating to their property, affairs or government including but not limited to those of local legislation and administration, in addition to those otherwise granted by or pursuant to this article, and to withdraw or restrict such additional powers.

(c) in addition to powers granted in the statute of local governments or in any other law, (i) every local government shall have power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution or any general law relating to its property, affairs or government and, (ii) every local government shall have power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution or any general law relating to the following subjects, whether or not they relate to the property, affairs or government of such local government, except to the extent that the legislature shall restrict the adoption of such a local law relating to other than the property, affairs or government of such local government:

(1) The powers, duties, qualifications, number, mode of selection and removal, terms of office, compensation, hours of work, protection, welfare and safety of its officers and employees, except that cities and towns shall not have such power with respect to members of the legislative body of the county in their capacities as county officers.

(2) In the case of a city, town or village, the membership and composition of its legislative body.

(3) The transaction of its business.

(4) The incurring of its obligations, except that local laws relating to financing by the issuances of evidences of indebtedness by such local government shall be consistent with laws enacted by the legislature.

(5) The presentation, ascertainment and discharge of claims against it.

(6) The acquisition, care, management and use of its highways, roads, streets, avenues and property.

(7) The acquisition of its transit facilities and the ownership and operation thereof.

(8) The levy, collection and administration of local taxes authorized by the legislature and of assessments for local improvements, consistent with laws enacted by the legislature.

(9) The wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by any contractor or sub-contractor performing work, labor or services for it.

(10) The government, protection, order, conduct, safety, health and well-being of persons or property therein.

(d) Except in the case of a transfer of functions under an alternative form of county government, a local government shall not have power to adopt local laws which impair the powers of any other local government.

(e) The rights and powers of local governments specified in this section insofar as applicable to any county within the city of New York shall be vested in such city.

Existing laws to remain applicable; construction; definitions.

§ 3. (a) Except as expressly provided, nothing in this article shall restrict or impair any power of the legislature in relation to:

(1) The maintenance, support or administration of the public school system, as required or provided by article XI of this constitution, or any retirement system pertaining to such public school system.

(2) The courts as required or provided by article VI of this constitution, and

(3) Matters other than the property, affairs or government of a local government.

(b) The provisions of this article shall not affect any existing valid provisions of acts of the legislature or of local legislation and such provisions shall continue in force until repealed, amended, modified or superseded in accordance with the provisions of this constitution.

(c) Rights, powers, privileges and immunities granted to local governments by this article shall be liberally construed.

(d) Whenever used in this article the following terms mean or include:

(1) "General law." A law which in terms and in effect applies alike to all counties, all counties other than those wholly included within a city, all cities, all towns or all villages.

(2) "Local government." A county, city, town or village.

(3) "People." Persons entitled to vote as provided in section one of article two of this constitution.

(4) "Special law." A law which in terms and in effect applies to one or more, but not all, counties, counties other than those wholly included within a city, cities, towns or villages.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That subdivision (e) of section seven of article one of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section eighteen of article three of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 4. Resolved (if the Senate concur, That section twelve of article eight of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 12. It shall be the duty of the legislature, subject to the provisions of this constitution, to restrict the power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting indebtedness, and loaning the credit of counties, cities, towns and villages, so as to prevent abuses in taxation and assessments and in contracting of indebtedness by them. Nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent the legislature from further restricting the powers herein specified of any county, city, town, village or school district to contract indebtedness or to levy taxes on real estate. The legislature shall not, however, restrict the power to levy taxes on real estate for the payment of interest on or principal of indebtedness theretofore contracted.

§ 5. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That sections five, six and eight of article nine of the constitution are hereby renumbered to be subdivisions (a), (b) and (c) respectively, of a new section thirteen which is hereby added to article thirteen of the constitution and amended to read as follows:

Law enforcement and other officers.

§ [5]13. (a) Except in counties in the city of New York and except as authorized in section [two] one of [this] article nine of this constitution, sheriffs, clerks of counties, district attorneys, and registers in counties having registers, shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties once in every three years and whenever the occurring of vacancies shall require. Sheriffs shall hold no other office. They may be required by law to renew their security, from time to time; and in default of giving such new security, their offices shall be deemed vacant. But the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any elective sheriff, county clerk, district attorney or register within the term for which he shall have been elected; but before so doing he shall give to such officer a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. In each county in the city of New York a district attorney shall be chosen by the electors once in every two or four years as the legislature shall direct. The clerk of each county in the city of New York shall be appointed, and be subject to removal, by the appellate division of the supreme court in the judicial department in which the county is located. In addition to his powers and duties as clerk of the supreme court, he shall have power to select, draw, summon and empanel grand and petit jurors in the manner and under the conditions now or hereafter prescribed by law, and shall have such other powers and duties as shall be prescribed by the city from time to time by local law.

[§ 6.] (b) Any district attorney who shall fail faithfully to prosecute a person charged with the violation in his county of any provisions of this article [XIII of this constitution] which may come to his knowledge, shall be removed from office by the governor, after due notice and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. The expenses which shall be incurred by any county, in investigating and prosecuting any charge of bribery or attempting to bribe any person holding office under the laws of this state, within such county, or of receiving bribes by any such person in said county, shall be a charge against the state, and their payment by the state shall be provided for by law.

[§ 8.] (c) The city of New York is hereby vested with power from time to time to abolish by local law, as defined by the legislature, the office of any county officer within the city other than judges, clerks of counties and district attorneys, and to assign any or all functions of such officers to city officers, courts or clerks of counties, and to prescribe the powers, duties, qualifications, number, mode of selection and removal, terms of office and compensation of the persons holding such offices and the employes therein, and to assign to city officers any powers or duties of clerks of counties not assigned by this constitution. The legislature shall not pass any law affecting any such matters in relation to such offices within the city of New York except on message from the governor declaring that an emergency exists and the concurrent action of two-thirds of the members of each house, except that existing laws regarding each such office shall continue in force, and may be amended or repealed by the legislature as heretofore, until the power herein granted to the city has been exercised with respect to that office. The provisions of [this] article nine shall not prevent the legislature from passing general or special laws prescribing or affecting powers and duties of such city officers or such courts or clerks to whom or which functions of such county officers shall have been so assigned, in so far as such powers or duties embrace subjects not relating to property, affairs or government of such city.

§ 6. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article thirteen of the constitution is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section, to be section thirteen, to read as follows:

§ 13. The legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries and the hours of work or labor, and make provisions for the protection, welfare and safety, of persons employed by the state or by any county, city, town, village or other civil division of the state, or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work, labor or services for the state or for any county, city, town, village or other civil division thereof.

§ 7. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding regular election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineten of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER ELEVEN
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to article nine of the constitution in relation to home rule.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article nine of the constitution be hereby amended by adding thereto a new section, to follow section sixteen, to be section seventeen, to read as follows:

§ 17. The legislature on or before July first, nineteen hundred sixty-four shall confer by general law upon all towns having a population of five thousand or more, as determined by the federal census, power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of the state relating to the property, affairs or government of such towns but subject to such limitations as the legislature may, by general law, from time to time impose. Thereafter, the legislature shall act in relation to the property, affairs or government of such towns only by general law which shall in terms and in effect apply alike to all such towns except upon the request of the supervisor or other elective chief executive officer of the town affected, concurred in by the local legislative body, or upon a message from the governor, in either case declaring that a necessity exists and reciting the facts establishing such necessity, and the concurrent action of a majority of the members of each house of the legislature. The legislature by general law may confer on such towns such additional powers of local legislation and administration as it may, from time to time, deem expedient and may withdraw such powers. The provisions of this section shall not be deemed to restrict the power of the legislature to enact laws relating to matters other than the property, affairs or government of such towns.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section thirteen of article nine of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 13. A. The provisions of this article shall not affect any existing provisions of law not inconsistent with this article; but all existing charters and other laws, so far as not inconsistent with this article, shall continue in force until repealed, amended, modified or superseded in accordance with the provisions of this article.

B. Nothing in sections eleven to [sixteen] seventeen inclusive of this article shall apply to or affect or be deemed to restrict the power of the legislature in relation to (a) the maintenance, support or administration of the public school systems in any city, as required or provided by article eleven of this constitution, or any retirement system pertaining to such public school system or systems,

(b) counties outside the city of New York,

(c) counties within the city of New York, except to the extent provided by section 8 of this article, or (d) the courts as required or provided by article VI of this constitution.

C. Nothing in this article shall restrict the power of the legislature in relation to the organization of counties, cities, towns and villages as provided by sections 1 and 9 of this article.

D. Except as specifically authorized by or pursuant to this constitution, counties, cities, towns or villages, in the exercise of their powers to adopt local legislation, shall not impair any of the powers, duties, functions or responsibilities of any county, city, town or village other than the one adopting such local legislation.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER TWELVE
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section five or article eight of the constitution in relation to indebtedness contracted for sewer purposes

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section five of article eight of the constitution be amended by adding thereto a new paragraph, to be paragraph E, to read as follows:

E. Indebtedness contracted on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-two and prior to January first, nineteen hundred seventy-three, for the construction or reconstruction of facilities for the conveyance, treatment and disposal of sewage. The legislature shall prescribe the method by which and the terms and conditions under which the amount of any such indebtedness to be excluded shall be determined, and no such indebtednes shall be excluded except in accordance with such determination.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding regular election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER THIRTEEN
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section one of article eight of the constitution, in relation to the power of municipalities to aid in the expansion of job opportunities and to assist in industrial rehabilitation and expansion in the interest of the people and municipalities of the state

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section one of article eight of the constitution be amended by adding thereto, a third paragraph to read as follows:

Subject to the limitations on indebtedness and taxation applying to any city, town or village, nothing in this constitution contained shall prevent the legislature from authorizing any such municipality to prescribe the manner, means, terms and conditions pursuant to which grants, loans or leases of its property may be made by such a municipality to or in aid of any individual, or private corporation or association, or private undertaking which contracts with such municipality to utilize such property for construction, improvement or expansion thereon of an industrial or manufacturing plant or plants and for maintenance and operation thereof so as to encourage the expansion of job opportunities and to assist industrial rehabilitation and expansion for the promotion of the welfare of the people and municipalities of the state. In order to effectuate such purposes, the legislature, in addition to its powers contained in any other provision of this constitution, may authorize commercial or industrial property, as determined by law, to be acquired by purchase and to be cleared.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER FOURTEEN
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to subparagraph (b) of section ten of article eight of the constitution, in relation to increasing the limitation on the amount which may be raised by real estate taxes by the city of Yonkers for city purposes

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That sub-paragraph (b) of section ten of article eight of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

(b) any city of one hundred twenty-five thousand or more inhabitants according to the latest federal census, for city purposes, two per centum; provided, however, that the limitation for the city of Yonkers, for city purposes, shall be two and one-half per centum;

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the next regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER FIFTEEN
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the constitution to permit the sale of ten acres of forest preserve land to the village of Saranac Lake

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section one of article fourteen of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the state from constructing, completing and maintaining any highway heretofore specifically authorized by constitutional amendment, nor from constructing and maintaining to federal standards federal aid interstate highway route five hundred two from a point in the vicinity of the city of Glens Falls, thence northerly to the vicinity of the villages of Lake George and Warrensburg, the hamlets of South Horicon and Pottersville and thence northerly in a generally straight line on the west side of Schroon Lake to the vicinity of the hamlet of Schroon, then continuing northerly to the vicinity of Schroon Falls, Schroon River and North Hudson, and to the east of Makomis Mountain, east of the hamlet of New Russia, east of the village of Elizabethtown and continuing northerly in the vicinity of the hamlet of Towers Forge, and east of Poke-O-Moonshine Mountain and continuing northerly to the vicinity of the village of Keesville and the city of Plattsburg, all of the aforesaid taking not to exceed a total of three hundred acres of state forest preserve land, nor from constructing and maintaining not more than twenty miles of ski trails thirty to eighty feet wide on the north, east and northwest slopes of Whiteface Mountain in Essex county, nor from constructing and maintaining not more than twenty miles of ski trails thirty to eighty feet wide, together with appurtenances thereto, on the slopes of Belleayre Mountain in Ulster and Delaware counties and not more than thirty miles of ski trails thirty to eighty feet wide, together with appurtenances thereto, on the slopes of Gore, South and Pete Gay mountains in Warren county, nor from relocating, reconstructing and maintaining a total of not more than fifty miles of existing state highways for the purpose of eliminating the hazards of dangerous curves and grades, provided a total of no more than four hundred acres of forest preserve land shall be used for such purpose and that no single relocated portion of any highway shall exceed one mile in length. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions, the state may convey to the village of Saranac Lake ten acres of forest preserve land adjacent to the boundaries of such village for public use in providing for refuse disposal and in exchange therefor the village of Saranac Lake shall convey to the state thirty acres of certain true forest land owned by such village on Roaring Brook in the northern half of Lot 113, Township 11, Richards Survey.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

Given Jail Sentence For Speed Violation

Raymond Collins, 21 of Rosendale was recently arrested by State Trooper Wayne Lawrence for speeding on Route 213. He was brought before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky. Collins entered a plea of guilty on his arrangement and was fined $25 and given five days in Ulster County jail. The five day sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation with the ruling that he attend the drivers school set up by City Judge Joseph Saccoman of the City of Kingston and the Ulster County Magistrates Association. He was advised failure to attend the school would force him to serve the five days.

This school is a new system recently set up to try to secure safe driving methods and this is one of the first cases where it has been used in Justice of the Peace Court.

On Tuesday Collins informed Judge Brodsky that he could not get in the drivers school before September 5 and as he was taking a job out of town early in September he was unable to attend drivers school and he chose the five days in jail.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I have before me an interesting hard cover book called Picturesque Catskills of Greene County, with some 300 pictures by R. Lionel DeLisser. It was published by the Picturesque Publishing Co. of Northampton, Mass. It is dated 1894. This book is of interest to me because two years later De Lisser put out our Picturesque Ulster which we prize so much today.

In the Catskill book he gives many illustrations of boats and the Hudson River scenes as we knew, but does not go into the history of the locations as he did later in Picturesque Ulster. He gives a chapter called "Why this book was published" in which he goes back to 1900 when the "Picturesque" County series came out. The first book was called "Picturesque Hampshire" after the county which originally comprised all that part of the state of Massachusetts lying west of Worcester County.

Then he speaks of coming "over the state line and the Hudson River, to that region made famous by the painter and poet—the Catskills"—it is hardly necessary to say that the Picturesque County books were a success in the old Bay State. A large edition of many thousand copies of each book was nearly exhausted in a few months. So he goes on to cover "Garden of the Gods," as he calls our section. He first wanted to cover the whole Catskill region in one book and Ulster in another. But we know that Picturesque Ulster ran into some 10 books. He wrote that he felt "the volume plainly has a lasting value. The views in its pages cannot be bought, separately, in photograph form." This may be of interest to the many readers who own "Picturesque Ulster" books.

The author further writes in Picturesque Catskill that they covered many miles to obtain these pictures, and the cost to the publishers, ran into the thousands of dollars, when it is included in the cost of reproduction, printing and binding. They were also putting out a Holiday Edition in handsome leather cover. I have never seen this Picturesque Catskills of Greene County before and no doubt there are some of the leather ones among collectors, which could bring a price which would surprise R. Lionel DeLisser. He was a graduate of the Royal Bavarian Academy of High Arts, Munich, Germany. He said about us in 1894 "It is a pity that a nation which sends to Egypt for antiques should take so little care of its own."

I am quoting from De Lisser now, because his records, and his photographs and sketches are now part of our history and he wasn't even from here. Everyone runs to Jamestown, Va., and Williamsburg, Va. where many of the buildings and settings are reconstructed, "taverns which would not seem strange to Washington," they write in their large illustrated Sunday newspaper advertisements. We have taverns here like the DeWaal and other buildings which stand on original ground, and although perhaps changed some with time, people and money still would be more familar to Washington than many of the so-called "Colonial" reconstructed villages.

De Lisser further compares the Catskills to his Black Forest of Germany. Of the Hudson Valley and our Catskill Mountains, he further writes: "There is probably, no spot in America, more full of legendary lore; or a place around which lingers weird enchantment." He had to be enchanted by our location to put out such books. This book has some 160 pages and some 800 pictures of the 1890's.

410-490 Deaths Is Estimate for Holiday Weekend

CHICAGO (AP)—Safety officials—faced with a steady rise in the traffic death rate this year—urged today that the nation's motorists try to keep down the highway fatality count in the Labor Day weekend.

The National Safety Council estimates that between 410 and 490 persons will die in traffic accidents in the 78-hour holiday period starting at 6 p.m. (local time) today and ending at midnight Monday.

In the first seven months of this year 21,960 persons were killed on the nation's highways, an increase of 9 per cent over the same 1961 period, while motor travel increased 4 per cent.

The 3,840 persons killed in July represented a 16 per cent jump over the toll in July 1961 and was a record high for any July.

General Welfare Main Purpose

Goldberg Probably Most Active Secretary

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arthur J. Goldberg was an organization man and Martin P. Durkin wasn't. But the difference between these two secretaries of labor went way beyond that, and in more ways than one.

Yet, each started out with prearranged burdens. The Republican platform in 1952 and the Democratic platform in 1960. Both, in a bid for the labor vote, promised to make changes in the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Durkin, a lifelong unionist and president of the plumbers, concentrated on trying to make good on the Republican promise after President Eisenhower named him secretary in 1953. He quit in nine months.

Forgot About Promises

He said Eisenhower ran out on an agreement to send proposed changes to Congress. Eisenhower denied there was an agreement. Durkin went back to his union and died in two years of a brain tumor.

Goldberg, a lifelong labor lawyer, didn't concentrate on trying to make good on the Democrats' 1960 promise after Kennedy made him secretary in 1961. Kennedy still hasn't sent proposed T-H changes to Congress.

Goldberg not only didn't quit but became such a success as secretary that this week Kennedy appointed him to the Supreme Court. And George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, isn't mad at Kennedy or Goldberg for the T-H failure.

Recently Meany told reporters he is a realist and knows suggesting T-H changes to this conservative Congress would be useless. He blames Congress, not Kennedy or Goldberg, for the things that didn't get done.

Goldberg had worked for the AFL-CIO as special counsel. But the labor organization didn't get mad at him either, at least publicly, when he came out against its demand for a 35-hour work week.

Nor is business clawing Goldberg although he and Kennedy worked side by side in the steel dispute which turned business against the President.

To top it all, when Kennedy announced Goldberg's appointment to the court Wednesday, Republicans joined Democrats in saying what a fine thing this was.

Court No Place for Slouch

How did Goldberg manage to come through all this smelling like a rose?

He has been probably the most active and hard-working labor secretary in history. And the court is no place for a slouch.

Although he has spent his life working for labor organizations, Goldberg when he became secretary detached himself, financially and mentally, as a labor partisan.

Goldberg, who had been chief negotiator for the steelworkers in getting them better contracts and higher wages, even when it meant a deadening strike, has repeatedly stated this Kennedy-Goldberg policy:

"We in this country must do everything within our power to prevent inflation and maintain price stability." Translated, this meant: Try to keep wage increases and price increases down.

In this way, and in his dealings in general, Goldberg has sought to act as a public servant whose primary purpose is the general welfare and not that of a special group.

But none of Goldberg's progress in his job could have been possible if he and Kennedy had not shared an outlook on what they thought was needed and should be done and how. For this reason—although some credit should be given to Goldberg for adaptability in fitting into the Kennedy administration smoothly—he has managed to sail along.

Fire Leaves 100 Uticans Homeless

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — One-hundred persons were made homeless Thursday night when fire swept through the top floor of a four-story apartment building on this city's east side.

Three firemen were injured, none seriously.

Police said two small boys apparently caused the fire by burning sticks and paper in a vacant room on the top floor at the Nichols Apartments.

Firemen confined the flames to the top floor, but heavy smoke and water damage prevented the tenants, 22 families, from returning to their quarters.

Louis Frate, owner of the frame building, said "the place looks ruined." He was unable, however, to estimate damages.

Controls Voted On Wheat Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's wheat farmers have voted to continue controls on their crop, but by the smallest margin in 12 such tests since 1941.

Unofficial returns from the 39 commercial wheat states where balloting in the referendum was conducted Thursday gave 161,242 for and 74,454 against marketing quotas designed to restrict production in order to reduce costly surpluses.

This was a favorable margin of 68.4 per cent. Approval by at least 66.7 per cent—two thirds—of the growers voting was required. Last year quotas were approved by an 87.4 per cent margin. The previous low was 73.3 per cent for the 1955 crop.

Returns in 16 states fell below the two-thirds level. These included Kansas, the No. 1 wheat producing state, as well as such other major producers as Colorado and Montana.

The New York State vote in the wheat referendum was 835 "yes" and 550 "no."

The program will allot 55 million acres to farmers for planting for the 1963 crop. It also would set marketing quotas which would limit sales to production on each farm's allotment. Excess sales would be subject to a penalty tax.

Albany to Halt Mall Protest

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The city of Albany will not continue its court fight against a takeover by the state of nearly 100 acres in downtown Albany as a site for state office buildings, Mayor Erastus Corning II says.

The Democratic mayor said Thursday night that Gov. Rockefeller, a Republican, had assured him that some of the city's objection to the plan would be met.

The state took possession of the 400-block area last March 31. The area is in a generally rundown condition.

A FRENCH JODEL AIRPLANE — Flying enthusiasts view a French Jodel model airplane at the Kingston Ulster Airport. The plane is assembled at Freehold, N. Y. Parts are manufactured in France and shipped to Freehold where delivery is expected to be started within the next six months. The French Jodel is reported to be fairly radical in design and very easy to fly. It reportedly is a fast aircraft for its size, with emphasis on safety and sturdiness. The Freeehold firm producing the plane brought it here for a demonstration. (Freeman photo).

AIRPORT OWNERS AND OPERATOR—The Kingston Ulster Airport situated off Flatbush Road, one and one-half miles from the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, has been in operation for one year. The airport has a 3300 foot runway and can accommodate light and medium sized aircraft. Charter work, plane rentals, flying school ground courses and air rides are available at the airport. Owners are Ray Cole (center), and Joseph Columbo (left). The operator of the airport is Brian Carroll (right). Aircraft owners reported at the airport are Charles Adams, George Duffner, Richard Hale, Donald Williams, Edward Wiltsie, Larry Marks, Robert Weber, Gene Mass, Hudson Valley Flying Club, Jim Delmedge, Bruce Felton, Ray Bruncken, Bob Buck, Phil Tuscione, Curtis Foshee, Walter Bogumil and Blair Foster. Quiet Ceremony Ends Anglo Rule In West Indies

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad-Tobago (AP)—The islanders of Trinidad and Tobago momentarily muted their steel drums and calypso songs early today to solemnly raise the flag of independence over the Americas' newest nation.

The two southernmost islands of the West Indies rang down 165 years of British rule in a quiet midnight ceremony in the floodlit forecourt of Red House, the government building, before 35,000 citizens and guests.

It was a subdued beginning as an independent member of the British Commonwealth for the Caribbean islands known for their steel bands and improvised calypso songs of African origin.

Hours before, the bands and singers had been turned off the streets as many islanders flocked to religious services conducted by a Roman Catholic archbishop, an Anglican bishop, a Protestant pastor, a Moslem sheikh and a Hindu priest.

Representatives of 35 other nations—including the United States, the Soviet Union and Cuba—witnessed the ceremony.

The new nation's prime minister, Dr. Eric Williams, has said the islands' 830,000 citizens and 1,864 square miles will remain "unequivocally west of the Iron Curtain."

D&H Given Okay To Halt Albany, Saratoga Trips

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission approved today the discontinuance by the Delaware and Hudson Railroad of commuter trains between Albany and Saratoga Springs.

The railroad will be required to provide at least 15 days notice to the public.

In another move, the PSC granted a temporary certificate to Albany-Nassau Bus Co. for operation of bus service between Mechanicville and Albany.

The commission adopted a report by Examiner Russell E. Dunn, on the D&H ruling, in which he concludes that evidence at public hearings "establishes that the railroad is now sustaining a substantial 'above-the-rail' loss from the operation of these trains and that no practical means has been found to eliminate this loss."

Forming Driver Class

Registration for a new adult driver education class will take place in room V-110 in the Vocational Building of the Kingston High School on Tuesday, September 4. Classes will begin on Monday, Sept. 10. Students will meet once a week for actual driving instruction and once a week for related instruction.

Avoiding an Inconvenient Visit

Q: My husband and I both go to business. When I get home at night I have chores to do and it is not always convenient to receive visitors. Would it be rude not to answer the doorbell on an evening when I am busy doing things around the house? My husband thinks it would be as the lights from our apartment can be seen from the street and visitors will know that there is someone at home. Will you please give me your opinion concerning this matter?

A: You do not have to interrupt what you are busily doing to answer the doorbell for unexpected guests. Visitors seeing your light from the street will realize that whoever may be there cannot come to the door To leave them with the thought that you may be taking a bath is better than opening the door only to say that you are sorry but you are too busy to see them that evening.

Stranger Unfamiliar With Church Ritual

Q: Recently I attended a Catholic funeral in church. I am a Protestant and the deceased was a close member of my husband's family. As I was totally unfamiliar with the ritual and therefore could not follow it, I merely sat throughout the service. I was criticized later for not standing and sitting and kneeling when the others did. Will you please tell me if I was wrong as I would not want to make the same mistake again.

A: When in a church of a religion other than your own, you stand when the others stand and sit when they sit. Further than this, you are not expected to do any thing that is contrary to your own religious beliefs.

Giving Shower and a Present

Q: I am going to give a bridal shower for a friend. I plan to invite about 35 guests and will assume all the expenses of the shower myself. I would like to know if it is necessary for me to give the bride-to-be a shower present in addition to paying for the shower?

A: It is not necessary, but generally a small inexpensive item is given to the bride-to-be.

Sixth Annual Harmony Night Set Oct. 6th; Star Barbershop Quartets Will Participate

Barbershop harmony will once again be heard in Kingston Saturday, Oct. 6, 1962, at the Kingston High School Auditorium starting at 8 p. m.

The Kingston Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in Ameria, Inc. has completed plans for its sixth annual Harmony Night and promises to please everyone with the splendid lineup of quartets engaged for the program.

The Kingston Chapter Chorus, known as the King's Men, will present many favorite old songs, and some new favorites also. The chorus will once again be directed by Ron Gibbons.

The quartets to be heard that evening include the King Tones, the Flower City Four and the Nighthawks. The King Tones, all members of the Kingston Chapter, have appeared on past Harmony Night programs and will be well remembered by those who have attended past performances.

Lending side-splitting comedy to the proceedings will be the Flower City Four of Rochester. This fine quartet has appeared in Barbershop shows all over the East and has won warm applause for their antics.

The headline quartet hails from New London, Ontario, Canada. In Kansas City this past June, the Nighthawks were awarded the spot as the fourth place quartet in the International Contest. A couple of years ago, this group appeared for the Queen of England during a command performance in London.

This year's show promises to be one of the finest ever presented by the Kingston Chapter.

On Dean's List

Guy F. Crosby, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Crosby, Codwise Street, Sunset Park, an electrical engineering student at the Milwaukee School of Engineering, has been named to the dean's honor roll for his academic work during the past quarter.

A 1954 graduate of the Kingston High School, Crosby is a veteran of three years service with the U.S. Marine Corps.

A total of 162 students, having maintained cumulative grade point averages of 3-2 or better out of a possible 4.0, were named to the Dean's Honor Roll. Of this total, 35 received special recognition for having maintained grade point averages over 3.7.

Madeline Mazzetti, Plattekill Man Wed At Highland Church

PLATTEKILL — Miss Madeline C. Mazzetti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mazzetti of Highland, and Frank J. Labriola, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Labriola of Plattekill were married Saturday, Aug. 11, in St. Augustine's Church, Highland.

The Rev. Anthony Segera performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a full length Alencon lace dress, bouffant skirt, cathedral train. Her veil of Belgian illusion was caught by crystals and seed pearls, and she carried a crescent cascade of white roses, baby-breath and miniature ivy.

Attendants were Miss Joan Mauro of New Paltz as maid of honor, and Miss Julia Sinagra of Highland and Miss Betty Lou Ward and Miss Carmela Labriola of Plattekill as bridesmaids. Terese Mazzarri was flower girl. William Labriola was best man for his brother, Robert Ruggerio was ringbearer and ushers were Fred Rosa, Michael Mazzetti and John Hendersen.

Mrs. Labriola is a graduate of the Highland High School and is attending State University College at Brockport.

Mr. Labriola is a graduate of the Wallkill Central School, has a BS degree from the State University at Brockport and MS degree from Pennsylvania State University.

He will teach science in the Greek Olympia School in Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Labriola will reside in Brockport.

Community Center Nursery School to Open on Sept. 5th

The Jewish Community Center Nursery School will open its doors for the fall term Wednesday, Sept. 5, according to Mrs. Stanley Caple, school chairman.

This was announced following a recent board meeting at the home of Mrs. Walter B. Suskind where the topics of discussion included the school calendar, new nursery school equipment and the August card party.

On the first day of school, the morning session will run from 9-10 a. m. and the afternoon group will meet from 1-2 p. m. Mothers will accompany their children on the opening day and will confer with the teacher, Mrs. Harry Hults, and her assistant, Mrs. Joseph Mautner.

Thursday and Friday classes will also be short sessions with the morning group meeting from 9-10:30 a. m. and the afternoon group from 1-2:30 both days, minus mothers. Monday, Sept. 10, full sessions will begin, from 9-11:30 a. m. and from 1-3:30 p. m.

There are only a few openings left in each group. Registration information may be obtained from the Center office. Classes are held in the Temple Emanuel school rooms.

The nursery school committee announced that once again this year the school calendar will be the same as that of the Kingston Consolidated School District with the addition of Jewish holy days. The school will also follow the rulings of the Kingston school board regarding cancellation of sessions due to snow or ice.

Mrs. Hults announced that a new puzzle rack, saw, American castinettes and large toy farm buildings have been purchased for the school. Some of this equipment was obtained with the proceeds derived from the August benefit party held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Horowitz, attended by almost 80 women.

The Kingston Hospital School of Nursing will again send 13 student nurses to observe the JCC Nursery School in action. The student nurses will attend singly starting in October and going through May. Mrs. Hults said that both nursery school teachers and committee are glad to cooperate with the School of Nursing in this project.

Mrs. Caple thanked the following people who painted school equipment in recent weeks: Mrs. Fred Strauss, Mrs. Lauren Satinsky, Mrs. Seymour Herman, Mrs. Harry Hults, Mrs. Joseph Mautner, Mark and Neal Satinsky, Robyn and Janyse Herman and Blair Caple.

Present at the board meeting were Mrs. Hults, Mrs. Caple, Mrs. Suskind, Mrs. Satinsky, Mrs. Herman, Mrs. Mautner, Mrs. Joseph Horowitz, Mrs. Arnold Pinsly and Mrs. Seymour Werbalowsky.

Sisterhood Schedules Member Tea Sept. 5th

Served 26 Years; Saugerties Native Returns to Retire

JOHN T. SULLIVAN

A Saugerties man, Lt. Cmdr. John T. Sullivan will complete 26 years of service in the U. S. Navy this week and expects to return Sept. 6 to make his home in Saugerties.

He is the brother of Acting Sgt. Donald Sullivan of the village police force and Mrs. Henry Breitenbach of High Woods.

He expects to settle in Saugerties with his wife, the former Patricia Bessette of Newport, R. I., and their 18-year-old daughter, Celeste.

Lt. Cmdr. Sullivan has been on the staff of Admiral John H. Sides, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Pacific Fleet at Pearl Harbor for the past four years. He was commanding officer of the Flag Allowance (the admiral's enlisted staff), responsible for placement, morale and discipline of 500 men assigned to headquarters.

A native of Saugerties, he graduated from Saugerties High School in 1936 and enlisted in the Navy shortly after graduation. He worked his way up through 15 ratings and ranks.

Prior to reporting to Pearl Harbor, Lt. Cmdr. Sullivan was personnel officer of the U. S. Naval Amphibious Base at Coronado, Calif., and later was appointed gunnery and base security officer. He served at various times on the battleships USS New York and Texas, heavy cruiser USS Augusta, the amphibious command ship USS Rocky Mount, the attached transports USS Cambria and Okanogan, and the attack carrier USS Princeton.

He also held top administrative posts in two Naval schools.

His service awards include the China Service Medal, the American Defense Service Medal, the American Campaign Medal with five battle stars, the World War 2 Victory Medal, the National Defense Medal, the Philippine Liberation Ribbon and the Good Conduct Medal.

A bunch of carrots (with tops) usually weighs one to 1¼ pounds and is enough for four servings. You can scrub the carrots with a stiff brush, if you are putting them in a stew. If they are to be cut and served as a separate vegetable, it's usually best to pare them.

Meningitis Patient Fights Back

Ability to Swim Her Proudest Victory Yet

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP)—Della Derlien, paralyzed from the waist down, deaf and unable to speak seven years ago, has regained most of her faculties but probably is proudest of her most recent accomplishment of learning to swim.

The story of Miss Derlien's recovery was reported in New York Thursday at the meeting of the American Congress of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

Remarkable Girl

Additions to the dramatic story of the girl's recovery and of her other accomplishments through her determination were described by her aunt, Mrs. Lorron Friedrichs of Sheboygan, with whom Miss Derlien, 26, lives.

"She is a remarkable girl," Mrs. Friedrichs said. "Not only did she learn to lip read on her own but this summer she insisted on going to a summer camp alone where she learned to swim.

"She probably is prouder of her ability to swim than she is of the many other things she accomplished — like fighting her way back after being hopelessly paralyzed with spinal meningitis.

"Della is a very cheerful girl and never talks about the years she spent in bed and of the long surgery on her twisted body.

"She works part time as a photo retoucher for a Sheboygan studio, moves about freely in a wheel chair, dresses herself, helps me with the meals and housework.

Taught Self to Lip-Read

"She never lost the ability to speak but she had to teach herself to lip-read. She never took a course in that art.

"Now she eagerly is awaiting the return of her brother, Dennis, who will be released from the Navy in mid-September.

The Derlien children came to live with Mr. and Mrs. Friedrichs when their mother died in 1950. The father, Peter, lives in Wausau, Wis.

Dr. Herbert A. Schoening, director of rehabilitation services at the Kenny Rehabilitation Institute in Minneapolis, said that seven years ago, on the eve of her graduation from high school, the girl was stricken by spinal meningitis.

Lay in Tragic State

Her body was left deformed, immobile below the waist, with the strain of muscle contractions dislocating her hips and cramping her legs in a crouched position. Her hearing failed. Year after year, she lay in this tragic state at her aunt's home.

Finally, her family placed her under treatment of the Kenny institute. A 14-man rehabilitation team went to work on her case.

Schoening said her restoration took 19 weeks. Miss Derlien underwent eight surgical operations and received intensive treatment, therapy and training.

Court May Save Sophia From Trial On Bigamy Charge

MILAN, Italy (AP)—A Mexican court has voided the Mexican proxy marriage of film star Sophia Loren and producer Carlo Ponti, their Italian attorney said today.

The action may save the couple from a bigamy trial in Italy.

At Juarez, Mexico, Antonio Lopez Machuca, who is Miss Loren's Mexican attorney, said no decree had been issued but that Judge Francisco Urango Munoz had advised him one would be announced today.

Attorney Mario Luzzati said in Milan he had received word that a court at Juarez had declared the marriage was nonexistent—that Miss Loren and Ponti had never been married.

The pair had asked for the nullification of their marriage because of Italian law, not because of romantic difficulties.

Two months ago, an investigating judge in Rome, acting as a one-man grand jury, ordered Miss Loren and Ponti to stand trial.

Ponti has a Mexican divorce from his first wife, but Roman Catholic Italy does not recognize divorce. He was charged with bigamy. Miss Loren, who had never married before, was charged with concurrence in bigamy.

Legal sources said the charges may be dropped as a result of the Mexican court action.

Ponti, 46, and Miss Loren, 27, were married by proxy in Juarez in September 1957, three years after Ponti obtained a Mexican divorce from his first wife, Giuliana Fiastra.

U. S. Bids Recess Talks Continue For Nuclear Pact

GENEVA (AP) — The United States proposed today that the three nuclear powers continue meeting during the recess of the disarmament talks to try to work out an agreement banning nuclear tests by the end of this year.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean told the 17-nation disarmament conference his government believes it should be possible for the American, British, Soviet nuclear subcommittee to complete this task by Nov. 1 so a treaty could become effective by Jan. 1, 1963.

The disarmament talks are to recess from Sept. 8 until Nov. 12 while the negotiators report back to the U.N. General Assembly.

Western conference sources said Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov told the conference his government will study the proposal for continued subcommittee meetings.

Post 150 Expects Banner Crowd at Sept. 9 Barbecue

Final arrangements for American Legion Post 150 barbecue, which will be held at 2 p. m., Sunday, Sept. 9, are being made. It is expected that this year's turnout will be greater than other years and plans are being made accordingly.

The chicken barbecue is one of the few affairs which the Kingston Legion promotes each year to raise the necessary funds to support the Post's activities. A few of these being child welfare, youth activities, oratorical contests and Americanism promotions. All members are requested to attend with their families and friends.

Reservations may be made prior to Sept. 6 by calling Harry Hales.

Ackers Upset Eagles, 12-7, To Create City League Tie

RUNNING—Problem is not in the quality of running, but in the blocking. Ted Dean and Tim Brown are the breakaway threats. Clarence Peaks handles the heavy work Brown's speed has spectacular possibilities. Healthy Theron Sapp would alleviate depth problems. B+

PASSING—Sonny Jurgensen's arm shows no trace of January dislocation. Can get ball away fast, long or short, with accuracy. Behind him stands King Hill, who does punting. Eagles depend on Sonny's passes. A

RECEIVING—Tommy McDonald, Pete Retzlaff, Bobby Walston at same old stands. McDonald has no superior as a deep threat. Retzlaff probably should play tight spot because Walston is getting old and never did have blocking heft. Sprinster Frank Bud is threat. A—

OFENSIVE LINE—Beacoup trouble at guard, where recruits Pete Case and Bill Byrne have to hold one spot, with John Wittenborn. If J. D. Smith's knee doesn't come around, one tackle may be sieve-like, too. Jim McCusker is steady on right side. Jim Schrader, ex-Redskin, boosts pass protection. C

DEFENSIVE LINE—Vulnerable. John Baker, former Ram, has size but no consistency at end Ed Khayat. Riley Gunnels, Jess Richardson are holdovers, but not the final answer. Shift of Gene Gossage to one flank helps. There aren't rockies in sight. C

LINEBACKING—Got to hope that Chuck Bednarik, at 37, has one more big year. Maxie Baughan, one right side, is all-league caliber. John Nocera, on injured list now, is challenged for third spot by ex-49er Bob Harrison. There are likely rookies. B

SECONDARY—Even without Tom Brookshier, whose leg fracture hasn't come around, can muster adequate crew. Ben Scotti and Irv Cross play the corners. Don Burroughs and Jimmy Carr are at safety. If Scotti can't cut it, Glen Amerson gets another fling. B

SUMMARY—Never have looked like much on paper, even in 1960 title season. But Nick Skorich had 'em in contention last year until Brokshier got hurt. With Jurgensen throwing bombs to McDonald, they're up there again.

Football Team's Physical Condition Pleases Dietzel

WEST POINT—Army's football team concluded its first week of pre-season practice under new head Coach Paul Dietzel on a note of optimism.

Faced with the task of paring the squad down from the present list of 72 to the top 33 players for the three-team system he is installing at West Point, Dietzel was pleasently surprised by the physical condition in which he found the cadets. "The team at this stage is in the best physical shape of any that I've ever coached," said Dietzel.

The early practice sessions have produced several standouts. John Johnson, a 192-pound halfback from Winnsboro, S. C., rated in the spring as the sophomore having the best chance of cracking the starting lineup, has been particularly impressive. He is currently playing with the regulars, the Army unit which will see action on both offense and defense.

Soph teammates, John Seymour of Berkley, Mich., and Rollie Stichweh of Williston Park, have shown that they might be the answer to Army's two-year problem of lack of speed in the backfield.

Three fullbacks have caught the attention of the coaching staff. The trio includes Ray Paske, George Pappas and Tom Cunningham.

Paske, a 202-pound junior from Buffalo, alternated between halfback and fullback last year. Pappas was the second string fullback behind all-East choice Al Rushatz, before being sidelined by an injury midway in the season. Cunningham, a 5-11, 200-pound senior from Steubenville, Ohio, saw limited action at halfback.

Academics begin on Tuesday. At this point the cadets will revert back to the normal period of one practice of approximately 90 minutes duration.

S and E Tossers In Championship Go With Losers

The 1962 City Baseball League schedule maker is now revealed a wizard, pure and simple.

As the result of Acker Bus Lines' 12 to 7 victory over the pace setting Kingston Eagles Thursday night, the Eagles have been pushed into a first place tie with the S. and E. Inc. tossers at 9 wins and 2 losses.

And who do you think will be playing in the very LAST game of the regular 1962 season? Kingston Eagles and S and E. The date will be set later.

Johnny Nolan survived an extreme case of wildness (13 walks) to limit the Eagles to three hits. But until the sixth inning he found himself trailing 6-5. Then came a six-run explosion by Acker's and with it the Eagles hopes for a pennant knotting victory. He struck out 10.

Collects 11 Hits

Ackers collected 11 hits off the combined slants of Ted Marable and Bill Costello, a fugitive from the softball ranks. It was a wild and wooly contest, as City League games go, with 18 hits, 11 errors (seven by the jittery Eagles); and 20 walks. Anytime you mix up such a weird assortment of ingredients there has to be unlimited confusion.

Len Whitten paced Ackers with three singles in four trips to the plate. He knocked in two runs and scored twice. Northrup and Gorsline hit two singles each and Cliff Schonmaker powered a single and double for Ackers

Junior Jackson's two singles and a triple by Costello represented all the hits off Nolan. Marable was charged with the loss.

Brosnan Saves Big Red Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Author-pitcher Jim Brosnan trudged out of the bullpen in the ninth inning Thursday night and preserved a 5-4 Cincinnati triumph over National League leading Los Angeles that kept the defending champion Reds within range of the Dodgers.

The third-place Reds led 5-0 behind Jim O'Toole's 5-hitter when the Dodgers rallied in the ninth. Three runs were in and the bases were loaded when Brosnan got the call. He struck out Duke Snider, but Maury Wills beat out a hit, making it 5-4 and leaving the bases loaded. Jim Gilliam stepped up, worked the count to 3-2, then lifted a soft fly to center field.

The triumph, salvaging the last of the three-game series, left the Reds 5½ games behind the Dodgers, who are 2½ in front of second-place San Francisco. The Giants closed ground as Jack Sanford posted his 13th straight victory, 3-2 over Milwaukee, on home runs by Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda and Jim Davenport.

Pittsburgh clipped the Chicago Cubs 5-3, but again had to call on relief ace ElRoy Face—who responded with his 21st save. Chicago second baseman Ken Hubbs played errorless ball for the 72nd consecutive game — one game short of Bobby Doerr's record.

Philadelphia used Don Demeter's grand slam homer and a run-scoring single by Roy Sievers for five runs in the eighth to beat New York 8-7, the Mets using five pitchers in the inning and tying a major league record.

The Reds pounced on Dodger starter Stan Williams (12-9) for four runs in the first inning. Jerry Lynch's double drove in the run that proved to be decisive in the fifth.

Mays and Cepeda hammered consecutive homers in the first while Davenport connected in the sixth for the eventual game-winner off Spahn (14-12), who had won six in a row. Sanford (19-6) had a one-hitter until the seventh when Frank Bolling and Spahn hit homers. The Giants used five relievers.

Donn Clendenon paced the Pirates' offensive with a homer and two doubles, driving in four runs.

The Phillies' uprising tagged Robert G. Miller (2-2) with the defeat while giving the triumph to Jack Baldschun (8-7).

This league will start on Tuesday, Sept. 18. Bowlers requiring special information can phone, Beatrice Albright, league president, Rheta Sheeley, league secretary or Louis H. Schafer at the YMCA.

Orioles' Gloom at New Low

By JIM BECKER

Joy was unrestrained in Baltimore when the Orioles swept five straight from the mighty New York Yankees over the weekend.

Thursday night, Washington clipped the Orioles, 3-2 for the third time in four games since the Yankee sweep.

In the only other American League game, the Chicago White Sox widened their fourth place lead to two games over the Detroit Tigers, beating them 5-4.

The Yankees, whose chances of blowing the pennant are taken seriously only in Minnesota and Southern California, open the final month's drive by entertaining the Kansas City Athletics tonight.

Yankee ace Whitey Ford (13-7), will go against Ed Rakow (12-14). The pesky A's beat the Yanks three of five during the recent road trip that wound up 6-11 for the world champions, with the five Baltimore defeats tacked on the end.

The Minnesota Twins, two games back, are at Boston, with Dick Stigman (9-3) facing no-hit Bill Monbouquette (11-12).

The Los Angeles Angels, three games back despite having been written off about once a week since Memorial Day, meet Washington in two, with Ted Bowsfield (8-7) and Don Lee (11-9) opposing Claude Osteen (7-10) and Steve Hamilton (3-5). The Angels next invade Yankee Stadium for a four game set, beginning with a Labor Day doubleheader.

Dave Stenhouse threw a 9-hitter for the Senators. Don Lock provided the eventual winning run with a home run in the second.

Al Smith hammered a two-run homer in the eighth for the White Sox, who added an unearned run in the ninth on pitcher Terry Fox' error for the winning margin.

Kingston Bird Paces Pigeons

A bird owned by George Caddy of Kingston won first place in the initial young bird run of the season sponsored by the Kingston-Ulster Racing Pigeon.

Twenty lofts comprising more than 250 birds were liberated at Utica at 7 a. m. into east winds. Caddy's bird was clocked in at 10:01 a. m. for an average speed of 992.67 yards per minute.

John Buckman of Kingston took a close second, with an average speed of 984.89. Ernie Rose of Union Center paced third with an average of 981.58

A bird owned by Arlie Finch of Port Ewen won first place in the Junior division with an average speed of 1017.31 yards per minute. Cecilia Buckman of Kingston was second, average 992.94, with Vince Marese, Marlborough, third at 963.10 average.

McCaigs, Father-Son Champs at Twaalfskill

Dr. Robert A. McCaig and son, Robert, posted a 3-over-par 143 net to win the 1962 Father and Son championship at The Twaalfskill Club.

The father and son combination played a remarkably even game to finish two shots ahead of the runnerup combination of Charles H. Gaffney and son, Dan Gaffney. McCaig Sr. posted 81-9-72 and junior contributed 91-20-71.

Young Gaffney was a stroke better than his father with 80 and netted 74 with 6 stroke allowance. Gaffney posted 81-10-71. Three teams were deadlocked with net 146s.

Twelve teams competed and the tournament proved such a success that it will be run on a much larger scale in 1963.

Other results:

Fabian L. Russell, 91-19-72 and Robert Russell, 83-9-74 for 146 net.

William Merrill, 86-12-74, and William Merrill Jr., 82-10-72 for 146 net.

Bernard Feeney, 98-24-74, and Bernard Feeney Jr., 111-39-72 for 146.

Ernest Schirmer, 75-4-71, and William Schirmer, 105-28-77 for 148.

Louis R. Netter, 85-9-76, and Richard Netter, 79-6-73 for 149.

Herman Glanz, 96-22-74 and Herman Glanz Jr., 90-15-75 for 149.

David Corwin, 101-27-74 and David Corwin Jr., 105-29-76, for 150.

George Rusk, 99-23-76, and George Rusk Jr., 90-14-76 for 152.

Dr. William D. Harris, 95-18-77 and John Harris, 90-14-76 for 153.

Jay Le Fevre, 104-27-77 and Jay Le Fevre Jr., 10b-27-77 for 154.

WaterousDefendsWoodstock Title Against Bill Van Aken

Bill Van Aken, who has won eight club championships, will be seeking his sixth Woodstock Country Club crown when he meets defending champion Herb Waterous in the 36-hole finals Saturday.

The first round is scheduled at 9:30 a. m., with the afternoon round at 1 p. m.

Van Aken won four successive Woodstock titles (1954-57) before his reign was interrupted by Bill Waterous in 1957. He bounced back to win again in 1958-59 only to lose to Waterous for the second time in 1960. Last year, it was another member of the Waterous family, Herbie, who captured the crown.

A tremendous duel is expected, as Waterous has developed into one of the fine shotmakers in the county. It's strictly an even, take your pick, proposition. The winner qualifies for the match game playoff with the champions of Twaalfskill (George Hughes) and Wiltwyck (Leon Randall).

No Women's Champion

There will be no officially recognized women's championship at Woodstock this year, but the 1962 finalists, Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) deLisio and Janet Fochi will play the regularly scheduled 27-hole match Saturday. In addition, a consolation playoff will be held between the two finalists in the Beaten Four of the Championship Flight — Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons and Mrs. Inger Walker.

Wiltwyck Country Club's women's finals are scheduled 9:30 a. m. Saturday between Mrs. M. Richard Davenport and Alyce Kowalski over the 18-hole route. Miss Kowalski upset the defending champion, Mrs. Charles Kovacs, and Mrs. Davenport won from Mrs. Howard De Witt in semi-final matches.

3-1 Combination Pays Off $19 DD

MONTICELLO, Aug. 30 — Busy Dares, a lightly raced six-year-old gelding by Meadow Gene, reduced his lifetime mark to 2:08.4 in the first race to set up a $19.00 daily double of numbers 3 and 1 Thursday at Monticello Raceway.

Guinn's Boy, the 9-5 favorite, won the second race, snapping a non-winning streak that extended back to early in the meet.

Jack Adams rushed Busy Dares to the front in the backstretch and he went on to post his second win in only four career starts. The second choice in the betting, Busy Dares paid winning mutuels of 7.00, 4.70 and 3.60.

Flinders, owned by Eugene Johnson of Monticello, took second money and paid back 7.50 and 4.90. Deleon Kidd, after a bad break, came on strongly to finish third and return 5.50.

Gordon Grenet reined Guinn's Boy to a 2:10.4 win. The eight-year-old Wilmington gelding forged into the lead nearing the three quarter pole when pacesetter Little River Pete broke stride.

Glinn's Boy, with a 2:08.1 win record this year, paid 5.70, 4.10 and 2.80. Willie Potempkin wound up second and paid 7.70 and 4.40. Miss Lorene Hayes was 2.70 for show.

Rondout Valley Grid Session

Rondout Valley Central's football squad will stage its first drill of the season Saturday at 10 a. m. at the Junior-Senior high school field.

Coach John Meehan invites all candidates to report. Equipment will be issued at this session.

Ossining Squad Among Finest In BRL Circles

The Babe Ruth League All Stars of Kingston will meet the Ossining All Stars, Westchester county champions, in an exhibition game Sunday at 2 p. m. at Dietz stadium.

In a pre-game ceremony at 1:45 p. m., Mayor John J. Schwenk of Kingston; Mayor Jesse W. Collyer of Ossining and Police Chief Robert M. Murphy of Kingston will make brief speeches.

The Ossining club is one of the strongest in the United States, having advanced to the finals of the national tournament.

The local All Stars are expected to call on Vince Fisher as the starter, with Jim Williams as the No. 1 reserve, if needed. The Ossining selection has not been announced.

Kingston's all star squad includes such worthies as Rod De Veau, Dick Schabot, Mike Burns, Vince Fisher, Gene Rios, Ed Mills, Joe Amendola, Dom Berardi, John Eccleston, Marshall Suskie, Jim Williams, Vinnie Crantz, Lou Perry, Richie Kelder and Ernie Bodie.

Mayor Collyer, well known to old time area baseball fans, is one of the most colorful figures in baseball. He has been a well known umpire for several years; was associated with the sports program at Sing Sing prison and supervised Brooklyn Dodger spring training activities at Vero Beach, Fla., for a number of years. He appeared in Kingston as a speaker for an Old Timers Baseball Association dinner and scored a smash hit.

Gunderson-Hahn Women's Finale

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—JoAnne Gunderson, pretty, 23-year-old twice former champion, won her way Thursday into the semi-finals of the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Championships with a 1-up, 20 hole victory over Barbara Williams of Richmond, Calif.

Gundy, the 1957 and 1960 titlist, and Miss Williams halved the 19th hole, and Gundy won the 20th with a par 5 and her opponent went one over.

Gundy faces Curtis Cup teammate Tish Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., and 17-year-old Annie Baker of Maryville, Tenn., plays giant-killer Patsy Hahn of Wilmington, Del., in the 18-hole semifinals this afternoon.

The winners play 36 holes Saturday for the title and once again there will be a new champion. Defending champion Anne Quast Decker, attempting to become the first queen to repeat since Betty Jameson in 1939-40, ran into Miss Hahn Thursday. The 22-year-old five times Delaware state champion fired a 1-under-par 35 on the front nine of the 6, 161-yard, par 36-36—72 course, built a 5-up lead over Mrs. Decker and coasted to a 5 and 4 upset.

Miss Baker, a senior at Maryville High School, eliminated Marcia McLachlan of Danbury, Conn., 2 and 1 while Miss Preuss was one over par in downing Mrs. Harry Nevil, New York state champion, 4 and 2.

Midwesterners Waite Winners

SHAWNEE - ON - DELAWARE, Pa. (AP)—Dick Weyand, Bloomfield Hills, Mich., and Bob Schmid, Winnetka, Ill., won the 17th annual Bill Waite Memorial Golf Tournament Thursday by defeating Buddy Lutz. Reading, Pa., and George Webb, Detroit, 2 up at Shawnee Country Club.

Weyand, a post-graduate student at Cornell, and Schmid, of Illinois University, took over the lead on the 10th hole when Schmid sank a 20-foot putt for a bird. He also had a 30-footer on the 13th.

It was questionable whether Weyand would be able to continue after suffering a pinched muscle in the small of the back on the third tee, but after medical attention, he made it.

Chris Carr, Williamsville, N.Y., who was qualifying medalist with a four under par 68, and Ed Keating, Corning, N.Y., defeated Gen. J. B. Montgomery, USAF Ret., Westfield, N.J., and Steve Berrian, Rutherford, N.J., 2 and 1, to win the Old Masters Tournament for players over 50.

Busy Weekend At Monticello

MONTICELLO, Aug. 30—Monticello Raceway launches its big Labor Day weekend of racing Friday with a $6,000 Invitation Trot. Eight horses will go in the feature event which is carded for the seventh race.

The Invitation leads off the weekend which hits its high spot Saturday with the second doubleheader program of the season. Nine matinee races are set beginning at 2:30. A regular eight-race program is slated for the evening session.

Friday's Invitation will spotlight three newcomers to Monticello racing circles. Veteran 12-year-old Jeffrey Scott, Sprite Kid and Curley Harry are the out-of town invaders which will match strides with five Mr. "Regulars." The rest of the field will consist of Tyson Scott, Harlan Lady, Larue Hanover and Penney Shenandoah.

Penney Shanandoah has been installed the 3-1 morning line favorite. Penney, with a 2:03.2 winning record, was assigned the outside post.

Hambletonian's Return Sought For New York

A bid to return the Hambletonian, the crown jewel of harness racing, to Goshen, N.Y. has been tabled along with three others until Oct. 21.

The Hambletonian Society, meeting Thursday in Du Quoin, Ill., postponed the awarding of a new contract for 1964 until all 21 members of the group meet again. Three members missed Thursday's meeting.

Officials at Yonkers Raceway, which operates Good Time Park at Goshen, have announced a bid calling for $50,000 added for five years.

They predict that the classic would gross from $200,000 to $250,000 within that time if returned to Goshen, where it was staged for 27 years before being shifted to Illinois.

Other bids for the Hambletonian are by the present hosts at Du Quoin; Chicago's new Washington Park Trotting Association and the Indiana state Fair.

New York State Harness results Thursday night:

Monticello — Tarquinia ($15.30) came on strong in the stretch to win the $3,500 Holiday Pace with a 2:04 4-5. Gene Daisey drove.

Batavia—Armbro Bingo ($3.70) easily won the $1,300 featured paced by 2¾ lengths with a 2:05 1-5. Harold McKinley was in the sulky.

Roosevelt — Vandyke Hanover ($6.80) closed fast to score a head victory in the featured Class A-3 pace with a 2:02. Jimmy Cruise drove.

Saratoga—Melody Gold ($22.40), driven by Dick Breighner, won the $800 Little Falls Pace by a neck over Clayhaven Whizzer. The 6-year-old mare, a 10-1 shot, covered the mile in 2:07 2-5.

Women's Flight Finals Played At Wiltwyck CC

Mrs. Ella Bailey defeated Mrs. Beatrice Cullum, 6 and 5, in the finals of the Beaten Eight flight of the women's championship division at Wiltwyck Country Club.

In semi-final matches, Mrs. Bailey defeated Mrs. Sam Greenspan and Mrs. Cullum won over Mrs. Arthur Motzkin.

Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli defeated Mrs. C. Lincoln Christensen in the finals of the Beaten Four of the A Flight. In semi-finals, Mrs. Carpinelli won over Mrs. Lloyd LeFever and Mrs. Christensen topped Mrs. Samuel Levine. Handicaps were used in these matches.

Mrs. Alvin Motzkin defeated Dorothy Elston, 3 and 2, in the Beaten Four finals of the B Flight (handicap). Miss Elston drew a semi-final round bye and Mrs. Motzkin won by default from Mrs. Robert Nadler.

Pro Bowlers at Cramer's Lanes

Don Carter, bowling's top money winner, will be missing but the rest of the leading Professional Bowlers Association campaigners will be on hand Saturday for the start of the three-day $20,000 open tourney at Morris Cramers's spanking new Bowlers Club.

The establishment is located at 1210 Troy-Schenectady Road.

The field will include Harry Smith of St. Louis, second highest money winner with $20,000; Billy Welu of St. Louis, Dick Weber, the all-time king in total PBA tourney victories with 10; and Fred Lenning of Fairless Hills, Pa. champion in last winter's Empire Open at Albany. Steve Nagy, Carmen Salvino, Buzz Fazio and Testa Semiz are scheduled.

The format used on the summer circuit is different from the winter tour. The field will be split into A and B squads with action under way at noon Saturday, when A squad rolls six games and B squad follows at 2:45 with its six-game block. The squads will bowl another block Sunday at 6 p. m. and 8:45 p. m. before the field is cut to the top 16 for Monday's finals.

Under the scoring a point is given for every 30 pins and for every match won. Monday's action calls for the survivors to bowl eight games starting at 1 p. m. and again at 7:30 p. m.

Jacksonville Hot On the IL Road

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's tough enough playing the leading Jacksonville Suns of the International League under any conditions. But when you have to play them when the Suns are on the road, it's double tough.

The Atlanta Crackers made a fight of it, pushing it to 11 innings Thursday night, but the odds were too long. Jacksonville won it 3-2 on a disputed triple, and pushed their road record to an incredible 49-17 for the season.

The loss eliminated the Crackers from the pennant, but didn't disturb their one-game lead over Columbus in the strauggle for fourth place, the last playoff spot. Columbus lost to Richmond 8-5.

Toronto outlasted Syracuse 5-4 in 10 innings and Rochester outscored Buffalo 9-8 in the others.

Rochester jammed in seven runs in the seventh inning in handing Buffalo its fourth straight loss. Five bases on balls, a hit batter, an error, Pete Ward's two-run homer and a two-run double by Ossie Virgil were the contributing factors in the big inning.

Ted Kazanski's double drove in Fred Green for Toronto's winning run in the 10th against Syracuse. The Leafs forced it into overtime on Len Gabrielson's two-run homer in the ninth.

First Since 1954

VANCOUVER (AP)— The San Diego Padres Thursday night won their first Pacific Coast League pennant since 1954 by edging the Vancouver Mounties, 3-2, in the seven-inning opener of a doubleheader.

Right-hander John Tsitouris went the distance for his 13th victory as the Padres stretched their margin to 14 full games over second-place Salt Lake City.

Y Male Keglers Plan Meeting

The YMCA Men's Club bowling leagues that bowl every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings will hold an organizational meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 5 at the "Y" at 7:30 p. m. as announced by president, Jack Kelse.

All teams that are expecting to bowl on any one of these nights should have a representative or team proxy at this meeting. New clubs or neighborhood groups desiring to enter the YMCA leagues are also asked to be present.

President Kelse is anticipating that bowling in league style starts on Monday, Sept. 17.

Special information can be obtained by phoning the YMCA or Jack Kelse, or making a personal call at the Y Office.

Jerome Stakes Has Crack Field

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The $50,000 added Jerome Stakes at Aqueduct is racing's top weekend event.

The Jerome, a mile affair for 3-year-olds, will have a field that includes Fred W. Hooper's much-traveled Admiral's Voyage, Brandywine Stable's Preakness winner Greek Money, George A. Pope's Kentucky Derby winner Decidedly, Townsend B. Martin's unpredictable Sunrise County, and possibly Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan.

If Ridan goes, he will tote top weight of 127 pounds and will swell the field to 13.

A couple of $30,000 added grass course stakes and Del Mar's Debutante highlight the rest of the Saturday card. Arlington offers the Laurance Armour Memorial for 3-year-olds over a mile and one-sixteenth of grass, while Atlantic City's grass test is the Kelly-Olympic Handicap at a mile and an eighth. The Debutante at Del Mar is for 2-year-old fillies at 6 furlongs.

Nuclear Detergent

SALISBURY England (AP)—A soapflake bomb which the British Army calls its nuclear detergent burst into a mushroom cloud over military training grounds here Thursday.

The bomb, made from 25 pounds of high explosive, six large packs of soapflakes and some waste oil, is being used to simulate nuclear warfare in maneuvers.

Emerson Back In Nationals

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Roy Emerson, the forgotten man of Australian tennis and generally in the shadow of his Davis Cup teammate, Rod Laver, today meets Pancho Contreras, the sometime-playing captain of the Mexican Davis Cup team, in the first round of the national tennis championship.

Emerson, the defending singles champion, got a big break when Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy, seeded seventh, scratched. Now the only player in his quarter who might make things difficult is Mike Sangster of Britain.

Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo. and Trinity (Tex.) University, America's hope for the title, also was scheduled to play his first round match. He drew Bob Bowditch of Worcester, Mass. Laver and fourth-seeded Rafael Osuna of Mexico get into action Saturday.

In the women's division, the top match of the day was between Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of San Diego, Calif. and Justina Bricka of St. Louis. This was a battle of Wightman Cup teammates.

Margaret Smith of Australia, who has dominated the women's tennis all year, and Mrs. Susman are the favorites to advance to the final. Miss Smith drew a first-round bye.

Crab Race Slated InMarylandTown

CRISFIELD, Md. (AP)—A crab race here Saturday—an unlikely event in the first place—is drawing unlikely comments from officials of states invited to enter.

The crabs will run in the third annual Governor's Cup, part of the 15th annual Hard Crab Derby held in Crisfield, a small waterman's town on the eastern shore of the Chesapeake Bay. Up to 15,000 persons are expected for the three-day festival, of which a crab race is a part.

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis of Louisiana wrote Maryland's Gov. J. Millard Tawes that his invitation arrived too late to capture a suitable contestant for the derby.

"Our Louisiana crabs are possessed, not only of tremendous speed, but with a high intelligence quotient," Davis said.

Alabama's director of conservation, William C. Younger, wrote that Alabama couldn't send an entry. The reason?

"The crabs in Alabama are so superior in every respect and are so fast they might not be able to catch one in time."

The race is run on a 16-foot inclined plywood track. The first crab to pass the finish line at the bottom is the winner.

An early favorite is Virginia Creeper III, son of the 1961 winner.

Other entries are expected from North Carolina, Delaware, Oregon, New Jersey and Maryland.

The purpose of all this is to promote the seafoods industry of Chesapeake Bay.

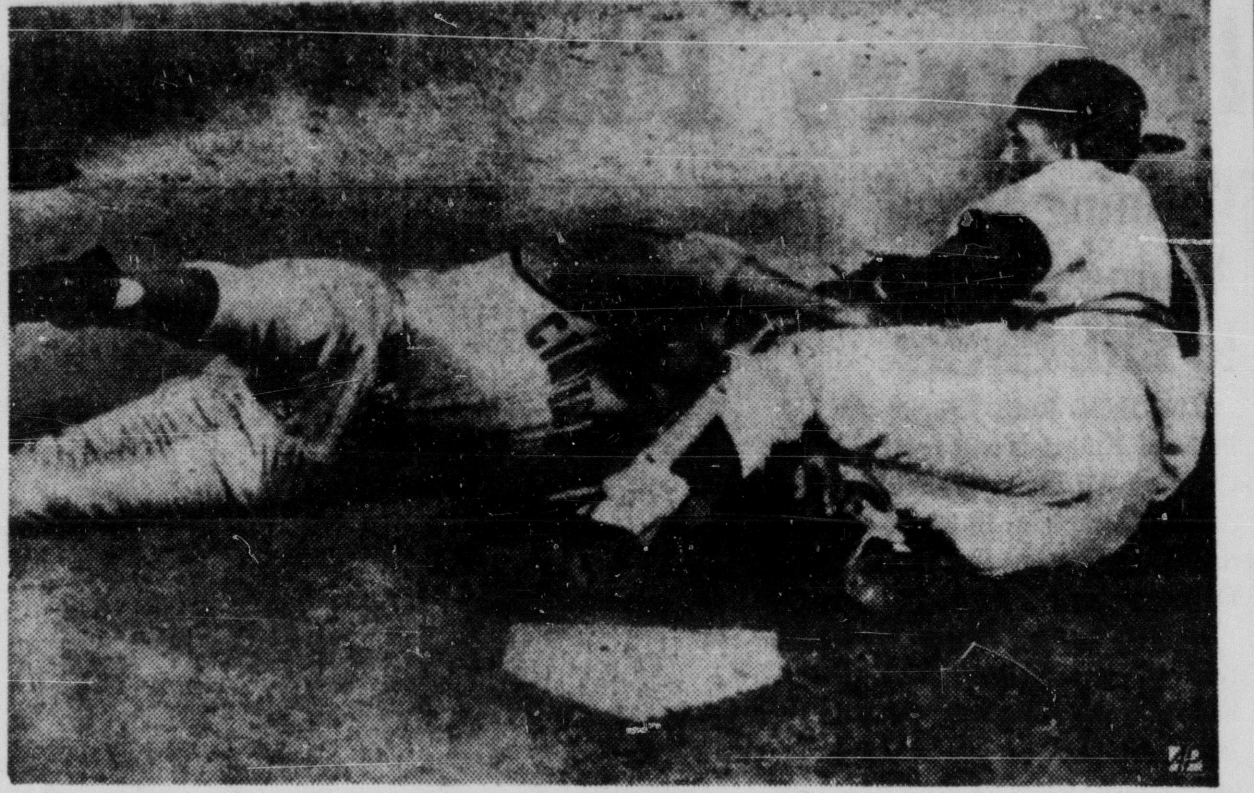
Houston Captures Pony League Title

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—Houston won the Pony League World Series Thursday night, beating Greensboro, N.C., 4-1.

Hugh Hamilton was the winning pitcher, while Mike Long took the loss. Hamilton struck out 15 and walked only one batter.

John Brock carried the bulk of the Houston batting load with three hits. In the third inning he doubled, driving in Mike Pearce, who had singled, and in the seventh, he hit a bases-empty homer.

Greensboro's only run came in the fifth on a home run by catcher Dean Shore.



NIPPED AT THE PLATE — Cincinnati's Frank Robinson is tagged out at the plate by Dodger catcher John Roseboro as he tried to score from second in 13th inning of game at Dodger Stadium. The Los Angeles team won in the 13th, 2-1. (AP Wirephoto).

NFL's Practice Licks Near End

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

All National Football League clubs take their next-to-last licks in exhibition play this weekend.

And it's the last chance for the American Football League teams, who begin regular season play next weekend, with Denver and Oakland meeting tonight in Stockton, Calif., and champion Houston playing the Dallas Texans in Miami, Fla.

Saturday afternoon, San Diego entertains the New York Titans while Buffalo is at Boston Saturday night, rounding out the AFL activity.

There are five NFL games Saturday night, with the Cleveland Browns (3-0) playing the Los Angeles Rams (2-1) in Los Angeles; the Dallas Cowboys (0-3) taking on San Francisco (2-1) at Sacramento, Calif.; the Detroit Lions (2-1) playing the St. Louis Cards (1-1-1) in Omaha, Neb.;, Philadelphia's Eagles (2-1) facing Pittsburgh (1-2) at Hershey, Pa., and two winless clubs, Chicago (0-3) and Washington (0-3) tangling in Norfolk, Va.

Sunday afternoon, the Baltimore Colts (3-0) and Minnesota Vikings (0-3) play in the Twin Cities, while the New York Giants (1-1-1) return to the scene of their 37-0 shellacking by the Green Bay Packers (4-0) in the 1961 title game for a Labor Day night game.

Jack Nicklaus In Dallas Open

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — Doug Sanders, winner of three tournaments and among the top finishers in nine others, and National Open champion Jack Nicklaus headed the field in the $35,000 Dallas Open today.

The tournament started with Sanders and Nicklaus favorites for the $5,300 first money but with Earl Stewart, the home pro who won it last year, considered a very strong possibility.

Short-swinging Doug is the hottest player at this time, having won the last two tournaments. Nicklaus was eyed because of his great putting, since skill on the greens will be at a premium. They are not in very good shape.

Eleven players who have won tournaments this year and five of the 10 top money-winners were competing. The pros were talking about 276 or 277 winning the 72-hole event that runs through Monday. Stewart thought 275 might take the title. He won it with 278 last year.

Arnold Palmer, the biggest winner in golf, is not playing here.

LBJ Dances in Street

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) —U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson held hands in a circle of 12 lovely Turkish girls and danced in the middle of the street in Nicosia's Turkish quarter today.

Hundreds of Turkish Cypriots cheered the impromptu entertainment.

The vice president and his wife, who arrived in Cyprus on Thursday for a 24-hour state visit, got the most enthusiastic welcome of their visit in the Turkish quarter of Nicosia's old walled city.

Tail of Halley's Comet at its last appearance in 1910 was estimated as being 93 million miles long.

Two Million Likely for LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If the Los Angeles Dodgers were as far ahead in the standings as they are in attendance, they couldn't help winning the National League pennant if they played the rest of the season on stilts.

They've got a chance to go over 2 million in home attendance tonight when they open a three-game series with Milwaukee. And, with 18 home dates left, they can hardly miss breaking their own National League attendance record of 2,253,887, set two years ago at the coliseum.

Meanwhile, down on the field, the Dodgers are looking somewhat less prosperous. They've lost 10 of their last 18 games.

Their lead over second-place San Francisco was reduced to 2½ games Thursday night when they were beaten 5-4 by Cincinnati before a crowd of 43,588. This turnout raised Dodger home attendance to 1,967,365.

Wild Turkey Shoot in Fall

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A six-day season on wild turkeys will be held this fall in four Upstate counties, the State Conservation Department has announced.

The department scheduled the season to run from Oct. 22 to 27 in the counties of Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua and Steuben after department game biologists reported a huntable surplus of turkeys in the area.

Announcement of the turkey season was made Thursday by the department.

In a five-day season last year, hunters shot an estimated 250 birds.

Pipe smoking first was seen by the Portuguese in Brazil and by Frenchmen in Canada and Florida in the 16th century.

'Iron Woman' Still Rugged

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., (AP)—The "Iron woman" of tennis from behind the Iron Curtain is Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, still going strong after more than 30 years on the courts.

"It's wonderful to be back—I never thought it would happen," the 49-year-old Polish matron said today, scanning the broad green expanse of the West Side Tennis Club.

"It's like a dream."

Jadwiga is playing again in the United States Championships where 25 years ago—in 1937—she gained the women's singles final before losing to Anita Lizana of Chile.

"I returned in 1938 and lost in the semifinals," she recalled. "That was my last year. The war came, and. . ."

Jadwiga has been Poland's No. 1 player since 1929 and she has won the national championship 26 times. She was finalist at Wimbledon in 1937, losing to England's Dorothy Round.

Fine Whisenant $100 For Wednesday Row

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Pete Whisenant of the Cincinnati Reds was fined $100 Thursday and suspended for three days by National League President Warren Giles.

Whisenant was disciplined for his part in a dispute during the 12th inning of Cincinnati's game with the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday night. Whisenant and Cincinnati Manager Fred Hutchinson were ejected from the game after a balk was called on Joey Jay in the Dodger 12th.

The English language is not well adapted for singing since it is hard for the voice to form English words and musical tones at the same time.

Reliefers Boon To Jack Sanford

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jack Sanford, the San Francisco Giants right-hander, has collected more relief help in 2½ months than most pitchers get in a career—but he's invested it wisely to build a 19-6 record that is studded with 13 consecutive victories.

Thursday his bullpen helpmates reached their pinnacle of generosity. Five relievers paraded to the mound in the final 2 1-3 innings against the Milwaukee Braves.

When they were finished, the Braves had loaded the bases in the eighth with one out, loaded them again in the ninth with none away but scored nary a run as the Giants won 3-2 for Sanford.

Burly Jack thus extended the major leagues' longest 1962 pitching win streak while at the same time getting relief help for the 13th time in 17 starts since he last was defeated.

The 33-year-old fireballer, compiling a 6-6 record through June 13, had a 3.58 earned run average. With a 3.50 ERA since then, he's won 13 straight.

Glenerie Club Draws Largest Bridge Crowd

More than 72 players, the largest entry ever to compete in a bridge tournament in Ulster county, participated in the monthly Master Point competition of the Glenerie Bridge Club.

Because of the large entry, the tournament was divided into two sections—A and B.

Mrs. Dorothy Schoenbrun and Marie Degenhardt of Poughkeepsie posted a 59 per cent game to pace the Section A North-South side. Robert Vosacek and Jerry Anderson, Saugerties, turned in an excellent 64 per cent on the East-West.

Runnersup on the North-South side were: Mrs. I.H. Wheatcroft-Harry Thayer, Kingston, 56 per cent; Maury Corn-Thomas Goodwin, Poughkeepsie, 55 per cent. On the East-West; Mrs. Paul Mezer- Mrs. Morton Honig, Kingston, 59 per cent; Mrs. Elizabeth Boedecker- Mrs. Eleanor Trkller, Poughkeepsie, 56 per cent.

Charles Rice, Saugerties, and Joseph Pechloff, Kingston, combined for a 58 per cent win on the North-South side of Section B. Robert Smith, Poughkeepsie, and Joseph Zahtila, Hyde Park, turned in a whopping 72½ game, second highest of the season, to lead the East-West contingent.

Runnersup on the North-South side were: Dr. John Roberts-George Baron, Kingston, 55 per cent; Dr. and Mrs. Irving Adner, Kingston, 54½ per cent. On the East-West side it was Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Peck, Woodland, 57 per cent; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yallum, Kingston, ,56½ per cent.

A Fractional point game is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

North Bidding Traps South

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The American North-South bidding is shown in the box. This pair was playing a convention that a single raise in a minor suit was a game force. Hence, North's two club response. South's two spade rebid was normal and he had to go to four spades after North raised to three. Then North bid five diamonds and South went to five spades.

Opening lead ♥ 10

Of course, South had just about the worst possible opening bid, even then South might have made his contract.

West opened the ten of hearts. East won the trick and shifted to the deuce of clubs. South's eight was covered by West's ten and dummy's jack.

South could have made the hand by playing two high spades from dummy and winning with the queen in his hand. Then he could lead the queen of clubs. West's best play would be to duck. East would ruff and a heart lead would establish a trick in dummy while any other lead would allow South to establish his fifth club. Of course, South would have to take a diamond finesse, but finesses are meant to be taken. South missed this play and wound up down two.

WELL-PREPARED—Miss Nancy Kingwell, 21, has prepared well for her job as an East Grand Rapids, Mich., policewoman. She holds a bachelor of science degree in police administration and public safety from Michigan State U., at East Lansing.

Problem Solved

EGGERTSVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—The Rev. John L. Kinzel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church here, has solved the problem of how to get people to sit up front in church. The solution: Air condition only half the church—the front half. The method worked out effectively when an air conditioning system was only partially installed one Sunday, but the pastor has decided to go ahead and install the rear portion, too.

Two Escape Injury

Two motorists escaped injury at 4:30 p. m. Thursday when their cars were involved in a collision on Route 209 about one-eighth of a mile north of Ellenville. State police said the vehicles were driven by Gerald Levine, 18, of Willimantic, Conn., and David Sammons, 18, Highland.

The iris, because of its delicate texture and sparkling hues, is named in honor of the Goddess of the Rainbow.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ken Maynard relaxed under the awning outside his trailer home and talked about the old days.

"There was Tom Mix, Buck Jones, Hoot Gibson and me," he recalled. "They called us the Big Four of the westerns. We had two things in common: We were all range cowboys and we had all come to pictures from wild west shows."

Voice Notes Sadness

Ken's voice had a touch of sadness. This week he buried Hoot, whom he had known for 40 years in Hollywood. They had ridden the range together in a co-starring series. They worked hard and played hard; in the 1930s they cracked up in a plane during air races.

"Hoot was hurt pretty bad in that crash," the old cowboy said. "But he got over it. What really banged him up was a horse he was riding in a show in Buffalo. It reared up and fell on him, Hoot had a bad back after that happened. A lot of these old injuries come back to haunt you."

Ken is knitting a broken shoulder and is once again rehearsing his roping tricks. He hopes to get back on the rodeo circuit before the season closes.

How did he break his shoulder?

"I should say that my horse slipped," he said with a hearty laugh. "But it was a darnfool thing — I fell off the top of the trailer."

Ken and his wife Bertha live in a cozy trailer near the center of San Fernando, 15 miles north of Hollywood. They recently sold their Valley home and are living a less encumbered life, for a while at least.

Still Rodeo Attraction

Now a well-padded but still powerful 67, Ken spends many weeks of the year doing his roping act at rodeos and fairs. "Once I had 13 straight weeks of bookings and I never left the state of Texas," he said. He was born in Mission, Tex.

A world's champion roper and bronc rider, he was starring in Ringling Brothers - Barnum and Bailey Circus when Fox brought him to Hollywood in 1922.

"I didn't know it at the time, but they brought me out as a kind of club to keep Tom Mix and Buck Jones in line," he said. "The boys were giving the studio trouble about options. Fox never used me, so I got out. I didn't have much trouble getting a job."

He became a star immediately and for 20 years appeared in one western series after another. His peak salary was $5,000 a week, but he netted as much as $8,000 a week when he was operating his own company.

Rising costs and television wiped out the program western after the war, and Ken dropped out of films after 1947. Asked if he saved his money, he said "I've still got a couple of bucks."

In musical compositions, a movement entitled scherzo is one that is humorous and capricious in character.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

Building Is Well Under Way for Rosendale Bank

Construction work on a new building for the National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties, Rosendale, is well under way, according to Leif G. Anderson, assistant vice president, who said workers are in the process of constructing the foundation and the vault.

Within two weeks, the bank executive said, work will begin on raising the steel for the structure, being built on Route 32 opposite Sportsmen's Park in the village of Rosendale. "We have outgrown the present bank quarters," Anderson said. "The facilities at the new building will provide more convenience for our customers."

Anderson said the building will be 50 by 40 feet, all steel construction with baked enamel, and the bank will contain 2,000 square feet of floor space. A drive-in window and additional safe deposit boxes, will be included in the structure, to improve service and better serve the area.

Parking facilities will be increased adjacent to the bank. The interior will have walnut paneling.

Anderson said it is impossible at this time to give a completion date, because of landscaping, construction of driveways and other added facilities.

'Bishop' Waiting In Jail to Tell Of Church Fire

The Rev. Settie Bradley Chappell, 67, also known as Bishop S. B. Chappell, who was involved in 1957 in a prolonged dispute over the pastorship of St. Mark's Church, drew attention of authorities again Thursday after he again allegedly entered the church without permission.

A report last night said the Rev. Chappell had been seen entering the building with a crowbar and smoke was seen coming from the building.

Firemen, called to the church at 9:28 p. m., said papers and rags were found burning in a hot air, oil-fired heater. The fire was checked with pressurized water.

Units from Central Station and the Wicks Company answered the call to the church with Deputy Chief Julius Bucholtz in charge.

Lacks $500 Bail

Police booked the Rev. Chappell on a charge dealing with his alleged "returning to take possession of lands after being removed by legal process," in violation of a section of the penal law. He was arraigned before City Judge Joseph D. Scacoman, who fixed bail at $500. It was not posted and he was lodged in jail pending appearance this morning.

Judge Saccoman today put hearing over to Sept. 7. Bail was not immediately posted this morning. Attorney Kirtland F. Snyder appeared for him and Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr. for the district attorney's office.

Police noted reports Thursday morning also that someone had entered the church.

The Rev. Alfred Banks, who has been serving as pastor of the church was in court this morning. He claims to have been duly authorized to serve as pastor.

Let Go in December

Charges of unlawful intrusion on the church property against Chappell were dismissed in city court last December. Two charges of intrusion had been listed in September, 1961. He was advised in December to stay away from the property.

A June, 1955 report said the Rev. Chappell, who had been pastor of the AME Zion Church, of Coxsackie, had been appointed to the local church. A March, 1957 report said that an elder, the Rev. M. D. Bert, of Schenectady, reported him suspended. A report then said Chappell had changed the name from St. Mark's AME Church to the African Union Methodist Church, claiming that it was organized as such over 100 years ago. He claims there is no record of transfer. It was also noted in the report that Chappell intended to set himself up as a bishop of the African Union Methodist Congregation by virtue of a clause in the by-laws and on direction "from the Man up there."

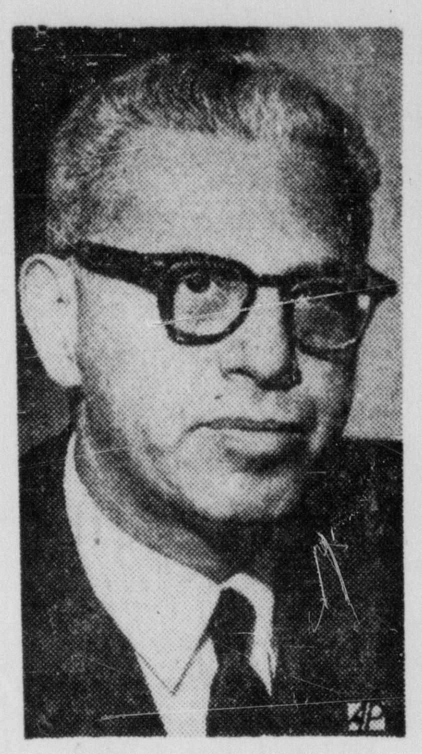
Goldberg Says He's Glad Beyond Words



ARTHUR J. GOLDBERG

W. WILLARD WIRTZ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two members of a mutual admiration society have returned to Washington, delighted with their new, higher stations in government life.

Puns and talk of filling shoes were in the air Thursday as W. Willard Wirtz and Arthur J. Goldberg met newsmen.

Exchange Bouquets

Goldberg is leaving President Kennedy's cabinet to replace Felix Frankfurter as an associate justice of the Supreme Court. Wirtz has been moved up from undersecretary to replace Goldberg as secretary of labor.

On their arrival from Chicago, where the two made an unsuccessful effort to head off a telegraphers strike against the Chicago & North Western Railroad, the former labor lawyers tossed bouquets at each other.

Goldberg said he suggested Wirtz as a successor. The gray-haired justice-designate said he was "delighted beyond words" that Kennedy picked Wirtz.

"If Mr. Goldberg intends a pun and means to say he is delighted beyond Wirtz, he is wrong," quipped Wirtz.

Wirtz said Goldberg, feeling somewhat grimy after the plane trip, donned a clean shirt just before the news conference and offered to lend Wirtz one.

Prefers His Shoes

"No, Mr. Secretary," Wirtz said he replied. "I'd rather try your shoes on."

It would have been a tight squeeze. The 6-foot-1 Wirtz wears size 13, Goldberg size 9.

Wirtz said he will follow Goldberg's principles, although he remarked that new problems are always arising and a man "can never step in the same river twice."

Wirtz had been vacationing with his family at a mountain resort near Winchester, Va., before going to Chicago with Goldberg and getting the news there by telephone from Kennedy that he had been chosen for the Cabinet.

Resuming his vacation, he was greeted Thursday night with homemade signs manufactured by youngsters saying, "Congratch our new secretary of labor" and "No strikes with Wirtz."

Then came a late supper — a cold roast beef sandwich.

Five Are Injured In City Mishaps; Boy, 3 Hit by Car

A boy was injured Thursday afternoon in a downtown traffic mishap, another suffered a head injury in a fall and three persons reported injuries after a two-car colision at Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue.

Stephen Rowles, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Rowles, of 118 Broadway was reported in fair condition today at Kingston Hospital where he is under treatment for a head injury and possible concussion suffered in a mishap at Broadway and East Pierpont Street reported at 4 p. m.

Police said Janice Cohen, 19, of 15 Hasbrouck Avenue, driver of the car involved, reported that the boy ran off the sidewalk from in front of a parked car into the path of the moving vehicle.

The boy was taken to the hospital in a Fatum ambulance. Sgt. Bernard Fowler with officers John Kennedy and Thomas Carpino, detectives Harold DeGraff and Gurnsey Burger, investigated.

Injured in the mishap at Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue reported at 1:01 p. m. were: Marjorie P. Lewis, 55, of 133 Boulevard, Glen Rock, N. J., neck and head injuries; Vivian Wolfe, 65, of 1012 West 10th Street, Marion, Ind., neck injury and Jennings B. Wolfe, 65, same address, driver of the one car, who reported a neck injury. They were to be treated by a doctor. All were riding in the Wolfe car.

Police said the car driven by Wolfe had stopped in a line of traffic and was struck in the rear by a car driven by Ralph A. DeCicco, 18, of 119 Kirsted Avenue.

An earlier report said Donald Bicknell, 6, of 22 Post Street, was treated at the Benedictine Hospital for a head injury suffered in a fall.

Would Continue Readings

BOSTON (AP)—Dr. Owen B. Kiernan, Massachusetts Commissioner of Education, has advised local school authorities to continue Bible readings in the public schools.

A memorandum from Kiernan said, "It is the feeling of the department that the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court in the New York case held unconstitutional only the voluntary recitation of a prayer which was composed by a public authority."

Farmer Guards Deployed

GANGTOK, Sikkim (AP)—The Communist Chinese army is settling units called "farmer guards" along the inhospitable Himalayan frontier to "secure the Tibetan border," according to reports reaching this Indian-protected border princedom.

The "farmer guards" sometimes are whole families which [illegible] additional task of trying to convert Tibetans to commu[illegible] otherwise influence them to Chinese ways of life.

U. S. Renews Price Suit Against GM

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Justice Department, in a civil suit, is renewing its attempt to prevent General Motors from allegedly trying to control prices at which its dealers sell cars.

The suit, filed Thursday, in the U.S. District Court in Los Angeles parallels a criminal indictment returned last Oct. 12.

In Detroit, a General Motors spokesman said the company had not received official notification of the civil suit. He referred questioners to a statement issued by Chairman Frederick G. Donner after the October criminal indictment.

Donner said then that the government's charges were without foundation.

Donner's statement said, in part: "General Motors has made no agreements with its dealers or anyone else, nor have we inflicted or threatened to inflict any sanctions on dealers supplying cars to discount house outlets."

Named as defendant in the new suit along with General Motors were these Chevrolet dealers associations—Losor Chevrolet Dealers Association of Los Angeles and Orange Counties; Dealers Service, Inc. of Los Angeles County; and Foothill Chevrolet Dealers of Los Angeles, Riverside and San Bernardino Counties.

The criminal indictment, now awaiting trial, was brought against the same defendants and three Chevrolet sales officials.

The civil suit accuses the defendants of trying to pressure Chevrolet dealers from selling to discount operators or referral services—both a widespread factor in California Chevrolet sales.

Pulaski Day Oct. 11

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Oct. 11 has been designated by Gov. Rockefeller as Pulaski Day in New York State in honor of a Polish general killed while fighting in the service of the American Revolutionary Army.

The day honors the memory of Casimir Pulaski, who died Oct. 11, 1779, during the Battle of Savannah.

Fitzpatrick Driving for Morgenthau

NEW YORK (AP) — The Morgenthau - for - governor bandwagon rolled on today with Paul E. Fitzpatrick of Buffalo, former Democratic state chairman, in the driver's seat.

The question of where the power was coming from remained the subject of hot debate.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner, the state's top Democrat; Democratic State chairman William H. McKeon and the White House are reported widely to look with favor on Robert M. Morgenthau for the gubernatorial nomination.

All Declare Neutrality

But all have declared their neutrality in the scramble.

Morgenthau, U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York, has made no public statement on the drive to name him as the man to run against Gov. Rockefeller in November.

Fitzpatrick Thursday became chairman of the brand - new Friends for Morgenthau Committee.

He said that if Morganthau "takes my advice," he would announce today his willingness to run and thereby remove all doubt.

Fitzpatrick said there was no question of Morgenthau's willingness to make the race.

Predicts First Ballot

He predicted that Morgenthau would be nominated on the first ballot at the Democratic State Convention opening Sept. 17 at Syracuse.

Fitzpatrick, a corporation executive and Democratic state chairman from 1944 through 1952, said he will work throughout the state in Morgenthau's behalf and will be a delegate to the convention.

Efforts to stop the drive for Morgenthau were continued by the three men campaigning for the nomination — Queens Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady and Canandaigua industrialist Howard J. Samuels.

Cooler Air Moves EastFromRockies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain and thunderstorms spread across scattered sections in the East today but clear weather prevailed in most Western areas.

A flow of warm humid air from the Gulf streamed northward Thursday over the Plains states and clashed with much cooler air pushing eastward from the Rockies.

Thunderstorms broke out along the boundary between the two contrasting air masses from northern Kansas through eastern Nebraska and western Iowa into the western Great Lakes region and from Wyoming southward to New Mexico.

Rain and thunderstorms continued during the night and early morning in Midwest areas into the Central Plains with heavy downpours in northwest Iowa. More than nine inches of rain drenched Ida Grove, Iowa, in a 12-hour period, causing some flooding. Nearly seven inches doused Pocahontas with amounts from 3 to 4½ inches in other areas.

Light rain and showers dampened southern sections of the Middle Mississippi Valley. Fog covered scattered sections of the Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley, Maine, along the coast in the Middle and Southern Atlantic Coast states, the Upper and Middle Mississippi Valley, the Central Plains and along coastal areas in the Pacific Coast states.

Coolest spots were in the Northern and Central Rockies with temperatures in the 40s. The 50s prevailed in the Northern and Central Plains and Central Plateau regions with the 60s and 70s across the major part of the country. Hot spots were in the southwest desert region.

New Exhibitors In Colony Arts Antiques Show

Two shows in one — antiques and gifts — are the features at Colony Center in Woodstock this weekend. The show is open each day from 1 to 10 p. m. and continues through Sept. 2.

Collectors of antique jewelry will be interested in the displays of such well-known out-of-town dealers as Henry Purnie, Utica; Benjamin Ginsberg, Philadelphia; and Rose Meisels, Hunter.

There will be a display and sale of early maps of Woodstock and the Catskill Mountain Preserve made in 1875, in addition to books for collectors and casual readers.

An unusual feature of the gift portion of the show will be a display of fur rugs made from African animal skins from the firm of D. J. Guccione in New York. The display will include zebra, somali leopard, lion and other African skins, as well as Bengal tiger from India, the snow leopard from the East, goat skins from Tasmania, sheep skins from Iceland and many others that were exhibited last Monday on the Today TV show on NBC.

Local exhibitors include Sonia Rubin and Dorothy Seessle of Woodstock and Margaret Ruth Smith of Saugerties.

Following the antiques and gift show the Colony Arts Center will continue to be open throughout the fall season as the facilities of the entire premises have been reserved by organizations conducting workshops and seminars in the fields of political science and economics.

Reformed Church News and Notes

Sunday morning worship, 11 a. m., at the Dutch Reformed Church in Woodstock. David Bourns, Student Minister, will preach the sermon.

A congregational meeting to vote upon the invitation of a permanent pastor for the church will be held Tuesday, Sept. 4, at 7:30 p. m. A good attendance is imperative.

The adult Bible study group meets in the parsonage of the church on Thursday, Sept. 6, at 7:30 p. m. to discuss and study Matthew, chapters 25 through 28. Everyone is invited.

Rotary's Barbecue Is Great Success

The Woodstock Rotary Club's first annual chicken barbecue held last Saturday was a tremendous success, the club reports.

The committee wishes to extend its thanks to all who had a part in making this affair a smash hit. More than 300 meals were served and to the club's disappointment some late arrivals had to be turned away.

Cardarolas Have 25th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cardarola of Woodstock, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Aug. 24. They journey to Lake Carmel for a visit with friends and were honored with a party there.

Cardarola is the popular maitre d' at Deanie's Restaurant and Mrs. Cardarola is active in the League of Women Voters.

The Cardarolas have been permanent residents of Woodstock for six years, coming here from New York City. They spent several summers in Woodstock prior to moving here and at one time they operated the restaurant and cocktail lounge at the Woodstock Country Club.

During his long restaurant career in New York City, Cardarola was one of the best known men in the trade in the Wall Street business district. He held important posts at Mosseletti's on Wall Street and also at the Robert Restaurant, one of the swankiest French eating places in New York. He was widely recognized as a superior mixologist and was widely known by his clientele as "Smiling Joe" Cardarola.

Ann Gleitsman Concert Hailed

At this, her premiere solo performance, lovely dark-haired Ann Gleitsman walked on and sustained throughout her performance, the poise and presence of a singer.

In addition to her natural grace and the assurance of her own familiarity with her subject—roles, there was the felicitous climare born of a "sympatico" between performer and complement—accompanist, who was Salvador Ley.

Together, the enchantment held from the first warm and lyrical note. Miss Gleitsman has a wide vocal range and projected with equal facility the low tone, even as she was at home in her high and perfectly-controlled upper register.

The program opened with "Un Moto di Goia" followed by "Deh Vieni Non Tardar" aria from The Marriage of Figaro, both by Mozart. In this latter opera, Miss Gleitsman has in the recent past taken the lead of Susannah on radio. She has also sung radio, with the former Amato Opera in New York.

There followed then, Selgkeit by Schubert; Standchen by Richard Strauss; Das Madchen Spricht by Brahms and Regnava nel Silenzio by Donizetti. Intermission was followed by L'Invitation Au Voyage by Dupare; Si Mes Vers Des Ailes by Hahn and Ialo's L'Esclave.

After these, Miss Gleitsman sang Fiocca La Neve by Cimara; Songs My Mother Taught Me by Dvorak; Little Star by Moussorgsky and Del Cabello by Obradora. Except for two of these which were sung in English, all were sung in their original tongues of Italian, German, Spanish and French. To these varied languages, Miss Gleitsman gave not only a native flavor of diction and clarity, but also a dramatic depth and flair which easily translated themselves into universal understanding.

Following appreciative and sustained applause, the singer graciously responded with Musetta's Waltz from La Boheme and Standchen by Vergebliches.

Miss Gleitsman and her family have been Woodstock residents for some years. Here now, Woodstock adds yet another star to the galaxy in its firmament . . . MAY MYERS.

St. Pete Suspects Eight Deaths by Sleeping Sickness

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —An outbreak of sleeping sickness, an unusual disease that affects the brain and nervous system, has hit this Florida West Coast resort area, with varying repercussions.

Pinellas County officials report 108 suspected cases of the illness, formally called encephalitis, and say they suspect eight deaths have been caused by it.

Motel and hotel operators along the Gulf Coast beaches say they have received numerous out-of-town reservation cancellations, although most report they are filled up for the Labor Day weekend.

Sleeping sickness is marked by nerve cell destruction, muscular weakness and lethargy.

Health officials say it is caused by the bite of a certain type of mosquito. It cannot be transmitted from one person to another. The mosquito gets the sleeping sickness virus from infected birds that migrate to the St. Petersburg area.

An all-out spraying campaign is on to try to eradicate the mosquitoes.

The disease can be confirmed only by laboratory tests which take several weeks.

Boy on Bicycle Killed

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Richard Ballard, 15, was killed Thursday when the bicycle he was riding and an automobile collided near his home in suburban West Glens Falls. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Ballard.

Brothers Killed As Cyclist Rams Times Sq. Crowd

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Minneapolis men were fatally injured Thursday when an out-of-control motorcycle plowed into a group of pedestrians in Times Square.

Killed were Julius Badiner, 60, and his brother, Jack, 62. They had come to New York in connection with their Minnesota knitting mill.

Richard Zagami, 20, the motorcycle driver, told police his cycle struck a depression in 43rd Street, causing him to lose control.

No charge was placed against Zagami, who was slightly injured.

Also struck by the cycle was Leo Beal, 32, of Jackson Heights. Beal was treated at a hospital and released.

After Shocks May Follow Quake in Six-State Area

LOGAN, Utah (AP)—Some apprehensive feelings remained after Thursday's earthquake shook this Northern Utah community.

The tremors also rumbled through sections of Wyoming, Montana, Nevada, Idaho and Colorado. There were no injuries.

Several small tremors followed the initial shock. Residents were warned larger aftershocks are possible.

Six old brick homes in nearby Richmond were ruined by the quake. A sugar plant north of Logan and four buildings at Utah State University here were damaged.

Logan Junior High School remained closed today because of damaged walls but most schools planned classes.

Scientists estimated the shock at 5.7 on the Richter Scale. The San Francisco quake in 1906 was 8.25.

Three Types May Be Like Bum, All Lack Drive Force

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The carefree bachelor, the idle retired man and the playboy who can't hold a job may have something in common with the bum on skid row.

Professor Boris M. Levinson told the American Psychological Association in a paper to be presented today the bum "has nothing driving him, has nothing to live for, and does not want to become anything."

Homeless men in the middle and upper income brackets would end up in skid row if they did not have money, said Levinson. Instead, they may be found in residential hotels, retired at an early age or jumping from one job to another.

All homeless men lack close personal relationships, he said.

Levinson said the homeless man "does not look for security, for a place to remain and stay for a long time. He prefers his freedom even if it is only freedom to starve or to beg. He wishes to do only simple, non-responsible, short-term jobs that provide spot cash. He avoids, as the plague, all jobs which may bring about self-involvement.

"It takes almost as long to learn to become homeless and to develop the necessary 'professional' attitudes as it takes to become a professional such as a physician or a psychologist."

Dems Now Hit Rocky's Eating

NORWICH, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has a tendency to reach for food instead of facts when campaigning and it adds up to a "lot of political chop suey," the Democratic state chairman contends.

"Instead of giving voters facts on unemployment," Democratic chairman William E. McKeon said Thursday night, "he eats hot dogs."

McKeon told a Chenango County Democratic dinner that the governor, who often eats a wide assortment of foods while campaigning, would rather have pizza, bagel or chili con carne than discuss state issues.

Visiting the State Exposition in Syracuse Thursday, Rockefeller had eggs for breakfast, shrimp and rice for lunch and only milk between meals.

Brown Re-elected

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — J. Moreau Brown of New York City was re-elected Thursday to a three-year term as general secretary of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Dr. Paul Van Riper, professor of administration at Cornell University's Graduate School of Business and Public Administration, was elected vice president and scholarship commissioner, also for a three-year term.

Test of Heat Shields

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP) —Space agency scientists sent a four-stage Scout rocket aloft today in an experiment aimed at learning what kind of heat shields are needed on space vehicles returning to earth at speeds of about 18,000 miles an hour.

Fired about 80 miles high, it was expected to land in the Atlantic about 100 miles east of Bermuda. There was no attempt to recover the payload.

Advise Temporary Bridge To Delay Creek Project

MOTORISTS FEEL SQUEEZE OF RAIL STRIKE — Chicago's Northwest Expressway, foreground, and Edens Expressway, right, bear brunt of added traffic as commuters take to their cars for transportation after the Chicago and North Western Railway was shut down by a strike of railroad telegraphers. These two main highways serve the Chicago metropolis in which the railroad normally operates. (AP Wirephoto).

Bid Civilians Bar Ben Bella Troops

ALGIERS (AP)—The rebellious guerrillas holding Algiers called on unarmed civilians today to bar the roads to the capital to motorized columns of troops advancing from western Algeria.

The guerrilla commanders of Wilaya No. 4 in Algiers sent out a call to the population to form human barricades against the regular army troops supporting Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's quest for power.

Some Answer Call

Newsmen who drove as far as Affreville, 80 miles southwest of Algiers, saw half a dozen armed guerrilla roadblocks and groups of civilians answering the mobilization call.

There was no word of the advancing army columns. Thursday night they were reported about 150 miles from Algiers.

The entire area within an 80--mile radius of Algiers appeared firmly under control of the Wilaya 4 command.

Haul Communist Weapons

Telephone and telegraph connections were cut Thursday night shortly after European settlers reported by telephone that heavy convoys of Algerian troops, armed with Soviet and Chinese weapons, were moving along three highways toward Algiers and were about 150 miles from the capital.

It was not known if they halted for the night.

The army's chief of staff, Col. Houari Boumedienne, dispatched the units in obedience to an order from Ben Bella's Political Bureau to bring Algiers under the bureau's authority.

The motorized units apparently were part of the 12,000 men of the Algerian army stationed in Morocco during the war with France. The army is armed with Soviet and Chinese weapons, including cannon and some armor.

Pledge Resistance

In the capital, guerrilla units of the rebellious Wilayas (zones) 3 and 4 vowed to resist.

They called on the population to pour into the streets "despite machine guns" and oppose Ben Bella and his followers.

Politicians issued appeal after appeal for reason and conciliation to avert civil war. Some assured foreign diplomats "everything will blow over." French military sources said they believed a major armed conflict was not imminent. The French Army kept carefully to the sidelines.

There were few signs of tension in Algiers. There was no evidence of preparations to repel an attack.

The capital's garrison numbered about 4,000 guerrillas, but forces throughout the two zones total about 35,000 men. Ben Bella and Boumedienne have 45,000 men in the army and some 25,000 guerrillas of the four other wilayas whose commanders have pledged allegiance to the deputy premier and his Political Bureau.

Chicken Pox Is Report on Scare At N. Y. Airport

NEW YORK (AP) — Two suspected cases of smallpox which caused a quarantine of 200 persons at Idlewild Airport early today were diagnosed later as "most likely" chicken pox.

Extensive tests were continued at Bellevue Hospital, however.

The diagnosis by U.S. Public Health Service officials was reported by Dr. Stanley Goldstein, night supervisor at Bellevue, a few minutes after the victims arrived there.

200 Quarantined

The 200 at Idlewild Airport were quarantined for periods up to five hours during investigation of the suspected smallpox cases.

Goldstein said the Public Health Service officials gave him the "working diagnosis" of likely chickenpox while a Philadelphia woman and her three children—two of them with heavy rashes—were en route from the airport to the hospital.

Goldstein said he could not tell how long it would take the hospital to make a definite diagnosis.

The Public Health Service officials ordered the quarantine after they discovered what they considered "bad rashes" on the children.

The Philadelphia family was among a planeload of 132 persons who arrived at Idlewild from Brazil.

Baggage Fumigated

The quanrantine order covered the 122 passengers, 10 plane crew members and many airport employes who had contact with those on the plane.

Doctors gave vaccinations at the airport as those quarantined lined up.

All the passengers were released from quarantine by 6 a.m. They had to wait at the field until their baggage was fumigated. The Pan American World Airways jet on which they arrived also was fumigated.

The quarantine was the second smallpox investigation in the city this month. The first came after a 15-year-old boy with smallpox arrived at Idlewild Airport Aug. 11 en route from Brazil to canada.

Hoover Continues Satsifactory Gain

NEW YORK (AP) —Former President Herbert Hoover continued to recuperate satisfactorily today after undergoing a three-hour operation Tuesday for removal of an intestinal tumor.

A hospital spokesman in the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center said the 88-year-old former Republican president's condition was unchanged from Thursday night. At that time the hospital said Hoover had spent a much better day.

Prize-Winning Horse, Two Others Perish in Dutchess

Three horses including a prize winner perished and another was saved Thursday afternoon as flames swept a large frame barn at the Dutchess County fair grounds, Rhinebeck.

State Police and fire underwriters immediately started an investigation in an effort to determine the origin of the fire which also damaged a nearby stable The loss was estimated by troopers at upwards of $10,000.

Trooper Frank Jennings, Rhinebeck, told The Freeman the fire broke out at about noon yesterday and 10 minutes later the 24-stall barn had burned to the ground.

Rhinebeck firemen in command of Chief Fred Kilmer were dispatched to the scene and through mutual aid fire companies from Hillside, Red Hook and Rhinecliff were sent to the fairgrounds to assist in battling the flames.

When firemen arrived the horse stable owned by the Springbrook Riding Club, was enveloped in flames. One horse, which troopers said was to be destroyed next week, was rescued.

Trooper Jennings said the horses were owned by Nancy Brownell, Paul Van Auken and Eleanor Ambrose, all of Rhinebeck. The Brownell horse was a prize winner.

The trooper said two children were questioned, but they gave no information that might determine the origin of the fire.

Migrants Are Subject at Kiwanis Here

The plight of the migrant worker was told to the members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by C. Kenneth Tabor, manager of the Farm Credit Association of Kingston, and Robert Olmstead of Oakland, California, representing the New York Conference of the Methodist Church in the Hudson Valley migrant area.

The migrant laborer was pictured as unusually a southern Negro who, with his family, begins in Florida to follow the various harvests north in search of work. Approximately 3,000 of these laborers and their families are employed in southern Ulster County for fruit picking.

"This is a black picture of under-privileged people," said Tabor, who told of the housing and educational problems of these people.

Average $944 a Year

"They are unskilled laborers whose average wage is $944 per year because of the seasonal work. Their housing is usually inadequate, they have little education, and thus trouble comes from bad crops, lack of work, and lack of understanding," said Robert Olmstead. Housing in Ulster County was represented as the best in the country, and Olmstead also underscored the idea that "the farmer is not to blame for these conditions locally."

The Methodist Conference representative further pointed out that "this is a problem of complete personality disintegration—there is little to talk about between themselves and emotions are too great."

Stresses Lack of Education

He further emphasized the lack of education and the feeling of frustration and loneliness on the part of the migrant worker as the source of troubles and the cause of the plight in which these people find themselves.

In conclusion, both Olmstead and Tabor pointed towards education of the youth of these workers as the "hope for their future," and indicated that within the past several years some progress has been made along educational lines in southern Ulster County.

Rail Pact Hope Dim: Conferees

Walkout by 1,000 Has Idled 16,500

CHICAGO (AP) — Leaders of the strike-bound Chicago and North Western Railway and the striking Order of Railroad Telegraphers met today in a third floor hotel dining room to discuss their dispute at a federal mediator's urging.

The management and union executives sat down with poker-faces for the closed door meeting with Francis A. O'Neill Jr., of the National Mediation Board.

Cites Obligation

Before the session, O'Neill commented to newsmen, "Both sides have an obligation to settle this strike." He said a lengthy strike would hurt both sides because the public is the only client, and can place much of its business elsewhere.

However, conferees indicated little hope that the walkout of some 1,000 telegraphers and idling of 16,500 North Western employes could be ended before next week.

The stoppage Friday made a ghost carrier of the big Midwestern rail system, third largest in the nation.

The strike halted all trains on the 10,600 miles of tracks used by the railroad in nine Midwestern states. Members of other rail unions, refused to cross the telegraphers' picket lines.

180 Commuter Trains Out

Twenty daily long-run trains and 180 commuter runs were stopped. Some 35,000 daily commuters in the Chicago area who rode the trains from suburbs to and from work scrambled for other means of transportation.

There were jams on buses, other rail lines and expressways. Car pools and even helicopters helped get the commuters on their way.

About 40,000 freight cars, 417 passenger cars and 750 diesel locomotives stood idle.

The railroad estimated its loss of revenue at $600,000 a day of the strike and the loss of payroll to employes at $2,375,000 a week.

The normally bustling North Western station, the carrier's general headquarters, was a cavern. Lights were dimmed and restaurants, snack shops and news stands were closed. One ticket window remained open—for persons wishing to cash in tickets.

On a Milwaukee Railroad train from nearby Elgin, a conductor gave up trying to collect fares when he was unable to push through crowded aisles.

Threatens Shipments

The strike threatened grain shipments from the Great Plains to flour mills in Minneapolis. Manufacturers served only by North Western rail facilities moved their must-shipments by truck to and from plants. Much of the normal movement of in-

Smiling Rocky Is Taken for Auto Salesman at Fair

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brunner were looking over an automobile exhibit at the State Exposition Thursday when a man greeted them with a broad smile.

The stranger moved along quickly, however, and Mrs. Brunner said to her husband, "You didn't know who that was, did you?"

"I thought it was a fella trying to sell me a car," said Brunner, 70.

The man was Gov. Rockefeller, touring the grounds on the exposition's annual Governor's Day.

2 Local Men Favored by Death Ruling

Findings of a Rensselaer County coroner Thursday favored two Kingston men who are being held upstate on charges resulting of the investigation of the recent death of an Albany hospital orderly whose body, police said, had been dumped into a Troy parking lot Aug. 21.

Authorities said Robert Frederick Harvey, 21, of 114 O'Neil Street, and Thomas Sauer, 21, of 7 Wiltwyck Avenue, admitted dragging the body of Robert Seymour Rush, 47, of 337 Madison Avenue, Albany, from a car believing him to be only "stone drunk" at the time.

Going to Court Sept. 6

Rensselaer County Coroner Anthony E. Matera, ruled Thursday that Rush had died of a heart attack. This precludes the need of lodging more serious charges.

Harvey and Sauer remained in Rensselaer County jail pending hearing on misdemeanor charges dealing with their alleged outraging of public decency. A Sept. 6 court appearance was set.

A report Aug. 24 said detainers had been filed with Rensselaer County authorities by those in Albany County charging the two with larceny. State police reported finding a wallet, shoe and other articles belonging to Rush in the Town of Colonie, Albany County.

Seen Riding Away

Troy police claim that Harvey had told them he and his friend had met Rush on an Albany Street at about 3 a. m. Aug. 21. Police said they were told that the two had asked Rush where there was "some action," and Rush was seen riding away with them.

Harvey gave himself up at Kingston police headquarters Aug. 22 and Sauer was picked up later on Clinton Avenue near Main Street.

JFK Signs, Hails Telstar Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed the communications satellite bill today, setting up the legal framework for a privately owned corporation to handle this country's part in a global network for messages and pictures.

He said the space system will provide benefits for all people and "contribute to world peace and understanding."

A large group of top officials and congressmen surrounded the President as he used 15 pens to sign the bill.

No Single Domination

Kennedy said the new law, cause of a long controversy in Congress, provides "many safeguards to protect the public interest."

"No single company or group will have the power to dominate the corporation," he said in a statement.

"The general public, the communications industry, and the federal government all will have a voice. All will contribute their resources and all may reasonably hope to benefit."

Outlining benefits expected from the satellite system, Kennedy said there will be "vastly increased capacity to exchange information cheaply and reliably with all parts of the world by telephone, telegraph radio and television."

Boon to All

"The ultimate result," he said, "will be to encourage and facilitate world trade, travel education, entertainment and the many kinds of professional, political and personal discourse which are essential to healthy human relationships and international understanding."

The controversial bill, which tied up the Senate for weeks in a filibuster by liberals who called it a giveaway, landed on the

$2-Million Shopping Plaza Is To Be Ready in Summer of '63

The new shopping plaza at the foot of Fair Street for which ground was broken Thursday afternoon will be a boon to the economy of the community and its tax structure.

This was the sentiment of speakers attending the ceremonies on the great flatlands of which 35 acres will be used for the shopping center and parking space for 3,000 automobiles.

Among those interested in the project and guests were civic leaders, businessmen, bankers, real estate men, political leaders of both major parties, and members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Those called upon by Attorney Frederick H. Stang, who was master of ceremonies, all welcomed the shopping plaza as a boon to uptown business for the future.

Completion is scheduled for the summer of 1963.

Thomas Muradian of Whitinsville, Mass., president of Muradian Realty Corp., project promoters, said the shopping center will be most modern in construction and the stores are to offer merchandise in demand at the best department stores.

Augustus S. Brinnier of the firm of Brinnier and Larios, consulting engineers, said the plaza will contain approximately 40 acres, of which 35 will be developed according to present plans. Exits and entrance roads will be constructed from Clinton Avenue at the head of John Street, with a crossing at the end of Fair Street at the Kingston Lumber Co. property and a connection will be provided to Washington Avenue along the old O. and W. railroad bed, Brinnier said. The developers of the property are now negotiating with several contractors for the grading and clearing work. Drainage will be extended to the Esopus Creek.

Augustus R. Schrowang, of A. R. Schrowang Associates, architects, said the buildings at the Kingston Shopping Plaza probably will be completed about the middle of 1963, and possibly sooner, depending on the weather this coming winter. Measurements of the Britt Department Store are 300 by 280 feet, and the Grand Union-Empire Store will be 150 by 122 feet. The plaza buildings will cover a tract 135,000 square feet.

Schrowang said in addition to those two stores, 18 smaller stores will be constructed. The buildings will be constructed of brick, all steel frame and reenforced concrete foundations. Part of the Britt store will be two stories, the remainder of the

Whaton Calling In Army Engineers

Building of a temporary bridge to replace that which collapsed Tuesday under weight of a trailer truck would delay the Esopus Creek Bridge-Washington Avenue viaduct project some four months Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, Mayor John J. Schwenk and others were told at an Albany meeting today.

An announcement today, however, before start of the meeting at 10:30 a. m., noted that through efforts by Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, a representative of the New York City office of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, was due to meet with Mayor Schwenk this afternoon to consider possible temporary solution of the bridge problem.

Today's Developments

Developments at today's meeting in the Albany office of R. W. Sweet, chief engineer of the state public works department included:

1. Assurance that a temporary "pedestrian connection" would be built as soon as possible.

2. That the Public Service Commission has never condemned the Washington Avenue viaduct, but had ordered it removed as of Aug. 28 in response to a request from the state public works department.

3. That the city has approved plans for a construction contract. That right-of-way procedure is due to start during the week of Sept. 10. That some minor revisions of plans are needed to cover traffic maintenance, that the letting date depends upon clearance of right-of-way, and that a special emergency letting will be scheduled when the department is assured of the date of clearance on the right-of-way.

4. State Public Works Department engineers are to study immediately interchange traffic control in cooperation of city authorities at the city end of the arterial route spur, and the DPW will provide closure barriers on the Town of Ulster side of the bridge site and prepare

$5 Million Saving Seen on Insurance For Home Owners

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Insurance Department has ordered downward adjustments in certain types of home-owners insurance premiums and an increase in others—all effective Sept. 21.

The insurance companies involed contend the rates should be even lower to make them more in line with policy rates offered by other companies selling in the state.

Affects Three Types

The adjustments were ordered Thursday for 250 of the state's home owner insurance firms.

The following three basic types of coverage will be affected under the revisions:

The basic home owner's "A" policy covering fire, burglary and other coverages on a dwelling, with added extended coverage, available under a policy designated as "B".

Home owners "C" offers the same extended coverage and is available for houses valued at more than $15,000.

Rates will be reduced for "A" and "B" coverage, and increased for "C".

The new rate scheduled will drop "A" coverage costs about 20 per cent and "B" coverage about 21 per cent. Coverage for "C" will mean premium boosts of about 52 per cent.

The companies said the new rates would save customers about $5 million a year. They said, however, they would prefer a new breakdown of policies providing for additional savings to customers of $2 million a year.

Handle 85 PC in State

The insurance firms affected handle about 85 per cent of property insurance for New York State home owners.

The companies involved are members of the New York Fire Insurance Rating Organization, National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters, and Inland Marine Insurance Bureau—all rating organizations.

Chorus Not Good Enough for Aid Wins First Place

WASHINGTON (AP)—The story of how the University of Arkansas' mixed chorus went to Europe and won first place in an international competition in Italy came out Thursday.

The chorus financed its trip on a "do-it-yourself" basis after being turned down by a State Department screening agency as "not good enough" to warrant federal assistance.

To make the victory sweeter, the Schola Cantorum was publicly congratulated by President Kennedy in his news conference Wednesday and next Tuesday will sing for him in the White House Rose Garden—just a loud holler, so to speak, from the State Department.

The "not good enough" finding was made by the American National Theater and Academy (ANTA), which acts as adviser to the State Department on providing aid to such groups going abroad.

Telling the story today, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said the chorus began planning the trip early this year and contacted him to learn if State Department aid, through the Bureau of Cultural and Educational Affairs, might be forthcoming. A tape was submitted to ANTA which said it was sorry but the chorus failed to meet necessary standards.

After that the chorus embarked on a statewide fund-raising drive, giving concerts and seeking alumni assistance.

The chorus raised the money, made the trip and won the prize, snatching it from 26 other groups.

Now the 40-voice chorus is directed by Richard Brothers.

MOVING THE EARTH—Artist's drawing shows how Canada's Portage Mountain Dam and 2½-million-kilowatt powerhouse will look when it is completed in 1970. The dam will stretch 1.3 miles across the Peace River Valley in northern British Columbia. Rising 615 feet above the river bed, it will be the highest earth fill dam in the world. A huge reservoir lake created by the dam will cover more than 950 square miles and take seven to eight years to fill.

SHOKAN NEWS

Morton Hendrickson, Franklin Square, L. I., resident who for several years owned and operated the one-time Willis Everett farm in the Coons District of Shokan, called on some of his local friends last Sunday.

Also in town Sunday were the following relatives of Mr. and Mrs. William Secor whose home in the village was the present George Hauser place on Route 28: Helena Marcy, Danbury, Conn., and Lottie Mackey and Mrs. Robert Secor of Poughkeepsie. The three women visited graves of members of the Secor family in the Lennox burying ground on the Ashokan Mountain Road, and they were greatly pleased to find that the cemetery is being kept in excellent condition.

One of the big oil companies is reported to have begun preparatory work for drilling an exploratory well on an abandoned farm in Terry Clove, only a couple of miles from New York City's new Pepacton Reservoir in Delaware County. The company has secured thousands of leases for gas and oil rights in the Catskills. The 16-inch drill hole will go down nearly two miles. Similar drilling at Fox Hollow in Ulster County seven years ago produced 50,000 cubic feet of gas at 6,000 feet but this was reckoned not enough for commercial production and the hole was capped up.

Walter and Carolyn Naughton, Vt. Vernon couple who built a summer home along the west side of the Ridge Road about 20 years ago and later sold the property to Abraham and Eve Schultz, were callers in the village last Wednesday. They had been up to St. Lawrence County, home of Mrs. Naughton's maternal grandparents, where the couple's younger son is entering the university. Another son has enlisted in the Army. Naughton is art supervisor in a New York City school. His parents, Police Lieut. Thomas Naughton and wife, who also became well known here, died several years ago.

The water in the two basins of the Ashokan reportedly was 16 feet below the normal flowline as of last week, or pretty good for this time of year.

Bruce Wiederspiel of the Mountain Road is on a vacation trip to Puerto Rico.

A good shower during Monday night brought one-third of an inch of rain to the Shokan area. Some of the maple trees here have begun to shed leaves as a result of the recent drought.

Amelia Friedlander who has a summer place at neighboring Woodstock, was a caller in the village recently. She was accompanied by her guests, Jeanne Marks and Blanche Hoodes of New York City.

Polly Puzzano of the Silver Hollow summer bungalow colony called here last week.

Ann McCalco of Columbia County reportedly has been engaged as a chemist-biologist down at New York City's Ashokan Reservoir laboratory. Albert Feldman, who held the position for several years, has been named to the post of assistant professor of biology at the Dutchess Community College

Favors New Products

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A state committee created to help promote milk sales says the New York State dairy industry should look for new products to meet demands of consumers.

The Committee for the Increased Use of Milk said Thursday in a report to Gov. Rockefeller that a demand apparently exists for such products as multiple-vitamin milk and modified skim milk.

Milk sales have lagged for such reasons as concern over radioactivity and cholesterol.

The report was presented to Rockefeller at the State Exposition by Clarence Johncox of Corfu, Genesee County.

Ulster Library Extends Thanks For Summer Aid

Edward Crosby, president of the Town of Ulster Library Association, recently mailed letters of commendation to the young people who assisted in staffing the library for the summer months,

Those who received the letters of commendation for their work are:

Nancy Palen, Janet Burger, Ann Bream, Nancy Nicoletti, Myra Musialkiewicz, John Burger, Patricia J. Crego, John Crego, Kathy O'Connor, Debra Quick, Suzanne Barten, Patricia Murphy, Roseanne O'Reilly, Suzanne O'Reilly, Althea Stahl, Elizabeth Maxon, Nancy Sweeney and Linda Wynkoop. These young people were trained at a workshop conducted by Mrs. Walter Burger and Mrs. Edmund Frawley early in June.

The library board will be holding its second annual election Thursday, Sept. 13, in Chambers School library. Bruce Burger, chairman of the nominating committee, has submitted the following slate: Edward Crosby, Mrs. Michael Maxon and Robert Ohlson for three-year directorship; Mrs. Gerald Woodvine and Mrs. O. L. Sande for two-year directorships and William Williams for a one-year term. The board is hoping a goodly number of citizens of the town attend the session and vote to express their confidence in the board and to pledge their interest and help in its future undertakings.

Effective Friday, Sept. 7, the new schedule of library hours will be in effect. The hours are: Tuesdays 7-8:30 p. m.; Wednesdays 3 to 4 p. m.; Fridays 3 to 4 p. m., and Saturdays 10 to 12 p. m.

On Saturday, Sept. 8, the library will hold its first "Story Hour" for children in the primary grades.

Brinckerhoff May ReturntoDutchess

PAWCATUCK, Conn. (AP)—Negotiations to return the old ferry Brinckerhoff to Poughkeepsie, N.Y., are under way, the ferry's owner, Alexander Whewell of Pawcatuck, says.

He said Wednesday that Richard Martin of Poughkeepsie wants to install the ferry in a transportation museum he is establishing there. Martin, contacted in Poughkeepsie, said he was "shaken" at Whewell's price of $9,700 for the ferry, but he added: "We're going to do our best to raise it."

He said Captain Herbert Baker and a crew of three men who ran the ferry between Poughkeepsie and Highland, N.Y., and later from Bridgeport to Pleasure Beach, Conn., have agreed to attempt to run the ferry to Poughkeepsie under her own power if the vessel is purchased.

Largest watermelon on record (190 pounds) was grown in Arkansas.

Killed Girl Just To See What It Felt Like: Youth

NEW YORK (AP)—Pretty 14-year-old Suzanne Grskovic is dead, the boy she had a crush on told police, because he "just wanted to see what if felt like to kill someone."

The ravished body of brown-eyed, blonde Suzanne was found Thursday in shrubbery off a dirt road in Queens, about five blocks from her home.

She had been strangled with her brassiere and strips from her dress. On her abdomen were carved an "S" and an "X"—made with a beer can opener.

Walter Tjunin, 17, on probation after spending a year at a state reform school, led police to the scene of the crime after a 6-hour grilling. He was charged with homicide and rape.

"I strangled her with her clothes," he told detectives. "I just wanted to see what it felt like to kill someone."

A search began for Suzanne when she failed to return Wednesday night from a dance. Later it was learned that Tjunin had left with her to walk her home.

Suzanne cared little for boys, but she did like Tjunin. Near her body was her charm necklace. It bore the inscription "Sue and Walter."

Monkey Is Costly Visitor to Tavern

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Marguerite McConnell, a tavern operator just south of here in the town of Southport, has found out that "monkey business" can be costly, especially if the culprit is a monkey.

Only two customers and Mrs. McConnell were in the tavern Thursday when a small monkey entered through the back door.

The monkey leaped on a pinball machine, and then to the bar, knocking over and breaking several bottles of high-priced liquor.

Then it sampled a bag of peanuts, a chocolate bar and a cigarette-lighter flint, discarding each quickly.

Mrs. McConnell filled a bowl with corn flakes, and the monkey quickly devoured them and smashed a full water glass she had put near the bowl.

The next move was Mrs. McConnell's. She called the Elmira Animal Shelter and asked that some of its personnel pick up the monkey.

After she hung up, the monkey entertained itself for a while by looking at its image in a big mirror behind the bar, and then tore into a box of cigars.

Two men from the animal shelter arrived, gave Mrs. McConnell a net, and she placed it over the monkey without any resistance from the animal.

The monkey is now in the animal shelter. Where it came from has not been determined.

Talks on Expansion Without Plant Name

PULTNEYVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller listed a new plan of the Kordite Division of the National Distillers and Chemical Corp. as an example of business expansion under his administration in a speech prepared for delivery to the Wayne County Republican Committee Thursday night.

However, the governor, who spoke more than half an hour, never mentioned the Kordite plant

The president of Kordite is Howard J. Samuels, a candidate for the Democratic nomination to oppose Rockefeller in the November election.

2 Debate Causes Of Railroad Ills

WASHINGTON (AP)—A union lawyer says railroads could have solved some of their money troubles without resorting to mergers if they had used improved, modern equipment to stave off the challenge of other carriers.

"They have not used the technology that has been given them," said Albert D. Brandon, counsel for the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO. He said improved equipment would have enabled railroads to meet competition from truckers.

But Alfred E. Perlman, president of the New York Central Railroad. declared "the trucking industry has made greater technological advances, but at government expense."

He said superhighway construction, plus development of electronic cargo sorters and bigger truck bodies, all have helped make truck competition tougher on the railroads.

Brandon and Perlman debated the causes of railroad revenue declines Thursday in a sometimes heated exchange before two Interstate Commerce commissioners considering the merger bid of the Central and Pennsylvania railroads.

Brandon said the railroads incorrectly diagnosed their financial ills, and chose the wrong cure when they turned to mergers.

Perlman accused Brandon of trying "to trap me" into saying that truck competition was the only reason for financial troubles facing the railroads.

Report on Farming

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Agriculture Department report showed today the extent to which farming is becoming a big money enterprise.

At the beginning of this year, production assets per farm averaged $47,632. This was an increase of 8 per cent or $3,504 over the average at the beginning of 1961, and 19 per cent or $7,430 over the beginning of 1959. The average 10 years ago was less than $17,000.

Word has been received here from Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt Sr., of New Hurley formerly of Modena, who were enjoying a vacation trip in the New England states.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON WARNS US ABOUT AFRICA

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 31—During my many years in business, the only bad investment I have made was in the lobster business. This I am now selling out at a loss, although the company has paid all debts and has some money in the bank to distribute to stockholders. This company was the largest distributor of live lobsters in the world, selling at one time about five million live lobsters annually.

Competing With Africa

Suddenly "lobster tails" began being imported from Southern Africa. I visited there three years ago to learn about Africa. Last year over fifteen million 'lobster tails" came to the United States. It was too much for our company to compete against, with our antiquated plant and high labor costs and heavy overhead, and with vessels operating from Newfoundland and Nova Scotia. Live lobsters will always be in demand and small operators can trap lobsters near shore here at home and make good money; but expenses must be kept low.

If you eat at the very best hotel in any city and order boiled or stuffed lobster, it must come from the East Coast of New England or Canada and not from Africa; but if you order a lobster salad in many parts of the United States, chances are it will be made of lobster meat imported from Africa. So much for that!

Lobsters Are an Interesting Study

Lobsters are wonderful, biologically and chemically. If a lobster loses a "leg," it can grow another—which is something you cannot do. Lobsters go into hiding and climb out of their shell once a year in a most remarkable manner. During this time the mother lobster lays 10,000 eggs.

(2) Thus far no profitable way has been found to dehydrate lobsters or to stop their spoiling by any process . . . while preserving their delectable flavor. The housewife is content to buy dead fish — in fact this is the only kind she can buy — but she will not buy dead whole lobsters! People will be watching live lobsters which have been dropped into hot water turn from green to red 100 or more years from now, as the New England legislators will try to protect the industry by fixing big fines for selling "short lobsters."

What Africa Has Done to Me, It Can Do to You

However, the purpose of this column is not to "cry on the shoulders" of readers because I have lost money from lobster imports. Rather, I want to warn manufacturers all over the U.S. that they may suffer the same from African imports. Africa has over 200,000,000 native Negroes who are just waking up — against only 2,000,000 whites. The Africans have a very low cost of living, wanting almost no clothes and being content with a mud hut to live in.

Africa is rich in natural resources — gold, copper, iron, and all the metals, including mountains of uranium. Africa has the greatest undeveloped waterpowers in the world. Italy, which now leads the world in the manufacture of plastics and synthetics, is teaching the African natives to manufacture textiles and other products to compete with what we are making here in the United States.

African Negroes May Control The United Nations

What Africa has done to me in forcing me out of the lobster business it could do to many readers of this column in every state of our union. Remember, too, that Cecil Rhodes said the Negroes would some day control the world. This becomes an even more realistic possibility when it is recognized that, as the United Nations Council is now set up, each one of these new small African "republics" — 95% black — has the same vote on the Council as does the United States or any other great nation of the world.

Russia does not fear us and will not go to war over Berlin. It is China and Africa which Russia fears. President Kennedy is wise in backing the Negroes of this country in their struggle for equal rights. And surely with the growth of Negro power in the United States, our President cannot help but be sympathetic with the struggle of the 200,000,000 blacks in Africa.

CLEAR THOSE CABINETS

One of the most expensive and risky "economies" is saving old prescription drugs.

Go to your medicine cabinet and see if it contains half empty bottles which carry little identification as to content except a prescription number. If you're average, it does.

Doctors say the safe thing to do is to get rid of all such therapeutic relics in a safe manner—such as flushing them down the drain. Part of the reason is that some of these drugs lose their efficacy when held overlong. Another part is that they should be taken only as originally administered.

And finally — along with these useless pills in the nation's medicine cabinets, says the Food and Drug Administration, are large quantities of the baby-deforming drug Thalidomide.

These Thalidomide tablets were originally given to patients by their doctors to test their effectiveness as a sedative. Now we know all too well of their dangerous side effects. But weeks after the Thalidomide scandal broke one-fourth of the doctors surveyed by the FDA said they had made no effort to contact and warn patients to whom they had given the pills.

How about clearing up YOUR medicine cabinet NOW?

TIGER AT THE TILLER

Something about being at the helm of a power boat brings out the tiger in a man. There is temptation in the surge and swing of such a craft, and in the expanse of water that doesn't confine the driver as a road does. So the driver, too often, is inclined to pour on the coal and show those other clods what his boat can do.

Sometimes it develops that what the boat can do is toss out a passenger, or maybe even the man at the wheel or tiller, on a turn done too sharply. Sometimes what the boat can do is hit a wave at the wrong angle and flip over. Sometimes a boat can hit a swimmer before a speed-intoxicated driver spots him.

Other things can happen. The point is that keeping safety in mind on the water is almost as vital as doing that on the highway. The importance of this grows steadily as the number of small boats increases.

DEATH BY STRANGULATION —

A private nursing home described by state authorities as a "shining example" shut down the other day.

Twenty-four rooms badly needed to care for old folks were closed.

What closed this "shining example?"

Not lack of need.

Neither fire nor natural disaster.

It fell victim of the creeping plague of modern times—excessive paper work.

The proprietress simply couldn't keep up with all the papers from 18 different federal and state agencies.

"It was just one darned thing after another," she said.

Anyone who runs even a small business these days knows what she means.

THE TALL MAN

In this era of the all-too-common man, there's unusual cause for celebration when a living legend escapes the assassin's bullet.

Charles de Gaulle adds to his legend with every day that passes in strife-ridden but generally admiring France

The other day after terrorists voted against his Algerian policy with machine guns, puncturing his limousine and grazing a motorcycle trooper and a passing motorist, DeGaulle cooly commented: "These people really aim very badly."

Even De Gaulle's comments on the weather are phrased as if written to be carved on his monument.

MONROE THE POPULAR

If popularity determines the rank of our presidents, James Monroe belongs at the very top. Upon his re-election in 1820 he was so generally acceptable that no opponent appeared, and he got every electoral vote but one.

The story goes that the one nonconformist said that he did not want any president to stand in Washington's shoes. This referred to Washington's unanimous elections. The real reason is now thought to have been a personal grudge.

Monroe was not as great as his overwhelming endorsement might be taken to indicate. Yet he was one of our abler presidents. His name will grace the newest Polaris submarine. And there is no doubt at all that his name will long endure in connection with his famous and far-reaching doctrine for the Western Hemisphere.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

POLITICS BY POLLS

It has, for some years, been customary for politicians to have polls taken by professional pollsters to discover whether they are worthy of holding particular public offices. Presumably they do not themselves know whether they are good or bad or indifferent but they require a poll to give them a clue to themselves. One of the first and most persistent poll-users was Thomas E. Dewey, who did not, of course, succeed in his aspirations.

Prior to the invention of the polls, a man appeared before his fellow-citizens as a candidate for office, willing to take his chances as a man should. Nowadays, what with elections so costly, many candidates would like to know something about what their chances are.

I have before me a poll taken by Louis Harris and Associates, Inc., dated August 22, 1962, which is designed to establish that James A. Farley cannot defeat Nelson Rockefeller for Governor.

The word, designed, will be objected to as representing a premeditated result. Not being a psychiatrist, I cannot determine anyone's motives. However, this poll is represented to be a cross-section of 802 voters in every part of New York State, which has a population of 15,000,000 persons and in the 1958 gubernatorial election showed a vote of 5,712,482 for all parties. If a sample of 802 votes is representative of a population of 15,000,000 in a state which consists of 49,576 square miles, why hold an election at all? Why not send out Louis Harris and his associates to take a sample and call it a day. Surely, Harris costs less than an Election, and takes less energy of less persons.

I look at the tail of this report and find a subhead, "by Religious Groups." This has become a curse upon our body politic. It used to be that Americans voted as Americans. They did not vote on the basis of religious groupings or ethnological groupings. Harris puts under this heading: White Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, Negro.

Apparently in the sample of 802 voters, these are represented. I have never before known that the Negroes were a "Religious Group," although the followers of Elijah Muhammed so claim. But what shocked me was that Harris and Associates, Inc. show in this poll that James Farley gets a maximum of 60 percent of the Catholic vote. This is taken on the sample of 802 voters, but there is no statement as to how many of them were Roman Catholics. Farley's maximum of Jewish voters is 57 percent, which no pollster can know to be true because Jews usually do not vote as a bloc, appearing in both parties, depending on various situations.

The poll which gives the Democratic Party a 54 percent Catholic vote and a 72 percent Jewish vote does not say that that was so in any Election, but rather I assume that this refers to the 802 voters used as a sample. Obviously, a large part of the Democratic vote in New York City is among the Irish and Italian Catholics and in Buffalo among the Polish Catholics and 54 percent looks mighty small to me. Also, the 72 percent for Jews in the Democratic Party does not look right as Nelson Rockefeller's greatest support in 1958 came in those areas where more Jews than Christians or atheists live.

In a word, I find this poll of 802 voters too selective to be informative and unless I saw the list of names and addresses of those polled, it would be hard for me to accept it as more than a response of 802 persons. As a guide to how 5,712,482 voters would vote on Election Day, I think so small a sample is meaningless.

The pollsters say that they can learn much from these samples. And some politicians go by these polls until they are retired to silence and memories. A strong man depends rather on his ability to attract the voters, to state his case and to prove able and competent. Strong men take risks.

When a politician says of any Election that this year the candidate must be a Protestant or a Catholic or a Jew, I am tempted to reply that I hope that this year the American voter will vote for an American. If this is impractical politics, let us be impractical for a change and do the right thing.

Think Twice About Working Pounds Off

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Those of us who have to struggle with the weight problem concentrate almost exclusively on food intake. Rarely do we concern ourselves with variations in energy output. And, on the few occasions when the relationship between weight and physical activity is brought to our attention, we are apt to be treated to exaggerated claims made by trainers, exercisers, masseurs and others of the "strong-arm" set.

A new book by an Australian authority ("Food for Better Performance") is particularly welcome for its valuable table of caloric expenditures. Here, in brief, are some of the surprising figures on hourly caloric loss:

Less than 50 calories—sweeping floors, washing small clothes, typing (electric or mechanical) and watch repairing.

100—walking at a rate of 2 m.p.h.

100 to 200—canoeing at a 2½ m.p.h., riding a walking horse, walking 3 m.p.h. or working as a machine fitter, joiner or fitter.

200 to 300—bicycling at a rate of 5½ m.p.h., dancing foxtrot or waltz, golfing, swimming breast or back stroke, making beds, pushing a wheelbarrow hold 22 pounds or loading a chemical mixer.

300 to 400—canoeing at a rate of 4 m.p.h., dancing the rhumba, playing tennis, walking 4 m.p.h. if body weight is 200 pounds or scrubbing on hands and knees.

400 to 600—climbing slopes, bicycling at a rate of 13 m.p.h., riding a horse that is trotting or galloping, running 4 to 7 miles or cross country, skiing on hard snow at moderate speed, swimming side stroke or digging with a pick or shovel.

As an example of the average daily expenditure of calories made by a sedentary worker (typist), Dr. R. C. Hutchinson gives an estimate of but 700 calories. Or about the amount of energy expended in just one hour in climbing, bicycling at a rate of 13 m.p.h., running 7½ miles, skiing or swimming side stroke.

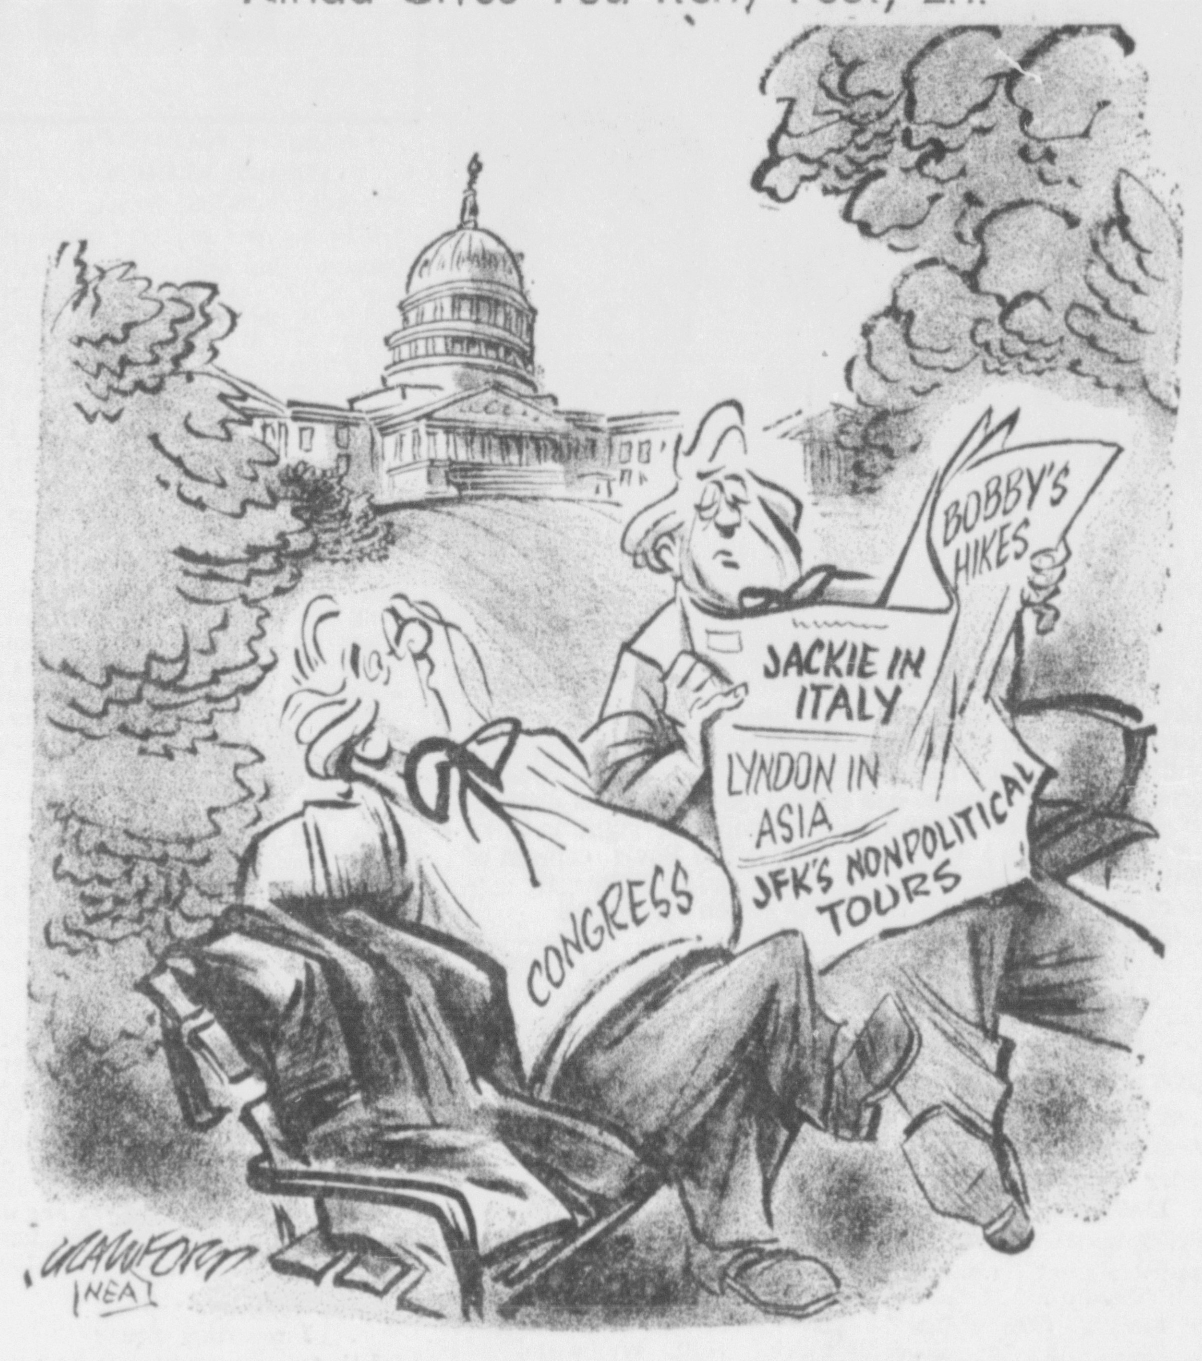
"Kinda Gives You Itchy Feet, Eh?"



Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — President Kennedy's Council on Youth Fitness, which has taken a good bit of kidding and kicking around, is beginning its second school year operations with considerably different ideas.

THE EMPHASIS last year was all on physical culture — the ability to do push-ups, pull-ups, sit-ups and squat-thrusts.

The new emphasis is going to be on physical education. This is a much broader approach, covering general health, hygiene, proper diet, first aid and safety first.

Also, Charles B. "Bud" Wilkinson, famed Oklahoma head coach who is also President Kennedy's special consultant on youth fitness, has decided that his organization should pay more attention to selling school boards, service clubs, civic associations and parents on the advantages of well-rounded physical education courses. This would leave the actual training to professional teachers.

LAST YEAR the council began by issuing its Blue Book, a blue-covered pamphlet titled, "Youth Physical Fitness." Part One outlined a few simple tests to determine who was physically fit or unfit. Part two gave a whole series of complicated exercises, with diagrams, intended to develop a breed of big, strong, American boys and girls.

The exercises were sheer drudgery, and though 110,000 copies of the book have been sold by Government Printing Office at 40 cents apiece, the acceptance by American youth has been less than enthusiastic.

The reaction of professional physical education people — the doctors, health officers, nutritionists and social science people was positively disapproving.

Too much overemphasis on one thing, they said. A youngster can lose physical development in six weeks if he doesn't keep everlastingly at it. Not enough attention to proper diet, hygiene, group play, games and all-around outdoor recreation.

TO QUIET ITS CRITICS and keep them happy, the council is now preparing a new "Gold Book." The exact title hasn't been decided on, but the cover will be gold in color. It will emphasize how to be healthy without being muscle-bound.

It won't be anything for general circulation. It will be a guide for schools and physical education teachers in setting standards on what school children of 6, 9, 12, 15 and 18 years of age should know about taking care of themselves.

Richard Snider, former Topeka newspaperman, now executive director of the President's council of six not-too-athletic cabinet members, says the book won't be ready for a couple of months. It has to be cleared by all the experts. The text is being reviewed by some 40 of the state directors of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation in their annual meeting at Gull Lake, Mich., this month.

A final draft will be put together under the supervision of AAHPER president, Dr. Anita Aldrich of Kansas City, in September. It now looks like it will be a pamphlet of about 50 pages that will sell for 35 or 40 cents from GPO.

ALL THIS HUULLABALOO over youth fitness grew out of the high rates of rejection for physical disability among young men called for military service.

Last year AAPHER spent $40,000 making sample tests on this physical fitness of American children as compared with British, German, Japanese and other youngsters. In every comparison, the foreign children had better scores.

Recent retests have shown American standards are rising. So the publicity stirred up by the council has probably done much good says Louis Means, Washington headquarters director for AAPHER. The association has 200,000 members, over 30,000 of them supervisors or athletic coaches.

But United States physical education is still spotty, California is supposed to have the best state system; its youngsters score highest. Places like Cincinnati, with a long tradition of German Turnverein training, also score well.

But in too many places physical education courses are optional. Classes are held only once or twice a week. In some places they just study the rules of games in order to pass written tests. And in places where there is overemphasis on interschool athletics, the athletes who make the teams get all the exercise.

Goldberg's Appointment And Political Advantage

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—If President Kennedy had selected to be Justice of the Supreme Court a man who had just been serving for many years as chief counsel of the U. S. Steel Corporation or as a general counsel of the National Association of Manufacturers, what would people say?

If the President had selected to be chief of staff of any one of the armed services a man who had never been an officer in any armed service in his life, what would people say?

Yet Mr. Kennedy has just appointed as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court a man who has never been on the bench—Federal, state or local. He has picked for the post a man who has served as a partisan of the labor movement. As chief counsel for the national Steelworkers Union, he took an active part in its controversial negotiations with management in recent years, and for a long time was also general counsel for the AFL-CIO.

Even though there are today on the bench in the Federal, state and local courts several hundred men who have given many years of their lives to judicial service, not one of them was found fit by President Kennedy to serve on the Supreme Court of the United States.

Obviously, the appointment of Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg was dictated by politics and political considerations. The motive was hardly concealed. Mr. Goldberg is a good lawyer, and in the course of the next several years he may learn how to be an able judge, perhaps even develop conservative leanings. This happened during the 23 years of service by Justice Felix Frankfurter—originally considered a radical but referred to in recent years as the leader of the "conservative" bloc on the Supreme Court.

Mind Made Up

But how much inspiration can it be to men who conscientiously serve on the bench throughout the country, either as district judges or judges on the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals or on state supreme courts, to find not a single one of their number given consideration for the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Frankfurter from the high court?

President Kennedy himself revealed that he learned on Tuesday of the retirement of Justice Frankfurter and within a few hours selected Secretary Goldberg as successor. His mind was made up in advance. No time or opportunity was given for consultation with leaders of the bar or of the Congress.

Why did Mr. Kennedy act so quickly? Because the political requirements had narrowed his field of choice, and the political advantages were obvious. Since Justice Frankfurter happened to be the only member of the Jewish faith on the court, Mr. Kennedy considered it important to nominate a successor of the same religion. At stake supposedly are the votes of members of a religious group, who presumably are made happy by the choice. Also, many millions of labor-union members and their political leaders who collect campaign funds are expected to become even more beholden to the Kennedy administration because, for the first time in history, a man identified with a big labor organization is being placed upon the Supreme Court.

This line of reasoning is so much taken for granted in politics that, when President Truman failed to appoint a Catholic to succeed a Catholic after the death of Justice Frank Murphy, there was criticism. But Mr. Truman said frankly to friends that he was appointing the successor because he would make a good judge, and for no other reason. President Eisenhower also was urged by his political advisers to select a Catholic. He did so in 1956, but he picked a man who was an outstanding judge on New Jersey's highest court — Justice William J. Brennan Jr.

Bigger Advantage

Shortly after President Kennedy was inaugurated, it was assumed in political circles that, because of his Jewish faith, Abraham Ribicoff, who had been named Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, would be appointed to the Supreme Court when Justice Frankfurter retired. But apparently the President saw a bigger political advantage in appointing Mr. Goldberg, because he not only is of the Jewish faith, but also has been a tremendous influence among the labor unions of the country.

Mr. Frankfurter and other Justices have disclaimed any feeling of loyalty to the interest of any religious faith when passing judgment in cases before the High Court. But politicians still feel they can play games with the American voters and mislead them into thinking that it's important to have all religious faiths "represented" on the High Court.

Mr. Goldberg may make a good judge and so may Byron White — both of whom have been appointed by President Kennedy. But today, out of the nine Justices presently serving, there are only three—Stewart, Harlan and Brennan — who served on the bench before going to the Supreme Court. What an "inspiration" to the jurists of America! What a shiver of apprehension passes through the country this week as the President says, in effect, in a public speech that these same Supreme Court Justices can and should rewrite our Constitution to conform to ideological considerations.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

MADRID, Spain—The breeze in the car was cool and steady but the heat shimmered in waves above the road ahead and distorted the orange tile roofs and the young trees. The sun was high and the white light burned the eyes. Only the Guadarramas, lofty and blue, seemed to be immune from the heat.

Between the car and the mountains were 20 miles of barren fields and little villages which grew from specks of color on the windshield to houses and narrow streets and shops and disappeared behind the car like nameless nothings out of nowhere.

We were going to El Escorial. It is a gray eminence on the side of the Guadarramas, a building over 1,000 feet long built by Phillip II in the 16th century as a combination palace and monastery. He was a holy Hapsburg and he wanted rule and religion under a single roof.

It required 21 years to build the Escorial and he had a stone chair in front, overlooking the swan lake, and there Phillip sat and watched the Spaniards make his monument. When it was done, he was old and tired and he tottered through the huge cathedral in the middle of Escorial, and decreed that his bedroom would be behind a small door on the right side of the main altar. His three daughters had rooms on the left side.

He was a good king, a humorless man with a long solemn face, the chin playing host to a scraggly beard, and the eyes, large and dark and sad, staring at eternity. He died at 71, the door of his little bedroom open to the high altar. He was old then, but Escorial, with its gray stone and its towers, is still young and vigorous.

It is only an hour's ride from Madrid and we were halfway and more when the car topped a rise and there, off to the left, was a Chinese city. The black and gold pagodas, the moats, the Tartar wall, were either real or a heat mirage. The car kept moving and the city came closer. "Chinese?" I said. "In the heart of Spain?" Kelly shrugged. "It may be a Spanish Disneyland." I decided to stop. There was an unhinged gate and, up the dirt path, a Spaniard crouched under the cool of a tree.

I do not speak Spanish. He does not speak English. Still, he pointed behind him and I saw a sign. "55 Days at Peking." A great light dawned. This is a motion picture of the Boxer Rebellion of 1900, when the Empress Dowager of China laid outside the Forbidden City and tried to kill the Americans, the Germans, the British, French, Spanish, Italians and Japanese.

We remembered. Last year I had met Samuel Bronston in New York. He had made "King of Kings" and "El Cid" in Spain, and he said, at the time, that his next movie would be about the Boxer Rebellion. We asked the guard to let us through. He held his stick up. We could not pass. We made friendly gestures, but he sat again at the base of the tree, shaking his head.

So we waited. In time, a small foreign car came up the road and a tall man who speaks English like David Niven paused at the tree.

I told him that I had met Bronston and, in Spanish, he told the guard to let us pass. The guard shrugged. The Briton said: "There's a story for you if you're looking for one. The guard is a retired matador. Once, he was very popular. Now he keeps people off the set."

We drove up to the set for a quick look. In my time, I have seen many and all of them look real from the front, and resemble broken corsets from the back. This one is built exactly to scale. The Empress Dowager used to boast that her walls were so wide that four chariots could race abreast.

The walls are that broad. The streets are identical with those of old Peking, even to the shallow stream which ran down the middle of the legation sector. The apothecary shops, the legation buildings, the Chinese temples—even the dragons—are lifelike. Only the actors are unreal.

It is not a papier mache set. It is a huge city spreading over acres of Spanish plain. An American on the set told me that it cost one million dollars to build the structures and the wall and the shallow river. In Hollywood, it would have cost three million.

The trend toward filming motion pictures anywhere but in Hollywood continues. Spanish labor is low-priced and efficient. The "55 Days at Peking" will cost $9,000,000, including the talents of Ava Gardner and Charlton Heston. It would cost $15,000,000 in the United States.

"What do you say?" I said to Kelly. She got back in the car. "I would rather see Ava Gardner than El Escorial," she said. Maybe later in the week, I said. "We are going to see what Phillip II did," I said. She smiled faintly. "He should see what Sam Bronston did," she said.

Completes Basic

Rosalie Slovak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Slovak, of RD 1, Stuyvesant, has just completed 10 weeks of basic training at Recruit Training—Women, United States Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md., and was graduated during a military review held recently. The local WAVE, a high school graduate from Ichabod Crane Central School, has spent a 14-day leave with her family before reporting to United States Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, for Yeoman School. Seaman Apprentice Slovak received instruction in Naval Orientation; Naval History, Citizenship and Current Events; Naval Ships, Aircraft and Armament; Navy Jobs and Training; Self Improvement; First Aid; Physical Training; and Military Bearing and Drill during her indoctrination period. The Stuyvesant WAVE enlisted at the US Naval Recruiting Station in Kingston for three years, and was sworn in at the Recruiting Station in Albany. She was formerly employed by the Department of Agriculture in Hudson. She enlisted on June 8.

Producer Is Sure Perry Mason Will Draw on Thursday

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Indomitable Perry Mason, who has been defending the innocent every Saturday night for the past five years will soon be moving lock, stock, Della, Paul and Hamilton to Thursday nights.

And of all the shifting of programs the new television season, the switch on Sept. 27 of "Perry Mason" will be watched with the greatest interest. When the show was launched, Saturday night generally was regarded as a sort of television siberia, a time when only the very young and the infirm were home watching their sets.

Denies Rigid Format

Either the premise was wrong or "Perry Mason" persuaded a lot of people Saturday was a good night to stay home. The show—and the ones which followed it on CBS—invariably have rolled up enormous audiences.

The big question is whether the invincible attorney and his acting family will be able to carry that audience into another day and a new hour.

"None of us is nervous," insists producer Gail Patrick Jackson. "It's like moving to a new neighborhood. You may make new friends but you'll still keep your old ones, too."

Mrs. Jackson gets a bit annoyed with those who complain about the "rigid format" of the series.

"No one has ever said we must have a rigid form and we don't feel that it is," she explained. "All we have tried to do is keep the characters and the stories as compatible as possible with the books. After all, Erle Stanley Gardner is still writing Mason books and they are enormously popular."

Powell Follows Pattern

Dick Powell must be superstitious. Last season he premiered his new anthology series with a whodunit containing so many stars in "Cameo" (that means short and smallish) roles that he had to list them alphabetically. The series was a hit. This year, although his opening show of the season on Sept. 25 isn't exactly a mystery show, his alphabetical list of stars—eight—ranges from Allyson (June) to Stanwyck (Barbara).

NBC's news special earlier this week seemed like a quickie tossed together for a lean season. It was a bunch of now-familiar clips from old newsreels and—obviously—battle scenes from World War I movies glued together by a marine disaster. The "Riddle of the Lusitania" — whether it was carrying arms and explosives when torpedoed during the First World War remains unanswered.

Wallkill

WALLKILL—The first regular choir rehearsal will be held on Thursday evening, September 6th, at 7:30 p. m. All members of the choir are asked to make an effort to attend. any additional people who enjoy singing are asked to unite with the choir also, by the choirmaster, Mrs. Louise Didsbury.

A meeting of the Willing Workers Society of the Wallkill Reformed Church has been called by the president, Mrs. Wesley Witherel, for Thursday afternoon, Sept. 6, at 2 p. m. Plans will be made for the turkey dinner to be held in October. All ladies of the congregation are asked to make a special effort to attend.

Advance notice is given of the annual Family Night dinner of the members of the Missionary Society to be held Wednesday evening, Sept. 12th, at 6:30 p. m. in the church hall of the Reformed Church. Hostesses will be the social committee, and members attending are asked to bring a covered dish, and place settings for their own family.

Court Rules New Party Must Get Required Signers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Conservative Party must obtain signatures from voters in every county in the state on its nominating petitions for candidates seeking state-wide office.

The party lost its fight Thursday before the state's highest tribunal, the State Court of Appeals, against the law requiring representation of all counties on such petitions.

The Conservatives challenged a state law that requires new parties to obtain 12,000 signatures, with at least 50 from each county, on the nominating petitions of candidates for state office. Fulton and Hamilton are considered as one county under the law.

David H. Jaquith, the Conservative Party's gubernatorial candidate, and his running mates on the party's ticket brought the suit. Jaquith said obtaining signatures from each county would be "most difficult, but not impossible."

James Leff, the party's attorney, argued before the court that the law "impairs independent voters' rights to participate in the selection of candidates."

His argument was countered by Paxton Blair, state solicitor general, who said the provision was "entirely reasonable." He said the law was designed "to prevent nominations by a small, very active clique operating in a densely populated area."

The State Supreme Court dismissed the party's challenge of the law Aug. 18 and the Conservatives appealed it to the high tribunal, where yesterday's decision was unanimous. There was no opinion.

The Conservative Party was organized last February to fight what it said it considered the ultra-liberal views of Gov. Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, both Republicans seeking re-election.

Soblen Loses Again

LONDON (AP) —The British Court of Appeal today refused to free fugitive spy Robert A. Soblen and upheld an order to deport him to the United States.

The court dismissed his appeal for a writ of habeas corpus.

The ruling—fourth adverse decision Soblen has met in the British courts—means he may be deported to serve a life sentence in the United States for disclosing wartime secrets to the Soviet Union.

One last resort still lies open. Soblen can seek leave to appeal to the House of Lords, highest tribunal in the land. Only the nation's top law lords can now reverse the ruling given today. Soblen's lawyers have said they would carry the case to the lords.

JFK Signs

President's desk Monday when the House passed it 371-10.

The bill, which was the version finally passed by the Senate and concurred in by the house, was very close to what the President asked for.

First of Its Kind

The corporation, first of its kind in the history of American private enterprise, eventually will put into orbit a network of satellite relay stations that can send messages and televisions pictures instantly to any point on the globe.

These satellites will be the descendents of the experimental Telstar, which already has showed it is possible to send clear television pictures across the Atlantic.

The Kennedy administration, after many months of backstage talks, decided that the corporation to control this operation should be a private one, with half the stock owned by existing communications companies and half owned by the general public at $100 a share.

The President will appoint organizers of the company to get it started, and therein lies the unique quality of this corporate setup. It is the first time the government has set out to organize a company that will be privately owned and return a profit to its owners.

To Have 15 Directors

Thereafter, 15 directors will be named, six by the communications companies, six by the public stockholders and three by the President.

Liberals charged that the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., one of the largest in the world, would dominate the satellite corporation. Backers of the bill argued that it contained many safeguards and government controls to prevent this.

U. S. Copters Downed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Communist guerrillas have shot down two more U.S. Army helicopters, wounding four Americans serving as advisers to Vietnamese forces.

A U.S. military spokesman said the Americans were evacuated after their copters were downed Thursday. They were not seriously wounded. Their names were not made public.

The helicopters were shot down as they airlifted troops into South Viet Nam's central highlands.

Smith Avenue Store To Continue Business

The manager of Sunray store at 83 Smith Avenue today stressed that an advertisement on page 13 of The Freeman tonight is a good indication that the discount department establishment is remaining in business.

Lottis Leone said his desire is to dispel rumors that the store may discontinue at the address where it has been doing business for five years. There are three other stores in the chain at Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Beacon.

Mohawk Resumes Dutchess Flights

All flights to the Dutchess County Airport were canceled Thursday by Mohawk Airlines because of a shortage of pilots, but local flights were scheduled to be resumed today and Saturday.

A company spokesman at Utica said all Mohawk flights have been canceled for Sunday because of the "Operation Sky Shield III" exercise which the North American Air Defense command is going to conduct. For a five and a half hour period, regular air traffic will be cleared from the skies over continental United States.

The Mohawk flights will sesume on Monday.

Boys and Girls Committee had reached the 500-dozen mark.

Kiwanis Rose Day is Saturday, September 22, according to St. John. On this day the dozens of red roses sold by the club will be distributed to the recipients named on the order cards.

In 1961, the first year of the Kiwanis rose sale, over 1200 dozen roses were delivered, and President St. John indicated that the current sale is aimed at doubling this number. Proceeds from the sale are utilized by the service club in its young people's work.

The annual Kiwanis Clambake is scheduled for Williams Lake on September 20, according to Zale Liese, chairmen of the 1962 event. Tickets for this bake are available from members of the Kiwanis Club.

5. That erection of a temporary vehicle bridge would delay the project as planned an estimated four months and would be expensive to the city in maintaining traffic.

Asked by Mayor

Congressman Wharton's arrangement with the U. S. Army Engineer Corps came after he had been asked for assistance by Mayor Schwenk. Engineer A. A. DePietro, of the New York office, headed by Col. M. M. Miletich, was due to meet with Mayor Schwenk at 3:30 p. m. today.

The purpose of his visit to the city, it was noted, was to determine if the engineer corps can be of assistance, and if not, to offer advice as to what might be done toward solving the bridge problem.

Workmen of Contractor John Arborio, Inc., Poughkeepsie, today were removing rubble of the broken bridge deck from the creek bed. All of the buckled steel of the truss had been removed by Thursday.

To Hear Driver Sept. 7

The bridge went down Tuesday morning as a trailer truck owned by Provan Petroleum Transportation Co. of Newburgh, driven by Claude T. Helton, 44, of RD 1, Box 324, Walden, passed over the span with a reported total weight of 33½ tons. He is due for hearing Sept. 7 on a charge dealing with laxity in observing a posted six-ton limit warning.

John Bouton, 58, of 61 Marius Street, driver of a car behind the trailer truck, who was injured as it went down with the bridge, was discharged from Kingston Hospital, today. He was under treatment for head, shoulder and hip injuries.

Faculty to Hear StateManTuesday

Superintendent of Kingston City schools Earl F. Soper, announced today that Dr. Dexter G. Tilroe, supervisor of secondary education, New York State Education Department, will be the speaker at the general faculty meeting scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 4, 9:30 a. m.

Dr. Tilroe is a native of New York State and a graduate of Syracuse University and New York University. He has taught in Albany County and Freeport, L. I. He served as elementary principal in Rockland County and as district principal in Wallkill.

Between 1944 and 1948, Dr. Tilroe served as education officer and specialist in secondary education with the Allied Council in Italy and the United States Forces in Austria.

Since 1948, Dr. Tilroe has served as Supervisor of Secondary Education in the New York State Education Department. In this capacity he has worked on the program for readjustment of high school education. He has served on school surveys in Buffalo, Yonkers and New York City. Dr. Tilroe is much interested in the development of state-aided experimental programs, including the National Defense Education Act. Dr. Tilroe will discuss with the Kingston consolidated faculty the problem of pupil evaluation and the part to be played by the classroom teacher.

No Peter Pan

STEVENAGE, England (AP)—Two-year old Catherine Burton watched birds swoop around her nursery window and decided to try flying for herself.

She plunged 18 feet to a concrete path Thursday, but a clothesline broke her fall. Cathy told her mother: "I only wanted to fly like the pigeons."

The hospital reported Cathy had minor internal injuries.

Rail Pact

dustrial and farm supplies was delayed or halted.

George E. Leighty, president of the telegraphers, said there is not "a Chinaman's chance" of a quick settlement.

The union and railroad have been in dispute over the job elimination issues since 1957. The union has demanded that none of its jobs as station agents or communications operators be abolished without an agreement. The North Western said the union sought "an absolute veto over technological improvements and other modernization and increases in efficiency."

Governor Strong For Meditation To Start School

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says he is strongly in favor of a period of silent meditation to open the day in public schools.

The governor commented Thursday on a ruling by State Education Commissioner James E. Allen, who said there was nothing illegal about such a practice.

"It would be a wonderful idea," Rockefeller said.

Allen ruled Wednesday that use of a verse of the Star Spangled Banner as a classroom prayer was a violation of a U.S. Supreme Court decision that official prayers in public schools were unconstitutional.

Rockefeller expressed his views at a news conference at the end of a 7½-hour visit to the State Exposition, formerly known as the State Fair.

The governor toured the grounds in traditional campaign style, posing for pictures with children, shaking hands and talking with visitors. He drank several glasses of milk, one of the state's leading agricultural products.

He took off his coat and loosened his tie as the temperature climbed into the 80s.

At his news conference, the governor:

1. Praised U.S. Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg as "an outstanding man of great ability" who would "make an excellent Supreme Court judge." Goldberg was named to the high court Wednesday by President Kennedy.

2. Said he had no plans to appoint Democratic Assemblywoman Bessie Buchanan of Manhattan to the State Commission for Human Rights. There was speculation this week that Mrs. Buchanan was in line for such an appointment after she announced she would campaign for the Republican governor in his bid for re-election.

3. Said he did not know U.S. Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau, now the leading candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. "I never met him," Rockefeller said.

4. Indicated there was little chance that the State University would gain more autonomy. He said that the governor and the Legislature would have to retain some controls over how money for the University is spent as long as they have the responsibility for raising the funds.

Police to Boost Holiday Patrols

Highway patrols in the area will be increased by area authorities during the three-day Labor Day weekend beginning tonight, to cope with anticipted heavy traffic.

Sheriff Claude Bell said the regular highway patrol assigned by his office will have additional deputies on duty during the holiday, when authorities anticipate heavier traffic than normal on area streets and main highways.

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy said the regular patrols will be on duty throughout the weekend, and patrolmen will be assigned to traffic duty at points where traffic might be exceptionally heavy.

"We all urge the public to drive carefully and have a safe weekend," Chief Murphy said.

State Police said additional patrols will be assigned to cover main highways throughout the area beginning today to cope with the anticipated heavy traffic the next three or four days.

Authorities noted this will be the first and only three-day weekend of the summer.

In Dutchess County, Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan plans to strengthen the highway patrols, and also maintain his usual boat patrol on lakes in the county and on the Hudson River.

Police officials throughout the area urged motorists to comply with all rules of the road and motor vehicle regulations, and do everything possible to avoid mishaps during the long holiday weekend.

Third Installment Due on Income Tax

Taxpayers paying estimated income tax are, according to the local district director, James A. O'Hara, required to pay their third installment of tax due on 1962 estimated income by September 17.

If the income expected to be earned during 1962 has changed, taxpayers should file an amended declaration of estimated tax. A blank form for use as an amended return is printed on the back of the bill which taxpayers receive for an installment of estimated tax, the district director pointed out.

If you have any questions on estimated tax, telephone your nearest internal revenue office, O'Hara advises. Telephone numbers are listed in telephone directories under U. S. Government - Treasury Department.

Two Court Cases

Howard Brown, 39, who, police said has no home, waived examination in city court today and was held for grand jury action on an attempted burglary charge. Police said he had attempted to enter Stone's Liquor Store, 24 Broadway several days ago. A third degree assault charge against Wade Page, 29, of Mt. Marion, was dismissed. He was booked July 30 on complaint of Everett Banks, of Port Ewen.

Loss Is Feared Of Troopers by Hyde Park Force

Commenting on a proposal for creation of a Town of Hyde Park police force, Supervisor William P. Schryver of that township, said Thursday a town police department might result in the loss of the State Police barracks at Hyde Park.

Schryver noted that the Dutchess County sheriff's office also has a patrol going through the township and he added, "there certainly is no need in the town for three police agencies." The supervisor said that police agencies are doing a good job, and in his opinion the town of Hyde Park cannot offord its own police department.

At a special meeting of the Town Council Wednesday night, a request from Patrolman Bruce Berrian, head of the town's special police force seeking authority for the seven-man force to apprehend law violators, was discussed.

Supervisor Schryver was authorized to make a study to determine whether special policemen, as peace officers, had the power to issue traffic tickets and make criminal arrests under state law, and if policemen would have insurance coverage while making arrests.

Pleads Innocent In Thruway Fatal

Accused of driving an automobile while intoxicated after a fatal crash on the State Thruway Wednesday night, Jacob Kaplan, 57, a plasterer, of 1576-19th Street, Brooklyn, pleaded innocent Thursday afternoon before Town of New Paltz Justice of the Peace John B. Tenaglia.

Kaplan was released in custody of a Middletown attorney. Hearing was adjourned until Sept. 21.

According to Thruway State Police at Newburgh, Kaplan stopped his automobile on a northbound driving lane Wednesday night, and the car was struck in the rear by a 1962 vehicle owned and operated by James Thomas Ryan, 27, of 6523 Amboy Place, Staten Island. Ryan was killed instantly, authorities said.

Hurt at Cement Plant

John J. Cecelia, 37, of 319 Fourth Avenue is reported in apparently fair condition today at Kingston Hospital following a mishap Thursday night at Hudson Cement Corp., plant on North Street. Mrs. Cecelia said a boulder fell on her husband's foot and he was taken to the hospital in Fatum's ambulance. This mishap occurred shortly before 8 p. m.

Stripped Down Wedding

BOURNE, England (AP) — The City Council apologized today for seven beautiful girls who stripped down to bathing suits to form an honor guard at a church wedding.

The girls are swimmers in an aqua show with the bride, Eileen Hart, 22.

At Eileen's wedding in a local Anglican church, the seven sat demurely and fully clad in their pew through the half-hour service.

After the service, the dresses came off in the churchyard outside, revealing swimsuits embellished by filmy trains of white lace.

The council apologized because it sponsors the show.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Perhaps the most comfort businessmen can derive from this week's presidential news conference is that for the first time in a long spell there weren't any questions about the state of the economy.

All hands seem willing to let lie, for the moment at least, all of the summer's built-up fears about whither are we going.

May Help Business

And business could be the better for it. Industry and trade have problems enough of their own without everyone getting in on the guessing game. Also the publicized fears tend to feed the very trends some have direly predicted.

Even the stock market has stopped being a barometer, this week at least. It appears to be waiting for everyone to come back from vacation full of vinegar, if not big new ideas.

Business traditionally picks up after Labor Day. And stock traders seem to feel there'll be time enough to wait and see if tradition is followed rather than trying to guess ahead of time.

But the momentary truce in the talk about the economy's parlous future is about the only uncertainty that isn't still around.

What Congress will do is the most immediate. In the final weeks of a session many business plans are held up to see if specific proposals are accepted or rejected. Congress can change its mind quickly and frequently in the final days.

And business has a big stake in many of the questions President Kennedy did discuss at his news conference—foreign trade appropriations, the Cuban and Berlin problems, the atomic race, and even the makeup of the Supreme Court, which passes on a number of business problems each year.

American business has become so involved in political decisions, domestic and international, that any swift change in any of these fields can have a bearing on the business cycle.

Bear on Consumers

Many factors outside of the economic trend itself affect tax policies and a great array of business regulations.

These same factors bear on consumer psychology. The results show up in stores, the home mortgage market, the balance between total spending and total saving.

The moves the government may take—or propose to take—in guiding the money market, counteracting a business slowdown or braking a speculative boom, financially aiding or retraining the unemployed, riding herd on price or wage increases — all affect the business cycle.

But the very act of making the proposals, and all the talk about their wisdom or necessity, can hold up or stimulate business planning, and to a lesser degree influence consumer thinking.

So the pre-Labor Day truce in heated discussions about whither we are going and why, even if the truce is fleeting, can be welcomed by many who would rather wait and see how business acts on its own and what consumers do about spending for the traditional fall goods and services.

Heavy Local Casualties Reported

Reviews Action of Ulster Guard On 100th Anniversary of Battle

Edit. Note: (The following are excerpts from a book, Banners and Bugles written by Will Plank of Marlboro, local historian, on the role of Ulster County residents in the Civil War.)

One hundred years ago, August 30, 1862, Ulster County's 20th Regiment, officially known as the 80th New York State Volunteer Infantry, went into action for the first time in a major engagement, the second Battle of Bull Run. Also known as the Battle of Groveton or the Second Manassas, it cost the local men heavier losses than any other battle in which they were engaged except Antietam, Sept. 17, '62 or Gettysburg which followed it July 1, 2 and 3, 1863.

The 80th suffered casualties of 52 men that hot August day a century ago, as compared with 170 in the three days at Gettysburg. It seemed more terrible to the Ulster soldiers because they had never faced any such concentrated enemy fire before. They faced some of the best veteran troops of Stonewall Jackson and Gen. Longstreet, flushed with success in a series of victories and contemptuous of the comparatively green troops from New York State. The battle-scarred Confederates must have been surprised, indeed, to see the former militia men from Ulster charge their strong position, recoil, and reforming charge again and again until recalled.

Gray Coats Had Advantage

The Confederates had the advantage of position at this second Bull Run battle. They occupied a wood where their troops were protected by an embankment of an incompleted railroad. From behind this shelter they poured a most destructive fire of artillery and musketry into the Union lines advancing through fields and open timber. It was impossible to flank Jackson's men who were entrenched on the right of Gen. Pope's federal army and able to form a junction with Longstreet's corps of Lee's force striking Pope's front. Jackson's line must be broken and driven back in order to protect the Union army from a terrible cross fire and give it a chance to beat the two Confederate forces in detail. If the enemy lines should join the federals would be seriously outnumbered and driven from the field.

On August 29th, the day before, different divisions of Pope's army had attacked Jackson's line behind the railroad embankment at several points and had been repulsed with heavy loss. This engagement, the battle of Groveton, had cost the 80th some wounded, but it was as nothing compared with their losses on the 30th. Col. George W. Pratt led the Ulster regiment in its desperate effort to pierce the enemy lines and fell wounded. He was carried to a field hospital and Lieut. Col. Gates of Kingston took command.

Every effort to reach the Confederate line proved futile and when the assault was given up the ground was covered with dead and wounded from Ulster and Greene Counties.

First Lieutenant John Ross Horner of Company K, was killed and Capt. James Tallmadge Hendricks of Co. G, Saugerties, and Capt. Peletiah Ward, Co. E, Ellenville, were mortally wounded. Col. Pratt died as result of wounds Sept 11th, Hendricks died in Washington hospital Sept. 17 and Ward at Alexandria, Va., Sept. 3rd.

The following officers also fell wounded:

John Vernon Bouvier, 2nd lieut, Co. E, wounded at the battle of Groveton.

Henry Carr, sergeant, Co. B, later 2nd lieut Co. D, wounded at Second Bull Run.

Philip Dietz, first sergeant Co. D, later lieutenant Co. B, wounded.

Demetrius J. France, 2nd lieut. Co. 1, wounded.

Nicholas Hoysradt, 1st lieut., Co. F, wounded.

George G. Masten, private Co. C, later 2nd lieut., Co. C, wounded.

Capt. Abram S. Smith, Kingston, Co. H, wounded.

James Smith, 1st sergt, Co. G, Saugerties, wounded.

Capt. John Rudolph Tappen, Co. C, wounded.

James M. VanValkenbergh, 2nd lieut, Co. G, of Saugerties, wounded.

Capt. Dan McMahon, Shandaken, Co. D, wounded at Battle of Chantilly, Sept. 1st.

Prepared as Tribute

A brief description of the battle of Groveton followed by Second Bull Run and the engagement at Chantilly two days later is given below. It is from the book "Banners and Bugles" which is entirely devoted to Ulster County and its people during the Civil War. The book, written by Will Plank of Marlboro, a historian who has devoted over 30 years to the study of the great conflict which so nearly wrecked the future of the United States, is being prepared as a tribute to the men and women of this county who helped to preserve the Union.

The excerpts that follow relate to the efforts of the great Confederate General Lee to break up the Virginia campaign of General John Pope who had pushed south into the heart of that state in July 1862 and in August was being pushed back toward Washington.

The fighting mentioned took place on the Warrenton Turnpike some 30 miles southwest of the capitol, a road which is still one of the principal highways of Virginia. Most of the country where our soldiers fought is now part of the Manassas National Battlefield Park and is easy to reach and most interesting. Pope had been defending the line of the Rappahannock River when Lee moved against him with a greatly superior force. He had divided his army and sent Stonewall Jackson around to Pope's rear where he cut the Union supply line on the railroad. While Jackson threatened Pope's flank the rest of Lee's veteran force pushed the Federals steadily from the rear until the Southern armies united and won a decisive victory.

Battles of Generals

Finding it difficult to cross under fire Lee marched up the Rappahannock and while making feints of attack detached Jackson with over half the Confederate army to get in the rear of his adversary. Jackson moved around Pope's right flank, crossed the river where there were unprotected fords and with lightning, man-killing marches, struck the railroad far north of the Union army and burned its supply depot at Manassas Junction. Not waiting for Pope to strike him in an unprotected position old Jack, as his soldiers affectionately called him, drew back to a naturally strong position in the woods behind an abandoned railroad cut and embankments.

Faced with a shortage of food and supplies which Jackson had destroyed, Pope was forced to fall back to the neighborhood of the Junction and gathered in his widely spread forces to strike Jackson. At first he could not find the wily Confederate; it was not until King's division with Ulster's regiment in its first brigade was fired on as it marched up the Warrenton Turnpike towarn Manassas that Jackson's force was revealed.

King's men fought back Gibbon's brigade with its Michigan and Wisconsin men covered itself with glory but suffered heavy losses. Patrick's New York brigade was not on the flank which was attacked and took little part in the battle but the division was badly mauled and after driving the enemy back into the sheltering woods, retreated after dark.

Railroad Cut at Groveton

Now Pope knew where his famous antagonist was, and he bent every effort to defeat and surround him before Lee came to his rescue. He knew the Southern leader would be pressing his rear, but his outnumbered army was now being reenforced. Some of McClellan's troops which had been sent back to Fredericksburg and Alexandria after the Peninsula failure were joining him and more were expected quickly.

Pope flung division after division against Jackson's protected line. Sigel of Pea Ridge fame, Hooker, soon to be known as "fighting Joe" and Phil Keaney, one of the best leaders in the Union army, struck the Confederates with their divisions. Desperate charges finally beat back the enemy's left where the first Bull Run battle started the previous year. Jackson was compelled to make changes in his line which Pope construed as a retreat. But the Confederate center and right near the last night's battle held. At one point in the railroad cut where the grey-clad soldiers ran out of ammunition they threw stones at the federals charging across open fields.

One northern officer mounted on a great black stallion led the charge again and again directly into the fire-belching muzzles of Confederates behind the embankment. His heroism aroused their admiration, and they cried "Don't shoot! Don't shoot!" Others failed to hear them in the noise and fury of battle and horse and rider fell directly in front of their lines.

Gallant but Futile

When night fell Jackson still held his embattled position where his right could be joined by Longstreet's corps of Lee's army next day. During the morning of the 30th, which was to be another black day on the Union calendar, the whole of Lee's army was brought up and deployed for an offensive. The fighting had subsided when Patrick's brigade with Ulster's soldiers was formed to charge the Confederate lines.

At three in the afternoon the order was given to advance and the brigade moved across the fields in two lines to attack Jackson's position behind the railroad embankment. The enemy allowed the brigade to advance 200 yards into the woods within pointblank range before he opened a murderous fire. The first line fairly melted away and the second with our 80th met a deluge of lead. With Col. Pratt on the left of the regiment and Lt. Col. Gates on the right, the men tried to reach the enemy lines, but in vain. Musket fire from behind the embankment, supplemented by artillery fire from the higher ground beyond made it impossible to go forward.

Col. Pratt fell, mortally wounded, and the men after trying three times to reach their well-protected foe, fell back. Orders came to retire and the brigade did so in fairly good order. Organizations were naturally mixed up but the men still had a fighting spirit. When the enemy followed into the fields the men of the brigade turned and delivered a galling fire. This, supported by a destructive artillery fire, forced them to seek the shelter of the woods.

Heavy Toll for the 80th

The Southern riflemen had taken a heavy toll. One officer and 30 men of the 80th were left dead on the field. Three officers and 18 men were mortally wounded. Col. Pratt, wounded early in the battle, was carried to the rear and sent to a federal hospital in Washington. Later removed to Albany, it was hoped that he would recover, but he died September 11th. Thus our first regimental commander gave his all for his country in the first serious battle in which he was engaged.

While the brigade was thus being repulsed Longstreet's veterans had been steadily pushing the federals back on the right side of the road.

Frequently the Northern troops would take a determined stand on rising ground or the shelter of woods but a rebel charge or a flanking move would force them back again. This continued to the heights of the Chinn farm and the Henry house hill where the first battle of Bull Run was decided. Now the second battle of that name was to go into history as another federal defeat.

Considered One of the Best

The Ulster Guard retired to Bull Run with the rest of the Union army and at the stone bridge across the stream was fortunate enough to find a commissary issuing fresh meat. It was the first it had received in a week and when cooked over the camp fire beyond the creek was the first food the men had that day. Although the army had been ordered to retreat to Centerville for a stand on the heights the road was so filled with artillery and men the 80th filed to the left at Cub Run, and bivouacked for the night on that stream.

Next morning it marched on to Centerville and soon was called out again to meet Jackson at Chantilly. Here the famous Southerner was again trying to get in the rear of Pope's army by marching over a road that paralleled the line of retreat. He was foiled in his effort when he ran up against the forces of Hooker, Reno, McDowell, Stevens and Kearney. The local men participated when Gen. Hooker asked Gen. Patrick for one of his best regiments. Patrick selected the 80th and it took a position in a wood which Hooker told Col. Gates was "to be held at all hazards."

It was. Despite an infantry attack which was repulsed and severe artillery fire that followed to support further attempted advances, the enemy was always held at bay. Capt. McMahon and nine men were wounded in this engagement September 1st.

Fighting was heavy elsewhere on the field. General Stevens was killed, as was General Phil Kearney. The latter who had lost an arm in the war with Mexico, carried his sword and guided his charger in many battles since then, was to lose his life during a violent thunderstorm which ended the battle and repulse of Jackson at Chantilly.

Although Pope and his army might better have been left confronting the foe from his strong position at Centerville, the shock of defeat led to recall within the defenses of Washington.

The 80th folowed the retreating army to its old training camp on Upton's hill, its ranks depleted by well over 200 men. Four days were spent at the camp which now seemed too large for the regiment. It did picket duty while there and beat off an attack of rebel skirmishers, emboldened by recent successes.

September 7th a night march was made to Washington through part of the City to Leesboro, Maryland. The Army of the Potomac was being reorganized with the inclusion of Pope's army and Burnside's corps.

Devoted to County Men

While the major portion of "Banners and Bugles" is devoted to the history of the three regiments that went out from Ulster County to defend the Union, it also deals with activties at home to further the war effort.

Campaigns to stimulate enlistments, bounties, the draft, letters from soldiers an explanation of the different types of service and equipment in use, the flags used, the cavalry and the navy all come in for attention. Interesting incidents, and accounts of what the homefolk were doing and what the county was like at the time help to provide fascinating reading.

The story of the 20th Militia or Ulster Guard, one of the first units in the state to respond to Lincoln's call for volunteers after Ft. Sumter was fired upon is told in detail. The history of the 80th regiment of infantry which grew out of the 20th and carried its name in the desperate battles of the Second Bull Run, Antietam and Gettysburg until it took up provost guard duty and policed Richmond after its capture, is reviewed.

The 120th, one of the 300 best fighting regiments in the entire Union army is given careful attention from its formation at Kingston in 1862 to its participation in the Grand Review at Washington after the war was won. The battles of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, the Wilderness, Spotsylvania, Cold Harbor, the Petersburg and Appomattox campaigns and the service in them by this regiment are also described.

For the first time the history of the 156th regiment which left the county in 1862, was shipwrecked as it was enroute to New Orleans, its service on the Mississippi, later in the defense of Washington and in the battles of the Shenandoah valley, to its transfer to North Carolina where it saw the surrender of Johnson to end the war, is presented in full.

The much neglected regiment is given its full due for the service it performed before it was mustered out in faraway Georgia seven months after the war ended.

To Be Published Soon

Leaders and casualties of these regiments which included men from every town in the county are given in each instance. Tribute is also paid to Ulster's men who fought in regiments from other counties and in the war on the water. Lists of the men in service from the different towns of the county are also published.

The book, which is designed to preserve for posterity the record of what Ulster County did in America's bloodiest war, is scheduled to be brought out in November. It is being prepared in conjunction with the New York Civil War centennial.

"Banners and Bugles" will offer the most complete coverage of the Civil War activities of any county history in New York State. Will Plank, its author and publisher, is a former newspaper man prominent in Chicago and New York Civil War Round Table organizations, having served two terms on the board of directors of the latter organization. He was appointed Ulster County chairman of the New York State Civil War Centennial Commission by Bruce Caton, its chairman.

Mr. Plank has visited and made a study of over 200 battlefields of this great war from the Gulf coast of Texas to Gettysburg and from the fields of Kansas to the sands of Florida.

In his museum in Marlboro is the most complete collection of Civil War relics to be found in this country with exhibits from over 175 different sites of battles and skirmishes. He takes pleasure in showing them to any one interested in an effort to promote a better understanding of the war and what it meant to the people of the United States.

Jackie Due Back In U. S. Tonight

RAVELLO, Italy (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy and her daughter Caroline said goodby to the Amalfi coast and their 11th century holiday villa today and started home to spend the Labor Day weekend with the President.

They left Rome aboard a Pan American World Airways jetliner for New York at 7:31 a.m. EST.

The Kennedy family plane, the Caroline, is to fly them on to the Quonset Point Naval Station in Rhode Island. The White House announced that President Kennedy would time his departure from Washington this afternoon to reach Quonset Point about the time his wife and daughter arrived. The family will spend the holiday weekend at Hammersmith Farm, the Newport home of Mrs. Kennedy's stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss.

The American First Lady and daughter had spent 23 days on the beautiful Amalfi coast, swimming, water skiing, yachting and mingling with the local folk. They enjoyed it so much, Mrs. Kennedy extended the visit a week.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market firmed early this afternoon, with motors rising. Preholiday trading was slack.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 223.6 with industrials up 1.1, rails off .1, and utilities up .2.

The gain was irregular and came as many Wall Streeters departed for a long weekend. The market will be closed Monday, Labor Day.

Trading was at the slowest rate of the week. The advance, though slight, was the best of the week. Caution has prevailed over prospects for business and the market after the Labor Day milestone.

Brokers attributed some of the improvement to the fact that many of the pre-Labor Day offerings had already been absorbed.

A reported rise of factory orders to a new record in July was an encouraging note. Favorable reports about the 1963 auto models and a good outlook for profits in the auto industry were credited for the buying in motors.

Steels continued ragged, with some recoveries here and there, as steel company executives failed to comply with Senate subpoenas.

DuPont Manager Reports

Nearly $6,000,000 in direct buying power in the Newburgh-Beacon area was generated last year by the DuPont Company's Newburgh coated fabrics plant and research laboratory, according to Fred E. Walter, plant manager. The plant and laboratory had a combined payroll of $5,435,000 and purchased $561,000 worth of materials and services from 166 suppliers in the Newburgh-Beacon area.

Woman Files New Suit On Gable's Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A new $100,000 suit has been filed against the estate of the late film actor Clark Gable by a woman who withdrew an identical suit a year ago.

Mrs. Jill Winkler Rath, 41, charges Gable broke an agreement to will her the amount.

Mrs. Rath is the widow of Hollywood press agent Otto Winkler, who was killed in a 1942 Nevada plane crash in which Gable's third wife, actress Carole Lombard, also died.

Mrs. Rath contends Gable agreed to will her $100,000 because the actor had induced her husband to accompany Miss Lombard and because Gable also persuaded Mrs. Rath to accept a small settlement from the airline.

Order Four Steel Giants to Appear For Senate Quiz

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief executives of four big steel companies were ordered to appear before the Senate Antitrust subcommittee today in a battle over disclosure of production costs.

Chairman Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said that although he had received word Thursday that the steel officials would not show up, the subcommittee was going ahead with its hearing.

He wired executives of the four companies—Bethlehem, Republic, National and Armco—that he would consider their failure to appear as contempt under the subpoenas served on them.

Contempt of Congress is punishable by a $1,000 fine or a year's imprisonment, or both.

The companies, unlike eight other major steel producers, have declined so far to submit detailed unit cost figures in response to subpoenas issued by the subcommittee.

Kefauver said he would seek to have them cited for contempt if they persisted in their refusal.

Subpoenas were issued last April after major steel producers announced a short-lived $6-a-ton price increase that was rescinded after President Kennedy threw the full weight of the government against it.

Kefauver said at the time that production cost figures were essential to an intelligent evaluation of the need for price increases.

The steel companies contend disclosure of their unit costs would damage them competitively, both at home and abroad.

Alertness Averts Crash

Alertness of a Kinderhook man in stopping a driverless car in motion at a busy Hudson intersection, on Thursday, averted what could have resulted in a serious accident. Richard Roosa, Kinderhook, was driving a truck on Warren Street, Hudson, when he saw a driverless car rolling across the intersection at Park Place. Roosa leaped from his truck, climbed behind the wheel of the car and steered it to a parking space in the next block. The car belonged to the Rev. Benjamin Hoffman, pastor of the First Reformed Church, Hudson, who had parked the vehicle on Warren Street while he went for a newspaper.

Critical of GOP Booth

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The state Conservative Party charges that the Republicans are using a booth at the State Exposition here for "blatant political promotion of the Rockefeller ticket."

David H. Jaquith, Syracuse businessman running for governor on the Conservative ticket, said his party had been denied use of a booth for political purposes.

He demanded Thursday night that officials of the fair explain what he called "partisan exploitation of the taxpayer-financed fair" and "failure to deal fairly and frankly with the Conservative Party representative."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

ROGER E. SPEAR

Older Man Tempted To Get Out of Market

Q) "My father, aged 74, has owned shares in Sears, Roebuck and Standard Oil of New Jersey for several years. He has realized good returns from these stocks. Less than a year ago, he invested in Revlon, which has been dropping ever since. Discouraged by this and the recent decline in the stock market, he is considering selling all his holdings and depositing the money in the bank at 4 per cent interest. What do you advise him to do?" W. H.

A) It is good of you to look out for your father's interests. His discouragement is very natural in view of the 1962 decline, which has had no parallel since 1946. Although there is as yet no conclusive evidence that the decline has fully bottomed out, I think your father would be unwise to sell all his stocks at present levels. I would sell Revlon, which still looks high, but I would hold Sears, Roebuck and Jersey Standard which are strong stocks that should ultimately sell higher.

Q) "I have been advised by my son to switch my U. S. savings bonds into Studebaker. I would hate to cash my bonds and take this chance unless I knew it was safe. Do you think this move would be wise?" G. B.

A) Absolutely not. Your son undoubtedly has your best interests at heart and would like to see you increase your capital. What he is advising you to do, however, is contrary to all the rules of investment and of hard business sense. You now own the strongest security in the world. If you positively required more income, it would be possible to switch your governments into higher paying securities that would be relatively safe.

Studebaker is a non-dividend, risk situation, a speculation that an able new management will perform a near-miracle and put the company on a firm footing. There is some chance that they will do so, but you can't afford to take that chance. By all means, keep your governments.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Judge Says Philly Probe to Go On

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Judge Eugene V. Alessandroni, who ordered a grand jury investigation into alleged corruption in City Hall, says the probe will continue regardless of how another Common Pleas Court rules on a taxpayer's suit seeking to block it.

"It is clearly my duty to see that the order of this court is carried out until the final word is spoken by the Supreme Court," Alessandroni said Thursday night several hours after the taxpayers' suit was heard by a special panel of common pleas court judges.

The three judges took the suit under advisement. Their decision is expected to be announced next Wednesday or Thursday. The grand jury is scheduled to begin hearing testimony Tuesday.

Some of the questioning by the special panel of judges indicated judicial doubt of Alessandroni's authority to convene the jury and to name a special prosecutor.

Report Allies Are Paying Some Heed About Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. sources said today American appeals to NATO allies to discourage Communist bloc shipments to Cuba have met with limited but generally satisfactory response.

The United States brought up the Cuban question at North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council meetings in Paris. It intends to do so again soon, in view of the new wave of Russian shipments.

A larger number of Western vessels reportedly are carrying cargoes to Cuba for the Russians. President Kennedy said Wednesday NATO should consider steps to discourage this.

Warn Motorists To Watch Lights Of School Buses

Motorists were cautioned today to watch for the flashing red lights of school buses which will be on the highways again next week when school opens.

Transportation Supervisor Orrie R. Riehl of Kingston Schools, Consolidated said approximately 65 school buses including plainly marked nine passenger station wagons will transport district pupils to school. He urged motorists to use extreme caution.

The law clearly states that cars must not pass a halted school bus from either direction, and school bus drivers have been instructed to turn in license numbers of vehicles that fail to heed the flashing red lights, Riehl said.

Bus schedules will operate over the some routes as last year. Further information regarding changes or general transportation information is available by calling the principal of the school.

Parents are asked to have pupils out early for the first few days and allow the drivers time to get acquainted with their bus routes.

City buses will cary pupils as before, and a week's supply of tickets will be given each student entitled to such transportation. Parochial schools will be handled in the same manner as public schools.

STATE OF NEW YORK

Department of State

Albany, July 30, 1962.

PURSUANT to the provisions of section one of article nineteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section seventy-one of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendments numbers one to fifteen inclusive to the Constitution of the State of New York is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of Members of Assembly in this State to be held on the sixth day of November, nineteen hundred sixty-two.

CAROLINE K. SIMON,
Secretary of State.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER ONE
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing amendments to sections one, two, four, six and the powers of the legislature in aid of housing, urban renewal ten of article eighteen of the constitution, in relation to programs, and rehabilitation and improvement of substandard dwellings and in relation to the contracting of municipal indebtedness for such purposes

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That sections one, two, four, six and ten of article eighteen of the constitution be amended to read, respectively, as follows:

Section 1. Subject to the provisions of this article, the legislature may provide in such manner, by such means and upon such terms and conditions as it may prescribe for (1) [low rent] housing for persons [of low income as defined by law, or for the clearance, replanning, reconstruction and rehabilitation of substandard and insanitary areas] whose housing needs cannot be met by the unaided operations of private enterprise, as determined by law; or (2) urban renewal programs, as defined by law, including clearance, replanning, reconstruction, rehabilitation, renewal, redevelopment, conservation or improvement of slum, blighted, deteriorated or deteriorating areas, or any combination thereof; or (3) rehabilitation and improvement of substandard dwellings where it has been determined by law that such rehabilitation and improvement cannot be accomplished by the unaided operations of private enterprise, or for [both] any one or more of such purposes, and for recreational and other facilities incidental or appurtenant thereto.

§ 2. For and in aid of such purposes, notwithstanding any provision in any other article of this constitution, but subject to the limitations contained in this article, the legislature may: make or contract to make or authorize to be made or contracted capital or periodic subsidies by the state to any city, town, village, or public corporation, payable only with moneys appropriated therefor from the general fund of the state; authorize any city, town or village to make or contract to make such subsidies to any public corporation, payable only with moneys locally appropriated therefor from the general or other fund available for current expenses of such municipality; authorize the contracting of indebtedness for the purpose of providing moneys out of which it may make or contract to make or authorize to be made or contracted loans by the state to any city, town, village or public corporation; authorize any city, town or village to make or contract to make loans to any public corporation; authorize any city, town or village to guarantee the principal of and interest on, or only the interest on, indebtedness contracted by a public corporation; authorize and provide for loans by the state and authorize loans by any city, town or village to or in aid of (a) corporations regulated by law as to rents, profits, dividends and disposition of their property or franchises and engaged in providing housing facilities[; authorize any city, town or village to make loans to] and (b) the owners of [existing multiple] substandard dwellings for the rehabilitation and improvement thereof [for occupancy by persons of low income as defined by law]; grant or authorize tax exemptions in whole or in part, except that no such exemption may be granted or authorized for a period of more than sixty years; authorize cooperation with and the acceptance of aid from the United States; grant the power of eminent domain to any city, town or village, to any public corporation and to any corporation regulated by law as to rents, profits, divdends and disposition of its property or franchises and engaged in providing housing facilities.

As used in this article, the term "public corporation" shall mean any corporate governmental agency (except a county or municipal corporation) organized pursuant to law to accomplish any or all of the purposes specified in this article.

§ 4. The provisions of article VIII, not inconsistent with this article, shall apply to certificates or other evidences of indebtedness issued by a city, town or village to effectuate the purposes of this article, except that (a) the period of probable usefulness of any object or purpose authorized by or pursuant to this article may be determined to be not exceeding fifty-five years, (b) the first annual installment of all such indebtedness and of each portion thereof from time to time contracted, including any refunding thereof, shall be paid not more than ten years after such indebtedness or portion thereof shall have been contracted, (c) the amounts of annual installments shall be determined subject to such limitations as may be prescribed by the legislature, and (d) certificates or other evidences of indebtedness issued in anticipation of the receipt of moneys in connection with any urban renewal program or part thereof, or renewals thereof, from (1) the sale of real property, or any interest therein, acquired for or incidental to such urban renewal program or part thereof, or (2) from the United States government, or (3) from the state of New York, or from any or all of such sources, to the extent that such moneys are not received within ten years after their date of original issue, may be refunded subject to such limitations as may be prescribed by the legislature, provided no such refunding shall extend beyond fifty-five years computed from such date of original issue.

To effectuate any of the purposes of this article, the legislature may authorize any city, town or village to contract indebtedness to an amount which shall not exceed two per centum of the average [assesed] full valuation of the taxable real estate of such city, town or village [subject to taxation], as determined [by the last completed assessment roll and the four preceding assesment rolls of such city, town or village, for city, town or village taxes prior to the contracting of such indebtedness] in the manner prescribed in article eight of this constitution. In ascertaining the power of a city, town or village [having a population of five thousand or more as determined by the last federal census,] to contract indebtedness pursuant to this article there may be excluded (a) any such indebtedness if the project or projects aided by guarantees representing such indebtednes or by loans for which such indebtednes was contracted shall have yielded during the preceding year net revenue to be determined annually by deducting from the gross revenues, including periodic subsidies therefor, received from such project or projects, all costs of operation, maintenance, repairs and replacements, and the interest on such indebtedness and the amounts required in such year for the payment of such indebtedness; provided that in the case of guarantees such interest and such amounts shall have been paid, and in the case of loans an amount equal to such interest and such amounts shall have been paid to such city, town or village; and (b) certificates or other evidences of such indebtedness issued in anticipation of the receipt of moneys in connection with any urban renewal program or part thereof (1) from the sale of real property, or any interest therein, acquired for or incidental to an urban renewal program, or (2) from the United States government, or (3) from the state of New York, or from any or all of such sources; excepting any such certificates or other evidences of indebtedness or renewals thereof which are not retired within ten years after their date of original issue. The legislature shall prescribe the method of which the amount of any [such] indebtedness to be excluded under (a) above shall be determined, and no [such] indebtedness shall be excluded thereunder except in accordance with such determination[. The]; and the legislature may confer appropriate jurisdiction on the state comptroller, or the appellate division of the supreme court in the judicial departments in which such cities, towns or villages are located, for the purpose of determining the amount of any [such] indebtedness to be [so] excluded thereunder.

The liability of a city, town or village on account of any contract for capital or periodic subsidies to be paid subsequent to the then current year shall, for the purpose of ascertaining the power of such city, town or village to contract indebtedness, be deemed indebtedness in the amount of the commuted value of the total of such capital or periodic subsidies remaining unpaid, calucated on the basis of an annual interest rate of four per centum. Such periodic subsidies shall not be contracted for a period longer than the life of the projects assisted thereby, and in no event for more than sixty years. Indebtedness contracted pursuant to this article shall be excluded in ascertaining the power of a city, town or [such] village otherwise to create indebtedness under any other section of this constitution. Nothwithstanding the foregoing the legislature shall not authorize any city, town or village [having a population of five thousand or more] to contract indebtedness hereunder in excess of the limitations prescribed by any other article of this constitution unless at the same time it shall by law require such city, town or village to levy annually a tax or taxes other than an ad valorem tax on real estate to an extent sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on any such indebtedness. Nothing herein contained, however, shall be construed to prevent such city, town or village from pledging its faith and credit for the payment of such principal and interest nor shall any such law prevent recourse to an ad valorem tax on real estate to the extent that revenue derived from such other tax or taxes in any year, together with revenues from the project or projects aided by the proceeds of such indebtedness, shall become insufficient to provide fully for payment of such principal and interest in that year.

§ 6 No loan or subsidy shall be made by the state to aid any housing or urban renewal project unless such project is in conformity with a plan or undertaking [for the clearance, replanning and reconstruction or rehabilitation of a substandard and insanitary area or areas and for recreational and other facilities incidental or appurtenant thereto] consistent with the purposes set forth in this article. The legislature may provide additional conditions to the making of such loans or subsidies consistent with [the] such purposes [of this article]. The occupancy of any such housing project constructed, acquired or operated pursuant to the provisions of clause (1) of section one of this article shall be restricted [to persons of low income as defined by law] to persons whose housing needs cannot be met by the unaided operations of private enterprise and preference in occupancy thereof shall be given to persons who live or shall have lived in [in such] the project area [or areas].

§ 10. The legislature is empowered to make all laws which it shall deem necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers. This article shall be construed as extending powers which otherwise might be limited by other articles of this constitution and shall not be construed as imposing additional limitations; but nothing in this article contained shall be deemed to authorize or empower the state, or any city, town, village or public corporation, to engage in any private business or enterprise other than [the building and operation of low rent dwelling houses for persons of low income as defined by law, or the loaning of money to owners of existing multiple dwellings as herein provided] as authorized by or pursuant to this article.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER TWO
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, in relation to absentee voting and a new section nine to article two of the constitution, in relation to the qualification of voters for the election of presidential and vice-presidential electors.

Section 1. Resolved if (the Senate concur), That section two of article two of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 2. The legislature may, by general law, provide a manner in which, and the time and place at which, qualified voters who, on the occurrence of any election, may be [unavoidably] absent from the [place] county of their residence or, if residents of the city of New York, from such city [because they are inmates of a soldiers' and sailors' home or of a United State veterans' bureau hospital, or because their duties, occupation or business, or those of members of their families, require them to be elsewhere], and qualified voters who, on the occurrence of any election, may be unable to appear personally at the polling place because of illness or physical or disability, may vote and for the return and canvass of their votes.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article two of the constitution be amended by adding thereto at the end thereof a new section, to be section nine, to read as follows:

§ 9. Notwithstanding the residence requirements imposed by section one of this article, the legislature may, by general law, provide special procedures whereby every person who shall have moved from another state to this state or from one county, city or village within this state to another county, city or village within this state and who shall have been an inhabitant of this state in any event for thirty days next preceding an election at which electors are to be chosen for the office of president and vice president of the United States shall be entitled to vote in this state solely for such electors, provided such person is otherwise qualified to vote in this state and is not able to qualify to vote for such electors in any other state. The legislature may also, by general law, prescribe special procedures whereby every person who is registered and would be qualified to vote in this state but for his removal from this state to another state within one year next preceding such election shall be entitled to vote in this state solely for such electors, provided such person is not able to qualify to vote for such electors in any other state.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER THREE
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, in relation to absentee voting.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section two of article two of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 2. The legislature may, by general law, provide a manner in which, and the time and place at which, qualified voters who, on the occurrence of any election, may be [unavoidably] absent from the [place] county of their residence or, if residents of the city of New York, from the city [because they are inmates of a soldiers' and sailors' home or of a United States veterans bureau hospital, or because their duties, occupation or business, or those of members of their families, require them to be elsewhere], and qualified voters who, on the occurrence of any election, may be unable to appear personally at the polling place because of illness or physical disability, may vote and for the return and canvass of their votes.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That article two of the constitution be amended by adding thereto at the end thereof a new section, to be section nine, to read as follows:

§ 9. Notwithstanding the residence requirements imposed by section one of this article, the legislative may, by general law, provide special procedures whereby every person who shall have moved from another state to this state or from one county, city or village within this state to another county, city or village within this state and who shall have been an inhabitant of this state in any event for ninety days next preceding an election at which electors are to be chosen for the office of president and vice president of the United States shall be entitled to vote in this state solely for such electors, provided such person is otherwise qualified to vote in this state and is not able to qualify to vote for such electors in any other state. The legislative may also, by general law, prescribe special procedures whereby every person who is registered and would be qualified to vote in this state but for his removal from this state to another state within one year next preceding such election shall be entitled to vote in this state solely for such electors, provided such person is not able to qualify to vote for such electors in any other state.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER FOUR
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing amendments to sections three, five and six of article four, to section nine of article three, and to section twelve of article thirteen, of the constitution, in relation to the compensation of the governor and the lieutenant-governor, when the lieutenant-governor shall act as or become governor, the devolution of the duty of acting as governor and the choice of a speaker of the assembly.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section three of article four of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows.

§ 3. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state. He shall have power to convene the legislature, or the senate only, on extraordinary occasions. At extraordinary sessions no subject shall be acted upon, except such as the governor may recommend for consideration. He shall communicate by message to the legislature at every session the condition of the state, and recommend such matters to it as he shall judge expedient. He shall expediate all such measures as may be resolved upon by the legislature, and shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed. He shall receive for his services an annual salary [of not more than fifty thousand dollars,] to be fixed by joint resolution of the senate and assembly, and there shall be provided for his use a suitable and furnished executive residence.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section five of such article of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 5. [In case the person elected governor shall die after his election but before he shall have qualified as and assumed the office of governor, the powers and duties of the office of governor shall devolve upon the person elected lieutenant-governor at the same election and he shall serve as governor for the term for which the deceased governor-elect was elected. In case of the impeachment of the governor, or his removal from office, death, inability to discharge the powers and duties of the office, resignation, or absence from the state, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the lieutenant-governor for the residue of the term, or until the disability shall cease. But when the governor shall, with the consent of the legislature, be out of the state, in time of war, at the head of a military force thereof, he shall continue commander-in-chief of all the military force of the state.] In case of the removal of the governor from office or of his death or resignation, the lieutenant-governor shall become governor for the remainder of the term.

In case the governor-elect shall decline to serve or shall die, the lieutenant-governor-elect shall become governor for the full term.

In case the governor is impeached, is absent from the state or is otherwise unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the lieutenant-governor shall act as governor until the inability shall cease or until the term of the governor shall expire.

In case of the failure of the governor-elect to take the oath of office at the commencement of his term, the lieutenant-governor-elect shall act as governor until the governor shall take the oath.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section six of such article of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 6. [The lieutenant-governor shall possess the same qualifications of eligibility for office as the governor. He shall be president of the senate, but shall have only a casting vote therein. The lieutenant-governor shall receive for his services an annual salary of not more than twenty thousand dollars, to be fixed by joint resolution of the senate and assembly.

If the office of governor become vacant and there be no lieutenant-governor, the offices of governor and lieutenant-governor shall be filled for the remainder of the terms at the next general election happening not less than three months after the vacancy in the office of governor occurs. No election of a lieutenant-governor shall be had in any event except at the time of electing a governor. Until the vacancies in the offices of the governor and lieutenant-governor be filled by election, the temporary president of the senate then in office or his successor as such temporary president shall perform all the duties of lieutenant-governor and shall act as governor.

If the office of lieutenant-governor alone be vacant, or in case the lieutenant-governor be under impeachment, unable to discharge the powers and duties of the office of governor or shall be absent from the state, the temporary president of the senate then in office or his successor as such temporary president shall perform all the duties of lieutenant-governor, including the duty of acting as governor when necessary, during such vacancy, inability, absence or the pendency of such impeachment.

If, when the duty of acting as governor devolves upon the temporary president of the senate, he be unable to discharge the powers and duties of such office or be absent from the state, the speaker of the assembly shall act as governor during such inability or absence.] The lieutenant-governor shall posses the same qualifications of eligibility for office as the governor. He shall be the president of the senate but shall have only a casting vote therein. The lieutenant-governor shall receive for his services an annual salary to be fixed by joint resolution of the senate and assembly.

In case of vacancy in the offices of both governor and lieutenant-governor, a governor and lieutenant-governor shall be elected for the remainder of the term at the next general election happening not less than three months after both offices shall have become vacant. No election of a lieutenant-governor shall be had in any event except at the time of electing a governor.

In case of vacancy in the offices of both governor and lieutenant-governor or if both of them shall be impeached, absent from the state or otherwise unable to discharge the powers and duties of the office of governor, the temporary president of the senate shall act as governor until the inability shall cease or until a governor shall be elected.

In case of vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor alone, or if the lieutenant-governor shall be impeached, absent from the state or otherwise unable to discharge the duties of his office, the temporary president of the senate shall perform all the duties of lieutenant-governor during such vacancy or inability.

If, when the duty of acting as governor devolves upon the temporary president of the senate, there be a vacancy in such office or the temporary president of the senate shall be absent from the state or otherwise unable to discharge the duties of governor, the speaker of the assembly shall act as governor during such vacancy or inability.

The legislature may provide for the devolution of the duty of acting as governor in any case not provided for in this article.

§ 4. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section nine of article three of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 9. A majority of each house shall constitute a quorum to do business. Each house shall determine the rules of its own proceedings, and be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members; shall choose its own officers; and the senate shall choose a temporary president [to preside in case of the absence or impeachment of the lieutenant-governor, or when he shall refuse to act as president, or shall act as governor] and the assembly shall choose a speaker.

§ 5. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section twelve of article thirteen of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 12. [No officer whose salary is fixed by this constitution shall receive any additional compensation.] Each of the [other] state officers named in this constitution shall, during his continuance in office, receive a compensation, to be fixed by law, which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which he shall have been elected or appointed; nor shall he receive to his use any fees or perquisites of office or other compensation.

§ 6. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding regular election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER FIVE
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section one of article eight of the constitution, in relation to increase of pension benefits payable to retired members of a village police or fire department or to widows of members or retired members of a village police or fire department.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate cnocur), That section one of article eight of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. No county, city, town, village or school district shall give or loan any money or property to or in aid of any individual, or private corporation or association, or private undertaking, or become directly or indirectly the owner of stock in, or bonds of, any private corporation or association; nor shall any county, city, town, village or school district give or loan its credit to or in aid of any individual, or public or private corporation or association, or private undertaking, except that two or more such units may join together pursuant to law in providing any municipal facility, service, activity or undertaking which each of such units has the power to provide separately. Each such unit may be authorized by the legislature to contract joint or several indebtedness, pledge its or their faith and credit for the payment of such indebtedness for such joint undertaking and levy real estate or other authorized taxes or impose charges therefor subject to the provisions of this constitution otherwise restricting the power of such units to contract indebtedness or to levy taxes on real estate. The legislature shall have power to provide by law for the manner and the proportion in which indebtedness arising out of such joint undertaking shall be incurred by such units and shall have power to provide a method by which such indebtedness shall be determined, allocated and apportioned among such units and such indebtedness treated for purposes of exclusion from applicable constitutional limitations, provided that in no event shall more than the total amount of indebtedness incurred for such joint undertaking be included in ascertaining the power of all such participating units to incur indebtedness. Such law may provide that such determination, allocation and apportionment shall be conclusive if made or approved by the comptroller. This provision shall not prevent a county from contracting indebtedness for the purpose of advancing to a town or school district, pursuant to law, the amount of unpaid taxes returned to it.

Subject to the limitations on indebtedness and taxation applying to any county, city [or], town[,] or village nothing in this constitution contained shall prevent a county, city or town from making such provision for the aid, care and support of the needy as may be authorized by law, nor prevent any such county, city or town from providing for the care, support, maintenance and secular education of inmates of orphan asylums, homes for dependent children or correctional institutions and of children placed in family homes by authorized agencies, whether under public or private control, or from providing health and welfare services for all children, nor shall anything in this constitution contained prevent a county, city, town or village from increasing the pension benefits payable to retired members of a police department or fire department or to widows, dependent children or dependent parents of members or retired members of a police department or fire department. Payments by counties, cities or towns to charitable, eleemosynary, correctional and reformatory institutions and agencies, wholly or partly under private control, for care, support and maintenance, may be authorized, but shall not be required, by the legislature. No such payment shall be made for any person cared for by any such institution or agency, nor for a child placed in a family home, who is not received and retained therein pursuant to rules established by the state board of social welfare or other state department having the power of inspection thereof.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER SIX
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing the repeal of subsection (b) of section seven of article one of the constitution, in relation to ascertainment of compensation when private property is taken for public use; amendments to sections six, seventeen and nineteen of article three of the constitution, in relation to the salaries of members of the legislature, street railroads and claims against the state, respectively; and amendments to section six of article five of the constitution, in relation to civil service

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That subsection (b) of section seven of article one of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section six of article three of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 6. Each member of the legislature shall receive for his services a like annual salary, to be fixed by law. He shall also be reimbursed for his actual traveling expenses in going to and returning from the place in which the legislature meets, not more than once each week while the legislature is in session. Senators, when the senate alone is convened in extraordinary session, or when serving as members of the court for the trial of impeachments, and such members of the assembly, not exeeceding nine in number, as shall be appointed managers of an impeachment, shall receive an additional per diem allowance, to be fixed by law. Any member, while serving as an officer of his house or in any other special capacity therein or directly connected therewith not hereinbefore in this section specified, may also be paid and receive, in addition, any allowance which may be fixed by law for the particular and additional services appertaining to or entailed by such office or special capacity. Neither the salary of any member nor any other allowance so fixed may be increased or diminished during, and with respect to, the term for which he shall have been elected, [except once by law enacted prior to April first, nineteen hundred forty-eight, and relating only to service after its enactment;] nor shall he be paid or receive any other extra compensation. The provisions of this section and laws enacted in compliance therewith shall govern and be exclusively controlling, according to their terms. Members shall continue to receive [the same] such salary and additional allowance as heretofore fixed and provided in this section, until changed by law pursuant to this section.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seventeen of article three of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 17. The legislature shall not pass a private or local bill in any of the following cases:

Changing the names of persons.

Laying out, opening, altering, working or discontinuing roads, highways or alleys, or for draining swamps or other low lands.

Locating or changing county seats.

Providing for changes of venue in civil or criminal cases.

Incorporating villages.

Providing for election of members of boards of supervisors.

Selecting, drawing, summoning or empaneling grand or petit jurors.

Regulating the rate of interest on money.

The opening and conducting of elections or designating places of voting.

Creating, increasing or decreasing fees, percentages or allowances of public officers, during the term for which said officers are elected or appointed.

Granting to any corporation, association or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks.

Granting to any private corporation, association or individual any exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever.

Granting to any person, association, firm or corporation, an exemption from taxation on real or personal property.

Providing for the building of bridges, except over the waters forming a part of the boundaries of the state, by other than a municipal or other public corporation or a public agency of the state.

[The legislature shall pass general laws providing for the cases enumerated in this section, and for all other cases which in its judgment, may be provided for by general laws. But no law shall authorize the construction or operation of a street railroad except upon the condition that the consent of the owners of one-half in value of the property bounded on, and the consent also of the local authorities, having the control of that portion of a street or highway upon which it is proposed to construct or operate such railroad, be first obtained, or in case the consent of such property owners cannot be obtained, the appellate division of the supereme court, in the department in which it is proposed to be constructed, may, upon application, appoint three commissioners who shall determine, after a hearing of all parties interested, whether such railroad ought to be constructed or operated, and their determination, confirmed by the court, may be taken in lieu of the consent of the property owners.]

§ 4. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section nineteen of article three of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 19. The legislature shall neither audit nor allow any private claim or account against the state, but may appropriate money to pay such claims as shall have been audited and allowed according to law.

No claim against the state shall be audited, allowed or paid which, as between citizens of the state, would be barred by lapse of time. [This provision shall not be constructed to repeal any statute fixing the time within which claims shall be presented or allowed, nor shall it extend to any claims duly presented within the time allowed by law, and prosecuted with due diligence from the time of such presentment.] But if the claimant shall be under legal disability, the claim may be presented within two years after such disability is removed.

§ 5. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section six of article five of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 6. Appointments and promotions in the civil service of the state and all of the civil divisions thereof, including cities and villages, shall be made according to merit and fitness to be ascertained, as far as practicable, by examination which, as far as practicable, shall be competitive; provided, however, that [until January first, nineteen hundred fifty-one,] any member of the armed forces of the United States who served therein in time of war, who is a citizen and resident of this state and was a resident at the time of his [or her] entrance into the armed forces of the United States and was honorably discharged or released under honorable circumstances from such service, shall be entitled to [the preferences granted by the provisions of former section six of this article, which shall continue in effect until such date, notwithstanding its repeal by the concurrent resolution of the senate and assembly adding this section, and provided, further, that on and after such date, any such member shall, in lieu of such preferences, be entitled to] receive five points additional credit in a competitive examination for original appointment and two and one-half points additional credit in an examination for promotion or, if such member was disabled in the actual performance of duty in any war, is receiving disability payments therefor from the United States veterans administration, and his [or her] disability is certified by such administration to be in existence at the time of his [or her] application for appointment or promotion, he [or she] shall be entitled to receive ten points additional credit in a competitive examination for original appointment and five points additional credit in an examination for promotion. Such additional credit shall be added to the final earned rating of such member after he [or she] has qualified in an examination and shall be granted only at the time of establishment of an eligible list[, except that eligible lists in existence on January first, nineteen hundred fifty-one shall be revised by adding the applicable credits provided herein for such members of the armed forces]. No such member shall receive the additional credit granted by this section after he has received one appointment, either original entrance or promotion, from an eligible list on which he was allowed the additional credit granted by this section. [The legislature may provide by law for preference in retention of such members in case of the abolition or elimination of positions in the civil service. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the enforcement of this section.]

§ 6. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER SEVEN
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to article three of the constitution, in relation to granting power to the legislature to insure continuity of state and local governmental operations in periods of emergency resulting from disaster caused by enemy attack

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article three of the constitution be amended by adding thereto a new section, to be section twenty-five, to read as follows:

§ 25. Notwithstanding any other provision of this constitution, the legislature, in order to insure continuity of state and local governmental operations in periods of emergency caused by enemy attack or by disasters (natural or otherwise), shall have the power and the immediate duty (1) to provide for prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public offices, of whatever nature and whether filled by election or appointment, the incumbents of which may become unavailable for carrying on the powers and duties of such offices, and (2) to adopt such other measures as may be necessary and proper for insuring the continuity of governmental operations.

Nothing in this article shall be construed to limit in any way the power of the state to deal with emergencies arising from any cause.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER EIGHT
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing a new article nine of the constitution, in relation to a bill of rights and home rule powers for local governments and repeal, renumbering and amendment of provisions of the constitution presently in force to conform thereto

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That article nine of the constitution as presently in force, except sections five, six and eight thereof, is hereby repealed and replaced by a new article nine of the constitution, to read as follows:

ARTICLE IX
LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

Bill of rights for local governments.

Section 1. Effective local self-government and intergovernmental cooperation are purposes of the people of the state. In furtherance thereof, local governments shall have the following rights, powers, privileges and immunities in addition to those granted by other provisions of this constitution:

(a) Every local government, except a county wholly included within a city, shall have a legislative body elective by the people thereof. Every local government shall have power to adopt local laws as provided by this article.

(b) All officers of every local government whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution shall be elected by the people of the local government, or of some division thereof, or appointed by such officers of the local government as may be provided by law.

(c) Local governments shall have power to agree, as authorized by act of the legislature, with the federal government, a state or one or more other governments within or without the state, to provide cooperatively, jointly or by contract any facility, service, activity ..or ..undertaking which each participating local government has the power to provide separately. Each such local government shall have power to apportion its share of the cost thereof upon such portion of its area as may be authorized by act of the legislature.

(d) No local government or any part of the territory thereof shall be annexed to another until the people, if any, of the territory proposed to be annexed shall have consented thereto by majority vote on a referendum and until the governing board of each local government, the area of which is affected, shall have consented thereto upon the basis of a determination that the annexation is in the over-all public interest. The consent of the governing board of a county shall be required only where a boundary of the county is affected. On or before July first, nineteen hundred sixty-four, the legislature shall provide, where such consent of a governing board is not granted, for adjudication and determination, on the law and the facts, in a proceeding initiated in the supreme court, of the issue of whether the annexation is in the over-all public interest.

(e) Local governments shall have power to take by eminent domain private property within their boundaries for public use together with excess land or property but no more than is sufficient to provide for appropriate disposition or use of land or property which abuts on that necessary for such public use, and to sell or lease that not devoted to such use. The legislature may authorize and regulate the exercise of the power of eminent domain and excess condemnation by a local government outside its boundaries.

(f) No local government shall be prohibited by the legislature (1) from making a fair return on the value of the property used and useful in its operation of a gas, electric or water public utility service, over and above costs of operation and maintenance and necessary and proper reserves, in addition to an amount equivalent to taxes which such service, if privately owned, would pay to such local government, or (2) from using such profits for payments of refunds to consumers or for any other lawful purpose.

(g) A local government shall have power to apportion its cost of a governmental service or function upon any portion of its area, as authorized by act of the legislature.

(h) (1) Counties, other than those wholly included within city, shall be empowered by general law, or by special law enacted upon county request pursuant to section two of this article, to adopt, amend or repeal alternative forms of county government provided by the legislature or to prepare, adopt, amend or repeal alternative forms of their own. Any such form of government or any amendment thereof, by act of the legislature or by local law, may transfer one or more functions or duties of the county or of the cities, towns, villages, districts or other units of government wholly contained in such county to each other or when authorized by the legislature to the state, or may abolish one or more offices, departments, agencies or units of government provided, however, that no such form or amendment, except as provided in paragraph (2) of this subdivision, shall become effective unless approved on a referendum by a majority of the votes cast thereon in the area of the county outside of cities, and in the cities of the county, if any, considered as one unit. Where an alternative form of county government or any amendment thereof, by act of the legislature or by local law, provides for the transfer of any function or duty to or from any village or the abolition of any office, department, agency or unit of government of a village wholly contained in such county, such formor amendment shall not become effective unless it shall also be approved on the referendum by a majority of the votes cast thereon in all the villages so affected considered as one unit.

(2) After the adoption of an alternative form of county government by a county, any amendment thereof by act of the legislature or by local law which abolishes or creates an elective county office, changes the voting or veto power of or the method of removing an elective county officer during his term of office, abolishes, curtails or transfers to another county officer or agency any power of an elective county officer or changes the form or composition of the county legislative body shall be subject to a permissive referendum as provided by the legislature.

Powers and duties of legislature; home rule powers of local governments; statute of local governments.

§ 2. (a) The legislature shall provide for the creation and organization of local governments in such manner as shall secure to them the rights, powers, privileges and immunities granted to them by this constitution.

(b) Subject to the bill of rights of local governments and other applicable provisions of this constitution, the legislature:

(1) shall enact, and may from time to time amend, a statute of local governments granting to local government powers including but not limited to those of local legislation and administration in addtion to the powers vested in them by this article. A power granted in such statute may be repealed, diminished, impaired or suspended only by enactment of a statute by the legislature with the approval of the governor at its regular session in one calendar year and the re-enactment and approval of such statute in the following calendar year.

(2) Shall have the power to act in relation to the property, affairs or government of any local government only by general law, or by special law only (a) on request of two-thirds of the total membership of its legislative body or on request of its chief executive officer concurred in by a majority of such membership, or (b), except in the case of the city of New York, on certificate of necessity from the governor reciting facts which in his judgment constitute an emergency requiring enactment of such law and, in such latter case, with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature.

(3) Shall have the power to confer on local governments powers not relating to their property, affairs or government including but not limited to those of local legislation and administration, in addition to those otherwise granted by or pursuant to this article, and to withdraw or restrict such additional powers.

(c) In addition to powers granted in the statute of local governments or in any other law, (i) every local government shall have power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution or any general law relating to its property, affairs or government and, (ii) every local government shall have power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the provision of this constitution or any general law relating to the following subjects, whether or not they relate to the property, affairs or goverment of such local government, except to the extent that the legislature shall restrict the adoption of such a local law relating to other than the property, affairs or government of such local government:

(1) The powers, duties, qualifications, number, mode of selection and removal, terms of office, compensation, hours of work, protection, welfare and safety of its officers and employees, except that cities and towns shall not have such power with respect to members of the legislative body of the county in their capacities as county officers.

(2) In the case of a city, town or village, the membership and composition of its legislative body.

(3) The transaction of its business.

(4) The incurring of its obligations, except that local laws relating to financing by the issuance of evidences of indebtedness by such local government shall be consistent with laws enacted by the legislature.

(5) The presentation, ascertainment and discharge of claims against it.

(6) The acquisition, care, management and use of its highways, roads, streets, avenues and property.

(7) The acquisition of its transit facilities and the ownership and operation thereof.

(8) The levy, collection and administration of local taxes authorized by the legislature and of assessments for local improvements, consistent with laws enacted by the legislature.

(9) The wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by any contractor or sub-contractor performing work, labor or services for it.

(10) The government, protection, order, conduct, safety, health and well-being of persons or property therein.

(d) Except in the case of a transfer of functions under an alternative form of county government, a local government shall not have power to adopt local laws which impair the powers of any other local government.

(e) The rights and powers of local governments specified in this section insofar as applicable to any county within the city of New York shall be vested in such city.

Existing laws to remain applicable; construction; definitions.

§ 3. (a) Except as expressly provided, nothing in this article shall restrict or impair any power of the legislature in relation to:

(1) The maintenance, support or administration of the public school system, as required or provided by article XI of this constitution, or any retirement system pertaining to such public school system.

(2) The courts as required or provided by article VI of this constitution, and

(3) Matters other than the property, affairs or government of a local government.

(b) The provisions of this article shall not affect any existing valid provisions of acts of the legislature or of local legislation and such provisions shall continue in force until repealed, amended, modified or superseded in accordance with the provisions of this constitution.

(c) Rights, powers, privileges and immunities granted to local governments by this article shall be liberally construed.

(d) Whenever used in this article the following terms shall mean or include:

(1) "General law." A law which in terms and in effect applies alike to all counties, all counties other than those wholly included within a city, all cities, all towns or all villages.

(2) "Local government." A county, city, town or village.

(3) "People." Persons entitled to vote as provided in section one of article two of this constitution.

(4) "Special law." A law which in terms and in effect applies to one or more, but not all, counties, counties other than those wholly included within a city, cities, towns or villages.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That subdivision (e) of section seven of article one of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section eighteen of article three of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 4. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section twelve of article eight of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 12. It shall be the duty of the legislature, subject to the provisions of this constitution, to restrict the power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting indebtedness, and loaning the credit of counties, cities, towns and villages, so as to prevent abuses in taxation and assessments and in contracting of indebtedness by them. Nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent the legislature from further restricting the powers herein specified of any county, city, town, vilage or school district to contract indebtedness or to levy taxes on real estate. The legislature shall not, however, restrict the power to levy taxes on real estate for the payment of interest on or principal of indebtedness theretofore contracted.

§ 5. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That sections five, six and eight of article nine of the constitution are hereby renumbered to be subdivisions (a), (b) and (c), respectively, of a new section thirteen which is hereby added to article thirteen of the constitution and amended to read as follows:

Law enforcement and other officers.

§ [5]13. (a) Except in counties in the city of New York and except as authorized in section [two] one of [this] article nine of this constitution, sheriffs, clerks of counties, district attorneys, and registers in counties having registers, shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties once in every three years and whenever the occurring of vacancies shall require. Sheriffs shall hold no other office. They may be required by law to renew their security, from time to time; and in default of giving such new security, their offices shall be deemed vacant. But the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any elective sheriff, county clerk, district attorney or register within the term for which he shall have been elected; but before so doing he shall give to such officer a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. In each county in the city of New York a district attorney shall be chosen by the electors once in every two or four years as the legislature shall direct. The clerk of each county in the city of New York shall be appointed, and be subject to removal, by the appellate division of the supreme court in the judicial department in which the county is located. In addition to his powers and duties as clerk of the supreme court, he shall have power to select, draw, summon and empanel grand and petit jurors in the manner and under the conditions now or hereafter prescribed by law, and shall have such other powers and duties as shall be prescribed by the city from time to time by local law.

[§ 6.] (b) Any district attorney who shall fail faithfully to prosecute a person charged with the violation in his county of any provision of this article [XIII of this constitution] which may come to his knowledge, shall be removed from office by the governor, after due notice and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. The expenses which shall be incurred by any county, in investigating and prosecuting any charge of bribery or attempting to bribe any person holding office under the laws of this state, within such county, or of receiving bribes by any such person in said county, shall be a charge against the state, and their payment by the state shall be provided for by law.

[§ 8.] (c) The city of New York is hereby vested with power from time to time to abolish by local law, as defined by the legislature, the office of any county officer within the city other than judges, clerks of counties and district attorneys, and to assign any or all functions of such officers to city officers, courts or clerks of counties, and to prescribe the powers, duties, qualifications, number, mode of selection and removal, terms of office and compensation of the persons holding such offices and the employees therein, and to assign to city officers any powers or duties of clerks of counties not assigned by this constitution. The legislature shall not pass any law affecting any such matters in relation to such offices within the city of New York except on message from the governor declaring that an emergency exists and the concurrent action of two-thirds of the members of each house, except that existing laws regarding each such office shall continue in force, and may be amended or repealed by the legislature as heretofore, until the power herein granted to the city has been exercised with respect to that office. The provisions of [this] article nine shall not prevent the legislature from passing general or special laws prescribing or affecting powers and duties of such city officers or such courts or clerks to whom or which functions of such county officers shall have been so assigned, in so far as such powers or duties embrace subjects not relating to property, affairs or government of such city.

§ 6. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That article thirteen of the constitution is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section, to be section thirteen, to read as follows:

§ 13. The legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries and the hours of work or labor, and make provisions for the protection, welfare and safety, of persons employed by the state or by any county, city, town, village or other civil division of the state, or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work, labor or services for the state or for any county, city, town, village or other civil division thereof.

§ 7. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding regular election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER NINE
CONCURRRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing a new article nine of the constitution, in relation to a bill of rights and home rule powers for local governments and repeal, renumbering and amendment of provisions of the constitution presently in force to conform thereto.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article nine of the constitution as presently in force, except sections five, six and eight thereof, is hereby repealed and replaced by a new article nine of the constitution, to read as follows:

ARTICLE IX
LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

Bill of rights for local governments.

Section 1. Effective local self-government and intergovernmental cooperation are purposes of the people of the state. In furtherance thereof, local governments shall have the following rights, powers, privileges and immunities in addition to those granted by other provisions of this constitution:

(a) Every local government, except a county wholly included within a city, shall have a legislative body elective by the people thereof. Every local government shall have power to adopt local laws as provided by this article.

(b) All officers of every local government whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution shall be elected by the people of the local government, or of some division thereof, or appointed by such officers of the local government as may be provided by law.

(c) Local governments shall have power to agree, as authorized by act of the legislature, with the federal government, a state or one or more other governments within or without the state, to provide cooperatively, jointly or by contract any facility, service, activity or undertaking which each participating local government has the power to provide separately. Each such local government shall have power to apportion its share of the cost thereof upon such portion of its area as may be authorized by act of the legislature.

(d) No provision of this article shall impair the authority of the legislature to create cities or annex territory to cities by special act or to provide for the annexation of territory to cities or villages by general act nor shall any action to obtain any consent from a local government be necessary as a prerequisite to such action by the legislature, provided, however, that in no event shall any part of the territory of any local government be annexed to another until the people, if any, residing within the territory proposed to be annexed shall have consented thereto by a majority vote on a referendum.

(e) Local government shall have power to take by eminent domain private property within their boundaries for public use together with excess land or property but no more than is sufficient to provide for appropriate disposition or use of land or property which abuts on that necessary for such public use, and to sell or lease that not devoted to such use. The legislature may authorize and regulate the exercise of the power of eminent domain and excess condemnation by a local government outside its boundaries.

(f) No local government shall be prohibited by the legislature (1) from making a fair return on the value of the property used and useful in its operation of a gas, electric or water public utility service, over and above costs of operation and maintenance and necessary and proper reserves, in addition to an amount equivalent to taxes which such service, if privately owned, would pay to such local government, or (2) from using such profits for payment of refunds to consumers or for any other lawful purpose.

(g) A local government shall have power to apportion its cost of a governmental service or function upon any portion of its area, as authorized by act of the legislature.

(h) (1) Counties, other than those wholly included within a city, shall be empowered by general law, or by special law enacted upon county request pursuant to section two of this article, to adopt, amend or repeal alternative forms of county government provided by the legislature or to prepare, adopt, amend or repeal alternative forms of their own. Any such form of government or any amendment thereof, by act of the legislature or by local law, may transfer one or more functions or duties of the county or of the cities, towns, villages, districts or other units of government wholly contained in such county to each other or when authorized by the legislature to the state, or may abolish one or more offices, departments, agencies or units of government provided, however, that no such form or amendment, except as provided in paragraph (2) of this subdivision, shall become effective unless approved on a referendum by a majority of the votes cast thereon in the area of the county outside of cities, and in the cities of the county, if any, considered as one unit. Where an alternative form of county government or any amendment therof, by act of the legislature or by local law, provides for the transfer of any function or duty to or from any village or the abolition of any office, department, agency or unit of government of a village wholly contained in such county, such form or amendement shall not become effective unless it shall also be approved on the referendum by a majority of the votes cast thereon in all the villages so affected considered as one unit.

(2) After the adoption of an alternative form of county government by a county, any amendment thereof by act of the legislature or by local law which abolishes or creates an elective county office, changes the voting or veto power of or the method of removing an elective county officer during his term of office, abolishes, curtails or transfers to another county officer or agency any power of an elective county officer or changes the form or composition of the county legislative body shall be subject to a permissive referendum as provided by the legislature.

Powers and duties of legislature; home rule powers of local governments; statute of local governments.

§ 2. (a) The legislature shall provide for the creation and organization of local governments in such manner as shall secure to them the rights, powers, privileges and immunities granted to them by this constitution.

(b) Subject to the bill of rights of local governments and other applicable provisions of this constitution, the legislature:

(1) shall enact, and may from time to time amend, a statute of local governments granting to local governments powers including but not limited to those of local legislation and administration in addition to the powers vested in them by this article. A power granted in such statute may be repealed, diminished, impaired or suspended only by enactment of a statute by the legislature with the approval of the governor at its regular session in one calendar years and the re-enactment and approval of such statute in the following calendar year.

(2) Shall have the power to act in relation to the property, affairs or government of any local government only by general law, or by special law only (a) on request of two-thirds of the total membership of its legislative body or on request of its chief executive officer concurred in by a majority of such membership, or (b), except in the case of the city of New York, on certificate of necessity from the governor reciting facts which in his judgment constitute an emergency requiring enactment of such law and, in such latter case, with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature.

(3) Shall have the power to confer on local governments powers not relating to their property, affairs or government including but not limited to those of local legislation and administration, in addition to those otherwise granted by or pursuant to this article, and to withdraw or restrict such additional powers.

(c) In addition to powers granted in the statute of local governments or in any other law, (i) every local government shall have power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution or any general law relating to its property, affairs or government and, (ii) every local government shall have power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution or any general law relating to the following subjects, whether or not they relate to the property, affairs or government of such local government, except to the extent that the legislature shall restrict the adoption of such a local law relating to other than the property, affairs or government of such local government:

(1) The powers, duties, qualifications, number, mode of selection and removal, terms of office, compensation, hours of work, protection, welfare and safety of its officers and employees, except that cities and towns shall not have such power with respect to members of the legislative body of the county in their capacities as county officers.

(2) In the case of a city, town or village, the membership and composition of its legislative body.

(3) The transaction of its business.

(4) The incurring of its obligations, except that local laws relating to financing by the issuance of evidences of indebtedness by such local government shall be consistent with laws enacted by the legislature.

(5) The presentation, ascertainment and discharge of claims against it.

(6) The acquisition, care, management and use of its highways, roads, streets, avenues and property.

(7) The acquisition of its transit facilities and the ownership and operation thereof.

(8) The levy, collection and administration of local taxes authorized by the legislature and of assessments for local improvements, consistent with laws enacted by the legislature.

(9) The wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by any contractor or sub-contractor preforming work, labor or services for it.

(10) The government, protection, order, conduct, safety, health and well-being of persons or property therein.

(d) Except in the case of a transfer of functions under an alternative form of county government, a local government shall not have power to adopt local laws which impair the powers of any other local government.

(e) The rights and powers of local governments specified in this section insofar as applicable to any county within the city of New York shall be vested in such city.

Existing laws to remain applicable; construction; definitions.

§ 3. (a) Except as expressly provided, nothing in this article shall restrict or impair any power of the legislature in relation to:

(1) The maintenance, support or administration of the public school system, as required or provided by article XI of this constitution, or any retirement system pertaining to such public school system,

(2) The courts as required or provided by article VI of this constitution, and

(3) Matters other than the property, affairs or government of a local government.

(b) The provisions of this article shall not effect any existing valid provisions of acts of the legislature or of local legislation and such provisions shall continue in force until repealed, amended, modified or superseded in accordance with the provisions of this constitution.

(c) Rights, powers, privileges and immunities granted to local governments by this article shall be liberally construed.

(d) Whenever used in this article the folowing terms shall mean or include:

(1) "General law." A law which in terms and in effect applies alike to all counties, all counties other than those wholly included within a city, all cities, all towns or all villages.

(2) "Local goevrnment." A county, city, town or village.

(3) "People." Persons entitled to vote as provided in section one of article two of this constitution.

(4) "Special law." A law which in terms and in effect applies to one or more, but not all, counties, counties other than those wholly included within a city, cities, towns or villages.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That subdivision (e) of section seven of article one of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section eighteen of article three of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 4. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section twelve of article eight of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 12. It shall be the duty of the legislature, subject to the provisions of this constitution, to restrict the power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting indebtedness, and loaning the credit of counties, cities, towns and villages, so as to prevent abuses in taxation and assessments and in contracting of indebtedness by them. Nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent the legislature from further restricting the powers herein specified of any county, city, town, village or school district to contract indebtedness or to levy taxes on real estate. The legislature shall not, however, restrict the power to levy taxes on real estate for the payment of interest on or principal of indebtedness theretofore contracted.

§ 5. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That sections five, six and eight of article nine of the constitution are hereby renumbered to be subdivisions (a), (b) and (c), respectively, of a new section thirteen which is hereby added to article thirteen of the constitution and amended to read as follows:

Law enforcement and other officers.

§ [5]13. (a) Except in counties in the city of New York and except as authorized in section [two] one of [this] article nine of this constitution, sheriffs, clerks of counties, district attorneys, and registers in counties having registers, shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties once in every three years and whenever the occurring of vacancies shall require. Sheriffs shall hold no other office. They may be required by law to renew their security, from time to time; and in default of giving such new security, their offices shall be deemed vacant. But the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any elective sheriff, county clerk, district attorney or register within the term for which he shall have been elected; but before so doing he shall give to such officer a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. In each county in the city of New York a district attorney shall be chosen by the electors once in every two or four years as the legislature shall direct. The clerk of each county in the city of New York shall be appointed, and be subject to removal, by the appellate division of the supreme court in the judicial department in which the county is located. In addition to his powers and duties as clerk of the supreme court, he shall have power to select, draw, summon and empanel grand and petit jurors in the manner and under the conditions now or hereafter prescribed by law, and shall have such other powers and duties as shall be prescribed by the city from time to time by local law.

[§ 6.] (b) Any district attorney who shall fail faithfully to prosecute a person charged with the violation in his county of any provision of this article [XIII of this constitution] which may come to his knowledge, shall be removed from office by the governor, after due notice and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. The expenses which shall be incurred by any county, in investigating and prosecuting any charge of bribery or attempting to bribe any person holding office under the laws of this state, within such county, or of receiving bribes by any such person in said county, shall be a charge against the state, and their payment by the state shall be provided for by law.

[§ 8.] (c) The city of New York is hereby vested with power from time to time to abolish by local law, as defined by the legislature, the office of any county officer within the city other than judges, clerks of counties and district attorneys, and to assign any or all functions of such officers to city officers, courts or clerks of counties, and to prescribe the powers, duties, qualifications, number, mode of selection and removal, terms of office and compensation of the persons holding such offices and the employees therein, and to assign to city officers any powers or duties of clerks of counties not assigned by this constitution. The legislature shall not pass any law affecting any such matters in relation to such offices within the city of New York except on message from the governor declaring that an emergency exists and the concurrent action of two-thirds of the members of each house, except that existing laws regarding each such office shall continue in force, and may be amended or repealed by the legislature as heretofore, until the power herein granted to the city has been exercized with respect to that office. The provisions of [this] article nine shall not prevent the legislature from passing general or special laws prescribing or affecting powers and duties of such city officers or such courts or clerks to whom or which functions of such county officers shall have been so assigned, in so far as such powers or duties embrace subjects not relating to property, affairs or government of such city.

§ 6. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article thirteen of the constitution is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section, to be section thirteen, to read as follows:

§ 13. The legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries and the hours of work or labor, and make provisions for the protection, welfare and safety, of persons employed by the state or by any county, city, town, village or other civil divisions of the state, or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work, labor or services for the state or for any county, city, town, village or other civil division thereof.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER TEN
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing a new article nine of the constitution, in relation to a bill of rights and home rule powers for local governments and repeal, re-numbering and amendment of provisions of the constitution presently in force to conform thereto

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article nine of the constitution as presently in force, except sections five, six and eight thereof, is hereby repealed and replaced by a new article nine of the constitution, to read as follows:

ARTICLE IX
LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

Bill of rights for local governments.

Section 1. Effective local self-government and intergovernmental cooperation are purposes of the people of the state. In furtherance thereof, local governments shall have the following rights, powers, privileges and immunities in addition to those granted by other provisions of this constitution:

(a) Every local government, except a county wholly included within a city, shall have a legislative body elective by the people thereof. Every local government shall have power to adopt local laws as provided by this article.

(b) All officers of every local government whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution shall be elected by the people of the local government, or of some division thereof, or appointed by such officers of the local government as may be provided by law.

(c) Local governments shall have power to agree, as authorized by act of the legislature, with the federal government, a state or one or more other governments within or without the state, to provide cooperatively, jointly or by contract any facility, service, activity or undertaking which each participating local government has the power to provide separately. Each such local government shall have power to apportion its share of the cost thereof upon such portion of its area as may be authorized by act of the legislature.

(d) No provision of this article shall impair the authority of the legislature to create cities or annex territory to cities by special act or to provide for the annexation of territory to cities or villages by general act nor shall any action to obtain any consent from a local government be necessary as a prerequisite to such action by the legislature, provided, however, that in no event shall any part of the territory of any local government be annexed to a city until the people, if any, residing within the territory proposed to be annexed shall have consented thereto by a majority vote on a referendum.

(e) Local governments shall have power to take by eminent domain private property within their boundaries for public use together with excess land or property but no more than is sufficient to provide for appropriate disposition or use of land or property which abuts on that necessary for such public use, and to sell or lease that not devoted to such use. The legislature may authorize and regulate the exercise of the power of eminent domain and excess condemnation by a local government outside its boundaries.

(f) No local government shall be prohibited by the legislature (1) from making a fair return on the value of the property used and useful in its operation of a gas, electric or water public utility service, over and above costs of operation and maintenance and necessary and proper reserves, in addition to an amount equivalent to taxes which such service, if privately owned, would pay to such local government, or (2) from using such profits for payment of refunds to consumers or for any other lawful purpose.

(g) A local government shall have power to apportion its cost of a governmental service or function upon any portion of its area, as authorized by act of the legislature.

(h) (1) Counties, other than those wholly included within a city, shall be empowered by general law, or by special law enacted upon county request pursuant to section two of this article, to adopt, amend or repeal alternative forms of county government provided by the legislature or to prepare, adopt, amend or repeal alternative forms of their own. Any such form of government or any amendment thereof, by act of the legislature or by local law, may transfer one or more functions or duties of the county or of the cities, towns, villages, districts or other units of government wholly contained in such county to each other or when authorized by the legislature to the state, or may abolish one or more offices, departments, agencies or units of government provided, however, that no such form or amendment, except as provided in paragraph (2) of this subdivision, shall become effective unless approved on a referendum by a majority of the votes cast thereon in the area of the county outside of cities, and in the cities of the county, if any, considered as one unit. Where an alternative form of county government or any amendment thereof, by act of the legislature or by local law, provides for the transfer of any function or duty to or from any village or the abolition of any office, department, agency or unit of government of a village wholly contained in such county, such form or amendment shall not become effective unless it shall also be approved on the referendum by a majority of the votes cast thereon in all the villages so affected considered as one unit.

(2) After the adoption of an alternative form of county government by a county, any amendment thereof by act of the legislature or by local law which abolishes or creates an elective county office, changes the voting or veto power of or the method of removing an elective county officer during his term of office, abolishes, curtails or transfers to another county officer or agency any power of an elective county officer or changes the form or composition of the county legislative body shall be subject to a permissive referendum as provjded by the legislature.

Powers and duties of legislature; home rule powers of local governments; statute or local governments.

§ 2. (a) The legislature shall provide for the creation and organization of local governments in such manner as shall secure to them the rights, powers, privileges and immunities granted to them by this constitution.

(b) Subject to the bill of rights of local governments and other applicable provisions of this constitution, the legislature:

(1) Shall enact, and may from time to time amend, a statute of local governments granting to local governments powers including but not limited to those of local legislation and administration in addition to the powers vested in them by this article. A power granted in such statute may be repealed, diminished, impaired or suspended only by enactment of a statute by the legislature with the approval of the governor at its regular session in one calendar year and the re-enactment and approval of such statute in the following calendar year.

(2) Shall have the power to act in relation to the property, affairs or government of any local government only by general law, or by special law only (a) on request of two-thirds of the total membership of its legislative body or on request of its chief executive officer concurred in by a majority of such membership or (b), except in the case of the city of New York, on certificate of necessity from the governor reciting facts which in his judgment constitute an emergency requiring enactment of such law and, in such latter case, with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature.

(3) Shall have the power to confer on local governments powers not relating to their property, affairs or government including but not limited to those of local legislation and administration, in addition to those otherwise granted by or pursuant to this article, and to withdraw or restrict such additional powers.

(c) in addition to powers granted in the statute of local governments or in any other law, (i) every local government shall have power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution or any general law relating to its property, affairs or government and, (ii) every local government shall have power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution or any general law relating to the following subjects, whether or not they relate to the property, affairs or government of such local government, except to the extent that the legislature shall restrict the adoption of such a local law relating to other than the property, affairs or government of such local government:

(1) The powers, duties, qualifications, number, mode of selection and removal, terms of office, compensation, hours of work, protection, welfare and safety of its officers and employees, except that cities and towns shall not have such power with respect to members of the legislative body of the county in their capacities as county officers.

(2) In the case of a city, town or village, the membership and composition of its legislative body.

(3) The transaction of its business.

(4) The incurring of its obligations, except that local laws relating to financing by the issuances of evidences of indebtedness by such local government shall be consistent with laws enacted by the legislature.

(5) The presentation, ascertainment and discharge of claims against it.

(6) The acquisition, care, management and use of its highways, roads, streets, avenues and property.

(7) The acquisition of its transit facilities and the ownership and operation thereof.

(8) The levy, collection and administration of local taxes authorized by the legislature and of assessments for local improvements, consistent with laws enacted by the legislature.

(9) The wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by any contractor or sub-contractor performing work, labor or services for it.

(10) The government, protection, order, conduct, safety, health and well-being of persons or property therein.

(d) Except in the case of a transfer of functions under an alternative form of county government, a local government shall not have power to adopt local laws which impair the powers of any other local government.

(e) The rights and powers of local governments specified in this section insofar as applicable to any county within the city of New York shall be vested in such city.

Existing laws to remain applicable; construction; definitions.

§ 3. (a) Except as expressly provided, nothing in this article shall restrict or impair any power of the legislature in relation to:

(1) The maintenance, support or administration of the public school system, as required or provided by article XI of this constitution, or any retirement system pertaining to such public school system.

(2) The courts as required or provided by article VI of this constitution, and

(3) Matters other than the property, affairs or government of a local government.

(b) The provisions of this article shall not affect any existing valid provisions of acts of the legislature or of local legislation and such provisions shall continue in force until repealed, amended, modified or superseded in accordance with the provisions of this constitution.

(c) Rights, powers, privileges and immunities granted to local governments by this article shall be liberally construed.

(d) Whenever used in this article the following terms mean or include:

(1) "General law." A law which in terms and in effect applies alike to all counties, all counties other than those wholly included within a city, all cities, all towns or all villages.

(2) "Local government." A county, city, town or village.

(3) "People." Persons entitled to vote as provided in section one of article two of this constitution.

(4) "Special law." A law which in terms and in effect applies to one or more, but not all, counties, counties other than those wholly included within a city, cities, towns or villages.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That subdivision (e) of section seven of article one of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section eighteen of article three of the constitution is hereby repealed.

§ 4. Resolved (if the Senate concur, That section twelve of article eight of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 12. It shall be the duty of the legislature, subject to the provisions of this constitution, to restrict the power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting indebtedness, and loaning the credit of counties, cities, towns and villages, so as to prevent abuses in taxation and assessments and in contracting of indebtedness by them. Nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent the legislature from further restricting the powers herein specified of any county, city, town, village or school district to contract indebtedness or to levy taxes on real estate. The legislature shall not, however, restrict the power to levy taxes on real estate for the payment of interest on or principal of indebtedness theretofore contracted.

§ 5. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That sections five, six and eight of article nine of the constitution are hereby renumbered to be subdivisions (a), (b) and (c) respectively, of a new section thirteen which is hereby added to article thirteen of the constitution and amended to read as follows:

Law enforcement and other officers.

§ [5]13. (a) Except in counties in the city of New York and except as authorized in section [two] one of [this] article nine of this constitution, sheriffs, clerks of counties, district attorneys, and registers in counties having registers, shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties once in every three years and whenever the occurring of vacancies shall require. Sheriffs shall hold no other office. They may be required by law to renew their security, from time to time; and in default of giving such new security, their offices shall be deemed vacant. But the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any elective sheriff, county clerk, district attorney or register within the term for which he shall have been elected; but before so doing he shall give to such officer a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. In each county in the city of New York a district attorney shall be chosen by the electors once in every two or four years as the legislature shall direct. The clerk of each county in the city of New York shall be appointed, and be subject to removal, by the appellate division of the supreme court in the judicial department in which the county is located. In addition to his powers and duties as clerk of the supreme court, he shall have power to select, draw, summon and empanel grand and petit jurors in the manner and under the conditions now or hereafter prescribed by law, and shall have such other powers and duties as shall be prescribed by the city from time to time by local law.

[§ 6.] (b) Any district attorney who shall fail faithfully to prosecute a person charged with the violation in his county of any provisions of this article [XIII of this constitution] which may come to his knowledge, shall be removed from office by the governor, after due notice and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. The expenses which shall be incurred by any county, in investigating and prosecuting any charge of bribery or attempting to bribe any person holding office under the laws of this state, within such county, or of receiving bribes by any such person in said county, shall be a charge against the state, and their payment by the state shall be provided for by law.

[§ 8.] (c) The city of New York is hereby vested with power from time to time to abolish by local law, as defined by the legislature, the office of any county officer within the city other than judges, clerks of counties and district attorneys, and to assign any or all functions of such officers to city officers, courts or clerks of counties, and to prescribe the powers, duties, qualifications, number, mode of selection and removal, terms of office and compensation of the persons holding such offices and the employes therein, and to assign to city officers any powers or duties of clerks of counties not assigned by this constitution. The legislature shall not pass any law affecting any such matters in relation to such offices within the city of New York except on message from the governor declaring that an emergency exists and the concurrent action of two-thirds of the members of each house, except that existing laws regarding each such office shall continue in force, and may be amended or repealed by the legislature as heretofore, until the power herein granted to the city has been exercised with respect to that office. The provisions of [this] article nine shall not prevent the legislature from passing general or special laws prescribing or affecting powers and duties of such city officers or such courts or clerks to whom or which functions of such county officers shall have been so assigned, in so far as such powers or duties embrace subjects not relating to property, affairs or government of such city.

§ 6. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article thirteen of the constitution is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section, to be section thirteen, to read as follows:

§ 13. The legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries and the hours of work or labor, and make provisions for the protection, welfare and safety, of persons employed by the state or by any county, city, town, village or other civil division of the state, or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work, labor or services for the state or for any county, city, town, village or other civil division thereof.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER ELEVEN
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to article nine of the constitution in relation to home rule.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article nine of the constitution be hereby amended by adding thereto a new section, to follow section sixteen, to be section seventeen, to read as follows:

§ 17. The legislature on or before July first, nineteen hundred sixty-four shall confer by general law upon all towns having a population of five thousand or more, as determined by the federal census, power to adopt and amend local laws not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of the state relating to the property, affairs or government of such towns but subject to such limitations as the legislature may, by general law, from time to time impose. Thereafter, the legislature shall act in relation to the property, affairs or government of such towns only by general law which shall in terms and in effect apply alike to all such towns except upon the request of the supervisor or other elective chief executive officer of the town affected, concurred in by the local legislative body, or upon a message from the governor, in either case declaring that a necessity exists and reciting the facts establishing such necessity, and the concurrent action of a majority of the members of each house of the legislature. The legislature by general law may confer on such towns such additional powers of local legislation and administration as it may, from time to time, deem expedient and may withdraw such powers. The provisions of this section shall not be deemed to restrict the power of the legislature to enact laws relating to matters other than the property, affairs or government of such towns.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section thirteen of article nine of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 13. A. The provisions of this article shall 'not affect any existing provisions of law not inconsistent with this article; but all existing charters and other laws, so far as not inconsistent with this article, shall continue in force until repealed, amended, modified or superseded in accordance with the provisions of this article.

B. Nothing in sections eleven to [sixteen] seventeen inclusive of this article shall apply to or affect or be deemed to restrict the power of the legislature in relation to (a) the maintenance, support or administration of the public school systems in any city, as required or provided by article eleven of this constitution, or any retirement system pertaining to such public school system or systems,

(b) counties outside the city of New York,

(c) counties within the city of New York, except to the extent provided by section 8 of this article, or (d) the courts as required or provided by article VI of this constitution.

C. Nothing in this article shall restrict the power of the legislature in relation to the organization of counties, cities, towns and villages as provided by sections 1 and 9 of this article.

D. Except as specifically authorized by or pursuant to this constitution, counties, cities, towns or villages, in the exercise of their powers to adopt local legislation, shall not impair any of the powers, duties, functions or responsibilities of any county, city, town or village other than the one adopting such local legislation.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER TWELVE
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section five or article eight of the constitution in relation to indebtedness contracted for sewer purposes

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section five of article eight of the constitution be amended by adding thereto a new paragraph, to be paragraph E, to read as follows:

E. Indebtedness contracted on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-two and prior to January first, nineteen hundred seventy-three, for the construction or reconstruction of facilities for the conveyance, treatment and disposal of sewage. The legislature shall prescribe the method by which and the terms and conditions under which the amount of any such indebtedness to be excluded shall be determined, and no such indebtedness shall be excluded except in accordance with such determination.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding regular election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER THIRTEEN
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section one of article eight of the constitution, in relation to the power of municipalities to aid in the expansion of job opportunities and to assist in industrial rehabilitation and expansion in the interest of the people and municipalities of the state

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section one of article eight of the constitution be amended by adding thereto, a third paragraph to read as follows:

Subject to the limitations on indebtedness and taxation applying to any city, town or village, nothing in this constitution contained shall prevent the legislature from authorizing any such municipality to prescribe the manner, means, terms and conditions pursuant to which grants, loans or leases of its property may be made by such a municipality to or in aid of any individual, or private corporation or association, or private undertaking which contracts with such municipality to utilize such property for construction, improvement or expansion thereon of an industrial or manufacturing plant or plants and for maintenance and operation thereof so as to encourage the expansion of job opportunities and to assist industrial rehabilitation and expansion for the promotion of the welfare of the people and municipalities of the state. In order to effectuate such purposes, the legislature, in addition to its powers contained in any other provision of this constitution, may authorize commercial or industrial property, as determined by law, to be acquired by purchase and to be cleared.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER FOURTEEN
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to subparagraph (b) of section ten of article eight of the constitution, in relation to increasing the limitation on the amount which may be raised by real estate taxes by the city of Yonkers for city purposes.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That sub-paragraph (b) of section ten of article eight of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

(b) any city of one hundred twenty-five thousand or more inhabitants according to the latest federal census, for city purposes, two per centum; provided, however, that the limitation for the city of Yonkers, for city purposes, shall be two and one-half per centum;

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the next regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER FIFTEEN
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the constitution to permit the sale of ten acres of forest preserve land to the village of Saranac Lake

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section one of article fourteen of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the state from constructing, completing and maintaining any highway heretofore specifically authorized by constitutional amendment, nor from constructing and maintaining to federal standards federal aid interstate highway route five hundred two from a point in the vicinity of the city of Glens Falls, thence northerly to the vicinity of the villages of Lake George and Warrensburg, the hamlets of South Horicon and Pottersville and thence northerly in a generally straight line on the west side of Schroon Lake to the vicinity of the hamlet of Schroon, then continuing northerly to the vicinity of Schroon Falls, Schroon River and North Hudson, and to the east of Makomis Mountain, east of the hamlet of New Russia, east of the village of Elizabethtown and continuing northerly in the vicinity of the hamlet of Towers Forge, and east of Poke-O-Moonshine Mountain and continuing northerly to the vicinity of the village of Keesville and the city of Plattsburg, all of the aforesaid taking not to exceed a total of three hundred acres of state forest preserve land, nor from constructing and maintaining not more than twenty miles of ski trails thirty to eighty feet wide on the north, east and northwest slopes of Whiteface Mountain in Essex county, nor from constructing and maintaining not more than twenty miles of ski trails thirty to eighty feet wide, together with appurtenances thereto, on the slopes of Belleayre Mountain in Ulster and Delaware counties and not more than thirty miles of ski trails thirty to eighty feet wide, together with appurtenances thereto, on the slopes of Gore, South and Pete Gay mountains in Warren county, nor from relocating, reconstructing and maintaining a total of not more than fifty miles of existing state highways for the purpose of eliminating the hazards of dangerous curves and grades, provided a total of no more than four hundred acres of forest preserve land shall be used for such purpose and that no single relocated portion of any highway shall exceed one mile in length. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions, the state may convey to the village of Saranac Lake ten acres of forest preserve land adjacent to the boundaries of such village for public use in providing for refuse disposal and in exchange therefor the village of Saranac Lake shall convey to the state thirty acres of certain true forest land owned by such village on Roaring Brook in the northern half of Lot 113, Township 11, Richards Survey.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

Given Jail Sentence For Speed Violation

Raymond Collins, 21 of Rosendale was recently arrested by State Trooper Wayne Lawrence for speeding on Route 213. He was brought before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky. Collins entered a plea of guilty on his arrangement and was fined $25 and given five days in Ulster County jail. The five day sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation with the ruling that he attend the drivers school set up by City Judge Joseph Saccoman of the City of Kingston and the Ulster County Magistrates Association. He was advised failure to attend the school would force him to serve the five days.

This school is a new system recently set up to try to secure safe driving methods and this is one of the first cases where it has been used in Justice of the Peace Court.

On Tuesday Collins informed Judge Brodsky that he could not get in the drivers school before September 5 and as he was taking a job out of town early in September he was unable to attend drivers school and he chose the five days in jail.

Do You Remember

by Sophie Miller

I have before me an interesting hard cover book called Picturesque Catskills of Greene County, with some 300 pictures by R. Lionel DeLisser. It was published by the Picturesque Publishing Co. of Northampton, Mass. It is dated 1894. This book is of interest to me because two years later De Lisser put out our Picturesque Ulster which we prize so much today.

In the Catskill book he gives many illustrations of boats and the Hudson River scenes as we knew, but does not go into the history of the locations as he did later in Picturesque Ulster. He gives a chapter called "Why this book was published" in which he goes back to 1900 when the "Picturesque" County series came out. The first book was called "Picturesque Hampshire" after the county which originally comprised all that part of the state of Massachusetts lying west of Worcester County.

Then he speaks of coming "over the state line and the Hudson River, to that region made famous by the painter and poet—the Catskills"—it is hardly necessary to say that the Picturesque County books were a success in the old Bay State. A large edition of many thousand copies of each book was nearly exhausted in a few months. So he goes on to cover "Garden of the Gods," as he calls our section. He first wanted to cover the whole Catskill region in one book and Ulster in another. But we know that Picturesque Ulster ran into some 10 books. He wrote that he felt "the volume plainly has a lasting value. The views in its pages cannot be bought separately, in photograph form." This may be of interest to the many readers who own "Picturesque Ulster" books.

The author further writes in Picturesque Catskill that they covered many miles to obtain these pictures, and the cost to the publishers, ran into the thousands of dollars, when it is included in the cost of reproduction, printing and binding. They were also putting out a Holiday Edition in handsome leather cover. I have never seen this Picturesque Catskills of Greene County before and no doubt there are some of the leather ones among collectors, which could bring a price which would surprise R. Lionel DeLisser. He was a graduate of the Royal Bavarian Academy of High Arts, Munich, Germany. He said about us in 1894 "It is a pity that a nation which sends to Egypt for antiques should take so little care of its own."

I am quoting from De Lisser now, because his records, and his photographs and sketches are now part of our history and he wasn't even from here. Everyone runs to Jamestown, Va., and Williamsburg, Va. where many of the buildings and settings are reconstructed, "taverns which would not seem strange to Washington," they write in their large illustrated Sunday newspaper advertisements. We have taverns here like the DeWaal and other buildings which stand on original ground, and although perhaps changed some with time, people and money still would be more familar to Washington than many of the so-called "Colonial" reconstructed villages.

De Lisser further compares the Catskills to his Black Forest of Germany. Of the Hudson Valley and our Catskill Mountains, he further writes: "There is probably, no spot in America, more full of legendary lore; or a place around which lingers weird enchantment." He had to be enchanted by our location to put out such books. This book has some 160 pages and some 800 pictures of the 1890's.

410-490 Deaths Is Estimate for Holiday Weekend

CHICAGO (AP)—Safety officials—faced with a steady rise in the traffic death rate this year—urged today that the nation's motorists try to keep down the highway fatality count in the Labor Day weekend.

The National Safety Council estimates that between 410 and 490 persons will die in traffic accidents in the 78-hour holiday period starting at 6 p.m. (local time) today and ending at midnight Monday.

In the first seven months of this year 21,960 persons were killed on the nation's highways, an increase of 9 per cent over the same 1961 period, while motor travel increased 4 per cent.

The 3,840 persons killed in July represented a 16 per cent jump over the toll in July 1961 and was a record high for any July.

Man Is Killed By Bullet Fired At 'Woodchuck'

WESTFIELD, N.Y. (AP)—A 61-year-old transient was shot to death just west of this Chautauqua County community Thursday night. State police said a hunter told them he fired the shot at what he thought was a woodchuck.

Troopers identified the victim as Emil Schluep, believed to be from Rochester.

They said 22-year-old David Cole told them that while he was hunting woodchucks on his father's farm, he saw something move, thought it was a woodchuck, and fired once with his .22-caliber rifle.

Lake George Motel Fire Damage $45,000

LAKE GEORGE, N.Y. (AP)—Fire wrecked a 16-unit motel on the main street of this Adirondack resort village Thursday.

No injuries were reported. Eight units of the Sisson Court Motel were occupied when the fire broke out yesterday.

The cause of the fire, that spread along the roof joining the units, was not determined.

Sterling B. Caple, owner of the motel and mayor of this village estimated damages between $40,000 and $45,000.

General Welfare Main Purpose

Goldberg Probably Most Active Secretary

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arthur J. Goldberg was an organization man and Martin P. Durkin wasn't. But the difference between these two secretaries of labor went way beyond that, and in more ways than one.

Yet, each started out with prearranged burdens. The Republican platform in 1952 and the Democratic platform in 1960. Both, in a bid for the labor vote, promised to make changes in the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Durkin, a lifelong unionist and president of the plumbers, concentrated on trying to make good on the Republican promise after President Eisenhower named him secretary in 1953. He quit in nine months.

Forgot About Promises

He said Eisenhower ran out on an agreement to send proposed changes to Congress. Eisenhower denied there was an agreement. Durkin went back to his union and died in two years of a brain tumor.

Goldberg, a lifelong labor lawyer, didn't concentrate on trying to make good on the Democrats' 1960 promise after Kennedy made him secretary in 1961. Kennedy still hasn't sent proposed T-H changes to Congress.

Goldberg not only didn't quit but became such a success as secretary that this week Kennedy appointed him to the Supreme Court. And George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, isn't mad at Kennedy or Goldberg for the T-H failure.

Recently Meany told reporters he is a realist and knows suggesting T-H changes to this conservative Congress would be useless. He blames Congress, not Kennedy or Goldberg, for the things that didn't get done.

Goldberg had worked for the AFL-CIO as special counsel. But the labor organization didn't get mad at him either, at least publicly, when he came out against its demand for a 35-hour work week.

Nor is business clawing Goldberg although he and Kennedy worked side by side in the steel dispute which turned business against the President.

To top it all, when Kennedy announced Goldberg's appointment to the court Wednesday, Republicans joined Democrats in saying what a fine thing this was.

Court No Place for Slouch

How did Goldberg manage to come through all this smelling like a rose?

He has been probably the most active and hard-working labor secretary in history. And the court is no place for a slouch.

Although he has spent his life working for labor organizations, Goldberg when he became secretary detached himself, financially and mentally, as a labor partisan.

Goldberg, who had been chief negotiator for the steelworkers in getting them better contracts and higher wages, even when it meant a deadening strike, has repeatedly stated this Kennedy-Goldberg policy:

"We in this country must do everything within our power to prevent inflation and maintain price stability." Translated, this meant: Try to keep wage increases and price increases down.

In this way, and in his dealings in general, Goldberg has sought to act as a public servant whose primary purpose is the general welfare and not that of a special group.

But none of Goldberg's progress in his job could have been possible if he and Kennedy had not shared an outlook on what they thought was needed and should be done and how. For this reason—although some credit should be given to Goldberg for adaptability in fitting into the Kennedy administration smoothly—he has managed to sail along.

Controls Voted On Wheat Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's wheat farmers have voted to continue controls on their crop, but by the smallest margin in 12 such tests since 1941.

Unofficial returns from the 39 commercial wheat states where balloting in the referendum was conducted Thursday gave 161,242 for and 74,454 against marketing quotas designed to restrict production in order to reduce costly surpluses.

This was a favorable margin of 68.4 per cent. Approval by at least 66.7 per cent—two thirds—of the growers voting was required. Last year quotas were approved by an 87.4 per cent margin. The previous low was 73.3 per cent for the 1955 crop.

Returns in 16 states fell below the two-thirds level. These included Kansas, the No. 1 wheat producing state, as well as such other major producers as Colorado and Montana.

The New York State vote in the wheat referendum was 835 "yes" and 550 "no."

The program will allot 55 million acres to farmers for planting for the 1963 crop. It also would set marketing quotas which would limit sales to production on each farm's allotment. Excess sales would be subject to a penalty tax.

Fire Leaves 100 Uticans Homeless

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — One-hundred persons were made homeless Thursday night when fire swept through the top floor of a four-story apartment building on this city's east side.

Three firemen were injured, none seriously.

Police said two small boys apparently caused the fire by burning sticks and paper in a vacant room on the top floor at the Nichols Apartments.

Firemen confined the flames to the top floor, but heavy smoke and water damage prevented the tenants, 22 families, from returning to their quarters.

Louis Frate, owner of the frame building, said "the place looks ruined." He was unable, however, to estimate damages.

Albany to Halt Mall Protest

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The city of Albany will not continue its court fight against a takeover by the state of nearly 100 acres in downtown Albany as a site for state office buildings, Mayor Erastus Corning II says.

The Democratic mayor said Thursday night that Gov. Rockefeller, a Republican, had assured him that some of the city's objection to the plan would be met.

The state took possession of the 400-block area last March 31. The area is in a generally rundown condition.

A FRENCH JODEL AIRPLANE — Flying enthusiasts view a French Jodel model airplane at the Kingston Ulster Airport. The plane is assembled at Freehold, N. Y. Parts are manufactured in France and shipped to Freehold where delivery is expected to be started within the next six months. The French Jodel is reported to be fairly radical in design and very easy to fly. It reportedly is a fast aircraft for its size, with emphasis on safety and sturdiness. The Freeehold firm producing the plane brought it here for a demonstration. (Freeman photo).

Quiet Ceremony Ends Anglo Rule In West Indies

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad-Tobago (AP)—The islanders of Trinidad and Tobago momentarily muted their steel drums and calypso songs early today to solemnly raise the flag of independence over the Americas' newest nation.

The two southernmost islands of the West Indies rang down 165 years of British rule in a quiet midnight ceremony in the floodlit forecourt of Red House, the government building, before 35,000 citizens and guests.

It was a subdued beginning as an independent member of the British Commonwealth for the Caribbean islands known for their steel bands and improvised calypso songs of African origin.

Hours before, the bands and singers had been turned off the streets as many islanders flocked to religious services conducted by a Roman Catholic archbishop, an Anglican bishop, a Protestant pastor, a Moslem sheikh and a Hindu priest.

Representatives of 35 other nations—including the United States, the Soviet Union and Cuba—witnessed the ceremony.

The new nation's prime minister, Dr. Eric Williams, has said the islands' 830,000 citizens and 1,864 square miles will remain "unequivocally west of the Iron Curtain."

AIRPORT OWNERS AND OPERATOR—The Kingston Ulster Airport situated off Flatbush Road, one and one-half miles from the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, has been in operation for one year. The airport has a 3300 foot runway and can accommodate light and medium sized aircraft. Charter work, plane rentals, flying school ground courses and air rides are available at the airport. Owners are Ray Cole (center), and Joseph Columbo (left). The operator of the airport is Brian Carroll (right). Aircraft owners reported at the airport are Charles Adams, George Duffner, Richard Hale, Donald Williams, Edward Wiltsie, Larry Marks, Robert Weber, Gene Mass, Hudson Valley Flying Club, Jim Delmedge, Bruce Felton, Ray Bruncken, Bob Buck, Phil Tuscione, Curtis Foshee, Walter Bogumil and Blair Foster. Local flyers are William Pagan, Al Camhi, Dominic Castaldo, Sal Castiglione, John Cranston, Douglas Craddock, Tony Dall Vechia, Richard Diadone, Walter Dill, Saugerties; Dr. Bernard Dolin, Jane Engers, Edith Ferran, George Jacobson, Andrew Jasienowski, Saugerties; Ray Kilmer, Robert Murphy, Robert McCullough, Robert Nadler, Robert Paradise, David Ruff, Woodstock; Mr. and Mrs Joseph Scott, Ira Wallach, Woodstock; Henry Guendel, Mel Barnum, Robert and William Mayer, Woodstock; and Garin and David Sheeley. Licensed pilots are Geoffrey Fletcher, aerial photography; David Sheffield, CAP; Donald Partridge, Herb Burns, Henry Cramer, Howard Bernard, Frank Martino, and Dr. William Thompson. The instructor at the airport is Harvey Thompson. (Freeman photo).

D&H Given Okay To Halt Albany, Saratoga Trips

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission approved today the discontinuance by the Delaware and Hudson Railroad of commuter trains between Albany and Saratoga Springs.

The railroad will be required to provide at least 15 days notice to the public.

In another move, the PSC granted a temporary certificate to Albany-Nassau Bus Co. for operation of bus service between Mechanicville and Albany.

The commission adopted a report by Examiner Russell E. Dunn, on the D&H ruling, in which he concludes that evidence at public hearings "establishes that the railroad is now sustaining a substantial 'above-the-rail' loss from the operation of these trains and that no practical means has been found to eliminate this loss."

Forming Driver Class

Registration for a new adult driver education class will take place in room V-110 in the Vocational Building of the Kingston High School on Tuesday, September 4. Classes will begin on Monday, Sept. 10. Students will meet once a week for actual driving instruction and once a week for related instruction.

Avoiding an Inconvenient Visit

Q: My husband and I both go to business. When I get home at night I have chores to do and it is not always convenient to receive visitors. Would it be rude not to answer the doorbell on an evening when I am busy doing things around the house? My husband thinks it would be as the lights from our apartment can be seen from the street and visitors will know that there is someone at home. Will you please give me your opinion concerning this matter?

A: You do not have to interrupt what you are busily doing to answer the doorbell for unexpected guests. Visitors seeing your light from the street will realize that whoever may be there cannot come to the door. To leave them with the thought that you may be taking a bath is better than opening the door only to say that you are sorry but you are too busy to see them that evening.

Stranger Unfamiliar With Church Ritual

Q: Recently I attended a Catholic funeral in church. I am a Protestant and the deceased was a close member of my husband's family. As I was totally unfamiliar with the ritual and therefore could not follow it, I merely sat throughout the service. I was criticized later for not standing and sitting and kneeling when the others did. Will you please tell me if I was wrong as I would not want to make the same mistake again.

A: When in a church of a religion other than your own, you stand when the others stand and sit when they sit. Further than this, you are not expected to do any thing that is contrary to your own religious beliefs.

Giving Shower and a Present

Q: I am going to give a bridal shower for a friend. I plan to invite about 35 guests and will assume all the expenses of the shower myself. I would like to know if it is necessary for me to give the bride-to-be a shower present in addition to paying for the shower?

A: It is not necessary, but generally a small inexpensive item is given to the bride-to-be.

Sixth Annual Harmony Night Set Oct. 6th; Star Barbershop Quartets Will Participate

Barbershop harmony will once again be heard in Kingston Saturday, Oct. 6, 1962, at the Kingston High School Auditorium starting at 8 p. m.

The Kingston Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in Ameria, Inc. has completed plans for its sixth annual Harmony Night and promises to please everyone with the splendid lineup of quartets engaged for the program.

The Kingston Chapter Chorus, known as the King's Men, will present many favorite old songs, and some new favorites also. The chorus will once again be directed by Ron Gibbons.

The quartets to be heard that evening include the King Tones, the Flower City Four and the Nighthawks. The King Tones, all members of the Kingston Chapter, have appeared on past Harmony Night programs and will be well remembered by those who have attended past performances.

Lending side-splitting comedy to the proceedings will be the Flower City Four of Rochester. This fine quartet has appeared in Barbershop shows all over the East and has won warm applause for their antics.

The headline quartet hails from New London, Ontario, Canada. In Kansas City this past June, the Nighthawks were awarded the spot as the fourth place quartet in the International Contest. A couple of years ago, this group appeared for the Queen of England during a command performance in London.

This year's show promises to be one of the finest ever presented by the Kingston Chapter.

Madeline Mazzetti, Plattekill Man Wed At Highland Church

PLATTEKILL — Miss Madeline C. Mazzetti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mazzetti of Highland, and Frank J. Labriola, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Labriola of Plattekill were married Saturday, Aug. 11, in St. Augustine's Church, Highland.

The Rev. Anthony Segera performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a full length Alencon lace dress, bouffant skirt, cathedral train. Her veil of Belgian illusion was caught by crystals and seed pearls, and she carried a crescent cascade of white roses, baby-breath and miniature ivy.

Attendants were Miss Joan Mauro of New Paltz as maid of honor, and Miss Julia Sinagra of Highland and Miss Betty Lou Ward and Miss Carmela Labriola of Plattekill as bridesmaids. Terese Mazzarri was flower girl. William Labriola was best man for his brother, Robert Ruggerio was ringbearer and ushers were Fred Rosa, Michael Mazzetti and John Hendersen.

Mrs. Labriola is a graduate of the Highland High School and is attending State University College at Brockport.

Mr. Labriola is a graduate of the Wallkill Central School, has a BS degree from the State University at Brockport and MS degree from Pennsylvania State University.

He will teach science in the Greek Olympia School in Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Labriola will reside in Brockport.

Community Center Nursery School to Open on Sept. 5th

The Jewish Community Center Nursery School will open its doors for the fall term Wednesday, Sept. 5, according to Mrs. Stanley Caple, school chairman.

This was announced following a recent board meeting at the home of Mrs. Walter B. Suskind where the topics of discussion included the school calendar, new nursery school equipment and the August card party.

On the first day of school, the morning session will run from 9-10 a. m. and the afternoon group will meet from 1-2 p. m. Mothers will accompany their children on the opening day and will confer with the teacher, Mrs. Harry Hults, and her assistant, Mrs. Joseph Mautner.

Thursday and Friday classes will also be short sessions with the morning group meeting from 9-10:30 a. m. and the afternoon group from 1-2:30 both days, minus mothers. Monday, Sept. 10, full sessions will begin, from 9-11:30 a. m. and from 1-3:30 p. m.

There are only a few openings left in each group. Registration information may be obtained from the Center office. Classes are held in the Temple Emanuel school rooms.

The nursery school committee announced that once again this year the school calendar will be the same as that of the Kingston Consolidated School District with the addition of Jewish holy days. The school will also follow the rulings of the Kingston school board regarding cancellation of sessions due to snow or ice.

Mrs. Hults announced that a new puzzle rack, saw, American castinettes and large toy farm buildings have been purchased for the school. Some of this equipment was obtained with the proceeds derived from the August benefit party held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Horowitz, attended by almost 80 women.

The Kingston Hospital School of Nursing will again send 13 student nurses to observe the JCC Nursery School in action. The student nurses will attend singly starting in October and going through May. Mrs. Hults said that both nursery school teachers and committee are glad to cooperate with the School of Nursing in this project.

Mrs. Caple thanked the following people who painted school equipment in recent weeks: Mrs. Fred Strauss, Mrs. Lauren Satinsky, Mrs. Seymour Herman, Mrs. Harry Hults, Mrs. Joseph Mautner, Mark and Neal Satinsky, Robyn and Janyse Herman and Blair Caple.

Present at the board meeting were Mrs. Hults, Mrs. Caple, Mrs. Suskind, Mrs. Satinsky, Mrs. Herman, Mrs. Mautner, Mrs. Joseph Horowitz, Mrs. Arnold Pinsly and Mrs. Seymour Werbalowsky.

Served 26 Years; Saugerties Native Returns to Retire

JOHN T. SULLIVAN

A Saugerties man, Lt. Cmdr. John T. Sullivan will complete 26 years of service in the U. S. Navy this week and expects to return Sept. 6 to make his home in Saugerties.

He is the brother of Acting Sgt. Donald Sullivan of the village police force and Mrs. Henry Breitenbach of High Woods.

He expects to settle in Saugerties with his wife, the former Patricia Bessette of Newport, R. I., and their 18-year-old daughter, Celeste.

Lt. Cmdr. Sullivan has been on the staff of Admiral John H. Sides, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Pacific Fleet at Pearl Harbor for the past four years. He was commanding officer of the Flag Allowance (the admiral's enlisted staff), responsible for placement, morale and discipline of 500 men assigned to headquarters.

A native of Saugerties, he graduated from Saugerties High School in 1936 and enlisted in the Navy shortly after graduation. He worked his way up through 15 ratings and ranks.

Prior to reporting to Pearl Harbor, Lt. Cmdr. Sullivan was personnel officer of the U. S. Naval Amphibious Base at Coronado, Calif., and later was appointed gunnery and base security officer. He served at various times on the battleships USS New York and Texas, heavy cruiser USS Augusta, the amphibious command ship USS Rocky Mount, the attached transports USS Cambria and Okanogan, and the attack carrier USS Princeton.

He also held top administrative posts in two Naval schools.

His service awards include the China Service Medal, the American Defense Service Medal, the American Campaign Medal with five battle stars, the World War 2 Victory Medal, the National Defense Medal, the Philippine Liberation Ribbon and the Good Conduct Medal.

A bunch of carrots (with tops) usually weighs one to 1¼ pounds and is enough for four servings. You can scrub the carrots with a stiff brush, if you are putting them in a stew. If they are to be cut and served as a separate vegetable, it's usually best to pare them.

Meningitis Patient Fights Back
Ability to Swim Her Proudest Victory Yet

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP)—Della Derlien, paralyzed from the waist down, deaf and unable to speak seven years ago, has regained most of her faculties but probably is proudest of her most recent accomplishment of learning to swim.

The story of Miss Derlien's recovery was reported in New York Thursday at the meeting of the American Congress of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

Remarkable Girl

Additions to the dramatic story of the girl's recovery and of her other accomplishments through her determination were described by her aunt, Mrs. Lorron Friedrichs of Sheboygan, with whom Miss Derlien, 26, lives.

"She is a remarkable girl," Mrs. Friedrichs said. "Not only did she learn to lip read on her own but this summer she insisted on going to a summer camp alone where she learned to swim.

"She probably is prouder of her ability to swim than she is of the many other things she accomplished — like fighting her way back after being hopelessly paralyzed with spinal meningitis.

"Della is a very cheerful girl and never talks about the years she spent in bed and of the long surgery on her twisted body.

"She works part time as a photo retoucher for a Sheboygan studio, moves about freely in a wheel chair, dresses herself, helps me with the meals and housework.

Taught Self to Lip-Read

"She never lost the ability to speak but she had to teach herself to lip-read. She never took a course in that art.

"Now she eagerly is awaiting the return of her brother, Dennis, who will be released from the Navy in mid-September.

The Derlien children came to live with Mr. and Mrs. Friedrichs when their mother died in 1950. The father, Peter, lives in Wausau, Wis.

Dr. Herbert A. Schoening, director of rehabilitation services at the Kenny Rehabilitation Institute in Minneapolis, said that seven years ago, on the eve of her graduation from high school, the girl was stricken by spinal meningitis.

Lay in Tragic State

Her body was left deformed, immobile below the waist, with the strain of muscle contractions dislocating her hips and cramping her legs in a crouched position. Her hearing failed. Year after year, she lay in this tragic state at her aunt's home.

Finally, her family placed her under treatment of the Kenny institute. A 14-man rehabilitation team went to work on her case.

Schoening said her restoration took 19 weeks. Miss Derlien underwent eight surgical operations and received intensive treatment, therapy and training.

Court May Save Sophia From Trial On Bigamy Charge

MILAN, Italy (AP)—A Mexican court has voided the Mexican proxy marriage of film star Sophia Loren and producer Carlo Ponti, their Italian attorney said today.

The action may save the couple from a bigamy trial in Italy.

At Juarez, Mexico, Antonio Lopez Machuca, who is Miss Loren's Mexican attorney, said no decree had been issued but that Judge Francisco Urango Munoz had advised him one would be announced today.

Attorney Mario Luzzati said in Milan he had received word that a court at Juarez had declared the marriage was nonexistent—that Miss Loren and Ponti had never been married.

The pair had asked for the nullification of their marriage because of Italian law, not because of romantic difficulties.

Two months ago, an investigating judge in Rome, acting as a one-man grand jury, ordered Miss Loren and Ponti to stand trial.

Ponti has a Mexican divorce from his first wife, but Roman Catholic Italy does not recognize divorce. He was charged with bigamy. Miss Loren, who had never married before, was charged with concurrence in bigamy.

Legal sources said the charges may be dropped as a result of the Mexican court action.

Ponti, 46, and Miss Loren, 27, were married by proxy in Juarez in September 1957, three years after Ponti obtained a Mexican divorce from his first wife, Giuliana Fiastra.

U. S. Bids Recess Talks Continue For Nuclear Pact

GENEVA (AP) — The United States proposed today that the three nuclear powers continue meeting during the recess of the disarmament talks to try to work out an agreement banning nuclear tests by the end of this year.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean told the 17-nation disarmament conference his government believes it should be possible for the American, British, Soviet nuclear subcommittee to complete this task by Nov. 1 so a treaty could become effective by Jan. 1, 1963.

The disarmament talks are to recess from Sept. 8 until Nov. 12 while the negotiators report back to the U.N. General Assembly.

Western conference sources said Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov told the conference his government will study the proposal for continued subcommittee meetings.

Post 150 Expects Banner Crowd at Sept. 9 Barbecue

Final arrangements for American Legion Post 150 barbecue, which will be held at 2 p. m., Sunday, Sept. 9, are being made. It is expected that this year's turnout will be greater than other years and plans are being made accordingly.

The chicken barbecue is one of the few affairs which the Kingston Legion promotes each year to raise the necessary funds to support the Post's activities. A few of these being child welfare, youth activities, oratorical contests and Americanism promotions. All members are requested to attend with their families and friends.

Reservations may be made prior to Sept. 6 by calling Harry Hales.

Ackers Upset Eagles, 12-7, To Create City League Tie

Pro Charts

BY MURRAY OLDERMAN

RUNNING—Problem is not in the quality of running, but in the blocking. Ted Dean and Tim Brown are the breakaway threats. Clarence Peaks handles the heavy work. Brown's speed has spectacular possibilities. Healthy Theron Sapp would alleviate depth problems. B+

PASSING—Sonny Jurgensen's arm shows no trace of January dislocation. Can get ball away fast, long or short, with accuracy. Behind him stands King Hill, who does punting. Eagles depend on Sonny's passes. A

RECEIVING—Tommy McDonald, Pete Retzlaff, Bobby Walston at same old stands. McDonald has no superior as a deep threat. Retzlaff probably should play tight spot because Walston is getting old and never did have blocking heft. Sprinster Frank Bud is threat. A—

OFENSIVE LINE—Beacoup trouble at guard, where recruits Pete Case and Bill Byrne have to hold one spot, with John Wittenborn. If J. D. Smith's knee doesn't come around, one tackle may be sieve-like, too. Jim McCusker is steady on right side. Jim Schrader, ex-Redskin, boosts pass protection. C

DEFENSIVE LINE—Vulnerable. John Baker, former Ram, has size but no consistency at end Ed Khayat. Riley Gunnels, Jess Richardson are holdovers, but not the final answer. Shift of Gene Gossage to one flank helps. There aren't rockies in sight. C

LINEBACKING—Got to hope that Chuck Bednarik, at 37, has one more big year. Maxie Baughan, one right side, is all-league caliber. John Nocera, on injured list now, is challenged for third spot by ex-49er Bob Harrison. There are likely rookies. B

SECONDARY—Even without Tom Brookshier, whose leg fracture hasn't come around, can muster adequate crew. Ben Scotti and Irv Cross play the corners. Don Burroughs and Jimmy Carr are at safety. If Scotti can't cut it, Glen Amerson gets another fling. B

SUMMARY—Never have looked like much on paper, even in 1960 title season. But Nick Skorich had 'em in contention last year until Brokshier got hurt. With Jurgensen throwing bombs to McDonald, they're up there again.

Football Team's Physical Condition Pleases Dietzel

WEST POINT—Army's football team concluded its first week of pre-season practice under new head Coach Paul Dietzel on a note of optimism.

Faced with the task of paring the squad down from the present list of 72 to the top 33 players for the three-team system he is installing at West Point, Dietzel was pleasently surprised by the physical condition in which he found the cadets. "The team at this stage is in the best physical shape of any that I've ever coached," said Dietzel.

The early practice sessions have produced several standouts. John Johnson, a 192-pound halfback from Winnsboro, S. C., rated in the spring as the sophomore having the best chance of cracking the starting lineup, has been particularly impressive. He is currently playing with the regulars, the Army unit which will see action on both offense and defense.

Soph teammates, John Seymour of Berkley, Mich., and Rollie Stichweh of Williston Park, have shown that they might be the answer to Army's two-year problem of lack of speed in the backfield.

Three fullbacks have caught the attention of the coaching staff. The trio includes Ray Paske, George Pappas and Tom Cunningham.

Paske, a 202-pound junior from Buffalo, alternated between halfback and fullback last year. Pappas was the second string fullback behind all-East choice Al Rushatz, before being sidelined by an injury midway in the season. Cunningham, a 5-11, 200-pound senior from Steubenville, Ohio, saw limited action at halfback.

Academics begin on Tuesday. At this point the cadets will revert back to the normal period of one practice of approximately 90 minutes duration.

S and E Tossers In Championship Go With Losers

The 1962 City Baseball League schedule maker is now revealed a wizard, pure and simple.

As the result of Acker Bus Lines' 12 to 7 victory over the pace setting Kingston Eagles Thursday night, the Eagles have been pushed into a first place tie with the S. and E. Inc. tossers at 9 wins and 2 losses.

And who do you think will be playing in the very LAST game of the regular 1962 season? Kingston Eagles and S and E. The date will be set later.

Johnny Nolan survived an extreme case of wildness (13 walks) to limit the Eagles to three hits. But until the sixth inning he found himself trailing 6-5. Then came a six-run explosion by Acker's and with it the Eagles hopes for a pennant knotting victory. He struck out 10.

Collects 11 Hits

Ackers collected 11 hits off the combined slants of Ted Marable and Bill Costello, a fugitive from the softball ranks. It was a wild and wooly contest, as City League games go, with 18 hits, 11 errors (seven by the jittery Eagles); and 20 walks. Anytime you mix up such a weird assortment of ingredients there has to be unlimited confusion.

Len Whitten paced Ackers with three singles in four trips to the plate. He knocked in two runs and scored twice. Northrup and Gorsline hit two singles each and Cliff Schonmaker powered a single and double for Ackers

Junior Jackson's two singles and a triple by Costello represented all the hits off Nolan. Marable was charged with the loss.

Brosnan Saves Big Red Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Author-pitcher Jim Brosnan trudged out of the bullpen in the ninth inning Thursday night and preserved a 5-4 Cincinnati triumph over National League leading Los Angeles that kept the defending champion Reds within range of the Dodgers.

The third-place Reds led 5-0 behind Jim O'Toole's 5-hitter when the Dodgers rallied in the ninth. Three runs were in and the bases were loaded when Brosnan got the call. He struck out Duke Snider, but Maury Wills beat out a hit, making it 5-4 and leaving the bases loaded. Jim Gilliam stepped up, worked the count to 3-2, then lifted a soft fly to center field.

The triumph, salvaging the last of the three-game series, left the Reds 5½ games behind the Dodgers, who are 2½ in front of second-place San Francisco. The Giants closed ground as Jack Sanford posted his 13th straight victory, 3-2 over Milwaukee, on home runs by Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda and Jim Davenport.

Pittsburgh clipped the Chicago Cubs 5-3, but again had to call on relief ace ElRoy Face—who responded with his 21st save. Chicago second baseman Ken Hubbs played errorless ball for the 72nd consecutive game — one game short of Bobby Doerr's record.

Philadelphia used Don Demeter's grand slam homer and a run-scoring single by Roy Sievers for five runs in the eighth to beat New York 8-7, the Mets using five pitchers in the inning and tying a major league record.

The Reds pounced on Dodger starter Stan Williams (12-9) for four runs in the first inning. Jerry Lynch's double drove in the run that proved to be decisive in the fifth.

Mays and Cepeda hammered consecutive homers in the first while Davenport connected in the sixth for the eventual game-winner off Spahn (14-12), who had won six in a row. Sanford (19-6) had a one-hitter until the seventh when Frank Bolling and Spahn hit homers. The Giants used five relievers.

Donn Clendenon paced the Pirates' offensive with a homer and two doubles, driving in four runs.

The Phillies' uprising tagged Robert G. Miller (2-2) with the defeat while giving the triumph to Jack Baldschun (8-7).

Y Women Slate Tenpin Session

The YMCA Ladies Bowling Club will hold its initial meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 11, at 7:30 p. m. in the YMCA lobby as announced by Secretary Louis H. Schafer.

All team players are requested to be present and they should bring their ball and bowling shoes. A practice session will take place at 9 p. m. following the meeting.

Any new ladies desiring to become a member of one of these teams should be present at this meeting. All new bowling recruits will be given special individual instructions.

This league will start on Tuesday, Sept. 18. Bowlers requiring special information can phone, Beatrice Albright, league president, Rheta Sheeley, league secretary or Louis H. Schafer at the YMCA.

Orioles' Gloom at New Low

By JIM BECKER

Joy was unrestrained in Baltimore when the Orioles swept five straight from the mighty New York Yankees over the weekend.

Thursday night, Washington clipped the Orioles, 3-2 for the third time in four games since the Yankee sweep.

In the only other American League game, the Chicago White Sox widened their fourth place lead to two games over the Detroit Tigers, beating them 5-4.

The Yankees, whose chances of blowing the pennant are taken seriously only in Minnesota and Southern California, open the final month's drive by entertaining the Kansas City Athletics tonight.

Yankee ace Whitey Ford (13-7), will go against Ed Rakow (12-14). The pesky A's beat the Yanks three of five during the recent road trip that wound up 6-11 for the world champions, with the five Baltimore defeats tacked on the end.

The Minnesota Twins, two games back, are at Boston, with Dick Stigman (9-3) facing no-hit Bill Monbouquette (11-12).

The Los Angeles Angels, three games back despite having been written off about once a week since Memorial Day, meet Washington in two, with Ted Bowsfield (8-7) and Don Lee (11-9) opposing Claude Osteen (7-10) and Steve Hamilton (3-5). The Angels next invade Yankee Stadium for a four game set, beginning with a Labor Day doubleheader.

Dave Stenhouse threw a 9-hitter for the Senators. Don Lock provided the eventual winning run with a home run in the second.

Al Smith hammered a two-run homer in the eighth for the White Sox, who added an unearned run in the ninth on pitcher Terry Fox' error for the winning margin.

Kingston Bird Paces Pigeons

A bird owned by George Caddy of Kingston won first place in the initial young bird run of the season sponsored by the Kingston-Ulster Racing Pigeon.

Twenty lofts comprising more than 250 birds were liberated at Utica at 7 a. m. into east winds. Caddy's bird was clocked in at 10:01 a. m. for an average speed of 992.67 yards per minute.

John Buckman of Kingston took a close second, with an average speed of 984.89. Ernie Rose of Union Center paced third with an average of 981.58

A bird owned by Arlie Finch of Port Ewen won first place in the Junior division with an average speed of 1017.31 yards per minute. Cecilia Buckman of Kingston was second, average 992.94, with Vince Marese, Marlborough, third at 963.10 average.

McCaigs, Father-Son Champs at Twaalfskill

Dr. Robert A. McCaig and son, Robert, posted a 3-over-par 143 net to win the 1962 Father and Son championship at The Twaalfskill Club.

The father and son combination played a remarkably even game to finish two shots ahead of the runnerup combination of Charles H. Gaffney and son, Dan Gaffney. McCaig Sr. posted 81-9-72 and junior contributed 91-20-71.

Young Gaffney was a stroke better than his father with 80 and netted 74 with 6 stroke allowance. Gaffney posted 81-10-71. Three teams were deadlocked with net 146s.

Twelve teams competed and the tournament proved such a success that it will be run on a much larger scale in 1963.

Other results:

Fabian L. Russell, 91-19-72 and Robert Russell, 83-9-74 for 146 net.

William Merrill, 86-12-74, and William Merrill Jr., 82-10-72 for 146 net.

Bernard Feeney, 98-24-74, and Bernard Feeney Jr., 111-39-72 for 146.

Ernest Schirmer, 75-4-71, and William Schirmer, 105-28-77 for 148.

Louis R. Netter, 85-9-76, and Richard Netter, 79-6-73 for 149.

Herman Glanz, 96-22-74 and Herman Glanz Jr., 90-15-75 for 149.

David Corwin, 101-27-74 and David Corwin Jr., 105-29-76, for 150.

George Rusk, 99-23-76, and George Rusk Jr., 90-14-76 for 152.

Dr. William D. Harris, 95-18-77 and John Harris, 90-14-76 for 153.

Jay Le Fevre, 104-27-77 and Jay Le Fevre Jr., 10b-27-77 for 154.

WaterousDefendsWoodstock Title Against Bill Van Aken

Bill Van Aken, who has won eight club championships, will be seeking his sixth Woodstock Country Club crown when he meets defending champion Herb Waterous in the 36-hole finals Saturday.

The first round is scheduled at 9:30 a. m., with the afternoon round at 1 p. m.

Van Aken won four successive Woodstock titles (1954-57) before his reign was interrupted by Bill Waterous in 1957. He bounced back to win again in 1958-59 only to lose to Waterous for the second time in 1960. Last year, it was another member of the Waterous family, Herbie, who captured the crown.

A tremendous duel is expected, as Waterous has developed into one of the fine shotmakers in the county. It's strictly an even, take your pick, proposition. The winner qualifies for the match game playoff with the champions of Twaalfskill (George Hughes) and Wiltwyck (Leon Randall).

No Women's Champion

There will be no officially recognized women's championship at Woodstock this year, but the 1962 finalists, Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) deLisio and Janet Fochi will play the regularly scheduled 27-hole match Saturday. In addition, a consolation playoff will be held between the two finalists in the Beaten Four of the Championship Flight — Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons and Mrs. Inger Walker.

Wiltwyck Country Club's women's finals are scheduled 9:30 a. m. Saturday between Mrs. M. Richard Davenport and Alyce Kowalski over the 18-hole route. Miss Kowalski upset the defending champion, Mrs. Charles Kovacs, and Mrs. Davenport won from Mrs. Howard De Witt in semi-final matches.

3-1 Combination Pays Off $19 DD

MONTICELLO, Aug. 30 — Busy Dares, a lightly raced six-year-old gelding by Meadow Gene, reduced his lifetime mark to 2:08.4 in the first race to set up a $19.00 daily double of numbers 3 and 1 Thursday at Monticello Raceway.

Guinn's Boy, the 9-5 favorite, won the second race, snapping a non-winning streak that extended back to early in the meet.

Jack Adams rushed Busy Dares to the front in the backstretch and he went on to post his second win in only four career starts. The second choice in the betting, Busy Dares paid winning mutuels of 7.00, 4.70 and 3.60.

Flinders, owned by Eugene Johnson of Monticello, took second money and paid back 7.50 and 4.90. Deleon Kidd, after a bad break, came on strongly to finish third and return 5.50.

Gordon Grenet reined Guinn's Boy to a 2:10.4 win. The eight-year-old Wilmington gelding forged into the lead nearing the three quarter pole when pacesetter Little River Pete broke stride.

Glinn's Boy, with a 2:08.1 win record this year, paid 5.70, 4.10 and 2.80. Willie Potempkin wound up second and paid 7.70 and 4.40. Miss Lorene Hayes was 2.70 for show.

Ossining Squad Among Finest In BRL Circles

The Babe Ruth League All Stars of Kingston will meet the Ossining All Stars, Westchester county champions, in an exhibition game Sunday at 2 p. m. at Dietz stadium.

In a pre-game ceremony at 1:45 p. m., Mayor John J. Schwenk of Kingston; Mayor Jesse W. Collyer of Ossining and Police Chief Robert M. Murphy of Kingston will make brief speeches.

The Ossining club is one of the strongest in the United States, having advanced to the finals of the national tournament.

The local All Stars are expected to call on Vince Fisher as the starter, with Jim Williams as the No. 1 reserve, if needed. The Ossining selection has not been announced.

Kingston's all star squad includes such worthies as Rod De Veau, Dick Schabot, Mike Burns, Vince Fisher, Gene Rios, Ed Mills, Joe Amendola, Dom Berardi, John Eccleston, Marshall Suskie, Jim Williams, Vinnie Crantz, Lou Perry, Richie Kelder and Ernie Bodie.

Mayor Collyer, well known to old time area baseball fans, is one of the most colorful figures in baseball. He has been a well known umpire for several years; was associated with the sports program at Sing Sing prison and supervised Brooklyn Dodger spring training activities at Vero Beach, Fla., for a number of years. He appeared in Kingston as a speaker for an Old Timers Baseball Association dinner and scored a smash hit.

Gunderson-Hahn Women's Finale

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Jo-Anne Gunderson, pretty, 23-year-old twice former champion, won her way Thursday into the semifinals of the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Championships with a 1-up, 20 hole victory over Barbara Williams of Richmond, Calif.

Gundy, the 1957 and 1960 titlist, and Miss Williams halved the 19th hole, and Gundy won the 20th with a par 5 and her opponent went one over.

Gundy faces Curtis Cup teammate Tish Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., and 17-year-old Annie Baker of Maryville, Tenn., plays giant-killer Patsy Hahn of Wilmington, Del., in the 18-hole semifinals this afternoon.

The winners play 36 holes Saturday for the title and once again there will be a new champion. Defending champion Anne Quast Decker, attempting to become the first queen to repeat since Betty Jameson in 1939-40, ran into Miss Hahn Thursday. The 22-year-old five times Delaware state champion fired a 1-under-par 35 on the front nine of the 6, 161-yard, par 36-36—72 course, built a 5-up lead over Mrs. Decker and coasted to a 5 and 4 upset.

Miss Baker, a senior at Maryville High School, eliminated Marcia McLachlan of Danbury, Conn., 2 and 1 while Miss Preuss was one over par in downing Mrs. Harry Nevil, New York state champion, 4 and 2.

Midwesterners Waite Winners

SHAWNEE - ON - DELAWARE, Pa. (AP)—Dick Weyand, Bloomfield Hills, Mich., and Bob Schmid, Winnetka, Ill., won the 17th annual Bill Waite Memorial Golf Tournament Thursday by defeating Buddy Lutz, Reading, Pa., and George Webb, Detroit, 2 up at Shawnee Country Club.

Weyand, a post-graduate student at Cornell, and Schmid, of Illinois University, took over the lead on the 10th hole when Schmid sank a 20-foot putt for a bird. He also had a 30-footer on the 13th.

It was questionable whether Weyand would be able to continue after suffering a pinched muscle in the small of the back on the third tee, but after medical attention, he made it.

Chris Carr, Williamsville, N.Y., who was qualifying medalist with a four under par 68, and Ed Keating, Corning, N.Y., defeated Gen. J. B. Montgomery, USAF Ret., Westfield, N.J., and Steve Berrian, Rutherford, N.J., 2 and 1, to win the Old Masters Tournament for players over 50.

Busy Weekend At Monticello

MONTICELLO, Aug. 30—Monticello Raceway launches its big Labor Day weekend of racing Friday with a $6,000 Invitation Trot. Eight horses will go in the feature event which is carded for the seventh race.

The Invitation leads off the weekend which hits its high spot Saturday with the second doubleheader program of the season. Nine matinee races are set beginning at 2:30. A regular eight-race program is slated for the evening session.

Friday's Invitation will spotlight three newcomers to Monticello racing circles. Veteran 12-year-old Jeffrey Scott, Sprite Kid and Curley Harry are the out-of town invaders which will match strides with five Mr. "Regulars." The rest of the field will consist of Tyson Scott, Harlan Lady, Larue Hanover and Penney Shenandoah.

Penney Shanandoah has been installed the 3-1 morning line favorite. Penney, with a 2:03.2 winning record, was assigned the outside post.

Hambletonian's Return Sought For New York

A bid to return the Hambletonian, the crown jewel of harness racing, to Goshen, N.Y. has been tabled along with three others until Oct. 21.

The Hambletonian Society, meeting Thursday in Du Quoin, Ill., postponed the awarding of a new contract for 1964 until all 21 members of the group meet again. Three members missed Thursday's meeting.

Officials at Yonkers Raceway, which operates Good Time Park at Goshen, have announced a bid calling for $50,000 added for five years.

They predict that the classic would gross from $200,000 to $250,000 within that time if returned to Goshen, where it was staged for 27 years before being shifted to Illinois.

Other bids for the Hambletonian are by the present hosts at Du Quoin; Chicago's new Washington Park Trotting Association and the Indiana state Fair.

New York State Harness results Thursday night:

Monticello — Tarquinia ($15.30) came on strong in the stretch to win the $3,500 Holiday Pace with a 2:04 4-5. Gene Daisey drove.

Batavia—Armbro Bingo ($3.70) easily won the $1,300 featured paced by 2¾ lengths with a 2:05 1-5. Harold McKinley was in the sulky.

Roosevelt — Vandyke Hanover ($6.80) closed fast to score a head victory in the featured Class A-3 pace with a 2:02. Jimmy Cruise drove.

Saratoga—Melody Gold ($22.40), driven by Dick Breighner, won the $800 Little Falls Pace by a neck over Clayhaven Whizzer. The 6-year-old mare, a 10-1 shot, covered the mile in 2:07 2-5.

Women's Flight Finals Played At Wiltwyck CC

Mrs. Ella Bailey defeated Mrs. Beatrice Cullum, 6 and 5, in the finals of the Beaten Eight flight of the women's championship division at Wiltwyck Country Club.

In semi-final matches, Mrs. Bailey defeated Mrs. Sam Greenspan and Mrs. Cullum won over Mrs. Arthur Motzkin.

Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli defeated Mrs. C. Lincoln Christensen in the finals of the Beaten Four of the A Flight. In semifinals, Mrs. Carpinelli won over Mrs. Lloyd LeFever and Mrs. Christensen topped Mrs. Samuel Levine. Handicaps were used in these matches.

Mrs. Alvin Motzkin defeated Dorothy Elston, 3 and 2, in the Beaten Four finals of the B Flight (handicap). Miss Elston drew a semi-final round bye and Mrs. Motzkin won by default from Mrs. Robert Nadler.

Pro Bowlers at Cramer's Lanes

Don Carter, bowling's top money winner, will be missing but the rest of the leading Professional Bowlers Association campaigners will be on hand Saturday for the start of the three-day $20,000 open tourney at Morris Cramers's spanking new Bowlers Club.

The establishment is located at 1210 Troy-Schenectady Road.

The field will include Harry Smith of St. Louis, second highest money winner with $20,000; Billy Welu of St. Louis, Dick Weber, the all-time king in total PBA tourney victories with 10; and Fred Lenning of Fairless Hills, Pa. champion in last winter's Empire Open at Albany. Steve Nagy, Carmen Salvino, Buzz Fazio and Testa Semiz are scheduled.

The format used on the summer circuit is different from the winter tour. The field will be split into A and B squads with action under way at noon Saturday, when A squad rolls six games and B squad follows at 2:45 with its six-game block. The squads will bowl another block Sunday at 6 p. m. and 8:45 p. m. before the field is cut to the top 16 for Monday's finals.

Under the scoring a point is given for every 30 pins and for every match won. Monday's action calls for the survivors to bowl eight games starting at 1 p. m. and again at 7:30 p. m.

Wimpy's Annex Business Flag

Wimpy's won 30½ games and lost only 11½ to capture the Business Girls bowling league pennant by a 6-game margin over the runnerup WBAZ Radio team.

Celeste Edge led the individual averages with 151.14 for 42 games. She also swept scoring honors with a 243 solo and 541 series. Team record were: J&G Drywell Construction 747 and Wimpy's 2040.

Jacksonville Hot On the IL Road

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's tough enough playing the leading Jacksonville Suns of the International League under any conditions. But when you have to play them when the Suns are on the road, it's double tough.

The Atlanta Crackers made a fight of it, pushing it to 11 innings Thursday night, but the odds were too long. Jacksonville won it 3-2 on a disputed triple, and pushed their road record to an incredible 49-17 for the season.

The loss eliminated the Crackers from the pennant, but didn't disturb their one-game lead over Columbus in the struggle for fourth place, the last playoff spot. Columbus lost to Richmond 8-5.

Toronto outlasted Syracuse 5-4 in 10 innings and Rochester outscored Buffalo 9-8 in the others.

Rochester jammed in seven runs in the seventh inning in handing Buffalo its fourth straight loss. Five bases on balls, a hit batter, an error, Pete Ward's two-run homer and a two-run double by Ossie Virgil were the contributing factors in the big inning.

Ted Kazanski's double drove in Fred Green for Toronto's winning run in the 10th against Syracuse. The Leafs forced it into overtime on Len Gabrielson's two-run homer in the ninth.

First Since 1954

VANCOUVER (AP)— The San Diego Padres Thursday night won their first Pacific Coast League pennant since 1954 by edging the Vancouver Mounties, 3-2, in the seven-inning opener of a doubleheader.

Right-hander John Tsitouris went the distance for his 13th victory as the Padres stretched their margin to 14 full games over second-place Salt Lake City.

Y Male Keglers Plan Meeting

The YMCA Men's Club bowling leagues that bowl every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings will hold an organizational meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 5 at the "Y" at 7:30 p. m. as announced by president, Jack Kelse.

All teams that are expecting to bowl on any one of these nights should have a representative or team proxy at this meeting. New clubs or neighborhood groups desiring to enter the YMCA leagues are also asked to be present.

President Kelse is anticipating that bowling in league style starts on Monday, Sept. 17.

Special information can be obtained by phoning the YMCA or Jack Kelse, or making a personal call at the Y Office.

Jerome Stakes Has Crack Field

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The $50,000 added Jerome Stakes at Aqueduct is racing's top weekend event.

The Jerome, a mile affair for 3-year-olds, will have a field that includes Fred W. Hooper's much-traveled Admiral's Voyage, Brandywine Stable's Preakness winner Greek Money, George A. Pope's Kentucky Derby winner Decidedly, Townsend B. Martin's unpredictable Sunrise County, and possibly Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan.

If Ridan goes, he will tote top weight of 127 pounds and will swell the field to 13.

A couple of $30,000 added grass course stakes and Del Mar's Debutante highlight the rest of the Saturday card. Arlington offers the Laurance Armour Memorial for 3-year-olds over a mile and one-sixteenth of grass, while Atlantic City's grass test is the Kelly-Olympic Handicap at a mile and an eighth. The Debutante at Del Mar is for 2-year-old fillies at 6 furlongs.

Nuclear Detergent

SALISBURY England (AP)—A soapflake bomb which the British Army calls its nuclear detergent burst into a mushroom cloud over military training grounds here Thursday.

The bomb, made from 25 pounds of high explosive, six large packs of soapflakes and some waste oil, is being used to simulate nuclear warfare in maneuvers.

Emerson Back In Nationals

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Roy Emerson, the forgotten man of Australian tennis and generally in the shadow of his Davis Cup teammate, Rod Laver, today meets Pancho Contreras, the sometime-playing captain of the Mexican Davis Cup team, in the first round of the national tennis championship.

Emerson, the defending singles champion, got a big break when Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy, seeded seventh, scratched. Now the only player in his quarter who might make things difficult is Mike Sangster of Britain.

Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo. and Trinity (Tex.) University, America's hope for the title, also was scheduled to play his first round match. He drew Bob Bowditch of Worcester, Mass. Laver and fourth-seeded Rafael Osuna of Mexico get into action Saturday.

In the women's division, the top match of the day was between Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of San Diego, Calif. and Justina Bricka of St. Louis. This was a battle of Wightman Cup teammates.

Margaret Smith of Australia, who has dominated the women's tennis all year, and Mrs. Susman are the favorites to advance to the final. Miss Smith drew a first-round bye.

Crab Race Slated InMarylandTown

CRISFIELD, Md. (AP)—A crab race here Saturday—an unlikely event in the first place—is drawing unlikely comments from officials of states invited to enter.

The crabs will run in the third annual Governor's Cup, part of the 15th annual Hard Crab Derby held in Crisfield, a small waterman's town on the eastern shore of the Chesapeake Bay. Up to 15,000 persons are expected for the three-day festival, of which a crab race is a part.

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis of Louisiana wrote Maryland's Gov. J. Millard Tawes that his invitation arrived too late to capture a suitable contestant for the derby.

"Our Louisiana crabs are possessed, not only of tremendous speed, but with a high intelligence quotient," Davis said.

Alabama's director of conservation, William C. Younger, wrote that Alabama couldn't send an entry. The reason?

"The crabs in Alabama are so superior in every respect and are so fast they might not be able to catch one in time."

The race is run on a 16-foot inclined plywood track. The first crab to pass the finish line at the bottom is the winner.

An early favorite is Virginia Creeper III, son of the 1961 winner.

Other entries are expected from North Carolina, Delaware, Oregon, New Jersey and Maryland.

The purpose of all this is to promote the seafoods industry of Chesapeake Bay.

Houston Captures Pony League Title

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—Houston won the Pony League World Series Thursday night, beating Greensboro, N.C., 4-1.

Hugh Hamilton was the winning pitcher, while Mike Long took the loss. Hamilton struck out 15 and walked only one batter.

John Brock carried the bulk of the Houston batting load with three hits. In the third inning he doubled, driving in Mike Pearce, who had singled, and in the seventh, he hit a bases-empty homer.

Greensboro's only run came in the fifth on a home run by catcher Dean Shore.

NFL's Practice Licks Near End

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

All National Football League clubs take their next-to-last licks in exhibition play this weekend.

And it's the last chance for the American Football League teams, who begin regular season play next weekend, with Denver and Oakland meeting tonight in Stockton, Calif., and champion Houston playing the Dallas Texans in Miami, Fla.

Saturday afternoon, San Diego entertains the New York Titans while Buffalo is at Boston Saturday night, rounding out the AFL activity.

There are five NFL games Saturday night, with the Cleveland Browns (3-0) playing the Los Angeles Rams (2-1) in Los Angeles; the Dallas Cowboys (0-3) taking on San Francisco (2-1) at Sacramento, Calif.; the Detroit Lions (2-1) playing the St. Louis Cards (1-1-1) in Omaha, Neb.;, Philadelphia's Eagles (2-1) facing Pittsburgh (1-2) at Hershey, Pa., and two winless clubs, Chicago (0-3) and Washington (0-3) tangling in Norfolk, Va.

a Sunday afternoon, the Baltimore Colts (3-0) and Minnesota Vikings (0-3) play in the Twin Cities, while the New York Giants (1-1-1) return to the scene of their 37-0 shellacking by the Green Bay Packers (4-0) in the 1961 title game for a Labor Day night game.

Jack Nicklaus In Dallas Open

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — Doug Sanders, winner of three tournaments and among the top finishers in nine others, and National Open champion Jack Nicklaus headed the field in the $35,000 Dallas Open today.

The tournament started with Sanders and Nicklaus favorites for the $5,300 first money but with Earl Stewart, the home pro who won it last year, considered a very strong possibility.

Short-swinging Doug is the hottest player at this time, having won the last two tournaments. Nicklaus was eyed because of his great putting, since skill on the greens will be at a premium. They are not in very good shape.

Eleven players who have won tournaments this year and five of the 10 top money-winners were competing. The pros were talking about 276 or 277 winning the 72-hole event that runs through Monday. Stewart thought 275 might take the title. He won it with 278 last year.

Arnold Palmer, the biggest winner in golf, is not playing here.

LBJ Dances in Street

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) —U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson held hands in a circle of 12 lovely Turkish girls and danced in the middle of the street in Nicosia's Turkish quarter today.

Hundreds of Turkish Cypriots cheered the impromptu entertainment.

The vice president and his wife, who arrived in Cyprus on Thursday for a 24-hour state visit, got the most enthusiastic welcome of their visit in the Turkish quarter of Nicosia's old walled city.

Two Million Likely for LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If the Los Angeles Dodgers were as far ahead in the standings as they are in attendance, they couldn't help winning the National League pennant if they played the rest of the season on stilts.

They've got a chance to go over 2 million in home attendance tonight when they open a three-game series with Milwaukee. And, with 18 home dates left, they can hardly miss breaking their own National League attendance record of 2,253,887, set two years ago at the coliseum.

Meanwhile, down on the field, the Dodgers are looking somewhat less prosperous. They've lost 10 of their last 18 games.

Their lead over second-place San Francisco was reduced to 2½ games Thursday night when they were beaten 5-4 by Cincinnati before a crowd of 43,588. This turnout raised Dodger home attendance to 1,967,365.

Wild Turkey Shoot in Fall

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A six-day season on wild turkeys will be held this fall in four Upstate counties, the State Conservation Department has announced.

The department scheduled the season to run from Oct. 22 to 27 in the counties of Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua and Steuben after department game biologists reported a huntable surplus of turkeys in the area.

Announcement of the turkey season was made Thursday by the department.

In a five-day season last year, hunters shot an estimated 250 birds.

Pipe smoking first was seen by the Portuguese in Brazil and by Frenchmen in Canada and Florida in the 16th century.

'Iron Woman' Still Rugged

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., (AP)—The "Iron woman" of tennis from behind the Iron Curtain is Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, still going strong after more than 30 years on the courts.

"It's wonderful to be back—I never thought it would happen," the 49-year-old Polish matron said today, scanning the broad green expanse of the West Side Tennis Club.

"It's like a dream."

Jadwiga is playing again in the United States Championships where 25 years ago—in 1937—she gained the women's singles final before losing to Anita Lizana of Chile.

"I returned in 1938 and lost in the semifinals," she recalled. "That was my last year. The war came, and. . ."

Jadwiga has been Poland's No. 1 player since 1929 and she has won the national championship 26 times. She was finalist at Wimbledon in 1937, losing to England's Dorothy Round.

Fine Whisenant $100 For Wednesday Row

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Pete Whisenant of the Cincinnati Reds was fined $100 Thursday and suspended for three days by National League President Warren Giles.

Whisenant was disciplined for his part in a dispute during the 12th inning of Cincinnati's game with the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday night. Whisenant and Cincinnati Manager Fred Hutchinson were ejected from the game after a balk was called on Joey Jay in the Dodger 12th.

The English language is not well adapted for singing since it is hard for the voice to form English words and musical tones at the same time.

Reliefers Boon To Jack Sanford

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jack Sanford, the San Francisco Giants right-hander, has collected more relief help in 2½ months than most pitchers get in a career—but he's invested it wisely to build a 19-6 record that is studded with 13 consecutive victories.

Thursday his bullpen helpmates reached their pinnacle of generosity. Five relievers paraded to the mound in the final 2 1-3 innings against the Milwaukee Braves.

When they were finished, the Braves had loaded the bases in the eighth with one out, loaded them again in the ninth with none away but scored nary a run as the Giants won 3-2 for Sanford.

Burly Jack thus extended the major leagues' longest 1962 pitching win streak while at the same time getting relief help for the 13th time in 17 starts since he last was defeated.

The 33-year-old fireballer, compiling a 6-6 record through June 13, had a 3.58 earned run average. With a 3.50 ERA since then, he's won 13 straight.

Glenerie Club Draws Largest Bridge Crowd

More than 72 players, the largest entry ever to compete in a bridge tournament in Ulster county, participated in the monthly Master Point competition of the Glenerie Bridge Club.

Because of the large entry, the tournament was divided into two sections—A and B.

Mrs. Dorothy Schoenbrun and Marie Degenhardt of Poughkeepsie posted a 59 per cent game to pace the Section A North-South side. Robert Vosacek and Jerry Anderson, Saugerties, turned in an excellent 64 per cent on the East-West.

Runnersup on the North-South side were: Mrs. I.H. Wheatcroft-Harry Thayer, Kingston, 56 per cent; Maury Corn-Thomas Goodwin, Poughkeepsie, 55 per cent. On the East-West; Mrs. Paul Mezer- Mrs. Morton Honig, Kingston, 59 per cent; Mrs. Elizabeth Boedecker- Mrs. Eleanor Trkller, Poughkeepsie, 56 per cent.

Charles Rice, Saugerties, and Joseph Pechloff, Kingston, combined for a 58 per cent win on the North-South side of Section B. Robert Smith, Poughkeepsie, and Joseph Zahtila, Hyde Park, turned in a whopping 72½ game, second highest of the season, to lead the East-West contingent.

Runnersup on the North-South side were: Dr. John Roberts-George Baron, Kingston, 55 per cent; Dr. and Mrs. Irving Adner, Kingston, 54½ per cent. On the East-West side it was Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Peck, Woodland, 57 per cent; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yallum, Kingston, ,56½ per cent.

A Fractional point game is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

North Bidding Traps South

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The American North-South bidding is shown in the box. This pair was playing a convention that a single raise in a minor suit was a game force. Hence, North's two club response. South's two spade rebid was normal and he had to go to four spades after North raised to three. Then North bid five diamonds and South went to five spades.

Of course, South had just about the worst possible opening bid, even then South might have made his contract.

West opened the ten of hearts. East won the trick and shifted to the deuce of clubs. South's eight was covered by West's ten and dummy's jack.

South could have made the hand by playing two high spades from dummy and winning with the queen in his hand. Then he could lead the queen of clubs. West's best play would be to duck. East would ruff and a heart lead would establish a trick in dummy while any other lead would allow South to establish his fifth club. Of course, South would have to take a diamond finesse, but finesses are meant to be taken. South missed this play and wound up down two.

Mrs. Mabel Hudier is in the Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Umhey and family are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maben in Elmyra Heights and then on to tour Pennsylvania for a week.

LITTLE LIZ

The best drivers on the highway are those being followed by police cars.

WELL-PREPARED—Miss Nancy Kingwell, 21, has prepared well for her job as an East Grand Rapids, Mich., policewoman. She holds a bachelor of science degree in police administration and public safety from Michigan State U., at East Lansing.

Problem Solved

EGGERTSVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—The Rev. John L. Kinzel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church here, has solved the problem of how to get people to sit up front in church. The solution: Air condition only half the church—the front half. The method worked out effectively when an air conditioning system was only partially installed one Sunday, but the pastor has decided to go ahead and install the rear portion, too.

Two Escape Injury

Two motorists escaped injury at 4:30 p. m. Thursday when their cars were involved in a collision on Route 209 about one-eighth of a mile north of Ellenville. State police said the vehicles were driven by Gerald Levine, 18, of Willimantic, Conn., and David Sammons, 18, Highland.

The iris, because of its delicate texture and sparkling hues, is named in honor of the Goddess of the Rainbow.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ken Maynard relaxed under the awning outside his trailer home and talked about the old days.

"There was Tom Mix, Buck Jones, Hoot Gibson and me," he recalled. "They called us the Big Four of the westerns. We had two things in common: We were all range cowboys and we had all come to pictures from wild west shows."

Voice Notes Sadness

Ken's voice had a touch of sadness. This week he buried Hoot, whom he had known for 40 years in Hollywood. They had ridden the range together in a co-starring series. They worked hard and played hard; in the 1930s they cracked up in a plane during air races.

"Hoot was hurt pretty bad in that crash," the old cowboy said. "But he got over it. What really banged him up was a horse he was riding in a show in Buffalo. It reared up and fell on him. Hoot had a bad back after that happened. A lot of these old injuries come back to haunt you."

Ken is knitting a broken shoulder and is once again rehearsing his roping tricks. He hopes to get back on the rodeo circuit before the season closes.

How did he break his shoulder?

"I should say that my horse slipped," he said with a hearty laugh. "But it was a darnfool thing — I fell off the top of the trailer."

Ken and his wife Bertha live in a cozy trailer near the center of San Fernando, 15 miles north of Hollywood. They recently sold their Valley home and are living a less encumbered life, for a while at least.

Still Rodeo Attraction

Now a well-padded but still powerful 67, Ken spends many weeks of the year doing his roping act at rodeos and fairs. "Once I had 13 straight weeks of bookings and I never left the state of Texas," he said. He was born in Mission, Tex.

A world's champion roper and bronc rider, he was starring in Ringling Brothers - Barnum and Bailey Circus when Fox brought him to Hollywood in 1922.

"I didn't know it at the time, but they brought me out as a kind of club to keep Tom Mix and Buck Jones in line," he said. "The boys were giving the studio trouble about options. Fox never used me, so I got out. I didn't have much trouble getting a job."

He became a star immediately and for 20 years appeared in one western series after another. His peak salary was $5,000 a week, but he netted as much as $8,000 a week when he was operating his own company.

Rising costs and television wiped out the program western after the war, and Ken dropped out of films after 1947. Asked if he saved his money, he said "I've still got a couple of bucks."

In musical compositions, a movement entitled scherzo is one that is humorous and capricious in character.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

A Pretty View

Nice surroundings and pleasant neighbors are a few of the enjoyments, you'll find with a modern ranch home, built 3 years ago. See a well designed home, with kitchen built-ins, dining room, big living room, 3 large bedrooms, and plenty of closet space. A quiet location, on a street with little traffic, makes it ideal for children. A full basement, attached garage, and landscaped lot, are a few of the other qualities. Asking $16,000 but a sincere offer is wanted.

Building Is Well Under Way for Rosendale Bank

Construction work on a new building for the National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties, Rosendale, is well under way, according to Leif G. Anderson, assistant vice president, who said workers are in the process of constructing the foundation and the vault.

Within two weeks, the bank executive said, work will begin on raising the steel for the structure, being built on Route 32 opposite Sportsmen's Park in the village of Rosendale. "We have outgrown the present bank quarters," Anderson said. "The facilities at the new building will provide more convenience for our customers."

Anderson said the building will be 50 by 40 feet, all steel construction with baked enamel, and the bank will contain 2,000 square feet of floor space. A drive-in window and additional safe deposit boxes, will be included in the structure, to improve service and better serve the area.

Parking facilities will be increased adjacent to the bank. The interior will have walnut paneling.

Anderson said it is impossible at this time to give a completion date, because of landscaping, construction of driveways and other added facilities.

'Bishop' Waiting In Jail to Tell Of Church Fire

The Rev. Settie Bradley Chappell, 67, also known as Bishop S. B. Chappell, who was involved in 1957 in a prolonged dispute over the pastorship of St. Mark's Church, drew attention of authorities again Thursday after he again allegedly entered the church without permission.

A report last night said the Rev. Chappell had been seen entering the building with a crowbar and smoke was seen coming from the building.

Firemen, called to the church at 9:28 p. m., said papers and rags were found burning in a hot air, oil-fired heater. The fire was checked with pressurized water.

Units from Central Station and the Wicks Company answered the call to the church with Deputy Chief Julius Buchholtz in charge.

Lacks $500 Bail

Police booked the Rev. Chappell on a charge dealing with his alleged "returning to take possession of lands after being removed by legal process," in violation of a section of the penal law. He was arraigned before City Judge Joseph D. Scacoman, who fixed bail at $500. It was not posted and he was lodged in jail pending appearance this morning.

Judge Saccoman today put hearing over to Sept. 7. Bail was not immediately posted this morning. Attorney Kirtland F. Snyder appeared for him and Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr. for the district attorney's office.

Police noted reports Thursday morning also that someone had entered the church.

The Rev. Alfred Banks, who has been serving as pastor of the church was in court this morning. He claims to have been duly authorized to serve as pastor.

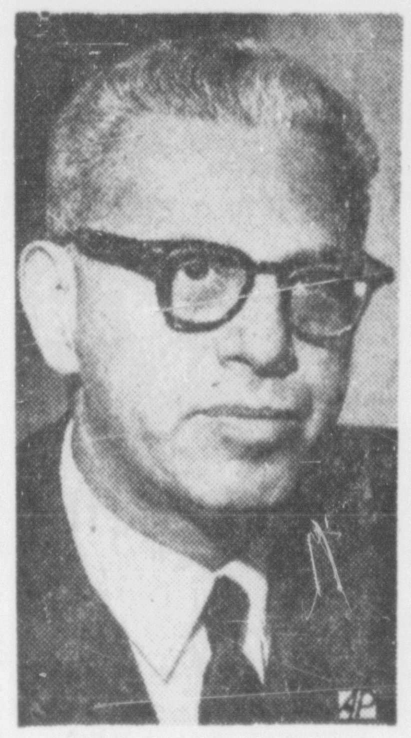
Let Go in December

Charges of unlawful intrusion on the church property against Chappell were dismissed in city court last December. Two charges of intrusion had been listed in September, 1961. He was advised in December to stay away from the property.

A June, 1955 report said the Rev. Chappell, who had been pastor of the AME Zion Church, of Coxsackie, had been appointed to the local church. A March, 1957 report said that an elder, the Rev. M. D. Bert, of Schenectady, reported him suspended. A report then said Chappell had changed the name from St. Mark's AME Church to the African Union Methodist Church, claiming that it was organized as such over 100 years ago. He claims there is no record of transfer. It was also noted in the report that Chappell intended to set himself up as a bishop of the African Union Methodist Congregation by virtue of a clause in the by-laws and on direction "from the Man up there."

W. Willard Wirtz, That Is

Goldberg Says He's Glad Beyond Words



ARTHUR J. GOLDBERG

W. WILLARD WIRTZ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two members of a mutual admiration society have returned to Washington, delighted with their new, higher stations in government life.

Puns and talk of filling shoes were in the air Thursday as W. Willard Wirtz and Arthur J. Goldberg met newsmen.

Exchange Bouquets

Goldberg is leaving President Kennedy's cabinet to replace Felix Frankfurter as an associate justice of the Supreme Court. Wirtz has been moved up from undersecretary to replace Goldberg as secretary of labor.

On their arrival from Chicago, where the two made an unsuccessful effort to head off a telegraphers strike against the Chicago & North Western Railroad, the former labor lawyers tossed bouquets at each other.

Goldberg said he suggested Wirtz as a successor. The gray-haired justice-designate said he was "delighted beyond words" that Kennedy picked Wirtz.

"If Mr. Goldberg intends a pun and means to say he is delighted beyond Wirtz, he is wrong," quipped Wirtz.

Wirtz said Goldberg, feeling somewhat grimy after the plane trip, donned a clean shirt just before the news conference and offered to lend Wirtz one.

Prefers His Shoes

"No, Mr. Secretary," Wirtz said he replied. "I'd rather try your shoes on."

It would have been a tight squeeze. The 6-foot-1 Wirtz wears size 13, Goldberg size 9.

Wirtz said he will follow Goldberg's principles, although he remarked that new problems are always arising and a man "can never step in the same river twice."

Wirtz had been vacationing with his family at a mountain resort near Winchester, Va., before going to Chicago with Goldberg and getting the news there by telephone from Kennedy that he had been chosen for the Cabinet.

Resuming his vacation, he was greeted Thursday night with homemade signs manufactured by youngsters saying, "Congratch our new secretary of labor" and "No strikes with Wirtz."

Then came a late supper — a cold roast beef sandwich.

Five Are Injured In City Mishaps; Boy, 3 Hit by Car

A boy was injured Thursday afternoon in a downtown traffic mishap, another suffered a head injury in a fall and three persons reported injuries after a two-car colision at Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue.

Stephen Rowles, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Rowles, of 118 Broadway was reported in fair condition today at Kingston Hospital where he is under treatment for a head injury and possible concussion suffered in a mishap at Broadway and East Pierpont Street reported at 4 p. m.

Police said Janice Cohen, 19, of 15 Hasbrouck Avenue, driver of the car involved, reported that the boy ran off the sidewalk from in front of a parked car into the path of the moving vehicle.

The boy was taken to the hospital in a Fatum ambulance. Sgt. Bernard Fowler with officers John Kennedy and Thomas Carpino, detectives Harold DeGraff and Gurnsey Burger, investigated.

Injured in the mishap at Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue reported at 1:01 p. m. were: Marjorie P. Lewis, 55, of 133 Boulevard, Glen Rock, N. J., neck and head injuries; Vivian Wolfe, 65, of 1012 West 10th Street, Marion, Ind., neck injury and Jennings B. Wolfe, 65, same address, driver of the one car, who reported a neck injury. They were to be treated by a doctor. All were riding in the Wolfe car.

Police said the car driven by Wolfe had stopped in a line of traffic and was struck in the rear by a car driven by Ralph A. DeCicco, 18, of 119 Kirsted Avenue.

An earlier report said Donald Bicknell, 6, of 22 Post Street, was treated at the Benedictine Hospital for a head injury suffered in a fall.

Would Continue Readings

BOSTON (AP)—Dr. Owen B. Kiernan, Massachusetts Commissioner of Education, has advised local school authorities to continue Bible readings in the public schools.

A memorandum from Kiernan said, "It is the feeling of the department that the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court in the New York case held unconstitutional only the voluntary recitation of a prayer which was composed by a public authority."

Farmer Guards Deployed

The "farmer guards" sometimes are whole families which [illegible] the additional task of trying to convert Tibetans to commu[illegible] otherwise influence them to Chinese ways of life.

U. S. Renews Price Suit Against GM

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Justice Department, in a civil suit, is renewing its attempt to prevent General Motors from allegedly trying to control prices at which its dealers sell cars.

The suit, filed Thursday, in the U.S. District Court in Los Angeles parallels a criminal indictment returned last Oct. 12.

In Detroit, a General Motors spokesman said the company had not received official notification of the civil suit. He referred questioners to a statement issued by Chairman Frederick G. Donner after the October criminal indictment.

Donner said then that the government's charges were without foundation.

Donner's statement said, in part: "General Motors has made no agreements with its dealers or anyone else, nor have we inflicted or threatened to inflict any sanctions on dealers supplying cars to discount house outlets.

Named as defendant in the new suit along with General Motors were these Chevrolet dealers associations—Losor Chevrolet Dealers Association of Los Angeles and Orange Counties; Dealers Service, Inc. of Los Angeles County; and Foothill Chevrolet Dealers of Los Angeles, Riverside and San Bernardino Counties.

The criminal indictment, now awaiting trial, was brought against the same defendants and three Chevrolet sales officials.

The civil suit accuses the defendants of trying to pressure Chevrolet dealers from selling to discount operators or referral services—both a widespread factor in California Chevrolet sales.

Pulaski Day Oct. 11

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Oct. 11 has been designated by Gov. Rockefeller as Pulaski Day in New York State in honor of a Polish general killed while fighting in the service of the American Revolutionary Army.

The day honors the memory of Casimir Pulaski, who died Oct. 11, 1779, during the Battle of Savannah.

Fitzpatrick Driving for Morgenthau

NEW YORK (AP) — The Morgenthau - for - governor bandwagon rolled on today with Paul E. Fitzpatrick of Buffalo, former Democratic state chairman, in the driver's seat.

The question of where the power was coming from remained the subject of hot debate.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner, the state's top Democrat; Democratic State chairman William H. McKeon and the White House are reported widely to look with favor on Robert M. Morgenthau for the gubernatorial nomination.

All Declare Neutrality

But all have declared their neutrality in the scramble.

Morgenthau, U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York, has made no public statement on the drive to name him as the man to run against Gov. Rockefeller in November.

Fitzpatrick Thursday became chairman of the brand - new Friends for Morgenthau Committee.

He said that if Morganthau "takes my advice," he would announce today his willingness to run and thereby remove all doubt.

Fitzpatrick said there was no question of Morgenthau's willingness to make the race.

Predicts First Ballot

He predicted that Morgenthau would be nominated on the first ballot at the Democratic State Convention opening Sept. 17 at Syracuse.

Fitzpatrick, a corporation executive and Democratic state chairman from 1944 through 1952, said he will work throughout the state in Morgenthau's behalf and will be a delegate to the convention.

Efforts to stop the drive for Morgenthau were continued by the three men campaigning for the nomination — Queens Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady and Canandaigua industrialist Howard J. Samuels.

Cooler Air Moves East From Rockies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain and thunderstorms spread across scattered sections in the East today but clear weather prevailed in most Western areas.

A flow of warm humid air from the Gulf streamed northward Thursday over the Plains states and clashed with much cooler air pushing eastward from the Rockies.

Thunderstorms broke out along the boundary between the two contrasting air masses from northern Kansas through eastern Nebraska and western Iowa into the western Great Lakes region and from Wyoming southward to New Mexico.

Rain and thunderstorms continued during the night and early morning in Midwest areas into the Central Plains with heavy downpours in northwest Iowa. More than nine inches of rain drenched Ida Grove, Iowa, in a 12-hour period, causing some flooding. Nearly seven inches doused Pocahontas with amounts from 3 to 4½ inches in other areas.

Light rain and showers dampened southern sections of the Middle Mississippi Valley. Fog covered scattered sections of the Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley, Maine, along the coast in the Middle and Southern Atlantic Coast states, the Upper and Middle Mississippi Valley, the Central Plains and along coastal areas in the Pacific Coast states.

Coolest spots were in the Northern and Central Rockies with temperatures in the 40s. The 50s prevailed in the Northern and Central Plains and Central Plateau regions with the 60s and 70s across the major part of the country. Hot spots were in the southwest desert region.

New Exhibitors In Colony Arts Antiques Show

Two shows in one — antiques and gifts — are the features at Colony Center in Woodstock this weekend. The show is open each day from 1 to 10 p. m. and continues through Sept. 2.

Collectors of antique jewelry will be interested in the displays of such well-known out-of-town dealers as Henry Purnie, Utica; Benjamin Ginsberg, Philadelphia; and Rose Meisels, Hunter.

There will be a display and sale of early maps of Woodstock and the Catskill Mountain Preserve made in 1875, in addition to books for collectors and casual readers.

An unusual feature of the gift portion of the show will be a display of fur rugs made from African animal skins from the firm of D. J. Guccione in New York. The display will include zebra, somali leopard, lion and other African skins, as well as Bengal tiger from India, the snow leopard from the East, goat skins from Tasmania, sheep skins from Iceland and many others that were exhibited last Monday on the Today TV show on NBC.

Local exhibitors include Sonia Rubin and Dorothy Seessle of Woodstock and Margaret Ruth Smith of Saugerties.

Following the antiques and gift show the Colony Arts Center will continue to be open throughout the fall season as the facilities of the entire premises have been reserved by organizations conducting workshops and seminars in the fields of political science and economics.

Reformed Church News and Notes

A congregational meeting to vote upon the invitation of a permanent pastor for the church will be held Tuesday, Sept. 4, at 7:30 p. m. A good attendance is imperative.

The adult Bible study group meets in the parsonage of the church on Thursday, Sept. 6, at 7:30 p. m. to discuss and study Matthew, chapters 25 through 28. Everyone is invited.

Rotary's Barbecue Is Great Success

The Woodstock Rotary Club's first annual chicken barbecue held last Saturday was a tremendous success, the club reports.

The committee wishes to extend its thanks to all who had a part in making this affair a smash hit. More than 300 meals were served and to the club's disappointment some late arrivals had to be turned away.

Cardarolas Have 25th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cardarola of Woodstock, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Aug. 24. They journey to Lake Carmel for a visit with friends and were honored with a party there.

Cardarola is the popular maitre d' at Deanie's Restaurant and Mrs. Cardarola is active in the League of Women Voters.

The Cardarolas have been permanent residents of Woodstock for six years, coming here from New York City. They spent several summers in Woodstock prior to moving here and at one time they operated the restaurant and cocktail lounge at the Woodstock Country Club.

During his long restaurant career in New York City, Cardarola was one of the best known men in the trade in the Wall Street business district. He held important posts at Mosseletti's on Wall Street and also at the Robert Restaurant, one of the swankiest French eating places in New York. He was widely recognized as a superior mixologist and was widely known by his clientele as "Smiling Joe" Cardarola.

Ann Gleitsman Concert Hailed

At this, her premiere solo performance, lovely dark-haired Ann Gleitsman walked on and sustained throughout her performance, the poise and presence of a singer.

In addition to her natural grace and the assurance of her own familiarity with her subject—roles, there was the felicitous climare born of a "sympatico" between performer and complement—accompanist, who was Salvador Ley.

Together, the enchantment held from the first warm and lyrical note. Miss Gleitsman has a wide vocal range and projected with equal facility the low tone, even as she was at home in her high and perfectly-controlled upper register.

The program opened with "Un Moto di Goia" followed by "Deh Vieni Non Tardar" aria from The Marriage of Figaro, both by Mozart. In this latter opera, Miss Gleitsman has in the recent past taken the lead of Susannah on radio. She has also sung radio, with the former Amato Opera in New York.

There followed then, Selgkeit by Schubert; Standchen by Richard Strauss; Das Madchen Spricht by Brahms and Regnava nel Silenzio by Donizetti. Intermission was followed by L'Invitation Au Voyage by Dupare; Si Mes Vers Des Ailes by Hahn and Ialo's L'Esclave.

After these, Miss Gleitsman sang Fiocca La Neve by Cimara; Songs My Mother Taught Me by Dvorak; Little Star by Moussorgsky and Del Cabello by Obradora. Except for two of these which were sung in English, all were sung in their original tongues of Italian, German, Spanish and French. To these varied languages, Miss Gleitsman gave not only a native flavor of diction and clarity, but also a dramatic depth and flair which easily translated themselves into universal understanding.

Following appreciative and sustained applause, the singer graciously responded with Musetta's Waltz from La Boheme and Standchen by Vergebliches.

Miss Gleitsman and her family have been Woodstock residents for some years. Here now, Woodstock adds yet another star to the galaxy in its firmament . . . MAY MYERS.

St. Pete Suspects Eight Deaths by Sleeping Sickness

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —An outbreak of sleeping sickness, an unusual disease that affects the brain and nervous system, has hit this Florida West Coast resort area, with varying repercussions.

Pinellas County officials report 108 suspected cases of the illness, formally called encephalitis, and say they suspect eight deaths have been caused by it.

Motel and hotel operators along the Gulf Coast beaches say they have received numerous out-of-town reservation cancellations, although most report they are filled up for the Labor Day weekend.

Sleeping sickness is marked by nerve cell destruction, muscular weakness and lethargy.

Health officials say it is caused by the bite of a certain type of mosquito. It cannot be transmitted from one person to another. The mosquito gets the sleeping sickness virus from infected birds that migrate to the St. Petersburg area.

An all-out spraying campaign is on to try to eradicate the mosquitoes.

The disease can be confirmed only by laboratory tests which take several weeks.

Boy on Bicycle Killed

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Richard Ballard, 15, was killed Thursday when the bicycle he was riding and an automobile collided near his home in suburban West Glens Falls. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Ballard.

Brothers Killed As Cyclist Rams Times Sq. Crowd

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Minneapolis men were fatally injured Thursday when an out-of-control motorcycle plowed into a group of pedestrians in Times Square.

Killed were Julius Badiner, 60, and his brother, Jack, 62. They had come to New York in connection with their Minnesota knitting mill.

Richard Zagami, 20, the motorcycle driver, told police his cycle struck a depression in 43rd Street, causing him to lose control.

No charge was placed against Zagami, who was slightly injured.

Also struck by the cycle was Leo Beal, 32, of Jackson Heights. Beal was treated at a hospital and released.

After Shocks May Follow Quake in Six-State Area

LOGAN, Utah (AP)—Some apprehensive feelings remained after Thursday's earthquake shook this Northern Utah community.

The tremors also rumbled through sections of Wyoming, Montana, Nevada, Idaho and Colorado. There were no injuries.

Several small tremors followed the initial shock. Residents were warned larger aftershocks are possible.

Six old brick homes in nearby Richmond were ruined by the quake. A sugar plant north of Logan and four buildings at Utah State University here were damaged.

Logan Junior High School remained closed today because of damaged walls but most schools planned classes.

Scientists estimated the shock at 5.7 on the Richter Scale. The San Francisco quake in 1906 was 8.25.

Three Types May Be Like Bum, All Lack Drive Force

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The carefree bachelor, the idle retired man and the playboy who can't hold a job may have something in common with the bum on skid row.

Professor Boris M. Levinson told the American Psychological Association in a paper to be presented today the bum "has nothing driving him, has nothing to live for, and does not want to become anything."

Homeless men in the middle and upper income brackets would end up in skid row if they did not have money, said Levinson. Instead, they may be found in residential hotels, retired at an early age or jumping from one job to another.

All homeless men lack close personal relationships, he said.

Levinson said the homeless man "does not look for security, for a place to remain and stay for a long time. He prefers his freedom even if it is only freedom to starve or to beg. He wishes to do only simple, non-responsible, short-term jobs that provide spot cash. He avoids, as the plague, all jobs which may bring about self-involvement.

"It takes almost as long to learn to become homeless and to develop the necessary 'professional' attitudes as it takes to become a professional such as a physician or a psychologist."

Dems Now Hit Rocky's Eating

NORWICH, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has a tendency to reach for food instead of facts when campaigning and it adds up to a "lot of political chop suey," the Democratic state chairman contends.

"Instead of giving voters facts on unemployment," Democratic chairman William E. McKeon said Thursday night, "he eats hot dogs."

McKeon told a Chenango County Democratic dinner that the governor, who often eats a wide assortment of foods while campaigning, would rather have pizza, bagel or chili con carne than discuss state issues.

Visiting the State Exposition in Syracuse Thursday, Rockefeller had eggs for breakfast, shrimp and rice for lunch and only milk between meals.

Brown Re-elected

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — J. Moreau Brown of New York City was re-elected Thursday to a three-year term as general secretary of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Dr. Paul Van Riper, professor of administration at Cornell University's Graduate School of Business and Public Administration, was elected vice president and scholarship commissioner, also for a three-year term.

Test of Heat Shields

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP) —Space agency scientists sent a four-stage Scout rocket aloft today in an experiment aimed at learning what kind of heat shields are needed on space vehicles returning to earth at speeds of about 18,000 miles an hour.

Fired about 80 miles high, it was expected to land in the Atlantic about 100 miles east of Bermuda. There was no attempt to recover the payload.
